Pennypacker and Taft belong to the same class. Penny wanted to shut the mouth of the country newspaper man, and Taft is aiming to tax the magazines out of existence. Penny failed, and Taft's pet scheme is likely to die any day.

If the newspapers and magazines could be quieted, wouldn't the politicians, gangsters, greedy corporations, et. al., have a gloriously good time. Taft is doing what he can for them, following Talking Teddy's failure to have the newspapers convicted of libeling him (the government.)

The Philadelphia Record cartoonist puts Farmer Cressy to bed with Senator Oliver, but there is this difference: Mr. Oliver is opposed to Taft's reciprocity measure because he thinks it best for his senatorial hide, while Farmer Cressy is always working in the interests of the farmer, politics be damned.

The house passed the reciprocity bill. The measure must now be approved by the senate. The senate may not act so foolishly as to punish the agricultural classes and favor the manufacturers. With an open door at all ports, the farmer could take care of himself, but he does not like to be legislated against.

A good service can be done the farmers of Pennsylvania by reappointing Dr. H. A. Surface to the present position he now holds in the Agricultural Department. He is a state zoologist, and has been instrumental in having his branch of the department become of inestimable value. The appropriations for this work should also be liberal, so that the work mapped out by Dr. Surface may be carried out in detail.

There is nothing at all unreasonable in the farmer protesting against the reciprocity move with Canada. The farmer has practically been obliged to sell his staples in the open market of the world for many years, and now, when the rapid increase of population is giving him a taste of the benefits of remunerative prices, it is quite natural that he is kicking against being used as an experiment to "lessen the cost of living." There are other things that enter into living outside of the grain and produce and meats the farmer puts on the market.

Married at Reception.
The marriage of Harry Ash Pierce, of Latrobe, and Miss Hazel Elizabeth Cooke, daughter of Edward Cooke, of Bellefonte, took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Meyer, during the reception incident to the marriage of W. H. McIntyre and Miss Edna Meyer, Thursday evening of last week. The groom is a graduate of Pennsylvania State College, and has been appointed to a position in Panama, which hurried the marriage.

William M. Swab, of Linden Hall, is assisting Jacob Meyer, also of Linden Hall, to care for his stock and get it into condition for sale on Tuesday, March 14th.

Supervision Orchard Meetings.

On account of the enlarged list of Supervision Model Orchards that have been accepted in the county, it has been found necessary to take up the work earlier in the season than heretofore. A one day meeting will be held in each of the orchards named below, at which it is proposed to give in detail demonstration work along the line of preparing the lime-sulfur solution (concentrated), the pruning of trees of various ages, and a general outline of modern methods of orchard culture. The public is cordially invited to come at time of meeting, and with the consent of the owner may visit it at other times during the season to observe the progress of the work.

Hits at Women.

A bill which will prohibit the employment of women as stenographers, typewriters and clerks in any of the departments of the state government is being prepared by Representative George W. Shultz, of Northumberland county. The bill would affect all women employed in the capitol and in office of state officials or branches of departments scattered throughout the state, affecting over 200.

The Northumberland member also plans to present a bill which will make it unlawful for women to receive license to run an automobile.

Woodward.

Miss Maud Arde returned from Philadelphia last week. Miss Clara Slifer is spending some time with her brother, A. C. Slifer. Irvin Smith, wife and children spent Sunday with James Vonada.

Wm. Fultz, Dewey Motz, Edward Shiesley and Roy Orndorf had business in Millheim on Saturday. James Smith and William Fultz who are employed at Zion, are visiting their families a few days.

The stork passed through town one day last week, and left a son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wolf. Miss Mabel Boob spent a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. William Wolf, Jr., at Fiedler.

Prof. Charles Kreamer, wife and son Carl, of Aaronburg, spent Saturday and Sunday with the gentleman's parents, S. L. Kreamer.

Linden Hall.

Maurice McClintic is slowly recovering from a bad case of tonsillitis. John M. Wieland transacted business in Bellefonte Wednesday.

Charles Kuhn is minus a good horse that died last week. Charles Spicher also lost one. Mrs. Catharine Bradford, of Centre Hall, is spending some time at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Ishler.

Misses Madeline Noll and Freda Weaver, Messrs. Paul Keller and John Herman, of Pleasant Gap, were entertained at the home of J. H. Ross on Sunday.

On Monday night F. E. Wieland, George M. Hall, Frank Ishler, C. P. Wieland and John M. Wieland while on their way to lodge at Centre Hall had a break down along the road that caused a slight delay.

Spring Mills.

The Lutherans are holding services in their church this week. Miss Mabel Allison is spending some time with her brothers, Charles and William, in New York state.

Tibben Zabler spent Saturday and Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Charles Grenoble, at Burnham. Madeline Finkle, youngest daughter of Robert Smith, who has been suffering from a fractured rib, is improving slowly.

W. L. Campbell, wife and two daughters spent Saturday evening at the home of Rev. J. Max Lantz, of A. N. Finkle, has been seriously ill with pneumonia, but is improving slowly.

The young people took advantage of the sleighing on Friday evening—one party went to Boalsburg and another to Madisonburg.

Mrs. Lester Bowers accompanied by her children, of Northumberland, visited her aunts, Mrs. H. M. Braucht and Mrs. C. P. Long, over Sunday.

Spring Mills.

Dr. H. S. Braucht had been confined to the house for a few days last week. Dr. C. S. Musser, of Aaronburg, took care of the doctor's practice until he was able to be out again.

A large delegation from Centre Hall, I. O. F. Lodge, attended a regular session of the Spring Mills I. O. F. Lodge on last Friday evening.

To witness the exemplification of degree work given by the Spring Mills degree staff. It is conceded that Spring Mills Lodge has the best trained degree staff in Centre county.

Spring Mills Lodge numbers one hundred members and is very progressive.

Rev. J. Max Lantz, pastor of the Methodist church, on last Wednesday evening royally entertained the members of the church at the parsonage.

Miss Mabelle Taylor, one of Tyrone's accomplished young ladies, who is a sister of Mrs. Lantz, and who is an adept entertainer, delightfully entertained the young folks, which added greatly to the enjoyment of the assembled guests.

The guests sprung quite a surprise on their pastor by a liberal donation; there were about fifty guests present.

Farmer W. T. Cressy, long Democratic leader of the Pennsylvania house of representatives and Master of the State Grange, delivered a lecture in the public school building on Thursday evening to a large delegation of farmers, in the first vest of the Grange. Mr. Cressy proved himself to be a forceful speaker, a sound reasoner and well posted in current events.

The I. O. F. orchestra furnished the music for the occasion. The local Grange here has become very progressive and is making a large gain in membership.

Georges Valley.

Ralph Smetzler spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Finkie. Miss Bess Davis spent several days last week in Poe Valley.

Edward Decker left Tuesday morning for Philadelphia after spending a week with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Horner spent Sunday at the home of William Bitner and family.

THE WEREWOLVES.

Fantastic Story of a Sixteenth Century Tragedy.
John of Nuremberg relates how a man, lost at night in a strange country, directed his steps toward a fire that he saw before him. On reaching it he found a wolf sitting enjoying its warmth and was informed by him that he was really as human as himself, but that he was compelled for a certain number of years, like all his countrymen, to assume the shape of a wolf.

A strange country, indeed, where wolves when the evenings grow chillily light a fire and in the comfort of its ruddy glow are found ready to entertain the passing traveler with their conversation!

Olaus Magnus in the early part of the sixteenth century tells us a story of a nobleman and his retinue who lost their way in journeying through a wild forest and presently found themselves hopelessly foodless and shelterless. In the urgency of their need one of the servants disclosed to him in confidence that he had the power of turning himself at will into a wolf and doubted not but that, if his master would kindly excuse him for a while, he would be able to find the party some provision. Permission being given, the man disappeared into the forest under semblance of a wolf and very quickly returned with a lamb in his mouth and then, having fulfilled his mission, resumed his human form.

In Auvergne in 1588 a nobleman in returning from the chase was stopped by a stranger, who told him that he had been furiously attacked by a savage wolf, but had been fortunate enough to save himself by slashing off one of his fore paws. This he produced as a trophy, when, to the astonishment of both, it was found to have become the delicate hand of a lady. The nobleman felt so sure that he recognized a ring upon it that he hurried to the castle and there found his wife sitting with her arm tied up, and on removing the wrappings the hand was missing. She had to stand her trial as a loup-garou and, being convicted, perished at the stake.—Hulme's "Lore and Legend."

A TURBULENT VOLCANO.

The Boiling Hot Pools of Taal, in the Philippines.
The central or main crater of Taal is nearly round. Its diameter on an air line north and south is 6,233 feet and the east-west diameter 7,546 feet. The edge of this crater is somewhat irregular, but is nowhere broken through, its highest point standing at only 1,050 feet above sea level and its lowest at 425 feet.

Within the rim are two hot pools, known respectively as the yellow and the green lake, and a little active cone above fifty feet in height from which escape steam and sulphurous gas in varying quantities.

In the smaller lake every few minutes the water in the center is blown up like an immense bubble, which, rising above the surface, finally bursts, revealing a black orifice and causing the boiling and very turbulent water to assume all imaginable colors. The aqueous vapor escaping is sufficient to form a broad, smokelike column which is visible especially during the night and in the early morning.

At some distance and before reaching the edge of the crater, where a view of the bottom can be obtained, the rumbling sound produced by the escaping vapor, under the influence of the mysterious subterranean forces, can be heard like that of an immense boiling kettle.

The greatest eruption of Taal took place in 1754. The eruption began on May 13 and did not end till Dec. 1. During this dreadful time the intensity and aspect of the eruption were continually changing, and the four principal towns of the Laguna de Bombon disappeared—viz. Sala, Lipa, Tanauan and Taal, with the numerous villages around them.—Manila Times.

Pastor's Revenge.

In Valley-Itadot's "Life of Pasteur" we read the story of his misery. It is nothing to say that the war nearly broke his heart. But it broke neither his faith nor the straight line of his work. Only a sort of rage possessed him to redeem and console France by working for her. "Henceforth," he said, "every one of my books shall have written on it these words, 'Revenge, revenge, revenge.'" And this was his revenge, to set the name of France in the honors list of science higher than ever, to give the rest of his life to her service and to wear himself out for her sake.

After a Fashion.

Reporter—Senator. If I mistake not, your name has been mentioned once or twice in connection with the presidency.

Senator Lotsmun—Why, yes; a London Journal, I believe, once remarked that if the office of president of the United States was for sale I would probably buy it.—Chicago Tribune.

Well Guarded.

"Wuz yew guarded in yore conduct while yew wuz in town, son?" asked the old man.

"Shore thing, dad," replied the boy.

"I wuz guarded by two perlicemen most uv th' time."—Chicago News.

Chorus Cowed the Cow.

"I thought I would introduce a real cow into my comic opera."

"How did it work?"

"Didn't work at all. The milkmaids frightened the cow."—Pittsburg Post.
