A cow belonging to J. H. Runkle, east of Old Fort, recently gave birth to a tailless calf. The animal is as frisky as can be, and selected a good time for coming into this world—no flies, you know.

Mrs. W. Gross Mingle, last week, went to Philadelphia to visit friends and relatives, among them being Mrs. J. Emory Hoy, a sister-in-law, her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. J. McCluney Radcliffe.

It will be easy to remember the date on which the liquor license to Mr. Runkle was granted, if the date of the funeral of Hon. J. C. Meyer is kept in mind, for both occurred on the same day, April 18th.

Dr. and Mrs. McCluney Radcliffe, of Philadelphia, Ralph C. Booser, of Pittsburg, and Miss Elizabeth Booser, of Barnesboro, came to Centre Hall on Tuesday to attend the funeral of J. Shannon Boal. The former is a nephew, and the latter two grandchildren of the deceased.

A. C. Grove and John Yearick, of near Bellefonte, stopped with the Reporter on their way to the W. O. Gramley sale, Saturday. Mr. Grove is now living in semi-retirement, having sold his farm stock at public sale in March, and, by the way, he had one of the best, if not the best, sale of the season.

Mrs. W. F. Colyer, of Centre Hall, accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Clarence F. Helm, and the latter's baby, were callers at the Reporter office on Tuesday. Mrs. Helms will visit Mrs. Colyer for a short time. Mr. and Mrs. Helm have had ill luck since locating in Harrisburg. The day before Thanksgiving their household effects were all destroyed by fire, but since they began anew. Mr. Helm is a flagman, and runs between Harrisburg and Renovo.

FUNERAL OF J. C. MEYER.

Governor and Members of the Legislature Attend—Meeting of Bar Association.

Tuesday afternoon the interment of the remains of John Calvin Meyer took place in Bellefonte. Governor Tener, with about two hundred members of the legislature, several state officials and a few state senators, arrived from Harrisburg in a special train and attended in a body. This contingent was but a small portion of the hundreds of people from all over Centre and adjoining counties who were present to pay their last tribute to Mr. Meyer.

The funeral services were held in the Presbyterian church, and were very simple. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. J. Allison Platts, of Wilkensburg. He was assisted in the service by Dr. Ambrose M. Schmidt, of the Reformed church. General Beaver also spoke of the life and death of Mr. Meyer.

At a meeting of the Centre County Bar Association, Tuesday morning, touching tributes were paid the late assemblyman by Judge Ellis L. Orvis, (Clement Dale, W. C. Heinle, D. F. Fortney and John Blanchard, of the bar association; Dr. Edwin Erle Sparks, president of the Pennsylvania State College; Singleton Hall, of Clearfield, and C. V. Johnson, Charles H. Shaffer and Alfred Marvin, representing the legislature. In his address Alfred Marvin said:

"In his side of the house Mr. Meyer was a leader both in spirit and action; a bold-gauged, liberal and an advanced thinking man. His side of the house will miss him in advocating the principles of the great Jefferson. Our senate will miss him for his honesty of purpose, his stand for the right and fearlessness in debate."

The floral offerings contributed by his associates in the house, as well as by the various lodges to which he belonged, were profuse. Burial was made in the Bellefonte Union Cemetery, according to the Masonic ritual. The honorary pallbearers were Governor John K. Tener, General James A. Beaver, John F. Cox, Judge Ellis L. Orvis, James F. Woodward, Dr. Edwin Erle Sparks, Dr. J. L. Seibert, F. W. Crider, E. L. Wasson, H. Wilton Mitchell, of Pittsburg, and L. T. Munson.

The active pallbearers were C. V. Johnson, of Crawford county; J. A. Hickford, of Lock Haven; Robert F. Hunter, Frank Warfield, W. B. Rankin, W. G. Runkle, J. C. Rowe and J. E. Ward.

The eleventh Sabbath school convention of the eleventh district of Centre county, composed of Centre Hall borough, Potter and Gregg townships, will be held in the Reformed church at Spring Mills on the afternoon and evening of Friday, the 21st inst. The occasion promises to be of an unusually interesting character. The program is printed in full elsewhere in this issue.

The Sunday school Easter service at the Reformed church Sunday evening was a very beautiful and interesting occasion. The interior of the church was elaborately and handsomely decorated with spruce plants and a profusion of buds and flowers, presenting a charming scene. The little folks did remarkably well, proving that their training had been in careful and skillful hands. The music and singing was of a high class and very appropriate. The lady managers are to be congratulated upon the admirable arrangement they had made for the occasion and the complete success of their Easter service. The church was filled to its utmost capacity.

When medicine must be given to young children it should be pleasant to take. THE SELF DEFENDERS.

Monday April 17th, the flag on the Central square was raised all day. It was fifty years on that day since the "First Defenders" started from Boalsburg for the army. There had been a call for 75000 men to enlist for three months, and on the morning of the 17th of April, 1861, the "First Defenders" left Boalsburg. The main street was completely lined with people, who came to see them off, and the church bells were rung. The heroes, for such they were, went in wagons to Lewistown, where they remained all night, and the next morning took the train for Harrisburg, and at Camp Curtin, near Harrisburg, they were sworn into service. After spending a day there, they were sent to Chambersburg on foot, from there to different places in Pennsylvania and Virginia.

Those of the "First Defenders" who were from Harris township are these:

- Robert McFarlane, Captain
- John Boal, First Lieutenant
- William Riley, Second Lieutenant
- James T. Stuart, Second Sergeant
- W. A. Jacobs
- Henry Swinehart
- George Duffy
- Alfred Johnston
- Andrew Kreamer
- Charles Eckenroth
- Adam Hess
- Henry Eckenroth
- John Hook
- William Shope

S. H. Williams and W. H. Musser, who are new residents of Bellefonte, were members of this company, Charles Eckenroth, one of the Harris township boys, is now also a resident of Bellefonte, and John Hook another of the Harris township boys is living in Boalsburg.

These fifty years have brought about many changes in more ways than one. On that April morning, as said before, there were many people in Boalsburg to witness the departure of the "Defenders," but now only a few of these remain. The persons below are the only ones, who are now living in Boalsburg, that witnessed the scene:

- John Hook
- Mr. and Mrs. H. Frederick
- Leah Young
- Mrs. Hannah Wosmer
- S. E. W. Weber
- Mrs. Jacob Condo
- Sarah J. Keller
- Mrs. E. W. Sweeney
- Margaret Lytle
- Mrs. J. H. Meyer
- Mrs. E. A. Fisher
