AUTOMOBILE WRECK.

Causes Death of George William Wolf, of Fiedler, in Green Burr Gap.

George William Wolf, merchant, farmer and lumberman, of Fiedler, was killed in an automobile wreck on Sunday, while passing through Green Burr Gap, three-fourths of a mile southeast of Green Burr. He was aged fifty-nine years, and actively engaged in business, giving most of his attention to lumbering.

The surviving members of the family are three sons and one daughter, namely, Sumner J., Howard, Charles, Aronsburg; Thomas G., Woodward; and Mrs. H. Edward Glantz. Mrs. Wolf died within the past year.

One of Mr. Wolf's greatest pleasures was to drive the automobile of which he became the owner some time ago. Regardless of his physical condition he handled the machine with considerable skill. On Sunday he and Mr. and Mrs. Glantz and their three children, and Miss Helen Vongonder started for Sugar Valley. The trip to Green Burr Gap was uneventful, but on reaching a point just beyond a bridge the machine stopped dead.

Mr. Wolf had a large acquaintance in the eastern sections of Pennsylvania and Brush Valleys, and his funeral was one of the largest held in that portion of the county for some time.

WIN TWO EXCITING GAMES.

Centre Hall Defeats Central City 3 to 2, and Takes Millheim Into Camp by the Score of 1 to 0 in Thirteen Innings.

Saturday afternoon Centre Hall defeated the strong nine of Central City at that place by the score of 3 to 2, in a game of baseball that for excitement rivaled those played in the big leagues. From the first inning it became evident that the game would be a pitcher's battle, and this was proven from the fact that in nine innings but seven safe hits were made—the home team connecting safely but three times but these came at opportune moments and, to a great extent, tell the story of the victory. Smith, with his speed and good control, mowed the enemy down in one, two, three order in almost every inning but the third, in which Central City scored their only runs. Allison, behind the bat, caught a clever game and his catch of a high foul ball was made a la Dooin. Woodring, the Central City pitcher, while he lacked speed, yet threw such elusive curve balls that it was practically impossible to drive the sphere out of the infield. Not until the seventh inning was it possible to score and from then on until the opening of the ninth the score read: Central City 2, Centre Hall 1. With the head of the batting order up, the visitors went after the game with a do-or-die spirit, and before the third out was registered, had crossed the home plate twice. Central City was just as determined to start a rally in their last half, but Smith put on extra speed and when the last batter put up a fly to the right of the pitcher, Smith almost destroyed the shape of the ball when he squeezed it as though it were in a vise.

The score by innings: Centre Hall—0 0 0 0 0 1 0 2—3; Central City—0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0—2.

THIRTEEN INNINGS, 1-0. In the most remarkable game of baseball ever played on the local diamond, Centre Hall defeated Millheim on Memorial Day by the score of 1 to 0, in thirteen innings.

The good work done by the home club this season has made them a team to be feared and for this reason Millheim put the best in the field that was possible for her to produce. Kidder, of Rebersburg, did the mound duty for the visitors and for nine innings pitched a strong game, but after the legal number of innings had been played he showed signs of weakening and it was but a matter of an opportune time presenting itself for the home team to win by producing the necessary hit. This came in the thirteenth inning. Paul Bradford was first up and hit a single through short; Bailey was hit by a pitched ball; both advanced a base on a passed ball and the former scored the winning run when William Bradford hit a single over shortstop's head.

Smith undoubtedly pitched the best game of his career. Time and again when runners were on bases and but one out, Millheim seemed sure to score, but he never lost his head and riveted his attention solely on the batter, and caused him either to strike out or lift a weak fly. The most exciting moment occurred in the ninth inning, when Millheim had the bases loaded and none out. When Smith retired the next three batters in one, two, three order, the noise that broke forth from the spectators was deafening. With renewed energy Centre Hall put up a better game both on the offensive and defensive until victory came.

In the thirteen innings Smith allowed the visitors but four hits, and struck out twenty-one batters, while eight safe swats were gathered off Kidder and fourteen fell victims to strikes.

It was a most fitting day for such a game to be played, for while other games will be forgotten in time, Tuesday's game will be held in memory by all who were so fortunate as to witness it.

SAW MILL AT WADDLES BURNED.

The McNitt-Huyett Lumber Company Had Great Loss Sunday Night.

A fire causing a loss of between $12,000 to $15,000 to the McNitt-Huyett Lumber Company occurred at Waddles Sunday night, when the large and complete saw mill of that company was totally destroyed by fire. The origin of the fire is unknown. There was $5000 insurance.

After twelve o'clock the watchman and another man went to the engine house, nearby the mill, to get it ready for its morning's run. They had only been there for a short time, when a light was observed on the mill, but before they could reach it, the flames had spread, and in a few moments the entire plant was a mass of flames.

The alarm brought a hundred men to the mill, and it was with the greatest difficulty that the flames were confined to the mill proper. The "dinky" had been fired up, and this was run out, and with hose attached proved very serviceable.

The fire cannot be accounted for, as there was no fire in the mill engine.

In the yard there are about one million feet of lumber and fifteen car loads of staves. The mill was erected two years ago. The investment of the company in the mill, equipment, residences, etc., in addition to the timber tract, that was in reach of the flames, represented an investment of between $45,000 and $50,000.

DEATHS.

At the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clara Zerbe, State College, Mrs. Malinda Rishel quietly passed away on Thursday of last week. She was aged eighty years, seven months and twenty-five days. There survive her four sons and two daughters, namely: Ira Rishel, Boalsburg; Oscar and Joseph Rishel, Oak Hill, and William Rishel, Lemont; Mrs. Alma C. Miller, Pine Grove, and Mrs. Zerbe. She was ailing for a month or more and knew that her end was approaching and was prepared for the final summons. She was a lifelong member of the Reformed church. Funeral services were conducted in the Reformed church at Boalsburg, Rev. S. C. Stover officiating. Interment was made in the Boalsburg cemetery.

LOCALS.

Branch Company No. 7 & 8, of the Patrons Rural Telephone Company, will hold its annual picnic at Rhonemede, Saturday, June 17th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lutz attended the funeral of Elizabeth Lohr, last week. The aunt for some years made her home with them in Centre Hall.

William A. Sandoe, Jr., of Ingram, came to Centre Hall Wednesday of last week and remained until Saturday. He was on his way back from Williamsport, where he attended the convocation of the Grand Commandery of Pennsylvania, Knights Templar.

Last week, Mr. and Mrs. William Fetterolf, of near Centre Hall, made a trip to Dauphin county, and at Grantville visited their uncle, Dr. C. E. Emerick, whom they report as having a fine practice, and travels the country in an auto. The crop conditions in that section are not so favorable owing to lack of moisture.

William H. Homan, east of Centre Hall, a few days ago, lost a pocket-book containing considerable money, somewhere between Benner's store and Fiesher's bridge, near Pine Grove school house, on the south side of Potter township. He will be glad to communicate with the finder.

The residence on the farm known as the Pennsylvania Furnace farm, at Baileyville, owned by George Irvin, was destroyed by fire Sunday morning, at nine o'clock, while Mr. Irvin was at the barn. The fire was first on the roof. Most of the furniture on the first floor was removed. The house had just undergone repairs. There was $500 insurance on the house and $400 on the furniture in a Williamsburg company. The loss was considerably more than the insurance.

The hail storm that passed over a portion of Potter township in the Tusseyville and Red Mill district, Tuesday of last week, did much more damage than was generally supposed in localities near by. On some farms the rye crops were totally destroyed, the stalks being broken off, and now the whole mass has turned yellow and is unfit for rye hay. Wheat was also badly damaged as was also clover. The fact that iron roofs were beaten full of holes indicates the force with which the hail fell. A large number of window lights were broken in the Red Mill, and some in almost every house. The hail stones were very large, one that was correctly measured by W. R. Neff being four inches in circumference. The damage on some farms is as much as $300.
