LOCALS.

On Monday night a son was born to Dr. and Mrs. P. Hoffer Dale, at State College.

Mrs. J. M. Lantz and children, of Spring Mills, are in Altoona, and will remain over the 4th.

The Bernard statues, in the state capitol, will be dedicated October 4th, the fourth anniversary of the dedication of the capitol.

Rev. J. Max Lantz and Rev. Stuart Engler have exchanged appointments for Sunday, the former preaching on the Pleasant Gap circuit, and the latter on the Spring Mills circuit.

S. K. Emerick, of Fleming, for several days last week was a guest at the home of his brother, M. L. Emerick, in Centre Hall. Before returning home Mr. Emerick favored the Reporter with a call.

Misses Mary A. Foreman, of near Centre Hall, Ebel G. Grieb, of State College, and Grace D. Kidney, of Phillipsburg, were three Centre county young ladies who graduated at West Chester State Normal.

A few of the Reporter subscribers have left their subscription become a year in arrears, and to these bills have been sent by mail. If this notice comes under the eye of any of them, let it be regarded as a reminder.

The improvement spirit struck East Church street, and now the dwelling houses of Mrs. Coldren and Miss Anna Bible are being doubled their size, and concrete walks are being built to the front of the residences of Merchant C. F. Emery and H. J.
Lambert.

Rev. Jonathan C. Day, of Tyrone, was last week the guest of Dr. W. H.
Schuyler. Rev. Day came to Centre county to hold an election at Milesburg, but the congregation failed to act. He is a Kentuckian by birth, but came from Indianapolis to Tyrone, where he is doing a great work.

F. B. Faulkner, for several years an instructor in the shop department of the school of engineering at Pennsylvania State College, has resigned his position. Mrs. Faulkner is visiting her mother at St. Martins, West Virginia, and Mr. Faulkner and sons are visiting his uncle at Morgantown.
Mr. Faulkner intends taking a postgraduate course in the Morgantown university.

Miss Anna Spangler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Spangler, of Bellefonte, was a member of the graduating class of the Bellefonte High School which held its commencement exercises last week. Miss Spangler will be remembered by the young people of Centre Hall, she having spent several summers at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Susanna Spangler, in this place.

The farm house on the Samuel B.
Miller farm, near Bellefonte, occupied by Nathan Baughman and family, was completely destroyed by fire last Wednesday. The household effects and other contents of the house were burned. It is not known how the fire originated. Mr. Miller had the house insured. There was no insurance on the belongings of the Baughman family and their loss is severe.

Miss Ada Meese, aged fourteen years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
George R. Meese, of Colyer, is suffering greatly and has been confined to bed for some weeks. The first indications of her illness were pains in one of her lower limbs, below the knee. Some days she felt very well, and then again the pain was almost unbearable. Beginning of this week the abscess opened, which relieved her somewhat, but it is now thought a second abscess has formed above the knee.

Miss Mary A. Foreman, mention of whose splendid work as a student in West Chester State Normal School was made in these columns recently, has been appointed assistant principal of Whitpain High School, in Montgomery county. The term is nine months. Speaking of the graduates of the institution the West Chester Daily Local News makes this comment: Miss Mary A. Foreman has six years as a teacher to her credit.
Her experience was gained in Centre county. The young woman's earlier education was gained at Centre Hall High School and Spring Mills Academy, her Normal School work occupying a little more than a year. She is a daughter of F. A. Foreman, of near Centre Hall.

State School Board.

The governor in a few days will announce his appointee for the State school board, having selected all from the school-code committee as follows:

Ex-officio, Nathan C. Schaffer, Superintendent of Public Instruction, of Lancaster county; Martian G. Brumbaugh, Superintendent of Public Schools, Philadelphia; David B.
Oliver, Pittsburg, president of the school board of that city, and brother of United States Senator Oliver; either William Lauder, merchant, of Bedford, (or George Henderson, lawyer, who was not a member of the code committee) whose office is in the Franklin Building; John S. Rilling, Erie, former chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and nominee for Lieutenant Governor in 1894; James M. Coughlin, of Wilkes-Barre, superintendent of the public schools of that city; and George M. Phillips, principal of the State Normal School at West Chester.

Deer Lotter in Grove.

One day last week Nevin Meyer and several others enjoyed seeing two deer at close range, and then their rapid flight through fields and over fences.
On his way from the field to dinner, Mr. Meyer, who lives near Boalsburg, passed through a small grove, and while doing so noticed his team pricking their ears, when a bit of investigation revealed two deer browsing nearby. The deer paid no attention to Mr. Meyer, and he was content to see them wink and blink. After dinner Mrs. Meyer and several others accompanied him to the grove, believing the fleet-footed beasts would remain for further exhibition, and their surmise was correct. Approaching the grove quietly, the deer were seen to be lying down. They were admired for a while, and then Mr. Meyer gave a "whoop," which aroused the sleek animals which now started for old Tussey Mountain at express speed, scaling fences with apparent pleasure.

Consistory Meets.

Officers of the various congregations comprising the Centre Hall Reformed charge met in consistory session at Centre Hall, Tuesday evening, and after discussing affairs of the church issued a call to Rev. Charles Freeman to become pastor of the charge. The salary was fixed at $1000, and the use of the parsonage, which is an increase of $150 paid the former pastor. The members of the body present were as follows:

Farmers Mills—John B. Ream, Philip Durt, Paul Swabb.
Spring Mills—Robert Smith, W. T.
Friedricks, William Oaman.
Tusseyville—W. F. Rockey, James Raymond, Ralph R. Rickert.
Centre Hall—Prof. C. B. Neff, Dr.
H. F. Bitner, W. F. Bradford, W. F.
Keller, A. P. Kraspe, W. Gross Mingle.

To Repair the Breaches.

At a congregational meeting of the Sinking Creek Presbyterian church last Saturday it was resolved to put in order the Centre Hill cemetery. Upwards of $310 will be needed to repair the wall and protect it, and for other pressing needs. Mrs. J. Frank Bradford and Miss Margaret Goodhart were appointed to canvass the community for funds and the pastor, Rev.
W. Henry Schuyler, was asked to correspond with interested parties living at a distance. Both committees will be glad to receive contributions for this laudable purpose. It was also resolved to advertise for sealed proposals for the work, when sufficient money has been subscribed.
