Barry, of Hartleton, father of the pastor. All members of the several congregations comprising the charge are invited to both services. Tusseyville, no services; Spring Mills, evening, sermon by Rev. Scott.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.
Sheriff: A. B. LEE
Prothonotary: D. R. FOREMAN
Treasurer: JOHN D. MILLER
Register: J. FRANK SMITH
Recorder: W. FRANCIS SPEER
Commissioners: WILLIAM H. NOLL DANIEL A. GROVE
District Attorney: D. PAUL FORTNEY
Coroner: PHILIP S. FISHER
Auditors: JEREMIAH BRUNGART S. H. HOY
Surveyor: J. H. WETZEL

We are all for the Athletics.
If you want business methods introduced in the commissioners' office vote for Noll and Grove.
Now for a state road over the Seven Mountains—a link between Lewistown and Bellefonte.
Eight years is a long, long time for some people to live in Centre county without having a county office.

A business man is wanted in the commissioner's office to manage the affairs of Centre county so that the present tax rate need not be increased.
Vote for Noll.
The Democrats on the South side of Centre county have a duty to perform on November 7th. Every one of them should go to the polls and cast their votes for the best lot of Democratic candidates they ever had an opportunity to vote for.

If Noll and Grove are elected commissioners they will give consideration to the wishes of the taxpayers rather than the wishes of the Bellefonte bar. Nor will they build a new jail if the prisoners in it promise to vote for their reelection.

In making comparisons in the cost of public buildings, the Republican might have stated that the State Capitol cost thirteen millions, and that several of the state officials served terms in the penitentiary on account of it. That would have been just as much to the point as what it did say.

Arthur B. Lee has been well looked over and no flaws found. He is all right from head to foot, and a man who will give due consideration to the unfortunate he will have to deal with as sheriff. You can vote for him without wishing some one to lead you to the wood shed after his term of office is over.

Some time ago great ado was made because a prisoner in the county jail made an attempt to escape. If the Republican candidates for county commissioner are reelected they could easily get the promise of interested parties to support them for a third term on condition that they start a movement to rebuild the county bastille.

Georges Vailey.
Mr. and Mrs. James Barger made a business trip to Centre Hall last Saturday.
A. C. Davis left for Aaronsburg last Saturday where he will visit friends several weeks.
Milton Barger, of State College, spent Sunday with his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barger.
Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lingle visited at the home of S. E. Lingle, at Coburn, on Sunday.
After an illness of about eight weeks Mrs. Harvey Vonada died at her home last Saturday afternoon. In the death of Mrs. Vonada the community loses a good kind neighbor. Her daughter, Mrs. Scott Decker, of South Dakota, visited her during the first part of her illness, but duty called, and she was obliged to leave for her home about three weeks ago. Mrs. Adam Heckman and Mrs. F. B. Herman, also daughters, were with her when she died.

Don't trifle with a cold is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in case of a child. There is nothing better than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs and colds in children. It is safe and sure. For sale by all dealers.
Trespass notices, suitable for all purposes, may be had at this office.

"DOROTHY DEANE"
The Writer of the Woman's Column in the Williamsport Sun Sees the World Beyond the Susquehanna.

"Dorothy Deane," who writes the "News for Ladies" in the Williamsport Sun, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Herman, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, saw Clinton, Centre and Union counties from the former's automobile. "Dorothy," who is Miss Martha Shank, refers to Centre Hall as a "village" and the only thing metropolitan in Millheim that attracted her attention was lingerie. A man from the same town would have seen that and more in Millheim, and would have dipped his pen in ink more than once to describe the attractiveness and importance of Centre Hall.
"Dorothy" did say this:
But to go back to Nittany valley. We were impressed not only with this beautiful valley, but with the little settlements as well. These are progressive, the homes, school buildings and churches all denoting prosperity. Nittany was the first village, then came Hublersburg and lastly Zion. The school building in Hublersburg was especially fine, in fact, we noticed all through these counties a number of fine school buildings. They also have large quantities of apples and most of these had been picked and were lying in great piles on the ground. The red ones among the green grass looked very pretty. We were all farmers enough to appreciate the wheat which was up quite high, and we decided that the farmers in this valley must be prosperous.

After leaving Bellefonte we again had fine roads and our first delightful experience of going through Pleasant Gap into the little town called Centre Hall. Here we were on the pike, and we were "hauling" up first by an old man, the toll-keeper. He had a big rocking chair on a high porch, and here he sat, only rising, when some one came along, long enough to poke out a long stick on which was tacked a baking powder can lid. We put the necessary toll in this and were off, the old man seeking his rocking chair at once.
The drive through this gap was beautiful, in fact we all decided that words were useless in trying to describe the scenery which we saw. This autumn is more beautiful than any we have had for years, owing to the fact that there has been little frost, and the leaves have stayed on the trees, the entire tree becoming a mass of color. From the top of the mountain we caught our first glimpse of Centre Hall, which is a beautiful village. Here we made some calls, and met Colonel Woodward, who insisted on our making a call at the Centre Reporter office in order to see the old band-press which was used to print the Lycoming Gazette in 1801. Colonel Woodward told us that this was a very historic press; that Ex-Governor W. F. Packer; Judge Ellis Lewis, of the supreme bench; Charles D. Eldridge, and Thomas Wright, the editor-in-chief of the Philadelphia Record, all used it in the early days of its existence. We lingered a long time in Centre Hall, then went to Penn's Cave and made Millheim in time for supper.
Millheim was another surprise to us, for here we found another flourishing town. The hotel is fine—in fact we had the best things to eat all along the way. After supper we went "shopping" and discovered they had a number of up-to-date department stores. In the windows we saw New York shoes and hats, while the shirtwaists in one store were great bargains. This town has several banks, a town hall, everything in fact but a moving picture show, and not having one of these we visited a little while with some other automobile parties that were stopping at this hotel, and then went to bed.

LOCALS.

Next Monday the special week of court will open.
Potatoes, apples and onions wanted at Centre Hall—The Howard Creamery Corp. Both 'phones.
Rev. J. Max Lantz is conducting revival services at Spruce town. See the announcement under the proper head.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Emerick, accompanied by their children, of Altoona, were in Centre Hall for a few days, but have returned to that busy railroad town.
Hon. W. A. Allison, his son Franklin, and daughter Miss Mabel, Mrs. Lillian Alexander, Mrs. D. J. Meyer, Misses Jennie and Ruth Thomas, witnessed the football game on Beaver field, at State College, on Saturday.
A. C. Butterf, of near Lewistown, made sale of his farm stock and implements last Saturday, and will move to Bureauham. The farm was sold by him some time ago to Charles Hoops, who will occupy the place. Mr. Butterf was formerly from Colyer.
S. L. Condo, of Spring Mills, is planning to do repairing and rebuilding of vehicles on a large scale when his new building, being erected for that purpose, is completed. He will also be better prepared to store the large number of new sleighs, cutters, etc., purchased every fall by the car load.

Anti-Saloon League Speaker.
The rain prevented the gathering of a large audience at Centre Hall Sunday evening in the United Evangelical church, but those who were present listened with no lagging interest for about two hours as Dr. I. P. Patch, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League for the Altoona District, described the League's aims and accomplishments. The right to suppress the saloon by law he made clear to the dullest apprehension by citing the uniform custom of government to require the removal from a community of any business that is, or becomes, a menace to the general welfare and that too even though the owners suffer financial loss thereby. The welfare of the nation is superior to all private considerations.

The Brooks' Law, as interpreted by most of our courts, took from the people the power to regulate or suppress the liquor business, it was a great step backwards. The responsibility and sin of those who sign applications for license were vividly pictured and the fiction that license helps business was exposed. The work of the Anti-Saloon League since its organization in Pennsylvania, in defeating all legislation favorable to liquor interest, especially its strenuous and successful fight against the iniquitous Kline Bill in the last legislature was set forth. He paid high tribute to the late Representative J. Calvin Meyer and commended the stand of Senator Joseph Alexander on liquor legislation last winter and urged the choice of a new representative who will favor local option.

ON THE STREET

As you walk down the street you occasionally see some young man whose appearance is unusual and his carriage as he walks along impresses you strongly. It is probable that his clothes are not custom made, for the number of men who wear ready to put on garments increases daily.

Our garments are designed particularly to give a young man a distinguished appearance.

Come in and let us show you how to make the most of your figure, remembering that in this world "appearances count."

THE TONIC OF VICTORY.

Army Surgeons Say It Acts Almost as an Anesthetic.
Bonnette, a French army surgeon, writes in the Presse Medicale of the extraordinary indifference to the pain of operation manifested by the soldiers of Napoleon while the great conqueror was sweeping victoriously over Europe. While the defeated soldier is full of imaginary terrors, subject to panic, madness and treason, the conqueror, on the other hand, is intoxicated with success, says the New York Medical Journal. Nothing, not even the morbid microbe, can resist troops who believe themselves to be invincible.
Victory is the most powerful of restoratives and deepest of anesthetics. Legless members of the old guard crowded into an ambulance would at sight of the emperor rise on their stumps to salute him. After Elyan Larray operated uninterruptedly for thirty-six hours, and he reports how the soldiers seemed unconscious of their own troubles, lost in thought of the glory of their leader, and maimed as they were, lending their best aid to fellow patients.
At Borodino Larray disarticulated the shoulder of a colonel, who immediately set out for France on foot, where he arrived after three months walking. After fording the Beresina, a river in Russia, General Zayonchek, seventy-five years old, had his kneecap shattered by a bullet. Amputation was performed in three minutes in a violent snowstorm and in bitterly cold weather yet the white-haired officer was placed in a sledge and taken to Vilna, where he died at the age of eighty-six years. Many similar anecdotes are told by our civil war veterans.

Stupid Fish.

Professor Harold Russell, the London zoologist, will have none of the popular yarns about the wonderful things fish will do when put to it. He says they are deaf, dumb and virtually color blind. When the calcareous stones are taken out of the ears of fish they lose all sense of equilibrium and roll about as if crazy. Most fish hunt their food by only defective sight, but the eels by even more defective smell. A conger eel with which Professor Russell experimented devoured with the same avidity fish dosed with cheese, anchovy, camphor sprits, turpentine and iodoform.

Where We Aim.

William Dean Howells in one of his talks about literature said: "Good literature is always condemned on its first appearance. That is because, being original, it is new and strange. Shelley's work was bitterly condemned at first. So was Coleridge's. So was Wordsworth's. So was Stephen Crane's." Mr. Howells paused, then added impressively, "Stories are only thrown at those trees which are heavy with fruit."
