Remembered Their Pastor.

Last Monday night, while Rev. S. A. Snyder, pastor of the Centre Hall United Evangelical church, was absent on business and his wife was nearby attending a teacher training class, about forty people representing the Linden Hall and Centre Hall classes of the church, took possession of the parsonage, bringing their smiles and filled baskets, bundles, and sacks—things which make an itinerant preacher happy. On Mrs. Snyder's return she was greatly surprised to say the least, as also was Rev. Snyder when he returned a few hours later.

While pastor and wife appreciate the many substantial gifts, they most of all appreciate the sweet christian spirit that was manifested by the occasion and their heartiest thanks are extended to the donors.

All enjoyed themselves in social chat till a reasonable hour, when they returned home, feeling they had obeyed the Bible commandment—It is better to give than to receive.

Following is a list of donors: Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Shirk, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Poorman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Daup and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Dinges and family, Orvis Weaver, J. F. Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Whiteman and family, William Showers, Roy White, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mingle, Mrs. Lucy Henney, Mr. and Mrs. William Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnsonbaugh, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. McClellan and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Weaver and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Ralston, John Raymond, Mrs. John C. Rossman, Miss Phoebe Potter, Mrs. Mary Wilson, Mrs. A. P. Luse, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tate.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Bradford from Friday until Sunday were in Rebersburg. The former took advantage of his trip there to boost the sale of the DeLaval cream separator, which is recognized as the leading separator of the day.

Special Court.

Special term of court convened on Monday morning with the Hon. Harry Alvan Hall, of Ridgway, on the bench.

After hearing some motions and petitions Judge Orvis retired from the bench and Judge Hall then proceeded with a list of special cases especially marked for trial and argument before him, the same being special to Judge Orvis.

In the case of the heirs of Joseph Meyer to collect a dowery in what is known as the Cyrus Durst farm, in Harris township, the claim was set aside.

The Only Pen News.

The commission appointed to purchase a location for the proposed new penitentiary will be in Bellefonte on Monday, the president of the board not having been on that particular ground heretofore. Other sites in the county will also be visited.

The commission was due in Bellefonte yesterday (Wednesday), but on the day previous word was received of postponement of the date until the time named above.

Bellefonte feels sure the McBrides Gap site will be selected, but as yet the commission has not made its decision. The reports you read this week other than the statements made above are purely speculative.

Centre Hill Cemetery.

A committee appointed by the Sinking Creek Presbyterian Church, during the summer solicited funds from friends far and near to put the old cemetery in order. As soon as enough for the wall was in sight a contract was made with John Horner, of Colyer, the lowest bidder, to repair the old wall. He rebuilt the portions fallen down and covered the whole with a coping of concrete. He has just finished his work. When the rubbish is removed and the brier cleared out this sacred spot will be a credit to the neighborhood and to those who have taken an interest in the work and assisted. That the work may be continued those who have not sent in their contribution should do so promptly. The response has been liberal, if those who have neglected the matter come to time promptly it will be possible to put the historic place in first class order.

So far all inquiries have failed to elicit any information, even from "the oldest inhabitants," as to the construction of the original wall. The church records are pretty complete for seventy-five years previous to the present, but make no mention of the wall. The beginnings of the church organization go back to about 1775, and the location at Centre Hill was in the year 1797. It would seem that somebody alive must remember when the wall was built or have heard some older persons speak of it. Any reliable information will be welcomed by George L. Goodhart, Clerk of Sessions, or by the pastor, Rev. W. H. Schuyler, Centre Hall.

Rev. S. C. Stover attended the 165th annual session of the Eastern Synod of the United States, which convened in the First Reformed church in Philadelphia, which is one of the old historic churches of the denomination. The church was founded in 1727 and the charter was granted in 1765. During the Revolutionary war, the British occupied it for a hospital for some time.

In a letter to the Reporter last week J. M. Goodhart, of Lewistown, asked the question, "how many Reporter readers can recall or have ever heard of Timothy Ladd, a school teacher who came to Penna Valley in about 1820?" Miss Sallie Keller, of Boalsburg, remembers quite well having heard her father, the late Henry Keller, speak of him. The Keller family lived in Potter township, and Mr. Keller was one of Ladd's pupils, when in his teens. He always spoke of the teacher as having had the respect of his pupils as well as that of their parents. Whenever the teacher found it necessary to use the rod, he would call on one of the larger boys to bring the obstreperous pupil up to the desk, and the boy who misbehaved never refused to go.

Quite a number of the members of the Lutheran congregation attended the installation of Rev. F. W. Barry, at Centre Hall, on Sunday. In the evening Rev. W. D. E. Scott preached at Spring Mills.

The lecture at Centre Hall on the evening of election day will again be attended by a number of people from this place.

Mrs. S. L. Condo and son Lester had a narrow escape from drowning on Thursday evening. They had been in Millheim, and on returning home about eight o'clock on the back road between Penn Hall and Spring Mills, the horse they were driving took fright and in turning around upset the buggy, throwing the occupants into the creek at a point where the water is waist deep. After some effort they both succeeded in reaching the banks of Penns Creek, and suffered little on account of the cold bath. The buggy was somewhat broken and a number of packages were lost.

THERE IS NO PLOW SUPERIOR TO THE SYRACUSE RIDING PLOW

It plows the same depth the whole day long; sticks to the ground in stormy soil; can be well handled on rocky hillsides. It leaves no dead furrows to wash; will throw the soil up hill better than any other plow made; it is strong enough to do its work, yet not clumsy. It is made for two or three horses.
