LOCALS

Bargains in shoes, shirts and overalls—the clothing in season at all times—Odenkirk's Store, Centre Hall.

If you think of doing any concrete work, either walks, walls, or general concrete work, try Alpha Portland cement.—R. D. Foreman, Centre Hall.

Prepare for the haying season early. We handle every thing from a hand fork up to a hay loader.—J. H. and S. E. Weber, Centre Hall and Oak Hill station.

Mrs. Rosie (Armbruster) Miller, and daughter, who had been visiting friends at Farmers Mills, returned to her home at Erie this (Thursday) morning.

At a depth of ninety feet water was found on the Decker lumber tract in Gregg township. The well was drilled by A. P. Krape. The water rose seventy-eight feet.

W. D. Meyers, formerly superintendent of the Bellefonte water works, was appointed a district superintendent of roads by Commissioner Bigelow, at a salary of $1500.

Prof. W. A. Brown, an instructor in the Huntingdon Reformatory and former Gregg township resident, and Rev. Price will be the Memorial day speakers at the Union cemetery, at Farmers Mills.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ammon E. Burkholder, at Phillipsburg, New Jersey. It is the first in the family, and also the first in its generation on the mother's (Strohm) side, and, of course, is idolized.

Not a herald of a coming circus, but to advertise his own business, Emanuel Shook, of Spring Mills, drove to Centre Hall on Tuesday behind two shetland ponies. Mr. Shook has started a pony farm, and the pair are two of the foundation herd.

Millheim's new cornet band of eighteen pieces will appear for the first time in their new uniforms on Memorial Day at the services to be held in that town. The band, by the way, is spoken of very flatteringly by the residents of Millheim and is an organization of which the people of that town are very proud.

At the annual meeting of the Reformed and Lutheran Cemetery Association held on Monday evening, the trustees were instructed to obtain an option on additional land for cemetery purposes. The resolution made the definite request that the site offered by John C. Rosman, east of Centre Hall, containing thirteen acres, be investigated. No other business of interest to the public was transacted.

Prof. C. F. Shaw, head of the department of agronomy at State College, accompanied by Mrs. Shaw and ten students are on a trip through the south. Their first stop was at Harrisburg today (Thursday) and from there they will go to Sparks, Maryland, to visit a noted agricultural high school; at Baltimore they will remain a half day, and then take a boat for Norfolk, Virginia, where they will be guests of the Virginia Experiment Station and the Southern Railroad. Richmond is the next point. Here a 9000-acre plantation with 700 acres in alfalfa is the attraction. Two days in Washington, and a day in Philadelphia finishes the trip.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Matilda Williams was attended by a number of people from a distance, among them being these: Mr. and Mrs. John H. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams, State College; Prof. and Mrs. W. A. Brown, Huntingdon; Mr. and Mrs. John O. Scholl, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Williams, Altoona; Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Williams, Pittsburg; Ray Williams, Graysville; Claude Williams, State College; J. I. Williams, Lemont; Harry Williams, Bellefonte; Harold Williams, Altoona; Mr. and Mrs. William Blahel, Lemont; Dr. and Mrs. Stuart C. Runkle, Philadelphia; Rev. James Runkle, Newport; Mrs. Lucinda Runkle, Miss Nellie Runkle, Spring Mills; Rev. William A. McClellan, West Milton.

Millheim, Henry Krape, Mrs. Charles McClellan
Rebersburg, C. M. Brungart
Boalsburg, John Wright, Mrs. John Rupp
Pine Grove Mills, Charles Meyer

Note from Board of Health.

In view of the fact that Centre Hall is likely to have an epidemic of measles, the Board of Health respectfully reminds citizens that the town council more than a year ago enacted into law certain rules to be observed in the case of contagious diseases; and also penalties for their violation. These rules require among other things, not only physicians, but also householders to report at once any cases of communicable diseases, dangerous to the public health, to the Board of Health. Measles require modified quarantine. Modified quarantine forbids entrance and exit to all persons except to certain members of the family, as wage earners, who may be authorized by the health authorities to pass in and out under certain definite restrictions. Failure to observe the rules of modified quarantine will result in an absolute quarantine. A cheerful acquiescence in these and other requirements will be for the general good.

At the recent meeting of the Board, Perry Breon was elected Health Officer.
