

Second Week of Court.

The second week of court adjourned Tuesday. The case of Lillie Dale vs. the executors of George Dale, deceased, was up for trial Monday and Tuesday. The judge ordered a verdict in the sum of $1832, subject to a point of law. It appears Miss Dale sued for a book account. George Dale, her father, paid each of his children $75 a year during the time that they were at home after becoming of age. Miss Dale had been paid at this rate for a part of the time, but there yet remained the sum named to her credit, as claimed by her. According to the testimony, the Dale estate is valued at about $17000, giving to each of the five heirs about $3500. In his will Mr. Dale gave Miss Lillie Dale, the contestant, the Dale homestead and the furniture, valued, all told, at about $7000. In his will Mr. Dale used language that led some of the heirs to believe that this portion was meant to cover all of her claim, while she contends that it was not intended that the book account of $1800 should be set aside. The case is a rather complicated one, and there is much speculation whether or not the court will set aside the verdict.

Mrs. Ellen Herman Dead.

Mrs. Ellen E. Herman died at her home at Lemont, at two o'clock Monday morning, May 20th, heart failure and other complications being the cause of her death. She was born April 15th, 1848, at Frenchville, Clearfield county. Her parents were John W. and Clara Miller. She was married to William Miller in 1871; five children were born to them, two died in infancy. Several years after Mr. Miller's death she was married to Jacob Herman and one son was born to them. She is survived by her husband, two sons and two daughters: Harry Miller, State College; Mrs. Mary Williams, of Phillipsburg; Mrs. Margaret Longwell and Wade Herman, of Lemont. Also three brothers and two sisters survive: David, John and George Miller, of Pine Grove Mills, and Mary and Phoebe Miller, of Shingletown. She was a member of the Reformed church; funeral services were held in the Reformed church at Boalsburg on Wednesday forenoon, conducted by her pastor, Rev. S. C. Stover. Interment was made in the cemetery adjoining the church.

Rev. Pearce Dead.

The remains of Rev. John I. Pearce were interred at Lock Haven on Wednesday. He was a prominent Methodist minister, and was well known in Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio. His death occurred in Conneaut, Ohio. In 1855 he was elected to Congress from the Centre-Clinton district, and after his term of office expired again resumed the ministry.

Coleville Band Will Be Here.

The Coleville band, the well known musical organization, will be in Centre Hall today (Memorial Day), at about 5:30 o'clock, and render music during the memorial services.

LOCALS

The Coleville band will be in town this (Thursday) evening.

Mrs. A. Luckenbach, of Bellefonte, is visiting her sister, Mrs. D. J. Meyer.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Homan, of Altoona, came to Centre Hall a few days ago.

William Stump suffered from a light attack of pneumonia, last week, but now is about again.

Mrs. M. P. Kent, who returned from the Bellefonte hospital ten days ago, is getting along nicely.

Rev. J. H. Keller, the newly-elected pastor of the Lutheran church, at Phillipsburg, has entered upon his duties.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Booser, Capt. G. M. Boal and Shannon Booser, were in Reedsville to visit the Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Meyer.

Mrs. John Durner, Mrs. W. J. Folk, Misses Helen Riley and Ruth Durner, all of Boalsburg, last week visited Mrs. H. C. Shirk, in Centre Hall.

Capt. W. H. Brown and a detail of fifteen privates, will decorate the graves of their companions, at Centre Hall, at nine o'clock this (Thursday) morning.

Bell telephone employees are putting up two additional copper wire circuits between Millheim and Spring Mills, and Spring Mills and Centre Hall. The new circuits will also be continued to Bellefonte. The traffic has proven too heavy for their present toll lines, but with the additional circuits they hope to give satisfactory service.

Miss Bertha McCormick, for several years chief operator in the Commercial telephone exchange, at Centre Hall, became seriously ill the latter part of last week. Her condition is improved at this writing (Wednesday), but not to such an extent as is wished by her many friends. Miss Madeline Gearett, of Bellefonte, is taking Miss McCormick's place in the telephone exchange.

Worked an Old Trick.

One of the solons under the gilt dome of the Massachusetts statehouse swears this happened to him. Have you heard it—back in the rattle days?

"Six of us went down on the capoduck shooting soon after the season opened. I was not much of a shooter, so the gang thought they would put one over on me and assigned me to a blind where no ducks ever were known to go and went away and left me there. From an hour before sunrise until late afternoon I stuck to the job, but nary a quack.

"That night at the table I absentmindedly cut open a shell and was surprised at the number of small shot it contained. After more or less airing of opinions on projectiles from each 'expert' a pool was made up on the number. Fifty bucks—ten a head—is not a bad day's work, I think. Eh? How? What do you suppose I was doing for twelve hours in that blind?"

And yet they wonder at some of the bills that get by the sacred codfish.—Boston Traveler.

Not Their Fault.

An American woman who resided for some years in Mexico had an odd experience with an earthquake. She was the mother of two lively small sons. One day they had been especially obstreperous and did not grow quieter as the time for her siesta and theirs approached. After rousing her from her nap two or three times by their antics she gave them fair warning that if there was any further commotion severe punishment would result. Again she dropped off into sleep. Suddenly she found herself awake and on her feet with sounds of banging still in her ears and the room quivering as if from the fall of a heavy piece of furniture. The boys, scared and guilty looking, were in the doorway. She seized the nearer, reversed him and had him half spanked before the excited protests of his brother penetrated to her brain through his anguished howls. Then she became aware that she was spanking him for an earthquake.—New York Herald.

Written on Glass.

Miss Harriet Auber's beautiful lines, "Our Blessed Redeemer, Ere He Breathed," were written by the authoress on a windowpane in her house at Hoddesdon. A dealer in curios tried to purchase this interesting and peculiar manuscript from the owner of the house after the death of Miss Auber in 1862, but he was unsuccessful. The pane of glass was subsequently stolen, and it has never since been found or its fate discovered.

Centuries ago Theophilus, bishop of Orleans, while in prison at Metz composed the hymn, "All Glory, Laud and Honor," which he wrote on the window of his cell. As the usual Palm Sunday procession passed through the town the emperor heard sounds of singing proceeding from the prison. He thereupon liberated the bishop, whose hymn was afterward regularly used on each succeeding Palm Sunday as a processional, the choir taking up each quatrain and the public joining in singing the chorus.

High Bridge.

High bridge, in New York, was completed in 1842 and at that time was considered one of the world's marvels of bridge building. It may be added that it still is looked upon by bridge builders as a model of its kind. This great stone bridge was built to bring water into the city from the Croton river valley after the great dam was thrown across it forty miles above Manhattan. The aqueduct, cut part way through solid rock and part way continued by tunnel, had to be brought across the Harlem, and the solution of this engineering problem was in High bridge.

Do Not Repair an Old Wooden Porch

In a few years its props and posts will decay again, through exposure to the weather, and you have the job to do over again. Better tear down the wood structure and build it of concrete—posts, steps, foundation and even the floor. Then you will have an everlasting porch of solid appearance and beautiful design, which is also fire-proof. Mix a few sacks of with clean sand to make your concrete. It is absolutely uniform in quality and is easily handled. We will gladly show you how to use it in making concrete.
