

DEATHS.

On Friday morning the Rev. D. R. P. Barry, formerly pastor of the Union Pastorate of the Central Penna Synod of the Lutheran church, and for the past seven years located at Hartleton, passed out of this life, at his late residence in Selingsgrove. He had been a sufferer from gastric trouble for about one year and was compelled, on account of falling health, to resign and retire from the active service of the ministry, his resignation taking effect on May 31st. About four weeks ago he moved, with his family, to Selingsgrove, where he had planned to spend the remainder of his days.

Rev. Barry was born at Spruce Creek, Huntingdon County, January 29th, 1840. There he spent his early life and for a time worked as an iron maker, but later taught school. When the war broke out, he volunteered and enlisted for three years service, being first a private in Co. M, Ninth Regiment, Penna Vol. Cavalry. He was promoted to the rank of 2nd Lieut. Co. D, of the same regiment and served in that capacity until a few months before the close of the war, when it became necessary, owing to broken health, for him to resign. He was married to Rebecca Kuhn, of Spruce Creek, May 4th, 1864, while home on a veteran furlough. To this union were born eight children, six girls, May, Myrtle, Cora, Susannah Berte and Olive, who survive him and live at home, also two sons, Frederick W., pastor of the Penna Valley Lutheran charge, and E. Elias, who preceded him to the heavenly home about six years ago, having died of typhoid fever in the Passavant Hospital in Pittsburgh. There also survive the wife, and a brother, James F., of Altoona; and a sister, Mrs. Mary Anderson, of Seattle, Washington.

In the year 1872, Rev. Barry entered Missionary Institute, now Susquehanna University, Selingsgrove, for the purpose of preparing for the gospel ministry. He was ordained as a minister in the Lutheran Church in 1875, and served the following parishes: Freport, Armstrong Co.; Westmoreland charge, Westmoreland Co.; Huntingdon, Huntingdon Co.; Fourth Lutheran Church, Altoona, the and Union county. For eleven years he also conducted a printing establishment and Lutheran book supply in Pittsburg, serving at the same time as a supply pastor in the Pittsburg Lutheran Synod. In his work he was always a conscientious and faithful pastor, laboring unselfishly for the interests of the people whom he served, and worked often with his hands in building and repairing churches. The funeral services were held from his late residence, Wednesday morning, and after interment in the Union cemetery of the same place, services in memory of the departed, were held in Trinity Lutheran church, where the Rev. J. F. Hartman, D. D., of Philadelphia, assisted by other ministers paid tribute to his faithful service and useful life. Most of the members of the Central Penna Synod were in attendance, showing their respect and the high esteem in which they held him who has been called to his reward.

David Fye, aged sixty-eight years, nine months and nineteen days, died at his home at Colyer on Saturday evening. Interment was made at Zion Hill, Tuesday morning, Rev. O. Martin, pastor of the United Evangelical Association church, being the officiating minister. He had been a sufferer from dropsy and heart trouble for several years, and also suffered from a paralytic stroke.

There survive the deceased a wife, nee Catharine Leichty, also one brother, William Fye, and one sister, Mrs. John Shutt, both residents of Nittany Valley.

Piqueresque Moors.

Imagine a thin, tall, bearded, clean cut individual, black hair and eyes, his complexion ranging in color from that of the negro to Caucasian fairness, clothed in richly embroidered undergarments, over which gracefully fall the folds of a finely woven hark or jellaba, his stockinged feet shoved into yellow slippers, on his shaved head a red fez, about which is wound a spotless white turban—and you have a type of the town Moroccan—the Moor.

The coarse brown felt hats of camels or goat's hair, sometimes handed down through several generations; occasionally sandals and a small, tight fitting woolen cap make up the costume of the countryman, although one finds him oftener barefoot and bare-headed, head shaved, save for the little tuft which characterizes the Berber and Kabyle, who believe that at the last day this will be used as a sort of handle with which they will be hauled up to heaven.

He is often a nomadic trader and arranges his journey so as to be at the town on certain market days, and at these times one may see these men, with their goods on heavy draft camels or overladen donkeys, steadily trudging their way over the rough caravan trails. They seem their bare existence, indeed, which may be swept away in a moment by mountain brigands or the town robbers, who often sit in high places.—Charles W. Furlong in Outing Magazine.

The Vacuous Life.

People without any form of religion, without superstition, devoid of any thought of the future state, have been found in the interior forests of Sumatra, according to Dr. Wilhelm Voiz, the geologist of the University of Breslau, who made extensive journeys through the island. There he found the Kubus, as he named them, who are scarcely to be distinguished from the small manlike ape of the Indo-Malayan countries. They are wanderers through the forest seeking food. They have no property. They are not hunters, but simply collectors. They seek merely sufficient nuts, fruits and other edible growths to keep them alive. The Kubus wage very little warfare upon the small amount of animal life in their silent and somber land. The only notion he could get from them of a difference between a live and a dead person was that the dead do not breathe. He infers that they are immeasurably inferior to the paleolithic man of Europe who fashioned tools and hunted big game with his flint tipped arrow and knife. Intellectual atrophy is the result of the Kubus' environment. The words they know are almost as few as the ideas they try to express.—Chicago News.

Golf and a Prince.

"Golf has its humors," said a champion player. "And this struck me particularly in a conversation at a golf club that I once had with a Persian prince. The prince, as he sat on the club piazza watching the various champions drive off, drawled: 'I don't see very much in golf. No object is to be gained by the depositing of a white ball in a subterranean cavity, and if any object were to be gained the shortest and surest method would surely be to carry the ball in the hand from cavity to cavity.' 'But, prince,' I said, 'the difficulty of getting the ball into the cavities, as you call them, is what constitutes the attraction of the game.' 'The difficulty constitutes the attraction, eh? The prince frowned. 'Well,' he went on, 'it would be more difficult to shave with a coal shaver than a razor, but I don't think many men are tempted on that account to remove their heads each morning in that way.'—Exchange.

Undertakers.

In England in 1614 undertakers were men of influence who undertook for a consideration to get such persons returned to parliament as would prove submissive to the royal will of King James I. The three chief undertakers of 1614 were Lords Bacon, Somerset and Neville. They undertook to bribe the chief speakers and men of influence in parliament that year over to the side of the king, with partial success. Then there were undertakers in Ireland in 1608. They were English and Scotch colonists sent to north Ireland and were each allotted 2,000 acres of land. They were men of capital and undertook to pay a mark a year for every six acres and to admit no recusant for tenants; hence the name as applied to them. But neither the histories nor the dictionaries give any reason for calling the men who bury our dead undertakers.

There is no real need of anyone being troubled with constipation. Chamberlain's Tablets will cause an agreeable movement of the bowels without any unpleasant effect. Give them a trial. For sale by all dealers.

MEN OF WEIGHT.

Only Three of This Notable Eleven Were Under 200 Pounds.

On Aug. 10, 1878, General Washington and ten other officers of the Revolutionary army were weighed at West Point, N. Y., and the result is preserved in an item from the English magazine Notes and Queries. Only three of the eleven weighed less than 200 pounds. The heaviest was Colonel Swift, whose 319 pounds made him lead the next, General Knox, at 280, by thirty-nine pounds, but Knox was only twenty-eight years old.

Then follow Colonel Michael Jackson, 252; Colonel Henry Jackson, 233; General Lincoln, then forty-five years old, 224; Lieutenant Colonel Humphreys, 221; Lieutenant Colonel Huntington, 212.

General Washington, forty-six years old, weighed 206 pounds and was followed at quite an interval by Lieutenant Colonel Cobb and General Huntington, who weighed 182 pounds each.

It is amusing to note that the heaviest man's name was Swift and that of the lightest General Groaton, who is credited with 166 pounds, 163 less than Swift's record.

The total weight of the eleven, 2,485 pounds gives 226 pounds as the average, but Swift being omitted the other ten averaged only 217 pounds.

They were certainly men of weight and substance and a heavy team—if we may compare them with a modern football eleven—that might well challenge comparison also with our modern military men.

When your child has whooping cough be careful to keep the cough loose and expectoration easy by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as may be required. This remedy will also liquefy the tough mucus and make it easier to expectorate. It has been used successfully in many epidemics and is safe and sure. For sale by all dealers.

Do Not Repair an Old Wooden Porch
In a few years its props and posts will decay again, through exposure to the weather, and you have the job to do over again. Better tear down the wood structure and build it of concrete—posts, steps, foundation and even the floor. Then you will have an everlasting porch of solid appearance and beautiful design, which is also fire-proof. Mix a few sacks of Universal Portland Cement
with clean sand to make your concrete. It is absolutely uniform in quality and is easily handled. We will gladly show you how to use it in making concrete.

The "Lancaster" Side-delivery Hay Rake

The haying season will soon be on, and the Lancaster Side-delivery Hay Rake is a labor saver. It is simple, durable and easily operated. The Lancaster gathers up the hay in a continuous, loose and fluffy windrow, which allows the air to pass through freely. The machine will rake clean the shortest blue grass as well as the heaviest clover and timothy.

The "Gearless" Hay Loader

Its name describes it—it is gearless, and has no gears to break, clog up, chains and sprockets to break, run off and cause no end of trouble. The long easy stroke delivers the hay whether heavy or light, on the wagon in better shape without chewing it up, without tearing off the lever or without threshing out the seed as other loaders do.

The GEARLESS Hay Loader is not the cheapest hay loader you can buy but it is the best one. They are worth more than is asked for them.

The GEARLESS does its own loading. It pushes the hay well up onto the wagon; it does not need a watchman to keep it from clogging. The Gearless is sold on its merits, because it never fails to perform the work it is sold to do. The Gearless will pick up and load winrows and haycocks which other machines cannot handle.
