No Social Tact.

At a club dance an enthusiastic member approached a rather dull member and said unto him: "Say, for heaven's sake go over and talk to Miss Fryte. She is sitting all by herself."

"But—but what shall I say to her?" "Tell her how pretty she is." "But she ain't pretty." "Well, then tell her how ugly the other girls are. Ain't you got no social tact?"

Her Ruling Passion.

The woman who had chased dust and dirt all her life finally reached St. Peter.

"Come in, you poor, tired woman," he said, and held the gate ajar. But the woman hesitated. "Tell me first," she said, "how often you clean house?" The saint smiled.

"You can't shake off the ruling passion, can you?" he said. "Oh, well, step inside and they'll give you a broom and dustpan instead of a harp."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SALLOW FACES

Often Caused by Tea and Coffee Drinking.

How many persons realize that tea and coffee so disturb digestion that they produce a muddy, yellow complexion?

A ten days' trial of Postum has proven a means, in thousands of cases, of clearing up a bad complexion.

A Wash. young lady tells her experience: "All of us—father, mother, sister and brother—had used tea and coffee for many years until finally we all had stomach troubles, more or less.

"We all were sallow and troubled with pimples, bad breath, disagreeable taste in the mouth, and all of us simply so many bundles of nerves.

"We didn't realize that tea and coffee caused the trouble until one day we ran out of coffee and went to borrow some from a neighbor. She gave us some Postum and told us to try that.

"Although we started to make it, we all felt sure that we would be sick if we missed our strong coffee, but we tried Postum and were surprised to find it delicious.

"We read the statements on the pkg., got more and in a month and a half you wouldn't have known us. We all were able to digest our food without any trouble, each one's skin became clear, tongues cleared off, and nerves in fine condition. We never use anything now but Postum. There is nothing like it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Finest Potato Patch.

That Harrisburgers can reduce the high cost of living by back yard gardening has long been contended by those who enjoy "sass" of their own growing, but it was hardly to be expected that, bordered as the city is by verdant Cumberland Valley on the west and fertile Lancaster county on the south, right here within the city limits is to be found the finest potato patch in the entire Keystone State, if not in the country. This is no judgment of the mere amateur, enthusiastic over Harrisburg and its products, but is the opinion of calm and dispassionate State experts who have viewed the patch with amazement. The potatoes are the property of J. R. Stoyer, a former Third street paper-hanger, now residing at 2325 North Third street, and are growing on the plot adjoining his house at Third and Seneca streets. The potato plants are waist-high, some of them being in blossom and measuring 36 to 38 inches in height. This is no freak crop, Mr. Stoyer having grown last year potatoes that were pronounced the equal for size and quality of any in the State. "It's just a case of good ground, proper cultivation, first-class seed and knowing how," said Mr. Stoyer.

Pulling Out Salmon.

William G. Gipple, an engineer on the Philadelphia Railroad, residing at 219 Pepper street, has caught more than forty salmon, averaging more than one pound each in the past two weeks. The salmon were all taken from the Juniata river near Gipple's cottage at Kilmer. In one day thirteen of the fish were taken. One of these weighed three and three-quarter pounds and was only captured after a struggle lasting twenty minutes. When the big fish was landed it measured slightly more than 16 inches in length. Several of the other fish weighed almost as much and gave good fights before being captured. Benjamin Gipple, a son and student at State College, has pulled in several large bass in the past few days. One which weighed more than four pounds and measured over a foot in length was taken in the Juniata after several hours' trolling last week.

Suit to Oust an Elector.

The plan to force William Wilhelm, of Pottsville, off the Republican state ticket as an elector-at-large through equity proceedings because of his announced determination to vote for Colonel Roosevelt opened a big legal fight at Pottsville. Wilhelm says that if a bill in equity to oust him is filed he will question the legality of Taft's nomination.

To Return Prizes.

All boys who won prizes in the 100-yard swimming race on July 4 are requested to return them to the Harrisburg Park Commission office for re-adjustment. It has been proved that the winner of this event was over 16 years of age on the day of the competition, which causes him to forfeit the prize. The three other prize winners and the boy who finished fifth will be awarded the four prizes, provided they bring a certificate from their mother or father which will prove them to be under 16.

DIFFICULTIES OF AUDITORS

Antiquated Systems of Book-keeping Are to Be Displaced.

A. H. BAILEY SETS EXAMPLE

Former County Treasurer Hassler Says He Has a Considerable Sum of Money in Bank Awaiting Determination of the Amount Due.

(Special Harrisburg Correspondence).

Harrisburg.—It is almost certain that there will be important changes in the bookkeeping in vogue in some of the county departments as the result of the difficulty the county auditors have encountered in making their accounting this year. County Treasurer Arthur H. Bailey, on assuming office on January 1, inaugurated an entirely new system which is up to date and in accord with modern business methods. For many years a system was followed in the treasury and in other departments of the county administration which was obsolete, and which had been outgrown in the development of the county and the growth of its business. At intervals since the first of the year the auditors have been scanning the accounts and checking up all the funds with a view to ascertaining the exact financial standing of the several boards and officials. No question seems to have been raised as to the integrity of any one; it has simply been a matter of complicated accounting which can be overcome or rectified by the introduction of modern methods.

Nothing to Conceal.

The auditors say they have absolutely nothing to conceal and former County Treasurer Hassler asserts that in withholding certain public money after he left office he was only protecting himself, and that he was acting in exact accord with the custom of County Treasurers who preceded him. His accounts were kept in exactly the same manner as those of his predecessors, he says, against which there was never any complaint. Said he: "I still have a considerable sum of money in bank and am holding it there, as the county auditors and my clerk disagree on exactly the sum that is still due the county from me. Whatever the auditors finally decide is due shall be paid the minute I am notified of the amount. I have held several conferences with the auditors and believe that matters will be satisfactorily adjusted."

Praised for Killing Robber.

Norristown.—Not only was Daniel McDermott, the Upper Merion blacksmith, held blameless for killing John Ghoyno, one of the trio of highwaymen, who held up William Paul, near West Conshohocken, but the Coroner's jury commended him for his bravery. Joseph Lerous and Joseph Fallard admitted they were companions of the dead highwayman, but claimed that he died the holding up and the robbery and shared the spoils with them. They were held by Justice Simons for trial. McDermott's testimony that he shot only when the highwayman leveled his revolver at him was corroborated by Policeman McShane, who had organized a posse.

Angler Heard a Splash.

Carlisle.—"It was never so known before," says Rankin Dunfee, a local angler, who wasn't angling on the occasion in point. "I was crossing the bridge near home, swinging my lantern, for the night was dark. I heard a great splash, got down on the bank with lantern to see the cause, and lo and behold! a 16-inch fish lay floundering in the weeds. The lantern must have scared him out of the water—don't you think?"

Commissioners to Explain.

Sunbury.—Judges Herbert Cummins and Frederick Moser in the Northumberland County Court ordered County Commissioners George Hancock, Joseph Schmidt and Frederick Dornise to appear to explain why they reduced the assessments more than $500,000 on lands in Zerbe, Mt. Carmel and Coal townships belonging to the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company and the Lehigh Coal Company.

Child Worthy of Fire Chief.

York.—When a lamp upset in William Ziegler's residence in the West End, setting fire to the house while the family was sleeping, Mary Willis, the young daughter of Chief Engineer Willis, of the York Fire Department, came to the rescue. She directed a bucket brigade which overcame the flames.

Four Strikers Shot.

Palmerton.—Following the inauguration of a strike of 1,000 furnacemen at the plant of the New Jersey Zinc Company here, serious riots occurred and in a pitched battle between a mob of foreigners and a force of deputies under Sheriff Begel, of Carbon County, four foreigners were seriously wounded. They are John Morell, Steve Warnack, Joe Baston and Cyril Wassuk. The last named was taken to the Palmerton Hospital and is reported to be in a critical condition. The three others are being concealed.

BROKE OUT IN HEAT RASH

822 Georgia Ave., East Nashville, Tenn.—"My baby was about two months old when he began to break out in small red pimples like heat rash, afterward turning into festers. They gradually spread until his little head, face, groins and chest, his head being most affected, became a mass of sores with a great deal of corruption. It became offensive and gradually grew worse. I kept a white cap on him to keep him from scratching. It seemed to itch so badly. It made him cross and his chest and groins would often bleed.

"Nothing seemed to help it, and I had almost come to the conclusion that my baby's case was hopeless, when hearing of the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, I decided to try it. I noticed at once that baby rested better. I continued it for a few weeks and my baby was entirely cured by the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They cured where all others failed." (Signed) Mr. E. O. Davis, Nov. 28, 1912. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."
