Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Zrby, of Youngstown, Ohio, are visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. Charles Royer went to Millburg on Tuesday to attend the Missionary Convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fichthorn, of the western part of the state, are visiting relatives here.

Here is a woman who speaks from personal knowledge and long experience, viz., Mrs. P. H. Brogan, of Wilkeson, Pa., who says, "I know from experience that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is far superior to any other. For cough there is nothing that excels it." For sale by all dealers. adv.

DEATHS

Mrs. H. A. Gray, of State College, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Grant Hoover, in Williamsport. Mrs. Gray was quite aged and feeble and on the day previous to her death started to go up stairs when she fell down a distance of only one step, evidently being overcome by an attack of vertigo, sustained internal injuries which caused her death. Deceased was a native of this county and spent the greater part of her life in Buffalo Run valley. Surviving her are the following children: Mrs. Thomas Hartoak, of Buffalo Run; Mrs. Isaac Ray, of Indiana; Thomas D., of Light Street; Mrs. Frank Crosthwaite, of State College; Mrs. Grant Hoover and Z. B. Gray, of Williamsport. Funeral services were held at the Hoover home in Williamsport. The remains were taken to Gray's cemetery, near Stormstown, for burial.

J. C. Armbruster, a well known resident of Walker township, died at his home near Hecla park, after weeks of illness with cancer. He was born in Germany and was seventy-two years old. Coming to this country when he was a young man he engaged in farming, and followed that occupation all his life, for the past twelve years living in Walker township. He was the last surviving member of a family of six children and his only survivor is his wife, who prior to her marriage was Miss Mollie Shutt. Burial was made in the cemetery at Zion. The deceased was a brother of Gottlieb D., and George Armbruster, late of Gregg township, deceased, and was the last survivor of that family.

Mrs. George Gramley, a most estimable woman, died at her home near Rote on Saturday morning, after a year's illness from heart trouble and dropsy. Mrs. Gramley was a consistent Christian, having for years been a member of the Lutheran church at Salona, and she was ever ready to lend a helping hand to the needy and distressed. Deceased was aged nearly seventy-six years and leaves her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Fred Nixon, of Porter township, Clinton county. She is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Kate Erhard, Rebersburg; Mrs. May Herr, Indianapolis, and Mrs. Robert Brown, Chicago, and four brothers, Samuel, Henry and Luther Brungard, all of Salona, and Jacob Brungard, of Avis.

After an illness of several months due to a complication of diseases, Mrs. Caroline C. Coffey died at her home in Lock Haven. She was born at Harrisburg, November 3, 1851, and had thus reached the age of almost sixty-one years. Surviving are her husband, Robert M. Coffey, and the following children: Richard J., of Lock Haven; Charles H., of Philadelphia; Maurice G., of Mill Hall; Ira F., of Lock Haven, and Ruth M. at home.

Ross Williams died at Coshocton, Ohio, Saturday of last week, following an operation for gall stones. He was buried Monday. A wife, a daughter of Daniel Everhart, of Bellefonte, and five children, survive.

Mr. Williams was a printer by trade and twenty-five years ago composed type for the Keystone Gazette. He was aged about fifty-two years.

Miss Jessie L. Long died in Blair's Memorial hospital, at Huntingdon, following an operation for appendicitis. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Long, of Philadelphia, and for a number of years prior to her death held a position as saleslady in the Globe store. Besides her parents, four sisters and one brother survive.

John R. Musser died at his home near Penn Hall, Monday of last week, of paralysis, aged sixty-five years, eleven months and seventeen days. He leaves to survive six sisters and one brother. Funeral services were held Thursday forenoon, conducted by Rev. D. M. Geesey, and interment made in the Heckman cemetery.

If you have young children you have perhaps noticed that disorders of the stomach are their most common ailment. To correct this you will find Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets excellent. They are easy and pleasant to take, and mild and gentle in effect. For sale by all dealers. adv.

Society Climbers.

"The Notmuch family are just wild about society, aren't they?"

"Why, my dear, they are such climbers that they have even named their youngest daughter Ivy."—Exchange.

Realistic.

"You have too much rouge on, my dear, to enact properly a milkmaid."

"Have I, sir? But I thought a milkmaid should be rosy checked."

"On the contrary, a milkmaid is naturally a pall girl."—Baltimore American.

The Wrong Change.

Wife—Can you spare me just a little change this morning? Husband—Certainly! Go out and dine with your mother. The change will do us both good.—London Tit-Bits.

A BAD SCARE ENDED THE FUN

The Final Prank on Holliday's Hill Was in a Fair Way of Ending in a Tragedy When the Danger Was, by a Bit of Good Luck, Narrowly Averted.

Writing on "Mark Twain" in Harper's Magazine, Albert Bigelow-Paine recounts some of the scrapes of the youthful Sam Clemens. Sam was a recognized ringleader among his playmates, and one of the pranks they played nearly had a fatal termination. "One of their Sunday pastimes was to climb Holliday's hill and roll down big stones to frighten the people who were driving to church. Holliday's hill above the road was steep. A stone, once started, would go plunging and leaping down and bound across the road with the deadly swiftness of a twelve inch shell. The boys would get a stone poised, then wait until they saw a team approaching and, calculating the distance, would give it a start. Dropping down behind the bushes, they would watch the dramatic effect upon the churchgoers as the great missile shot across the road a few yards before them.

"This was Homeric sport, but they carried it too far. Stones that had a habit of getting loose so numerous on Sundays and so rarely on other days invited suspicion, and the 'patterollers'—river patrol, a kind of police of those days—were put on the watch. So the boys found other diversions until the patterollers did not watch any more. Then they planned a grand coup that should eclipse anything before attempted in the stone rolling line.

"A rock about the size of an omnibus was lying up there in a good position to go downhill, once started. They decided it would be a glorious thing to see that great boulder go smashing down a hundred yards or so in front of some unsuspecting and peaceful minded churchgoer. Quarrymen were getting out rock not far away and left their picks and shovels over Sundays. The boys borrowed these and went to work to undermine the big stone. It was a heavier job than they had counted on, but they worked faithfully Sunday after Sunday. If their parents had wanted them to work like that they would have thought they were being killed.

"Finally one Sunday while they were digging it suddenly got loose and started down. They were not quite ready for it. Nobody was coming but an old colored man in a cart, so it was going to be wasted. It was not quite wasted, however. They had planned for a thrilling result, and there was thrill enough while it lasted. In the first place, the stone nearly caught Will Bowen when it started. John Briggs had just that moment quit digging and handed Will the pick. Will was about to step into the excavation when Sam Clemens, who was already there, leaped out with a yell:

"Look out, boys; she's coming!" "She came. The huge stone kept to the ground at first, then, gathering a wild momentum, it went bounding into the air. About halfway down the hill it struck a tree several inches thick and cut it clean off. This turned its course a little, and the negro in the cart, who heard the noise, saw it come crashing in his direction and made a wild effort to whip up his horse. It was also headed toward a cooper shop across the road.

"The boys watched it with growing interest. It made longer leaps with every bound, and whenever it struck the fragments and dust would fly. They were certain it would demolish the negro and destroy the cooper shop. The shop was empty, it being Sunday, but the rest of the catastrophe would invite close investigation and results. It was making mighty leaps now, and the negro had managed to get directly in its path. They stood holding their breath, their mouths open.

"Then suddenly—they could hardly believe their eyes—the boulder struck a projection a distance above the road and, with a mighty bound, sailed clear over the negro and his mule and landed in the soft dirt beyond, only a fragment striking the shop, damaging but not wrecking it. Half buried in the ground, that boulder lay there for nearly forty years. Then it was blasted for milling purposes. It was the last rock the boys ever rolled down. They began to suspect that the sport was not altogether safe.

"Lime-light and the center of the stage was a passion of Sam Clemens' boyhood, a love of the spectacular that never wholly died. It seems almost a pity that in those old faroff, barefoot days he could not have looked down the years to a time when, with the world at his feet, venerable Oxford should clothe him in a scarlet gown."

Her Resentment.

Allice—It's mean of you to tell people that when Jack kissed me I didn't resent it. Maud—I didn't, dear. On the contrary, I said that when he kissed you on the cheek you held it up against him for quite awhile.—Boston Transcript.

Our Language.

"Now you know you're all wrong about that."
"Oh, yes; if you say so, I reckon I'm all wrong, all right."—Chicago Tribune.

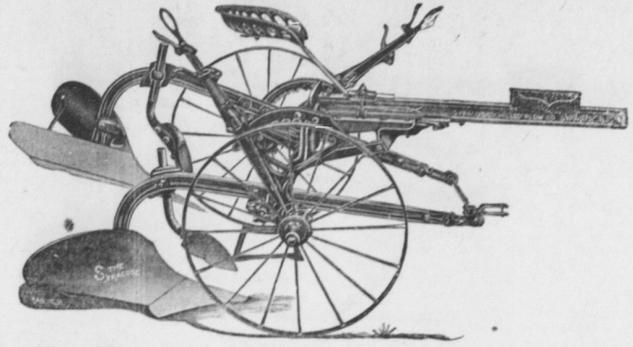

Watch the beginnings. Great floods have come through little leaks.

The Yukon Valley.

There are no blizzards in the Yukon valley in winter, and there is little wind. Snow about two feet deep covers everything from early October till spring.

Nothing is farther from the earth than heaven; nothing is nearer to heaven than earth.—Hare.

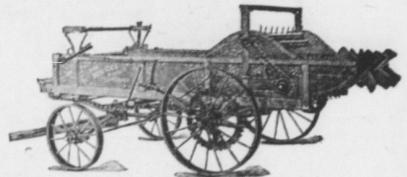

THERE IS NO PLOW SUPERIOR TO THE SYRACUSE RIDING PLOW

It plows the same depth the whole day long; sticks to the ground in stormy soil; can be well handled on rocky hillsides. It leaves no deep furrows to wash; will throw the soil up hill better than any other plow made; it is strong enough to do its work, yet not clumsy. Made for two or three horses.

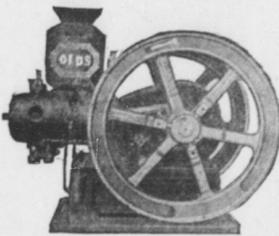

NEW IDEA MANURE SPREADER Does its work to perfection

There are many of them in use, and every machine is giving satisfaction. The draft is light, yet no other spreader will do the work as well. The wear and tear has been reduced to the minimum in the NEW IDEA.

THE "OLDS" GASOLINE ENGINES

have many superior qualities. The cut here represents the 4-A Hopper Jacket Engine. From the material that enters into it to the smallest detail, the engine is superior in quality. The Olds engines are built in all sizes. Ask for a descriptive catalog.

There is no FARM MACHINE OR IMPLEMENT that we do not handle.
