

WILSON'S SPEECHES.

They are a Model of Campaign Discussion, the Utterances of a Statesman.

Gov. Wilson's speeches are an oasis in a campaign desert. It has been many a year since a candidate for President made such a clear, convincing appeal to the reason and intelligence of the American people.

These speeches are a model of campaign discussion. In tone and temper they are exactly what the utterances of a candidate for president should be. They are in complete harmony with the dignity of the greatest elective office known to human history. They are the utterances of a statesman, not the tricky appeals of an ambitious politician.

Gov. Wilson makes no argument to prejudice or passion or class hatred. He abuses nobody. He makes no personal attacks upon Mr. Taft or Mr. Roosevelt. He ignores all personal attacks made upon himself. He calls nobody a liar or a thief or a crook or a pickpocket or a burglar or a scoundrel. He does not trim his principles to meet local antipathies but discusses the same questions and the same issues in Kansas and Colorado that he discusses in New York and New Jersey. In anything that he has said is there the faintest suspicion of demagoguery. He is telling the American people what in his opinion the government should do to promote the general welfare and what he as president would do to influence government.

These speeches are as happy in manner as in substance. They reveal Gov. Wilson as a sane, self-controlled leader moving along the line of clear, definite progressive principles of government. By his conduct on the stump we know what his conduct in the White House will be. By the way he discusses public questions now we know how he will discuss them after he becomes president.

If it were possible for the National Committee to collect all the speeches made in this campaign by Gov. Wilson, President Taft and Mr. Roosevelt and print them in a single volume it would be the most convincing Democratic campaign document that could be circulated. No intelligent, unprejudiced voter could read the Wilson speeches in comparison with the Taft and Roosevelt speeches without realizing Woodrow Wilson's overwhelming qualifications for the presidency.

Mr. J. A. Gleason for Congress.

James A. Gleason, the Democratic candidate for congress, has analyzed political conditions in the district and sized up the opposition that the Republican machine will furnish, and has decided that the voters are ready to elect a people's man to represent them at Washington, and he believes that he can fill the place and satisfy their desires.

Mr. Gleason truly represents the progressive and militant Democrats of the present day, and is in no wise bound by any element in the party of state which assumes to dictate or hamstring its candidates. He is one of our leading lawyers of Clearfield county, a native of that section and has friends throughout the district who know his career from boyhood. He has won his spurs in his profession and a reputation for achieving marked success, and for square dealing and honest service to his clients.

The Republican newspapers in the rural districts are beginning to realize that Governor Wilson will be elected president, and, of course, are predicting all kinds of calamities. But that is where we differ. The Altoona Tribune, a Taft paper, in an editorial says:

If the Tribune were to express a candid opinion concerning the immediate future of the country it would say that if present conditions continue until election day Woodrow Wilson will receive a large majority of the electoral vote. Soon after his inauguration he will quarrel with the leaders of his party and he will leave office in 1917 the most unpopular executive who ever occupied the executive chair. Enough has cropped out during the present campaign to show that he is a man who suspects everybody but himself.

Just one part of this opinion is true—Mr. Wilson will be elected.

Noli's Millinery Store.

The opening at Noli's millinery store, at Pleasant Gap, last week, was largely patronized by ladies from Nittany and Penns Valleys, and every patron was pleased with the stock on sale. The stock includes goods suited to all ages—from the little babe to the aged mother. No old stock; every piece new. The styles were selected from the stock of the largest millinery establishments in Philadelphia, with the greatest care by those trained in the business. Come to see our goods; examine carefully; compare prices; buy if you are pleased.

MRS JOHN T. NOLL, Pleasant Gap.

ELECTION DAY NOT FAR AWAY.

All States except Two, will Vote for Congressmen—States That Elect Governors.

Two weeks from next Tuesday the voters of the entire country will go to the polls to express their preferences for president and vice president of the United States. The states of Maine and Vermont, will vote on the same day for members of the house of representatives of the Sixty-third congress. The two states excepted have already held their elections. On November 5 state officers will be elected in all of the states excepting Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Mississippi, Vermont and Virginia. Earlier in the present year state officers were elected in Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Maine and Vermont. The election in Virginia will be held next year, while in Kentucky and Mississippi the present state officers hold over until 1915. The states that will elect governors at the election next month are: Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming. In the other states in which elections are to be held only minor officials are to be selected. In many of the states legislatures will be elected November 5, which will choose successors to United States senators whose terms expire March 4, 1913.

Impressions of the West.

Last week the Reporter made mention that Mrs. G. W. Ocker had just returned from a trip through the west. Her impressions of the west were given to the Lewisburg Journal, and they are here reprinted:

Having just returned from a two months' trip west I take great pleasure to inform the Journal readers of the great prosperity. I spent two weeks at Colorado Springs, Colorado, with my cousin, Rev. R. B. Wolf. The scenery with its many mineral springs in that section is beyond description. That state is wet, but the city of Colorado Springs is dry, which they love to boast of. They are trying hard to make it a dry state. I also spent three weeks in Kansas among some of its most prominent families. Kansas has never had any better crops of all kinds of grain and fruit. But what they love best is to boast of its young men. Kansas has thousands of young men who have never seen an open saloon. They pay one-fourth less taxes than we do in Pennsylvania. They have fewer criminal cases at court. The state has one hundred and three counties of which number sixty-seven counties have no papers. The state is dry and has been for twenty-eight years and they never want it wet. Their prayer is that Pennsylvania may go dry too.

Pennsylvania Day at State.

President Edwin Earle Sparks has assurance that three of the highest officials of the state will attend the Pennsylvania day exercises at State College on November 22, in addition to United States Senators Penrose and Oliver. Governor Tener will preside and make a short address; Attorney General John C. Bell will make the oration, and Adjutant General Thomas J. Stewart will review the cadet battalion.

District S. S. Convention.

A district Sunday-school convention will be held in the United Evangelical church, also known as Yearick's church, in Brush Valley, on Friday, the first day of next month. There will be two sessions—afternoon and evening.

INSPECTION OF SCHOOL CHILDREN.

400,000 Pupils Will be Inspected This Year—Large Per Centage of Children Have Defects.

The medical inspection of schools in districts of the fourth class has been extended this year so that 400,000 children are now receiving the protection of this State work. Eight hundred and seventy physicians have been appointed inspectors by Dr. Dixon, Commissioner of Health, to do the work in the 1,500 boroughs and townships. There are 11,550 schools in all in which the examinations will be made, the four schools in Centre Hall being a part of this number.

Last year 781 districts were inspected and 155,000 children were examined. Of this number 111,621 were found to have some defect. Of these 107,386 were white native born children, 3,231 were foreign born and 1,014 colored. Of the total number of defectives found, 73,033 had defects of vision, 72,695 had defective teeth, 51,155 had defective tonsils, 13,248 had defects of hearing, 14,738 showed defective nutrition and 15,659 had defects of breathing. As the total figures show many of the children suffered from more than a single infirmity.

At the Methodist parsonage, at Spring Mills, James Gulsewitz and Miss Mary Lingle, both of Spring Mills, were united in marriage by Rev. J. Max Lantz.

LOCALS.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John VanPelt, of Bellefonte.

H. G. Strohmeier was in State College for several days this week building cement walks on his property there.

A number of the members of the local Rebekah lodge attended a meeting of the Bellefonte Rebekah lodge, one evening last week.

Misses Jennie Stahl and Hazel Emery were entertained at the home of their friend, Mrs. Guy Springer, at Millheim, over Sunday.

John D. Meyer, cashier of the Blair County Trust and Deposit Company, with a party of friends from Altoona, were in Centre Hall Saturday.

At the present rate of progress the new penitentiary, wall and all, will be completed about 2000, A. D. A few more convicts were put to work last week.

Jacob C. Lee, of the Spring Mills station agent, is hustling on his new dwelling house. The structure will be brick veneered, and will have all the modern improvements.

There is much talk among farmers about the erection of silos during the coming year, and within a few years the silo will no doubt be a common sight on the Penns Valley farms. To dairy successfully, the silo is indispensable.

Mrs. F. O. Bairfoot and W. J. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Smith and daughter, Miss Ruth, on Saturday witnessed the aviation flights between Lock Haven and Mill Hall. The trip was made in auto cars. The flights were graceful, and well worth the trip.

A car load of wall plaster was received by C. D. Bartholomew and S. W. Smith, the most of which will be used in buildings they are erecting. The surplus is offered for sale at rates below the cost of plaster of an equal grade. See advertisement in this issue.

Mrs. Mary A. Rearick and daughter, Miss Savilla Rearick, closed their home in Centre Hall, and will spend a greater portion of the winter in Cleveland, Ohio, with the former's daughter, Mrs. I. Y. Moyer. On their way to Cleveland they will stop for several weeks in Martinsburg, with J. Paul Rearick, a son of Mrs. Rearick's, who is in the undertaking business in that place.

William F. Wiser, of Altoona, accompanied by his wife and daughter, were entertained by J. H. Wiser, of near Tusseyville, over Sunday. The Wisers are brothers, and he is also a brother of Edward Wiser, east of Old Fort. It is twenty-seven years since Mr. Wiser was in Centre Hall, and at that time he made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rearick, who lived here then. He is now employed in the Altoona car shops.

These personals are reprinted from the Millheim Journal: Mr. and Mrs. Ross Flinthorne, of Pittsburg, spent several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Lettzel. . . . Harry Mensch, who had been employed at Altoona, returned to this place and entered D. J. Nieman & Co.'s department store as clerk. . . . Aaron Snook, wife and child, of Freeport, Illinois, arrived in Millheim and are visiting relatives here. They expect to remain east about one month. . . . Mrs. E. B. McMullen, of Millheim, and sister, Mrs. Anna Loffel, of Missouri, are on an extended visit to relatives at Milroy and Harlsburg.

Aaronsburg.

Mrs. Harry Muser, of Akron, Ohio, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Coburn. Warren Winkleblech spent a day last week at the home of J. H. Detwiler, near Centre Hall.
Mr. and Mrs. James Roush spent the Sabbath with the former's mother, at the John Detwiler home.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McCormick, of Poters Mills, spent Sunday at the home of E. G. Mingle.
Mrs. Floyd Bressler, of Wolfe Store, is spending the week at the home of her brother Warren Winkleblech.
Mrs. Messinger, of Yeagertown, and sister Mrs. Glasgow, of Luden Hall, visited at the home of Clayton Bower.

Harry Homan who is employed at Burnham, spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Homan. Mrs. Herbert Hosterman and children, of Buffalo, N. Y., are visiting the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Mingle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ebon Bower, of Bellefonte, spent the week at the home of the former's father, E. A. Bower, who had been ill.

Mrs. Leuker and daughter returned home from Millburg where they were guests at the home of Lutner E. Kurtz.

Wallace Duncan, of Washington, D. C., accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Canada and friend from South Dakota, spent the greater part of the week at the Foster home.

E. R. Wolf, teacher of the Aaronsburg intermediate school reports that these pupils did not miss a day during the first month of the school term: Stover Duret, Eugene Stover, Norman Keister, Estella Wance, Martha Haines, Marion Bower, Marion Haines, Ruth Muser, Lola Stricker.

Among those who were to Lock Haven to see the flights of the air ship were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Phillips, Clyde Stover, Misses Tammie Stover and Maggie Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Stover, and Eugene Stover. They made the trip in automobiles, returning home on Saturday evening much pleased with what they saw and heard.

LETTERS FROM SUBSCRIBERS.

Reporter-Subscribers Correspondent Columns—Interesting Communications.

I was very much interested in reading in the last issue of the Reporter "Reminiscences of Governor Curtin," written by A. J. Everhart. It recalled to my mind an incident connected with the life of the governor. It will be remembered by many Centre county people that soon after his term as governor expired, he made a trip abroad. While abroad he purchased many articles which pleased his fancy and brought them home. Among the articles was a very handsome center table which he bought in Switzerland. The top was beautifully inlaid with different kinds of wood which grow in that country. The legs or base on which it stood were festooned with grapevines and great bunches of grapes all beautifully and artistically carved. Under the edge of the circular top delicate vines were also carved. In shipping the table many of the delicate carvings became broken. When it was unpacked the governor was apprised of what had occurred. He came to the furniture establishment of Henry P. Harris, on Howard street, Bellefonte, and wanted to know if he could furnish some workmen who could repair the table. At that time I was working for Mr. Harris and he detailed James Keyes and myself to go over to the governor's house and see what could be done. We found many little pieces of carving gone and told the governor that they were lost in the packing, which consisted mostly of shavings from wood lathes. He told us to go ahead and look carefully through the packing, which we did. There was much of it and it took us several days to find the pieces and glue them to their places. The house in which we did the work was a stone structure. Since, I believe, sold to the Eiks.

During our work the governor came in frequently and chatted with us concerning incidents of his trip. He stated that he had bought the table in question from a peasant up in the mountains of Switzerland on account of its artistic beauty. If my memory is not at fault I think he stated that he had paid $2700 for it. He also stated that the cost of getting it to a shipping point, the ocean and railway fare and the tariff tax had brought the price far beyond what he paid for it. That was the first time I had ever heard the term, "tariff tax," and it made an impression on my youthful mind. I began to investigate it and learned to despise the system in its present application.

Many Centre county people will also recall when Governor Curtin resigned the Russian Embassy, bestowed on him by President Grant, and returned home to change his former political allegiance. His first public appearance was at a political meeting in Bellefonte, where he made a speech denouncing Cameronism in Pennsylvania. On the platform listening to his scathing arraignment of politics in the Keystone state was Wm. H. Armstrong, congressman from the Centre district. I was at the meeting and it electrified me when he turned to Armstrong, then a candidate, and holding out his hands, said: "Come and go with me."

FIMPSON, KANSAS.

Editor Reporter:
On account of my poor health I have changed locations, coming here from Ogallah, Trego county. You will find $2.00 enclosed for subscription.

We had hot weather during the latter part of the summer, and were very much pestered with flies.

Farmers in Kansas have not had a too prosperous season during the past two years. In 1910 we had a light crop; last year no crop at all and this year there were heavy losses on account of many horses dying, and lately hogs have become infected with a disease that is fatal to many of them.

There was an abundance of fruit this year, and where farmers have the horse-power, large crops of wheat are being sown, with the hopes for a good return in 1913.

The wheat crop was fine, and the corn is also good.

With best wishes to my friends in the east, I remain,

Very truly,
MRS. AGNES MARKLE.

From the Millburg Telegraph: R. E. Kerstetter has been transferred from Coburn Station to fill the vacancy in the Millburg Station, caused by Harry Snyder being transferred to Watson town. Mr. Kerstetter comes well recommended, and no doubt under the able instructions of Station Agent George R. Stover, one of the most competent men in the Penns's service, will make a valuable man at this well regulated station.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS.

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST FROM ALL PARTS

A regular meeting of Progress Grange will be held Saturday evening.

Centre county will hold its first naturalization court, November 19, under the new naturalization laws.

The mountains, how beautiful they do look. But this is not an invitation to the poet to tell of their beauty in this way.

Wendell, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Getchell, of Youngwood, fell from the porch of their home and broke his collar bone.

Last week in the Bellefonte hospital, Andrew, aged eight years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bunkle, was operated on for appendicitis.

It is just remarkable how nice the weather can be after the picnics and fairs are all over. October, or at least the greater part of it to date, has been ideal.

After a visit to her parents in Centre Hall for several weeks, Mrs. George Robertson, formerly Miss Roxanna Brieblin, returned to her home in Hartford, Connecticut.

There is a possibility that the Lingle foundry, in Bellefonte, will again be put in operation. The local men of public spirit are asked to raise $30,000 to boost the movement.

John S. Dale moved from Dale summit to State College, where his sons will become students in Pennsylvania State College. Mr. Dale, before moving there, erected a handsome dwelling house.

The Pennsylvania State Grange will hold its annual session in Clearfield, the first session opening the first Tuesday in December. During the past year thirty new Granges were organized in the state.

A Northumberland county jury awarded John C. Moore the sum of $485.55 for ten shade trees cut down by a township supervisor. The supervisor claimed he did not know the trees stood on Moore's property.

Mrs. W. H. Homan and Mrs. Harry E. Reish, both of whom are at the Lock Haven hospital, and last week underwent operations, are getting along nicely, and their relatives and friends are already counting the days when they will return home.

Rev. A. H. Streamer, who on several occasions filled appointments in Centre Hall, and rejected a call to the Lutheran church in Bellefonte, was ordained by the Allegheny synod, and accepted a call from the Lutheran church at Saxton, Bedford county.

A. P. Krape and William H. Homan on Saturday went to Lock Haven, the former to visit his daughter at the Lock Haven Hospital, and the latter to be with his wife, who is also at the same hospital. Before returning home Mr. Krape made a trip to Williamsport.

After a stay in the east for several months, Miss Kate Alexander returned to her home in Los Angeles, California, the latter part of last week. She had not been here for twelve years. She came to Centre county to visit her brother, Christ Alexander, who died several weeks after her arrival here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bartholomew and daughters, Miss Orpha Gramley and Miss Helen Bartholomew, the latter at the steering wheel, on Saturday went to Philipsburg and Curwensville, returning Sunday evening. At the latter place they visited Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Kittleberger and family. The machine came in with a good record for behavior.

The poultry business is engaged in to a pretty large extent by citizens of Millheim. In most cases it is a "side line," yet the investments are beyond the average sums tied up by persons not regularly engaged in the business. To further accommodate his poultry, N. A. Auman, in that town, purchased two lots from W. S. Muser, for which he paid $300.

J. W. Sweetwood, for many years a resident of Georges Valley, sold his personal property last week, and this week went to Union county where he will make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Irvin J. Shirk, at Glenn Iron. Mrs. Shirk returned home on Monday, after having assisted her father to prepare for the sale. Sarah Sweetwood, a granddaughter, will also accompany Mr. Sweetwood to his new home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Keener, of Anacosta, Colorado, for the past few weeks have been among relatives of Mrs. Keener, at Boalsburg, Pleasant Gap and other points in Centre county. They will return to their western home within a short time, stopping off at Chicago for a few days, where a brother of Mrs. Keener is located. Mr. Keener is a mining engineer in the state of Colorado, and gold is the principal product mined.
