DEATHS.

The funeral of Carl Daniel Colyer, the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Colyer, took place on Tuesday morning at ten o'clock at the home of the parents. The service was held in the Reformed church and interment made in the Boalsburg cemetery.
The little child swallowed a peanut on Friday morning, which became lodged in its wind pipe. He was taken to the Bellefonte hospital on Friday night but all efforts to relieve him were useless, and death ensued Saturday night at nine o'clock. His age was one year and five days.
The mother of the child was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brown, of near Linden Hall, and was from the Brown home that the funeral was held.

Mrs. Catherine Smith, a native of Bald Eagle valley, widow of David Smith, died on Friday afternoon at the home of her son, A. L. Smith, in Clearfield, of heart trouble, aged eighty-five years. She was a daughter of Abraham and Mary Stonebraker, old pioneers of Bald Eagle valley.

Mrs. Joseph Lutz, of Centre Hall; Miss Annie Lehr, of Boalsburg, and Mrs. Mary Smith, of Bellefonte, were in Lock Haven over Sunday, to visit their sister, Mrs. Ellen Pringle.

The ladies of the Reformed church at Pine Grove Mills gave a supper on Saturday evening, clearing $85.00. Miss Cora Cori secured a quilt given away under the rules of the society.

Amos Koch, Sr., of Rock View, is very ill. He is the father of Amos Koch, of Boalsburg, and is in his eighty-eighth year. He is being cared for at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Samuel Kremer.

Howard Cummings, of Belleville, called on the Reporter Wednesday morning. He is a representative of the Pennsylvania Chestnut Tree Blight Commission, and will look after the blight in Potter township. He is located at Potters Mills.

The woman's Civic Club, of Boalsburg, will hold a Halloween masquerade social in the Boal Hall, on Thursday at 8 p. m., October 31st. Proceeds to be applied to the maintenance of the town lights. Admission 10 and 15 cents.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Harner, of Berrien Springs, Michigan, are among friends at Tusseyville. Mrs. Harner is the daughter of Francis Fleisher, who went west many years ago. They are engaged in farming, and find it profitable.

Rev. R. R. Jones, and Elder Jacob Musser, of near Penns Cave, on Tuesday morning went to Lebanon to attend the Synod of the Reformed church. Before returning Rev. Jones will visit friends and relatives in Allentown and vicinity, and expects to reach home early the following week.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Colyer, who live with Mrs. Colyer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brown, near Linden Hall, is sorely afflicted. Their youngest child died the latter part of last week, and two others—Helen and Grace, eight and six years old respectively, are ill of typhoid fever.

The State College Times makes this reference to the successor of J. A. Reesman: Thomas L. Smith, one of the best workmen in his line in this section of the state, has decided to embark in business for himself and will assume charge of an old established store in Centre Hall. Mr. Smith has been engaged in the hardware and tin trade for many years in State College and there is every reason to believe that he will make good in his new venture.

RALLY AT MILLHEIM.

Southside Democrats Will Rally 'Round the Wilson Banner Friday Evening.

The Southside Democrats will rally 'round the Wilson banner on Friday evening at Millheim, and it is urged that this rally be made a notable one. Millheim has a reputation for doing things well, and in this particular instance it intends doing its best and also solicits outside aid.

The speaker for the occasion will be Judge L. M. Southworth, of Mississippi, a noted campaigner, and one capable of doing credit to his section of country. Those who heard the Alabama congressman speak in the court house know what kind of orators they have in the south, and will wish to hear the Mississippi Judge.

In addition to the speaker named above, Hon. W. C. Heinle and James A. Gleason, candidate for congress in this district, and others will be on the platform.

Southside Democrats should let their democracy shine on Friday evening after sunset.

Marriage Licenses.

William S. Albright, Curtin Sarah E. Martin, State College
Oliver Irvin, Julian Esther Spotts, Julian
J. N. Stover, Bellefonte Furl Aumon, Spring Mills
Ward M. Showers, Pleasant Gap Lina Twitmeyer, Pleasant Gap

LOCALS.

Tuesday a week the question will be settled.

James P. Herring, of Altoona, was in town on Tuesday.

The Pine Stump Sunday-school held a rally on Saturday afternoon.

You will want to go to the Democratic rally in Millheim on Friday evening.

The report that D. L. Birtges sold his farm is not correct. He had a fire, but did not accept it.

George Jacobs, of Howard, formerly of near Boalsburg, is very feeble. He is some ninety years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Sankey, of Tuesday, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Goodhart in Centre Hall.

Fred and Diemer Nelhart, of Pine Grove Mills, left for Dover, Minnesota, where they will engage in stock raising and farming.

Miss Anna Mitterling returned from Altoona where for several weeks she had been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Geary.

Dr. Foster, who holds a commission as medical inspector for the Centre Hall schools, performed his duties as such beginning of this week.

Rev. James S. Wilkes, the new pastor of the Milesburg, Snow Shoe and Moshannon Presbyterian churches, has moved to Milesburg with his family.

Mrs. Joseph Lutz, of Centre Hall; Miss Annie Lehr, of Boalsburg, and Mrs. Mary Smith, of Bellefonte, were in Lock Haven over Sunday, to visit their sister, Mrs. Ellen Pringle.

FLOWERS OF THE NIGHT.

They Are Usually Pure White With a Peculiar Glow.

As we all know, there are both day blooming and night blooming flowers. The former are generally decked in red, blue, yellow or purple and have lines, spots or markings on their petals which often act as guides to the nocturnal insects which are visited by the bees and butterflies.

The night blooming flowers, on the other hand, invite the visits of moths or other night flying insects and therefore have recourse to something like the tasks of the fireflies and the glow-worms. They are usually pure white and have such a peculiar texture that they seem to glow with internal light in the dim shades of evening.

At times you might almost fancy that they were stained by nature with some forerunner of luminous paint, so clearly do they reflect every visible ray of the faint twilight. They thus succeed in catching the eyes of the moths, which, of course, are modified especially for perceiving and receiving the slight stimulus of the dusk and gloaming.

But the nocturnal flowers have no lines or spots, because these last could never be perceived in the dim gloom of the evening. They make up for it, however, by being very heavily scented. Indeed, almost all the strong white flowers, which are such favorites with florists, such as jasmine, tuberose, gardenia, stephanotis, sereus and syringa, which belong to the night blossoming plants, are especially adapted to attract the senses of winged nocturnal insects.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

HELP THAT HELPS.

Lincoln's Response to His Brother's Request For a Loan.

Abraham Lincoln's good sense is witnessed by almost every act of his life. His sound views on indiscriminate charity and the best means of encouraging thrift and industry are shown by the following letter to one of his brothers:

"Dear Johnson.—Your request for $80 I do not think it best to comply with now. At the various times when I have helped you a little you have said to me, 'We can get along very well now,' but in a very short time I find you in the same difficulty again. Now, this can only happen by some defect in your conduct—what that defect is I think I know; you are not lazy, and still you are an idler. * * *

"You are now in need of some ready money, and what I propose is that you should go to work, tooth and nail, for somebody who will give you money for it * * * and then to secure you a fair reward for your labor I now promise you that for every dollar you will between this and the first of next May get for your labor I will then give you one other dollar. * * * You have always been kind to me and I do not mean to be unkind to you. On the contrary, if you will follow my advice you will find it worth more than eight times $80 to you. Affectionately your brother,

"A. LINCOLN."

Animal Thermometers.

Crickets have a tendency to chirp synchronously or in time with one another. It is claimed that they chirp more rapidly in warm than in cold weather. The increase has even been rated at four chirps a minute for each degree the temperature increases.

Certain animals appear to act as barometers. It is said that while frogs remain yellow nothing but fine weather may be expected, but that should their coats begin to assume a brown hue bad weather is approaching.

A spider seen spinning its web in the morning heralds a fine day. If seen in the evening then at least the whole of the night and the following morning will be fine. If it is raining and the owl screeches better weather will ensue.—Harper's.

A Blight Mistake.

She was a little woman, and she had entered a department store in a suburban town. She walked up to a big, important looking man near the door and said:

"I want to see some of your hangings."
"Sorry, ma'am," said the big fellow, with a smile, "but we are not going to have any today."
"None today? Why, what do you mean? Aren't you the doorwalker?"
"No, ma'am; I'm the sheriff, and I'm glad to say there's nobody to be hanged today."—Yonkers Statesman.

Tennyson Embarrassed.

Great crises affect people differently. With some the hair turns white, with others emotion expresses itself in incoherent speech. Tennyson when he first met Frederick Robertson, whom he much admired and who he knew admired his poems, was so nervous that he could talk to the "much beloved priest" of nothing but beer.

Maternal Pride.

First Young Wife—The photographer said my baby was the prettiest baby he'd ever seen. Second Young Wife—That's strange! He said the same thing about mine. First Young Wife—Well, I suppose he saw your baby before he saw mine.

The Way to Win.

About the only way to get things coming your way is a long battle against their going the other way.—Atchison Globe.

To live long it is necessary to live slowly.—Cicero.

DEATHS.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. John Swann, of Baltimore, died in Williamsport, and the body was shipped to Millheim for burial, on Saturday. The child was aged about four years. The death occurred while Mr. and Mrs. Swann were visiting the parents of the father of the child. Mrs. Swann is the daughter of John Hartman, in Millheim, and it was from there that the funeral was held.

Alfred Jones, long connected with the business interests of Phillipsburg, died at the age of eighty years on Friday morning at his home in Phillipsburg. His wife who died in March was Miss Rebecca Bailey, of Stormtown. There survive these children, all of Phillipsburg: Jennie, wife of Dr. W. W. Andrews, Paul and Edward.

Spring Mills.

George Nicholas is quite ill. Robert Kennely moved to Barnham.

Ira Bartly is nursing a very sore hand.

Wm Graden has been sick and is not improving any.

James Kennely returned from a visit to Shamokin.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Myers spent Sunday at Millheim.

Every one is hustling to get their fall work away these nice days.

The concert and lecture, held in Grange hall last week was enjoyed and appreciated by a full house. Let there be more.
