

CORNER STONE LAID.

State College Presbyterians Lay Foundation for $40,000 Structure.

The corner stone of the new Presbyterian church, at State College, was laid by Prof. John Hamilton. After the laying of the stone, addresses were made by Alba B. Johnson, president of the Baldwin locomotive works and prominent in laymen's work in the Presbyterian church, representing the board of education on the building committee, who spoke on the work of laymen in the church; Dr. Edwin Erle Sparks, president of Penn. State, to the congregation on the subject of the relation of state colleges to the church; Rev. Joseph W. Cochran, D. D., secretary of the board of education of the Presbyterian church, on the need of the church's following up with religious life the student attending non-sectarian colleges and universities.

The building alone is planned to cost $40,000 and when completely furnished $50,000. Of that amount the congregation has contributed $20,000 and the price of the old church property.

Remodeled Presbyterian Church.

After undergoing extensive interior repairs during the last three months, the Pine Grove Mills Presbyterian church was reopened Sunday morning by Rev. W. K. Harnish, the pastor, who re-dedicated it to the service of God. The building has been greatly altered and is now one of the cozier structures in the valley.

The choir, with Rev. Harnish at the organ, sang a number of inspiring selections during the service. The pastor gave an historical sketch of the church, which dates its beginning on October, 8, 1834. Until 1903, eleven pastors and a number of supplies had served the congregation. The present pastor was called to the charge nine years ago. There are nineteen elders and fifty-one members on the roll, all of whom are active in church work.

A great deal of credit is due the ladies of the congregation, for through their efforts $2,000 had been raised towards the total indebtedness of $3,400. The debt was wiped out by popular subscriptions.

Standard Barrel for Apples.

After next July a standard barrel for apples must be twenty-six inches between the heads, sixty-four inches in circumference, outside measurement round the middle, and the heads must be seventeen and one-eighth inches in diameter. In accordance with a recent act of Congress, such a barrel, if the apples in it are hand-picked and free from blemishes, may be labeled "Standard." But a fine of one dollar and costs will be exacted for every barrel that is marked "Standard" and does not conform to the requirements. The law was passed at the urgent solicitation of those who believe that a purchaser has a right to know what he is getting when he buys a barrel of apples.

Moshannon Women in Trouble.

Mrs. Ann Watson and her daughter-in-law, Mary A. Watson, pleaded guilty to the indictment charging the theft and forgery of money orders and were let go on a suspended sentence, by the United States Federal court at Scranton. The Watsons live in Moshannon and at one time the younger woman was a clerk for Postmaster T. D. Weaver, at that place. It was charged that after her marriage she had access to the postoffice and stole nine blank money orders which were filled out and the name of the postmaster forged on them. The women are said to have collected about $150 on the forged orders.

WILD GAME NOT PLENTIFUL.

The Average Hunter Deceived by Reports that Game is on the Increase.

Once again the nimrods are in the midst of the main gunning season. And as in each recurring year, just about this time the hunter learns that the reports that game was plentiful is being disproved. As a consequence the young and inexperienced hunter who goes forth with visions of woods teeming with wild life which is his only hope for the pointing of the gun and the pulling of the trigger, is disappointed.

Wild life or game is becoming increasingly scarce year by year with the possible exception of deer, which have thriven considerably under wise laws on the wild barren lands, particularly in this section. Small game, particularly ruffed grouse, commonly called pheasants, have been extremely scarce since 1906, during which year they seemed quite plentiful, but in the subsequent fall contracted cholera and died in large numbers, in some localities becoming almost extinct. Naturally replacement has been slow, but conditions last spring are said to have been favorable for their rearing, resulting in large broods of young. Quail are increasing, but slowly.

It is to be hoped that the wild game will at least hold its own, for no finer or more healthful sport than a day's field with a gun and dog was ever devised, and the youth who follows it is assured of veins in which run red blood made redder and more healthful by the ozone and exercise of his occupation.

Miss Hendrick's Lecture.

Miss Grace Hendricks, of Goulds, N. Y., who is employed by the Pennsylvania State W. C. T. U., came to town Saturday afternoon and left Monday morning. Notice of her coming was not given in time to advertise thoroughly the meetings she held. However Saturday evening a fair and very attentive audience assembled in the Lutheran church. The most impressive thing here in her address was her remarks illustrated by chart, on "Dr. Hodge's Four Dogs." This scientific man took four dogs and cared for them alike, except that two were given alcohol and two were not. It was a demonstration, that all could understand, of the deleterious effects of intoxicating spirits on the disposition, the powers of endurance, also of resistance to disease, and upon the number and vigor of offspring. Sunday morning the Pine Stump school house was filled with a very attentive audience, largely young people, who listened eagerly as she set forth, with the aid of charts, the evil effects of alcohol on the brain and other parts of the human system.

The largest audience was the one that assembled in the United Evangelical church Sunday evening. For nearly an hour Miss Hendricks held the undivided attention of all as she set forth various phases of the warfare against the liquor traffic. Her address was founded on the story of David and Goliath; and the various characters in this familiar story were made to do valiant duty in presenting the attitude of various classes in modern society. David stood for the ever ready, courageous, Christian, God-confident, champion of purity, cleanness, nobility of soul, happiness and welfare of humanity against the modern Goliath of the rum trade with its self-confident defiance of the living God and interests of his people. In David's brothers were seen the faint-hearted good people who are ever ready to tell temperance workers, "Oh, you can't do anything in the face of the powerful entrenched forces of the Saloon!" David's sling and pebbles, Christian methods, and not Saul's armor, the weapons of the world, must be our great reliance in this conflict.

No reasonable advocate of rum could find fault with Miss Hendricks' spirit, representations, or statements. Her reliance was not an abuse, sarcasm, or ridicule; but on the cold logic of facts earnestly presented in forcible, well-chosen words and convincing rhetoric. Her appearance is attractive, her manner winning, and there is no doubt that, if she appears in Centre Hall again, she will be gladly heard by large crowds. The formation of a Young Women's Temperance Union is likely to be one of the results of her visit, as well as a general strengthening of the temperance sentiment of the community.

LOCALS

Better get the corn into the crib. November began with rain, but it has a long time in which it can make good.

At the Wigton sale in the southwestern portion of the county horses sold for $290 and cows for $80.

Mr. and Mrs. John Knarr gave a party on Halloween night at their home in Centre Hall. A number of married and single persons enjoyed the occasion.

Charles Shaffer and Henry Fredericks, were laid to rest in Harris township on Saturday morning. Both were well-known figures in that township for many years, although the former for about twenty years had lived elsewhere. The readers will find the obituaries of both under the proper head.

Beginning of this week Capt. George Boal, postmaster at Centre Hall, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. W. Gross Mingle, went to Pittsburg. After a brief stay there they will go to Franklin and Cooperstown, in Venango county, and among other relatives they will visit Mrs. Homer Crawford, a niece of Mr. Boal.

One of the jobs offered the young, brave and true has had the term extended by three years. It is the enlistment term in the U. S. army that has been lengthened. The last three years, if the armor-bearer so elects, may be on furlough, but there is then no pay or allowance. Of course, if he elects to remain with the army during the last three years, pay and allowances go on.

The Lewistown board of health passed a resolution providing for a stringent quarantine closing all churches, play houses, dance halls, public and private schools and prohibiting public gatherings such as festivals, entertainments, etc., until the 11th instant. The action was due largely to the fact that Miss Jane Cross, who went from school to school to instruct the children in music, is ill with diphtheria.

DEATHS

Mrs. Polly Royer, one of the most aged ladies in Miles township, died at her home at Rebersburg, on Thursday of last week, from a complication of diseases due largely to her advanced age. Her maiden name was Harter, and her age was eighty-four years.

Interment was made at Rebersburg on Tuesday morning, Rev. A. G. Stauffer, pastor of the Reformed church of which the deceased was a member, being the officiating minister. There survive her two sons and two daughters, namely, Mrs. Libbie Kerstetter, Loganton; Miss Laura, at home; Roland B., Altoona; Cyrus, Loganton.

Charles E. Shaffer died in Philadelphia on Wednesday of last week, of a complication of diseases incident to old age, aged about eighty-four years.

Deceased was a resident of Rebersburg most of his life until about twenty years ago when he moved to State College, and from there to Philadelphia, where he was head of the firm of Charles E. Shaffer & Sons, merchant tailors and importers.

He is survived by two sons and two daughters, all of Philadelphia. The remains were brought to Lemont on Saturday, from where they were conveyed to the Branch cemetery where interment was made. Services were conducted by Rev. Harnish, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of which deceased was a faithful and consistent member.

George Wohlford died at his home at Rebersburg on Friday morning and on Wednesday morning the body was laid to rest in the cemetery at Rebersburg, the officiating minister being Rev. Haessinger, pastor of the Lutheran church. The deceased was a Lutheran in his religious beliefs, and a farmer by occupation prior to a few years ago at which time he moved from the farm at Livonia to the home where he died. His age was about sixty-seven years.

There survive the widow, and these children: Henry, Philadelphia; Levi, Rebersburg; Calvin, Salona; Mrs. Annie Anderson, Lewistown; Mrs. Eva Strohm, Livonia; Mrs. Jane Waite, now married a second time, of Lewistown.

Charles A. McLaughlin, of Wingate, died Sunday night, aged seventy-five years. He was a tanner by trade. Interment was made at Unionville.

Henry Frederick, of Boalsburg. For further notice see under heading of "Harris Township."

A more extended notice of Mr. Shaffer's death appears under the head of "Harris Township."

Bruce Stahl and Orvis Meyer, both of them junior hunters, had the good fortune to run across a flock of wild turkeys on Nittany mountain the first day of the hunting season, and each captured a fine bird. A number of rabbits and squirrels were also killed by local hunters, but none of the bags came in with game in them worthy of mention except the two carried by the youngsters named above.

With the cribs full of corn, now that election is over, the high cost of living isn't bothering the farmer quite so much. He sees ponies looming up before him.

"It is a pleasure to tell you that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lavonia, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all dealers.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS.

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST FROM ALL PARTS

Saturday morning snow flakes were flying in the air, and they were the first of the season.

There was no council meeting on Friday night. No quorum of councilmen could be gathered.

Unclaimed letters in Centre Hall post office November 1st, 1912: J. R. Smith, Miss Alice Beamer, Rev. S. L. Boston, Mr. A. M. Siver.

H. C. Wood, of Jersey Shore, but formerly landlord at the Wood House, Spring Mills, has been appointed general manager in five counties of Bishop Silves mining company.

Miss Mabel Kline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kline, of near State College, is taking a course in music at Pennsylvania State College. Miss Kline has more than ordinary ability in the line of music.

The Nathan Grove farm, near the Housserville cemetery, was purchased by Fred Garner, of Ferguson township, who will occupy it next spring. The farm contains about ninety acres, and $7000 was the price paid for it.

While crossing Nittany Mountain on his motor cycle the latter part of last week Clayton Homan discovered a flock of wild turkeys lounging on the green on the old picnic grounds. They stayed right to the ground until he got within easy gun shot range, but he was not prepared for such a lucky find.

Judge Hyde, of Carbon county, in an opinion handed down recently states that the constables are entitled to $2.50 for making their returns and also are entitled to circular mileage at a rate of six cents per mile. The county commissioners of that county refused to pay the mileage and the opinion followed.

Guy Brooks, son of William S. Brooks, of near Centre Hall, returned home on the first day of the hunting season with the biggest bag of game reported to this office. He is quite a young man, but a good hunter, and captured a fine wild turkey, a pheasant and two rabbits, reaching his home for dinner.

Henry Swabb, who has been quite feeble for some time is growing more so every day. He has become a great care, and must be attended almost like a child. Mr. Swabb is well advanced in years, but up to six months ago, made frequent trips from his home opposite the school house to the Reporter office and other points down town.

Former Commissioner George L. Goodhart is having the barn on his farm, near Centre Hill, improved by giving it a coat of paint. The work is being done by John Knarr. The Goodhart farm is tenanted by James C. Goodhart, who prefers to till the old homestead in preference to that of his own—the Strohm farm—at Centre Hill.

The accidental discharge of a shot gun cost the right arm of Dean Probst, thirteen years old, son of Charles Probst, of Lock Haven. He was one of a number of boys who were hunting. The gun he carried was placed stock down, and the arm was thrown over the barrel. Some object came in contact with the trigger, and the weapon was discharged.

The good results of spraying apples trees has been demonstrated by N. J. Fiedler, of near Madisonburg. He has now in storage nearly 300 bushels of the choicest apples one would wish to see. The trees were thoroughly sprayed, and, of course, a man who will spray will also prune properly. The fruit is the best witness that everything was done timely and thoroughly.

A large pumpkin was brought to Kreamer & Son's store last week by farmer John H. Detwiler, who announced that whoever would guess its weight would fall heir to it. The guessing was open until eight o'clock Saturday evening. When the pumpkin was put onto the scales its weight was found to be thirty-eight and one-half pounds, and that five persons had made a correct estimate. To settle the dispute as to "who's who," Mr. Detwiler will give each of the good guessers a pumpkin.

Everybody is kicking because of the horrible roads through Centre Hall. Indeed, it is the worst stretch in an area of ten miles, but it is not at its worst. During the next six weeks and early spring is when the mud hauled there by the direction of the street-committee will be the real thing. Six weeks ago a car load of stones—costing seventy dollars to land them in six inches of mud—was put onto this road. They have been lost. The seventy dollars are lost. These seventy dollars will be taken from your pockets in the shape of taxes.
