Is there any one who believes the "repairs" on Main street will amount to shucks?

Newspapers throughout the state are extending the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad from Lemont to Tyrone, but to date the Pennay has not made much of a move to do so. The road will undoubtedly come in time, but perhaps not as soon as most of us wish it.

One of the well defined laws of good road building is that to fill "mud puddles" the same class of material should be used as that of which the main road is built. If a "puddle" in an earth road is filled with stones, in time there will be two puddles—one on either side of the original "puddle". If the "puddle" is filled with earth, the material will set itself, level up.

It is not only in Pennsylvania that big ballots are in vogue, for a sample ballot forwarded by William B. Kerr, of Omaha, Nebraska, is conclusive evidence that that State has one on the Keystone. The Nebraska ballot is a streamer and measures just exactly eight feet long by six inches wide. The ballot has the circle for party voting, and the general form of the printed matter is much like that used in this state.

The numerous dips in the main street through Centre Hall are being filled with hand broken stones. The result will be added misery for every one who must pass over it. The only solution to the problem is to remove the clay gravel and begin building on the original foundation, which is a good firm roadbed in most sections. The Reporter very much regrets to be obliged to offer these criticisms, but it ought to dawn on the borough council at some time that it is due the people to expend their money in some way so there would at least be some return.

Aaronsburg.

Mrs. Maggie Krape is not improving at this writing.

Mable Crouse and gentleman friend, of Sunbury, spent a few days here.

Misses Albright and Jennie Gramley, of Millheim, were seen in town.

Mr. Harvey Corman, Esq., and wife, of Rebersburg, were the very welcome guests of Edie Weaver.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Bowersox, of Senor, spent a week with their aged parents, at the chapel.

Mr. and Mrs. George McCormick and little son William, of Potters Mills, spent the Sabbath under the parental roof.

Verna Fisher, of Mackeyville, who was staying at Walter Orwig's home, is now at the home of John Stoner, Sr., in Millheim.

Miss Beckie Snyder, has returned home after spending a few weeks with her cousin Mrs. Krigbaum, at Avis, and other places.

Albert Mingle, one of the jolly boys who is greatly missed among his many friends, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Herbert Hosterman, at Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. James Roush, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Crouse took a trip on Sunday to Penn Hall, and visited Mrs. Roush's brother James Condo. The trip was made in Mr. Crouse's auto.

Dr. J. F. D. Bowersox veterinary surgeon, connected with the University of Pennsylvania, and son, John, came to town on Monday evening and was greeted by his parents and many warm friends here.

Mr. Wood, of Boalsburg, spent a week with his daughters—Mrs. Kreamer, and Mrs. Alfred Johnson. James Klinger and wife and sons, of Youngwood, were also entertained at Mrs. Johnson's home.

The next number of the Centre Hall lecture course will be Friday evening, 13th inst., when Dr. Guy Carlton Lee will lecture.

66 DEER SLAUGHTERED

hunters, from State College. Walter D. Ludwig, with headquarters in Boalsburg, is the forester on the Bear Meadows sections. His field of operations begins on the east of the Bear Meadows and extends to Charter Oak in Huntingdon county a distance of about thirteen miles. Mr. Ludwig reports these successful hunters:

Table listing hunters and their kills: Riley (4), Costeville (2), Reitz (1), Shingletown (1), Fosters (3), Charter Oak (3), Loop (2). Total: 17.

The section of state reservation cared for by John W. Seltzer, who lives at Coburn, lies east and south of that village and extends well into Union county. There were twenty-four deer killed in his bailwick and five bears, making his field the most productive for game. Four of the five bears were killed by the Wingart-Rote party, and the fifth bear by Snydertown hunters. The names of the hunting parties and the number of bucks killed by each follow:

Table listing hunting parties and their kills: Wingart-Rote (4), Coburn (1), Green Brier (3), Daniel Kerstetter (2), Snyder (1), Aaronsburg (1), Cressona (2), Schuykill Haven (1), Potsville (1), Mount Carmel (1), Paxinos (1), Snydertown (1), T. Eisenhuth (1), Welkert (1), Woodward Gun Club (2), Penn Hall (1). Total: 24.

The Regulars of Potters Mills composed of the following: J. S. Auman, J. S. Reish, Thomas Decker, Louis Faust, B. F. Reish, Harry Wilkinson-Lloyd Smith, M. E. Coyle, Perry Krise, Chas. Haskenberg, J. G. Best, W. C. Gramley, S. W. Gramley, have four large bucks to their credit. One dressed 210 lbs., one 195 lbs., one 163 lbs., and the smallest dressed 147 lbs.

Dr. Ellis at Spring Mills.

Dr. Charles Calvert Ellis will appear at Spring Mills, on Friday night, December 13th, Grange Hall, as one of the numbers in the Spring Mills lecture course. Dr. Ellis comes highly recommended. One of his recommendations from E. B. Barclay, Superintendent of schools in Huntingdon, classes him with Dr. Fess, Colonel McClure and Henry Watterson in his lecture on Lincoln. The superintendent of schools in Perry county also speaks highly of Dr. Ellis, as does the local press of Bloomsburg. Dr. Schaffer says this of him: "He talks sense is eloquent, and never fails to hold his audience."

Marriage Licenses.

John A. Holderman, Ecola Vergie A. Kaup, State College; Paul Harter, Rush Twp.; Clara Cowher, Phillipsburg; Lewis Belchot, Nittany; Cora Frazier, Centre Hall; A. A. Cromer, Baldwinville; Eva Crissman, Bellefonte; Therman Wiser, Port Matilda; Sarah E. Woodring, Port Matilda.

Christmas Post Cards.

Christmas post cards are on sale at the Reporter office at the popular price of fifteen cents per dozen. Sent by mail, postage paid. Every card is new.

LOCALS

Mrs. L. Ray Morgan, of Phillipsburg, is quite ill with rheumatism, a disease she is subject to.

Ellis Shaffer, formerly clerk in Centre and Clearfield hotels, is seriously ill at Madisnburg. He is suffering from pneumonia.

Mrs. Joel Kerstetter, of Laurelton, is in Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia, undergoing treatment. Mrs. Milford Lose, a daughter, of Centre Hall, is taking care of the Kerstetter home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. William Prince, of Crafton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Millicent Prince, to Thomas B. Beaver, son of General and Mrs. James A. Beaver of Bellefonte.

The marriage of Miss Mary Irvin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James I. Thompson, will take place at the Thompson home, at Lemont, Wednesday of next week. The groom is Charles Thomas Stahle, Lieutenant Coast Artillery Corps, United States Army. He is a graduate of Pennsylvania State College, and when a student there occasionally called on Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Geary, in Centre Hall, who have received an invitation to the wedding.

John Fretz, proprietor of the Perkiomen Bridge hotel, of near Collegeville; Allen Potter, of Philadelphia; Samuel Boulton, and John Fuhrman, both of Collegeville, are at the home of William J. Mitterling and are looking up small game. Collegeville is the place where Mr. Mitterling sells the many car loads of cattle and cows shipped from Centre Hall, and it was while on these missions to the eastern town that the acquaintance with the gentleman named was formed.

DECEMBER COURT.

F. A. Foreman Made Foreman of Grand Jury.

The December quarter sessions court was called Monday morning. F. A. Foreman, of Gregg township, was made foreman of the grand jury.

In the case of F. S. Dunham, editor of the Howard Hustler vs. George T. Bush, a claim of $132.90 for printing, the jury allowed the full sum with interest.

As the Reporter goes to press, John Taylor, of Colyer, is being tried on the charge of malicious mischief; George W. Zerby, prosecutor.

DEATHS

News of the death of Mrs. R. E. Catherman was received at Spring Mills, last week, but no particulars. The death occurred on Thursday. Mrs. Catherman (Catharine Shires) was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Shires, of Scranton, and was aged about thirty years. Her marriage to Mr. Catherman took place about eight years ago, when Mr. Catherman was station agent at Spring Mills, and the Shires family also lived there. They had no children. There survive beside the parents, the husband; one sister, Miss Renna; and two brothers, Wilbur and Drew.

Dr. Charles B. Lietz, a native of Gregg township, died in a Pittsburgh hospital, from softening of the brain. He was a resident of Derry, having left Spring Mills for the Pittsburgh district about twenty-seven years ago. His wife, also deceased, was Miss Anna Allen, of Boalsburg.

There survive these brothers and sisters: Mrs. William Pealer, Mrs. M. H. Geise, Penn Hall; Mrs. J. D. Long, Spring Mills; Phillo, Millheim; James, Lens, Illinois; Percival, Belvidere, Illinois; Mrs. Susan Fichtner, Masson.

Arney, Centre Hall; Newton Yarnell, Linden Hall; E. Clayton Wagner, Centre Hall; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burris, Centre Hall; William W. Kerlin, Centre Hall; Daniel Callahan, Centre Hall; Allen G. Potter, Philadelphia; Henry Mitterling, Centre Hall.

Harry Shreckengast and John Ream each killed a sixteen pound wild turkey. They were very fine birds.

Historic Old Hotel.

The Golden Kreuz (Golden Cross) at Regensburg (Ratisbon), in Bavaria, is the oldest hotel in Europe. King Ferdinand I. halted at it on his way to his coronation in 1531, and no other hotel in Europe possesses records of such great antiquity as the Golden Cross at Ratisbon does or can boast of having had so many royal visitors as have enjoyed its hospitality. The existing visitors' books, which date from 1819, contain the names of more than 500 imperial, royal and princely personages. The room is shown where in 1805 the late Prince Bismarck, at that time Prussian premier, slept when he came with his sovereign to hold the conference which was the last attempt to prevent war between Austria and Prussia. The negotiations were held in the "small hall" of the hotel under the presidency of King William of Prussia. The host is equally proud of the autographs of Schiller and other men of letters which he possesses. The author of "William Tell" wrote the words "Und eine heimath'ist es" ("It is indeed a home") in memory of his stay there, and no landlord could wish for a better advertisement.—London Telegraph.

Laws of Old Japan.

One of the most striking changes wrought in Japan during the reign of the last Japanese emperor was that brought about by the abolition of the sumptuary laws. Fifty years ago no Japanese could eat a meal, ride in a conveyance or wear a garment without considering whether the law would be offended. Whatever a man's rank he might not have more than two kinds of soup and six of other eatables at his ordinary meals. Minute regulations were in force as to the quantity of liquor allowed at an official banquet, high dignitaries being limited to three cups and those of inferior rank to two. The use of sedan chairs by men was restricted to the aged and sick. A nobleman of the highest rank was not allowed to spend more than $40 on a dress for his wife, and the lower orders had to adjust their dress bills to a scale fixed according to their income.

Saved by a Cipher.

The story is told of how a neatly constructed cipher saved Sir John Trevanion's life. This cavalier was taken prisoner and locked up in Colchester castle to await his execution. On the second day of his confinement the jailer brought him a letter, which, as far as the warden of the castle could discover, was merely a note of condolence from a friend. But the letter had been concocted on a cipher to which Sir John had a clew. Every third letter after a punctuation mark of any kind was to tell what he made out was this: "Panel at east end of chapel slides." On the following evening the prisoner begged permission to pass a quiet hour in prayer in the chapel. The request was granted, and before the hour had passed the panel had done its work and the bird had flown.

SLEDS OF THE YUKON.

They Are Built to Stand the Hardest Kind of Hard Wear.

The Yukon sled, while not a thing of beauty, is built to stand all kinds of hard wear, or, as the Irishman said, "It will last forever and after that can be used for firewood."

The sled is about eight feet long, is made of any kind of hard wood, lies close to the ground, costs from $10 to $14 and makes a trail sixteen inches in width.

Another pattern is known as the basket sleigh and is to the Yukon sled what a three masted schooner is to a coal barge. In length it is from eight to fifteen feet, is made of birch, oak or hickory, cuts a trail twenty-two inches in width, costs from $40 to $200, is raised a foot or more from the runners and in the best examples is lashed together with rawhide.

The basket sleigh, as its name implies, is fitted with a basket, into which the load is placed, and from the back of the basket a pair of handles project, to be used in guiding the sled on the trail. It often happens that a Yukon sled will be fitted with a homemade basket in imitation of its more aristocratic brother.

In very cold weather wooden runners are best, but in ordinary circumstances steel or brass runners are used.—Wide World Magazine.

JUMPING BEANS.

Secret of This Curious Product of the Vegetable World.

The "jumping bean," which is always sure to excite the wonder of those who have not before seen this specimen of the vegetable kingdom, is the product of a small bush which grows in the northern part of Mexico.

Within each blossom are two fertile seeds and a third, which is the home of a small, exceedingly active worm, whose performances are responsible for the queer conduct of the bean. When this worm emerges from its prison it becomes a beautifully colored moth. The seeds of the jumping bean blossom in the month of May. Then the female moth deposits one egg on the pollen of the flower.

As the flower develops it forms a triangular shaped shell on two sides, with a convex shape on the other. Within this the chrysalis develops into a grayish brown worm about one-tenth of an inch in diameter and about one-half an inch in length.

This worm lives inside its cell for a period of six months, or until the middle of November. Then, climatic conditions being favorable, it bores a hole through the end of its shell and flies away as a moth.—New York World.

PAID TO "THINK AHEAD."

The Part Imagination Plays in the Business World.

There is a man in an office in New York whose business it is to think ahead on behalf of the community and prepare for coming events, writes T. Sharper Knowlton in the Century, discussing "The Uses of Imagination in Business." He sits at a big table, and before him is a map of New York with its environs by land and sea. The problem is to determine what shipping accommodation will be required in the future and to begin the work of reconstruction now. During the last century the story was one of growth, growth, growth, and the story is to be continued. How? That is the question which the man with the map has to settle. He is not on piecework; he is paid for thinking. In other words, whatever his official title may be, I shall call him acting professor of imagination to the shipping interests of New York.

In every progressive house of business there is or ought to be a similar officer. Generally he is the principal himself. That is one reason why he divides his business into departments and pays men high salaries to superintend them. He wants time to think.

But the farseeing element in imagination is not the only one. There is one which concerns itself with details. If I might say so, imagination is telescopic for big things and microscopic for small things. You can imagine a billion dollar trust and you can imagine a new way of pointing a needle. Probably no man makes a sure advance without using both instruments, but the essential work of the imagination is always the same. It creates the things which are not Judgment passes its verdict, and action brings realization.

Unfortunate Omission.

One of the most singular instances of punishment for an oversight was that shown by the commitment of an almanac maker to the Bastille in 1717. It was made out by order of the Duke of Orleans, regent during the minority of Louis V. of France, and read as follows: "Laurence d'Henry, for disrespect to King George I. in not mentioning him in his almanac as king of Great Britain." How long this unlucky almanac maker remained in prison is unknown. The register of the Bastille, examined at the time of the revolution, failed to throw any light on the subject.

He Died Anyhow.

This was the way a native physician in India filled out a death certificate: "I am of a mind that he died (or lost his life) for want of foodings or on account of starvation. Maybe also for other things or comfortables, and most probably he died by drowning."
