

THE CENTRE REPORTER

THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1913

A GET-TOGETHER MEETING.

Called by William T. Creasy, Master of State Grange, at Harrisburg.

William T. Creasy, worthy master of the State Grange, has called a meeting of organizations interested in rural progress to be held in Harrisburg, January 20th.

"It will be a general meeting, a sort of get together affair. We want to get things started on a definite basis.

"There will be grangers who are interested in cooperation and rural matters; rural progress people, conservationists, bankers, on the matter of credits; railroad men on transportation of products, storage, delivery and rates; teachers on vocational education and agricultural instruction, and others who may be interested.

"I think it will be an important conference for the state. Whether it will result in bills I can not say. The idea is to find out how people feel and then agree in a program, which, I think, is the way to obtain results.

"A good many thoughtful men are working out these ideas and are anxious to see them put into effect. My belief is that such a conference will have far-reaching and beneficial results."

Mr. Creasy said that the project for the grangers, cooperative association was working out and that much interest was being manifested. He said that it would be in operation before long and would result in advantages for rural communities.

Measles Lead Scarlet Fever.

The state board of health reports that in Pennsylvania measles was responsible for more deaths of children than scarlet fever. This is due to a great extent to the ignorance of the majority of parents, who look upon measles as inevitable and often go to the extreme of exposing their children "in order that it may be over and done with."

"The epidemics of measles which so frequently accompany the opening of the schools have been studied with a view to improving conditions and awakening parents to their responsibilities in the matter," said Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, state health commissioner. "Every effort is being made to educate the public. The mortality from this disease is unnecessarily high, and there is often a train of accompanying evils, which leave the little sufferers with a disposition to various ills, among others, consumption.

"Two factors are responsible for epidemics of measles—the laxity of boards of health in the smaller communities in enforcing the law requiring quarantining and exclusion from school when cases of measles occur and the failure of parents to realize that this is a dangerous disease which demands the care of a physician."

Georges Valley.

E. L. Lingle made a business trip to Lock Haven last week. There are quite a number of sick people in this valley.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Ripka spent Monday in Decker Valley at the home of John Ripka.

Mrs. Mary Ernest, of Yeagertown, is spending a week with her sister, Mrs. James Foust.

Rev. J. W. Price will begin a protracted meeting at Locust Grove as soon as the meeting at the Swamp church is closed.

Those who Sundayed at the home of E. L. Lingle are Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Ripka, E. C. Confer and daughters, Misses Ella and Nora.

Among the afflicted in this vicinity are Mrs. Samuel Ertle and Mrs. Adam Heckman. The former is very critically ill, but the latter is improving.

Mrs. Lydia Immel, who stays at the home of J. P. Heckman, had the misfortune last Friday to fall and break her leg above the knee. She is in a critical condition.

Woodward.

Mrs. Harry Boob, of Loganton, was a visitor in town on Saturday.

Misses Lida Hosterman and Mabel Boob were to Millheim Saturday afternoon.

Messrs. Earl Motz, Roy and Charles Musser had business in Millheim Saturday afternoon.

Miss Bertha Hosterman left for Johnstown Saturday afternoon where she intends staying for sometime.

The Revival meeting held in the United Evangelical church for the past three weeks, closed Wednesday evening.

Charlie Wolfe, of Aronsburg and sister, Mrs. Howard Miller, of Robersburg, spent Thursday afternoon at the home of the latter's sister-in-law Mrs. R. M. Wolfe.

F. B. Ott, of Johnstown, was in Centre Hall last week with a view of interesting local people in the proposed glass factory in Bellefonte. He is a real estate dealer, and was formerly a member of the firm of Krise and Ott, who did a real estate business in the Flood City.

AUDITORS' STATEMENT

Of the Receipts and Expenditures of the Boro of Centre Hall, for the Year Ending January 6, 1913.

Table with columns for Receipts and Expenditures. Includes items like Balance Jan. 2, 1912, Smith, collector, Bartholomew, collector, License tax, State insurance tax, Bell Telephone Co. tax, Tobias sale receipts.

Table with columns for BORO ORDERS and Light Account. Includes items like Clymer McClennahan, for supplies and attending lights, Gulf Refining Co., gasoline, Bellefonte Fuel & Supply Co., supplies, Lamp repairs, alcohol, freight and dry.

Table with columns for Street Account. Includes items like Labor on street, S. W. Smith, 82 loads gravel, Crushed stone and freight, W. A. Henney, repair to cars, R. D. Foreman, coal, S. H. Knepley, sharpening, D. L. Kerr, interest, W. G. Mingle, concrete work.

Table with columns for Water Account. Includes items like Repairs and labor on pipe line, B. H. Arney, rent and supervising reservoir, Interest Account, Penna Valley Bank, bond and interest, G. M. Harter & Son, 2 year's interest, Mrs. Carrie Ruhl, interest, D. A. Booser, trustee, interest, D. L. Kerr, interest, Mrs. Lucy Henney, interest.

Table with columns for Miscellaneous Accounts. Includes items like S. W. Smith, printing and notices, Fueling labor and supplies, Room rent, 2 years, Treasurer's salary, Secretary's salary, Affidavits, W. B. Mingle, affidavits, C. F. Deinsinger, Lumber, B. D. Brislin & Co., Auditors' fees.

Table with columns for Overseer of Poor Accounts. Includes items like Danville Asylum, Overseer's services, Labor, Tobias sale, Rent Tobias sale, Printing Tobias sale bills, J. W. Runkle, keeping hoboos, Total orders, Balance on hand Jan. 6, 1913.

Measles Lead Scarlet Fever. The state board of health reports that in Pennsylvania measles was responsible for more deaths of children than scarlet fever.

Georges Valley. E. L. Lingle made a business trip to Lock Haven last week. There are quite a number of sick people in this valley.

Woodward. Mrs. Harry Boob, of Loganton, was a visitor in town on Saturday.

Those who Sundayed at the home of E. L. Lingle are Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Ripka, E. C. Confer and daughters, Misses Ella and Nora.

Among the afflicted in this vicinity are Mrs. Samuel Ertle and Mrs. Adam Heckman. The former is very critically ill, but the latter is improving.

Mrs. Lydia Immel, who stays at the home of J. P. Heckman, had the misfortune last Friday to fall and break her leg above the knee. She is in a critical condition.

Woodward. Mrs. Harry Boob, of Loganton, was a visitor in town on Saturday.

Those who Sundayed at the home of E. L. Lingle are Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Ripka, E. C. Confer and daughters, Misses Ella and Nora.

Among the afflicted in this vicinity are Mrs. Samuel Ertle and Mrs. Adam Heckman. The former is very critically ill, but the latter is improving.

Mrs. Lydia Immel, who stays at the home of J. P. Heckman, had the misfortune last Friday to fall and break her leg above the knee. She is in a critical condition.

Woodward. Mrs. Harry Boob, of Loganton, was a visitor in town on Saturday.

Those who Sundayed at the home of E. L. Lingle are Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Ripka, E. C. Confer and daughters, Misses Ella and Nora.

Among the afflicted in this vicinity are Mrs. Samuel Ertle and Mrs. Adam Heckman. The former is very critically ill, but the latter is improving.

Mrs. Lydia Immel, who stays at the home of J. P. Heckman, had the misfortune last Friday to fall and break her leg above the knee. She is in a critical condition.

Woodward. Mrs. Harry Boob, of Loganton, was a visitor in town on Saturday.

Those who Sundayed at the home of E. L. Lingle are Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Ripka, E. C. Confer and daughters, Misses Ella and Nora.

Among the afflicted in this vicinity are Mrs. Samuel Ertle and Mrs. Adam Heckman. The former is very critically ill, but the latter is improving.

Mrs. Lydia Immel, who stays at the home of J. P. Heckman, had the misfortune last Friday to fall and break her leg above the knee. She is in a critical condition.

Woodward. Mrs. Harry Boob, of Loganton, was a visitor in town on Saturday.

Those who Sundayed at the home of E. L. Lingle are Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Ripka, E. C. Confer and daughters, Misses Ella and Nora.

Among the afflicted in this vicinity are Mrs. Samuel Ertle and Mrs. Adam Heckman. The former is very critically ill, but the latter is improving.

Mrs. Lydia Immel, who stays at the home of J. P. Heckman, had the misfortune last Friday to fall and break her leg above the knee. She is in a critical condition.

Woodward. Mrs. Harry Boob, of Loganton, was a visitor in town on Saturday.

Those who Sundayed at the home of E. L. Lingle are Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Ripka, E. C. Confer and daughters, Misses Ella and Nora.

About the Same Now.

The story is told in Joubert's "Popular Errors Concerning Medicine," published in Bordeaux, France, in 1579, that one Gonnelle, a jester at the court of the Duke of Ferrara, insisted once upon a time that the trade which he followed was the most honorable of all trades. To prove his assertion he left his home one morning to go to the palace with his nightcap on and his jaws wrapped up. The first person he met stopped him with the question, "What is the matter with you, Gonnelle?" "A terrible toothache," "Oh, is that all? I'll tell you what will cure it." And every person he met had some advice to give him. When the jester reached the duke's chamber the same question and answer were repeated. "Ah," said the prince, "I know of something that will take the pain right away." Gonnelle instantly threw up his kerchief, saying: "And you, too, monseigneur, are a doctor? I have only passed through one street in coming from my house to you and have counted more than 200 of them. I believe I could find 10,000 in the city."

The Golden Yam.

The golden yam, that elaborates the sun and the soil into a sugar which makes saccharine seem sour, was set apart by our first parents as the overlord of all the tubers. The history of its Irish rival may be definitely traced to the foster care of Raleigh. It spread into Lancashire. Its path through the Low Countries may be followed as clearly as the march of the army worm. But the genealogy of the yam is lost in the morning mists of antiquity. It is supposed to be identical with the mandrake, for which the orient peoples dug as for hidden treasure. Beyond all peradventure it was the yam to which the Spanish gave what afterward became the generic name "batata," modified into our own collective "potato." Its purple flowers were hailed as the harbinger of nature's richest largesse, while Humboldt was still doubting whether nature originally had anything to do with the creation of the Irish potato.—Washington Post.

His Daily Square Meal.

The eccentric Dr. Fordyce, a well known professor of chemistry of the eighteenth century, believed that man required only one meal a day, and for twenty years he practiced what he preached. At four he would present himself at Dolly's chophouse, in Paternoster row, and immediately upon his arrival the cook would place a pound and a half of rump steak upon the gridiron. While it was cooking the doctor would amuse himself with some such trifle as half a broiled capon or a plate of fish, and a glass or two of brandy. Then came the steak, with a full accompaniment of bread and potatoes and a quart tankard of strong ale. This was followed by a bottle of old port, after which he would stroll to his rooms in Essex street, where he met his class and gave lectures on chemistry.—London Chronicle.

An Impressive Sight.

On his return from his first trip in the United States recently a German physician was asked which one of the sights had made the greatest impression on him. He said: "I saw Niagara falls and on my return to New York came through the picturesque Adirondack region. It was all majestically beautiful, but to a certain extent I was prepared for what I saw. But in a little mountain hamlet, where my friends took me to a Wild West show, I saw an Indian in feathers and war paint drinking beer out of a bottle and holding in his hand a piece of your American pie, which he devoured between gulps. It was a picture so unlike the one I had formed of the Indian that I think it made the greatest impression."—New York Tribune.

One Eyed Giants.

Sir John Mandeville saw all sorts of queer things and wrote about them in his celebrated books of travels. It was in 1593 that the voracious Sir John visited a certain group of isles (yles he called them) which was inhabited by a race of one eyed giants. Of them he says: "In one of these isles ben folk of great stature, as giants, and they ben hideous for to loke upon. An they han but on eye, and that is in ye middle of ye front." He also tells of another one of these "yles" inhabited by a race of one legged dwarfs, each having three eyes.

An Implosion.

An implosion, as the term indicates, is a bursting outward, a sudden collapse, is the direct opposite of an explosion. The conditions most favorable for the production of an implosion exist at great depth in the sea. At 2,500 fathoms the pressure is, roughly speaking, about two and a half tons to the square inch, a pressure that is several times greater than that exerted by steam upon the piston of a powerful engine.

What is the Use?

If a man succeeds by acting on your advice he feels that he would have acted as he did without being advised by you, and if he fails because he neglected to heed your advice he blames you for not making it stronger than you did. So what's the use?—Chicago Record-Herald.

Discount.

Angry Citizen—Say! The sleeves and pants legs of this suit are away too short. The Tailor—I told you you were getting 10 per cent off.—New York Globe.

So It Does.

She—A flirtation is always lots of fun. He—Yes, but sometimes it takes a long time to find out just who is having the fun.—Philadelphia Record.

Centre Reporter, $1 per year.

The Three Fates in Greece.

The peasantry of Greece firmly believe that the future of every child is determined by three fates, known as the Moral. The trio is supposed to be three old and wrinkled women who dwell in a mountain cave and who come simultaneously to the house in which a new baby has made its appearance. In order that their aged and uncertain feet may not be hindered, all furniture is carefully set aside, and honey, cakes, bread and wine are set out so that the important though invisible guests may refresh themselves. If the household is sufficiently wealthy to possess a little real money, this, too, is placed on the table with the food. All things, good and bad, are in the hands of the three fates. On no account must the child's beauty be alluded to at the time when the visitors might be present. To do so would cause its good looks to instantly disappear. Nothing must be said to annoy or displease the Moral, and this makes the situation a bit difficult, as no one is quite sure what might or might not displease them.

David Garrick's Realism.

In depicting moments of mental anguish, disorder and passion David Garrick was unequalled. "I liked him best in 'Lear,'" says a contemporary. "His saying in the bitterness of his anger, 'I will do such things—what they are I know not,' and his sudden recollection of his own want of power were so pitiable as to touch the heart of every spectator. The simplicity of his saying, 'Be these tears wet? Yes, faith,' putting his finger to the cheek of Cordelia and then looking at his finger, was exquisite." And in reference to the same character another tells us: "He rendered the curse so terribly affecting to the audience that during the utterance of it they seemed to shrink from it as from a blast of lightning. His preparation for it was extremely affecting; his throwing away his crutch, kneeling on one knee, clasping his hands together and lifting his eyes toward heaven presented a picture worthy of the pencil of a Raphael."—David Garrick and His Friends.

Strength of a Spider's Web.

When taking into consideration the materials employed, the size of the insect and the thickness of its thread the web of a spider is almost incomprehensibly strong. Late experiments have shown that a single thread of a web made by a spider, which weighed fifty-four milligrams, supported endwise a weight of four grams, or seventy-four times the weight of the spider itself. When a spider spins a web to let himself down from the ceiling or from the branch of a tree we may be certain that he is in no danger of falling, but that he could carry many more of his kind on the same thread. The threads of the web when interwoven and re-enforced one by another have a very considerable strength and are able to hold bees and wasps, themselves very powerful in proportion to their size, and to bend without breaking under a weight of dew and rain.

Under the Carriage Wheels.

Furious driving was one of the charges brought against the French aristocracy at the revolution. Said Mercer: "In Paris the people are weak, pallid, stunted—a class apart from other classes in the state. The rich and the great who possess equipages enjoy the privilege of crushing them or of mutilating them in the streets. Hundreds of victims die annually under the carriage wheels." "I saw," wrote another observer, Arthur Young, "a poor child run over and probably killed and have myself many times been blackened with mud. If young noblemen in London were to drive their chaises in the streets as their brethren do at Paris they would speedily and justly get very well thrashed or rolled in the kennel."

Fish That Take Cold.

Fish are not equipped to combat rapid changes in temperature because the temperature of the water in the ocean, lakes and rivers beneath the surface remains virtually stable. Some fish, such as carp and trout, when taken from warm water and placed in water several degrees colder take cold. The cold attacks the skin and the fins, and various portions of the skin present a cracked, ridgelike appearance. If returned to warm water the fish usually recover, but sometimes the disease, which seems to be a sort of eczema, eats into the muscles of the fish and proves mortal.—New York Sun.

The Beard in Tunis.

In Tunis when a reigning prince finds it necessary to go outside his immediate family to choose his successor he follows an old custom. There the wearing of hair on the face is the exclusive privilege of sovereignty. When the prince selects a successor he sends the court barber to the fortunate individual to notify him that he may wear a beard. This intimation is equivalent to a formal announcement that he has been selected as the heir presumptive.

Awful Fix.

"Peggy's in a terrible fix." "What's the trouble?" "She's just counted up and found she's refused a dozen offers of marriage, and now, though she's crazy to marry Dick, she's afraid to accept him because he's the thirteenth."—Boston Transcript.

Suitable Argument.

"How did you manage to meet that carpet man's argument?" "In a business way. I just floored him."—Baltimore American.

The man who forgets to be thankful has fallen asleep in life.—Stevenson.

Centre Reporter, $1 a year, in advance.

NOTICE IN DIVORCE.

J. Irvin Lucas vs. Clara Lucas.

In the Court of Common Pleas of Centre County, In Divorce A. V. M. No. 2, Sept. Term, 1912.

To Clara Lucas, whereas your husband, J. Irvin Lucas has filed a libel in the Court of Common Pleas of Centre County, No. 2, September Term, 1912, praying for a divorce against you, now you are hereby notified and requested to appear on or before Monday, February 24th, 1913, to answer the complaint of your said husband, J. Irvin Lucas and to show cause, if any you have, why the said J. Irvin Lucas should not be divorced from the bonds of matrimony entered into with you and in default of such appearance you will be liable to have a divorce granted in your absence.

ARTHUR B. LEE, Sheriff's Office, Bellefonte, Penna. Sheriff, December, 1912. (93)

NOTICE IN DIVORCE.

Sarah Braucher vs. Grant W. Braucher.

In the Court of Common Pleas of Centre County, In Divorce A. V. M. No. 47, Sept. Term, 1912.

To Grant W. Braucher, whereas your wife, Sarah Braucher has filed a libel in the Court of Common Pleas of Centre County, No. 47, September Term, 1912, praying for a divorce against you, now you are hereby notified and requested to appear on or before Monday February 24th, 1913, to answer the complaint of your said wife, Sarah Braucher and to show cause, if any you have, why the said Sarah Braucher should not be divorced from the bonds of matrimony entered into with you and in default of such appearance you will be liable to have a divorce granted in your absence.

ARTHUR B. LEE, Sheriff's Office, Bellefonte, Penna. Sheriff, December, 1912. (93)

Farm Machinery

Gasoline Engines

Fertilizers

Binder Twine

Repairs for Machinery

The undersigned is prepared to furnish anything in the above, lines at most reasonable rates.

Farm machinery includes a full line of hay tools, etc.

YOUR PATRONAGE IS SOLICITED.

H. C. SHIRK

Centre Hall, Pa.

1541

Here is a remedy that will cure your cold. Why waste time and money experimenting when you can get a preparation that has won a world-wide reputation by its cures of this disease and can always be depended upon? It is known every where as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and is a medicine of real merit. For sale by all dealers.

Winter is here

and we have on hand

Good Heavy Underwear

Extra Heavy Hose

Rubbers

Light Weight and Heavy

Also, a few more

Bed Blankets

In Cotton and All Wool, in Fancy Plaids

Robes and

Horse Blankets

Dress Goods

In all the plain and fancy weaves for Coats, Suits, Serves for Coats.

All Overs and Laces

and wide insertion to match.

Call and see. We will save you money.

H. F. ROSSMAN

SPRING HILLS, PA.

FIRE, LIFE and ACCIDENT

INSURANCE

Consult us before placing your risks.

W. H. Bartholomew & Son

Centre Hall, Pa.

When in need of good

MEN'S FOOTWEAR

We sell the Ball Band Heavy GUMS and ARCTICS at the lowest prices.

Hood Rubbers-first quality

Light weight rubbers, the best to be had. Also the best makes of Men's, Boy's and Children's

Shoes at lowest prices

Winter is here; you will need good footwear. Don't forget that the best is to be had at the store of

C. F. EMERY, Centre Hall

LADIES'

"FITZ-EZY"

SHOES

will cure corns!

SOLD ONLY AT

YEAGER'S SHOE STORE

BELLEFONTE