Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ertle Pass Away in Their Georges Valley Home.
In Georges Valley where the couple lived since 1881, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ertle passed away, death coming first to Mrs. Ertle on Saturday morning, and Tuesday noon Mr. Ertle was called to rest.

Arrangements for the funeral of both Mrs. and Mr. Ertle have been made to take place this (Thursday) forenoon, and will be conducted by Rev. F. W. Barry and Rev. J. M. Price, the former pastor of the Lutheran church, and the latter of the United Evangelical church.

Mrs. Ertle was aged seventy-seven years, two months and two days. Before marriage her name was Mary A. Minnich, and she is survived by two children—Amanda C., wife of J. W. Goble, of Georges Valley, and Ida C., now wife of S. C. Decker, of Altoona. Mrs. John Messner, of near Penn Hall, is a sister, and John Minnich, of Flemington, is a brother.

Mrs. Ertle suffered for many weeks, from a disease commonly known as shingles or zoster, a painful skin disease.

Samuel Ertle was a little over seventy-five years of age, his birthday having been on December 27th. He was a farmer by occupation, and before locating in the home on the farm on which he died he and Mrs. Ertle lived on the Ertle homestead north of Penn Hall. He had been weakened very much on account of age, and experienced several light attacks of paralysis, and Thursday previous to his death he suffered a severe stroke and was obliged to take his bed. Two days later his companion in life died, and this gave him no little concern.

Besides the two children named above, Mr. Ertle is survived by a sister, Mrs. George Gentzel, of Spring Mills; and two brothers—Daniel Ertle, of Martinton, Illinois; and Adam Ertle, of Penn Hall.

DEATHS

Mrs. Juste Harper, after an illness of but one week, died at her Bellefonte home on Friday, and interment was made at that place on Monday, Rev. Ambrose Schmidt, of the Reformed church, officiating, assisted by Rev. Winney. Mrs. Harper was aged seventy-four years and five months. There survives her two children, namely: Mrs. R. S. Brouse and Miss Carrie.

Mrs. Harper before her marriage to William Harper, now deceased, was Miss Juste Gramley, and was a native of Brush Valley. There survives one brother, Henry Gramley, located in Nebraska.

At the age of eighty years, eleven months and twenty-four days Henry W. Wolf died at the home of his daughter at Smulliton, Wednesday of last week. Interment was made on Saturday at Rebersburg, services being held by the pastor of the Reformed church.

There survive one daughter, Mrs. Clair Gramley, of Smulliton, at whose home Mr. Wolf died, and five sons, among whom are Adam Wolf, of Wolf's store, the other brothers being located in the west. Mrs. A. M. Fein, of Smulliton, and Mrs. Y-strick, of Nittany Valley, are sisters.

Spring Mills.

Mrs. Bruce McMoranick spent Sunday with her husband at Sunbury.
Benj. Lambert, of Brush Valley, was a guest of his son-in-law, U. G. Decker.

Frank Snyder, of Union county, was here last week purchasing cattle with which to stock his farm in that county.

C. G. Decker and family spent Saturday and Sunday in Union county with Mrs. Decker's brother.

Mrs. H. F. Rossman and son, also Mr. and Mrs. Austin Long, Misses Mable Allison and Mable Long attended the concert at Centre Hall on Tuesday evening.

A crowded house greeted Ann Davis, the cartoonist, on Friday evening in the Grange hall, and the audience was not disappointed. His work showed much ability.

Two loaded freight cars were derailed on Monday morning east of the station. The wreck train of Sunbury was called into action, and by evening the cars were again placed on the track.

Potters Mills

Maynard Meeker, entertained his brother from Pine Glenn.

Luther Smith, of Johnstown, paid his brother a visit last week.

Alexander McCoy shipped a car load of cows to the east on Friday.

John Armstrong, will spend several weeks with his mother, at this place.

Lot Condo and son, of Belleville, visited at the Morris Burkholder home.

Mrs. John McNitt, of Milroy, visited her children at the home of their grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. McCormick and little son, returned last Thursday, from Altoona, where they visited relatives.

One of Clayton Wagner's children has been ill.

Editor of the Reporter:

Enclosed you will find one dollar for subscription for 1913. We are always glad for the Reporter, which reaches us every Friday. We find much in it concerning people we personally know.

We are having some winter here now, but had an exceptionally fine fall. Business is fairly good here in all lines. The building here has been very good the past summer many large structures have been erected and others are now in course of erection. Among these is a public library, donated to the city by Andrew Carnegie; a library and science building for Heidelberg College; a large public school building, and others. Besides these many large dwelling houses were constructed.

Crops were good here the past season, with the exception of the wheat crop, which was almost a total failure. We are all well, and extend our best wishes to the Reporter and all our friends.

Very truly yours,
M. J. BARGER

Garman's Opera House.

For three days commencing January 30th, The Mrs. General Tom Thumb Company and Count Magri and Baron Magri, and the Bijou Comedy Company—18 people—in music, mirth, and comedy.
Matinee Saturday afternoon, 2:30 o'clock. Price 10, 20, 30, and 50 cts.
Farewell reception on Saturday afternoon for the ladies and children.

LOCALS.

J. H. Weber advertises a public sale of a large variety of new farming implements to be held Thursday, February 27th, at one o'clock. See his adv. in another column.

Rev. J. M. Bearick, of Williamsburg, has been invited to assist in conducting the services at the burial of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ertle, which takes place today (Thursday).

There will be a meeting of the W. C. T. U. Saturday afternoon 2:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian Mansions. The meeting is called to transact important business. All members are requested to be present.

Mrs. General Tom Thumb and her companies will be at Garman's Opera house, Bellefonte, for three days commencing January 30th Matinee Saturday afternoon. Every one will want to see and hear this aggregation.

The State Board of education in its report to the governor, recommends that no change be made in the school code for at least two years. The board also asks that the financial appropriation be increased from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

The Commonwealth Male Quartette gave a splendid concert on Tuesday night to a crowded house. There was some change in the personnel of the quartette, but there was no lowering of the high standard of performance set last year.

Thomas H. Garvin, was elected chief clerk of the House, and William S. Leisb, was made resident clerk. Both these men represent the "old style" of things at Harrisburg, Garvin being noted chiefly for counting majorities when there were none.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hockenbury, who for several years have lived in Anderson, Indiana, have changed their place of residence to West Brownsville, Washington county, this state. Mrs. Hockenbury, before marriage, was Miss Carrie Spicher, of Centre Hall.

The snow and ice bulletin issued every Tuesday by the weather bureau, indicates that there is little snow in the Atlantic states, except in the extreme north. The map indicated a trace of snow in Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin; in northern Minnesota six to twelve inches.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Gramley, of Spring Mills, are taking an extended trip through the west and south. On Tuesday they were in Pittsburg, and from there went to Chicago. From the Windy City, their tour of four weeks or more will take them to St. Louis, Texas and other southern points. Their trip is mainly for pleasure, but Mr. Gramley always puts an eye on a good business proposition when it passes before him, and his southern trip may develop something in that line.

The Red Mill, one of the oldest mill-logs stands in this section of country, will be operated after April 1st, by John C. Noll, of near Rebersburg. Mr. Noll has been doing business at the mill north of Rockville, known as the Myers mill because it was owned by William Myers for many years. Mr. Noll is a man in the thirties, and is said to be a hustler in a general way, and a particularly good miller. Mr. Bradford, as was previously stated in these columns, has leased a mill in Milflin county.

If your children are subject to attacks of croup, watch for the first symptom, hoarseness. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the child becomes hoarse and the attack may be warded off. For sale by all dealers.

CENTER MILLS.

Fred Meiss is employed on the railroad in Altoona.
Roy Swartz made a trip to Lock Haven on Sunday, returning Monday.

The transfer auto is again carrying the mail and passengers between Rebersburg and Coburn.

Saturday was an unlucky day for Samuel Beck, for on that day a gun he was handling was accidentally discharged and the contents went through one of his hands.

Mr. and Mrs. William Homan took dinner with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Kline, on Sunday. Misses Edna and Eva Bailey were also guests at the Kline home at the same time.

Center Mills was not without its share of damage done by the heavy wind storm of Saturday afternoon, and Harry Miller is the man who suffered. He was in the act of closing a large door at his barn, when the wind blew a terrific gale and threw the door from its fastenings, striking Mr. Miller on his head. He was severely bruised, but is now getting along nicely.

Over at Easton a mother and three children have been discovered who have two hearts each. A very close examination has been made, and it is the opinion of the physicians that either the hearts are divided, or there are two distinct hearts in each of the four persons, one on each side of the chest, and performing distinct and separate functions. The lady's name is Berton Perkins, and the children are Ann, Ellen and Doris, aged eleven, thirteen and fourteen years.

There is a case of smallpox at the Glen Iron hotel. The sick man is F. T. Dalton, of Geneva, N. Y., and had been canvassing among farmers.

When you want a reliable medicine for a cough or cold take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all dealers. adv.

Horse Butchers in France.

French horse butchers are obliged to display a signboard showing the kind of meat they sell and are not allowed to trade in any other sort of meat except that of mules and donkeys. They sometimes try to pass off horseflesh as that of donkeys on unwary customers, because the latter is considered to be more delicate in flavor and therefore more choice. —Exchange.

No Wonder Lincoln Always Had a Fund of Stories on Hand.

Lieutenant David B. Parker, author of "A Chautauqua Boy of '61," sheds some light on the question of where Lincoln got his stock of stories. Lieutenant Parker was in the office of the provost marshal at City Point when an Irishman presented himself for a pass through the Union lines.

The Irishman was dressed in corduroys, with hobnailed shoes. He had a humorous, ruddy face, and his eyes sparkled with fun. He handed out a card, but held on to one corner of it. The card read: "Pass the bearer, — to General Meagher's brigade in the Army of the Potomac and return to Washington, with free transportation. A. LINCOLN."

"All right," said Major Bekwith. "I will give you a pass, but I want you to tell me how you got the card."

The Irishman said: "I had three sons in this country who were in the army. One was killed. The others sent me money to come over and visit them. They told me to come to Washington and I could get a pass. I came to Washington, but I could get no pass. I went everywhere. I pushed me way in to that old Turk in the war department, and I thought for a minute he would put me in prison for gittin' into his room. Then I hung around the White House and went into the garden and talked with the gardener, who was a kind fellow, and told him me story. He said: 'Come tomorrow morning early, and I will put you at work here. When Mr. Lincoln comes to walk in the garden you can speak to him.'"

"So in the mornin' I went there and fussed wid some plants along the walk. Pretty soon I saw the master comin'. As he saw me he stopped and spoke. He said: "'New man here? 'I said, 'I am helpin' the gardener a little.' And he said: "'Are you a gardener? "'I'm just come from Ireland,' said I. "'But are you a gardener?' said he. "'I am,' said I, but that was a lie, for I'm a groom.

"Then he stopped there and talked to me, and I told him my story. 'Come into the office,' he says, and I will fix you out.' So the gardener told me what door to go in and what to tell 'im, and I walked past those fellows as if I owned the place.

"When I come in, Mr. Lincoln said, 'Have a seat, sir, and warm your feet by the fire.' He sat writin' and a man was shovin' papers before him, and he would sign them. He said, 'You must know lots of Irish stories,' and I said: "'I know some,' and he said: "'All right; talk to me, talk to me.' 'Well, I could always talk if I hadn't much to say, but I kep' talkin' and talkin', and a man came in to see 'im on business, and he said, 'Never you mind; sit where you are,' and he kep' me there. When dinner time came he told the man to take me down and see that I had some dinner. Then I came back again. I stayed with him day after day. I was given a dinner of turkey and everything, but there was no whiskey. Finally he said, 'It is time for you to go to the boys, and I will let you go. But he had pumped heavy story out of me that I had never heard of."

Egyptian Justice.

In ancient Egypt all court business was carried on in writing in order that the decision might not be influenced by oratory or personal appeal. The laws lay before the judges upon a table, and the accused declared in writing how he had been injured, whereupon the defendant stated in writing what he had to say. Then came a rejoinder from each party to the case, after which the judges deliberated among themselves until they had hit upon the proper legal penalty for the party who had in the meantime been adjudged guilty. This point being reached, the president of the judges touched with an image of Thelme the "Goddess of Truth," the manuscript of the guilty pleader, and the case was over.—New York American.

What a Mango Tastes Like.

The first thing to do when you reach Ceylon is to eat a mango. Will it be as good as you are told it is? Yes, it is—better. First you think it's an apricot, and then you think it's a banana; no, fresher—a peach, a strawberry—and then comes a delicious sharp, fresh, aromatic after taste slightly tinged with turpentine, but not bitter. Then you get all the taste at once, and you know that the mango is like nothing else but its own incomparable self. It has all these different tastes at once, simultaneously.—Metropolitan.

Warmth In Snow.

Snow is warm by virtue of its light and woolly texture. But it is also warm on account of its whiteness. Had snow been black it would have absorbed the heat of the sun and melted quickly. Instead, it reflects heat, and the reflected heat falls upon bodies above the snow, while the warmth of the earth is preserved beneath it.

Clever Trick a Daring Dacoit Played Upon an Englishman.

It was years ago in Burma. The English government was having trouble with a certain plucky rascal named Bob Toh, "the most daring and enterprising of the Dacoits." A heavy price had been set upon the rebel's head, but still Bob Toh was cunningly elusive.

At last, hard pressed, Bob Toh tried a new tack. He walked straight into the office of the commissioner.

"I am Bob Toh," he said simply. "I have come to surrender."

Exactly what he had counted on now happened. Fourteen years' experience with eastern subtlety and intrigue had taught the commissioner to be wary.

"Thank you," he said. "We will now proceed to discover who you really are and what you really want. Tell me, what do you expect to get out of this?"

"Ten thousand rupees," said the Bob quietly.

The commissioner, although a cool man, was a little staggered. "I don't quite follow," he murmured.

"Yet it's quite simple," whispered the Bob. "The government promises 10,000 rupees to the man who brings you the head of Bob Toh. I give it to you."

"Capital," was the wary answer. "But as you lose your head what good does the money do you?"

"My wife and children get the money."

"Pretty good, my man, but not quite good enough. Ten thousand rupees will be nothing to Bob Toh."

"If it were not I should not be here. I have been deserted and robbed. I am sure to be captured. My family might as well have the money while I can still command it."

"But why shouldn't I keep the money? I hand your head over, you know."

"Because you are an English gentleman. I chose my man, you see."

The commissioner mused awhile. Then he broke silence. "Look here, I know you are not the Bob. That is quite clear. I don't care who you are. But tell me frankly what you want."

The Burman hesitated awhile. Then he said: "You are right. But my life is worth as little as the Bob's. I have betrayed him and robbed him. He has sworn revenge. Give me an escort as far as Mandalay. Here, take these notes for 1,000 rupees"—he had laid them on the table—"and keep them if in twelve days' time I do not tell you how and when you can capture the Bob. Keep them till the Bob is caught if you prefer."

The commissioner thought hard and in silence for quite two minutes.

"I agree," he said at length.

So the Bob was safely escorted to Mandalay. Later the commissioner received a letter from him.

"You may keep those rupees," it ran, "which I, Bob Toh, left with you twelve days ago. I told you the truth. You would not believe me. The English government likes truth, and it likes money, but they never want both. I think, at the same time."—Youth's Companion.

The Most Crowded Street.

The supreme sensation of New York's east side is the sensation of the astounding populosity. The most populous street in the world—Rivington street—is a sight not to be forgotten. Compared to this, an uptown thoroughfare of crowded middle class flats in the open country is an uninhabited desert! The architecture seemed to sweat humanity at every window and door. The roadways were often impassable. The thought of the hidden interiors was terrifying. Indeed, the hidden interiors would not bear thinking about. The fancy shunned a problem not to be settled by sudden municipal edicts, but only by the eflux of generations.—Harper's Magazine.
