Farmers Buy Mules.

Joe Kendig, a dealer in mules, shipped a car load of the long-eared beasts to Centre Hall a short time ago, and sold them at private sale at the Old Fort hotel stables. Among the purchasers known to the Reporter were these, each of whom got a pair:

William H. Homan, Centre Hall,
David Glasgow, Linden Hall,
William Colyer, Centre Hall,
Grover Walker, Centre Hall,
Wm. Neese, Spring Mills,
Ephraim Shook, Spring Mills.

At Garman's Opera House.

"A Slave Girl of New York" that will appear at Garman's Opera House, Tuesday April 1, is considered by managers, press and public to be the most complete performance showing the vices of the underworld appearing before the public this season. The story of this wonderful drama is really startling in both story and climax. The vices and tricks of the people of the underworld are shown for the first time upon any stage.

LOCALS

The Millheim hotel license has not yet been granted.

If you buy clothing at Kessler's, you may feel you are dressed stylish.

Robert C. Meyer, a P. R. R. man in Altoona, was at his home in Centre Hall over Sunday.

Miss Eliza Moore went to State College to care for her sister, Mrs. James Rice, who is seriously ill. Miss Moore was in Aaronburg for the greater part of the winter.

Miss Sarah Neff, a student at Pennsylvania State College, is home for the Easter vacation, and is accompanied by Miss Ada File, of Erie, also a student at State.

The Y. P. B. will hold a social at the home of Mrs. T. W. Simpkins, Friday night. Any one who wishes to join the society is invited, through this notice, to be present at this social event.

Rev. F. W. Barry and H. G. Strohmeyer, of Centre Hall, on Monday went to Hartleton to remove the body of the former's brother from the cemetery in Hartleton to the family burying lot at Seelingsgrove.

Mrs. D. A. Booser was taken to the Bellefonte hospital on Saturday afternoon, and beginning of this week underwent an operation. She had been suffering from necrosis of the frontal bone. An operation was performed on Tuesday. The bone was exposed and the dead tissue removed. She is now getting along nicely.

Mrs. Harry B. Treaster, of Milroy, committed suicide on Monday morning, by shooting. She was in delicate condition, and during the night awakened her husband by crying. She was consoled, but later while sitting on the edge of the bed drew a revolver from under the pillow and ended her life. Her maiden name was Charlotte May Furst, and was born in Altoona. She was less than twenty-two years old.

In this issue of the Reporter will be found an advertisement of implements, wares, etc., on sale at the J. H. Weber place of business. He advertises in the newspaper because he believes it pays; that the customer can be reached through the newspaper at less expense than through sales agents. His conclusion is correct; his methods are correct. He calls your attention to his wares, the purchasing power of the dollar, coupled with fair dealing with every customer, does the rest. DEATHS

Frank Knarr, one of the most aged gentlemen in Millheim, passed away at his home in Millheim Sunday evening while sitting in his chair, where he was found by his son. Mrs. Knarr died last summer, and since the aged gentleman has lived alone, his son, Elmer Knarr, staying with him at night, and with others looked after his wants. He had been in his usual health the day of his death, but having attained the age of eighty-two years he had become quite feeble.

Mr. Knarr was a moulder by trade, but lived retired during the past thirty years. Interment will be made today (Thursday) at Millheim. Elmer Knarr is the only survivor.

John B. Musser died on Thursday of last week at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jeremiah Gramley, who lived on the Musser homestead at Wolf's Store. He was aged eighty years and nine months. Interment was made on Sunday, the pastor of the United Evangelical church officiating. Mrs. Musser died two years ago, but there survive these children: Mrs. Gramley, at whose home the father died; Mrs. Edward Wert, Sugar Valley; Mrs. Koch, Sugar Valley; William Musser, Spring Mills. There also survives two sisters, Mrs. Eli Wert, Spring Mills; Mrs. Reuben Harter, Coburn; and one brother, William Musser, Woodward.

Joel Doeblor, for many years a resident of Miles township, died on Friday at the home of his son, Wallace Doeblor, north of Rebersburg. Interment was made on Monday, Rev. Hassinger, pastor of the Lutheran church, officiating. He was aged about seventy-four years. There survive his son named above, and one daughter, Mrs. Naomi Weaver, of Centre Mills.

Boyd Musser, son of David Musser, near Wolf's Chapel, died on Sunday at the age of about twenty-five years. He had been a sufferer from tuberculosis which finally caused his death. Interment will be made today (Thursday).

The Lutherans held their Easter service on Sunday evening. The children all did fine and a crowded house greeted them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mensch, of Sunbury, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Mensch. Their many friends here were glad to see them.

The St. Peters Reformed church celebrated the Lord's Supper on Easter Sunday. Six joined the church and one addition was made by letter.

Mr. and Mrs. George McKay and daughter Florence, of Philadelphia, are spending some time with Mrs. McKay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Phillips.

Mrs. Charles Orwig, of Hartleton, is visiting her son Walter Orwig, who is employed in the Altoona car shops. Mr. Orwig, Zwingle Haffley and Clarence Eisenhauer, spent Sunday here.

James Lenker, of Lemont, spent last Monday with his mother and sister and on Saturday his daughter, Sara, came to spend a week with her grandmother. Miss Catherine Houser, of Bellefonte, also came to visit them.

On Friday there was rejoicing at the home of merchant R. W. Mensehe when their son Leroy, of Baltimore, came home to spend Easter with them. His many friends are always glad to see him. In May he will begin to teach music; he is a fine musician and plays the piano, organ and violin.

On the evening of the 19th Mrs. R. W. Mensch entertained her Sunday-school class. She served candy, fruits, ice cream and cake, which they all enjoyed very much. Following are the names of those who were present: Victor Stover, Roy Homan, Ray Bressler, Anthony Wance, John Bower, James Musser, and Willard Bard.

YEAR BOOK of
Stark Bro's Nurseries & Orchards Co.
MAILED TO YOU FREE

Just say on a Postal Card: "Send me a copy of Stark Year Book for 1913." When writing, also tell us how many trees, shrubs, vines, etc., you will probably plant this season.

This Year Book is more than a mere catalogue of Stark nursery products, it is a practical essay to understand text book for the guidance of the man who plants trees. Our own experience of nearly 100 years, the reports of experiment stations and the opinions of planters from all sections are condensed and reproduced for the benefit of busy people. An encyclopedia of orchard information, containing full size color illustrations of gloriously tinted fruits and many photographic reproductions in black and white; also information on many subjects in which the orchardist is interested.

Hundreds of varieties of apples, pears, peach, plum, cherry, apricot, quince, grape and all small fruits are described; weaknesses of each variety are pointed out and good points are explained. We feel that planters should know both.

Those interested in growing fruits or flowers or shrubs or shade trees will find this book of incalculable value; totally different from the average nurseryman's publications. It is a book you will keep for reference, and one on which you can depend as being absolutely accurate. Write today for your copy.
