

DEATHS

Miss Emily Alexander died Friday of last week, at the home of her niece, Mrs. Sara R. Bushman, in Centre Hall. In the passing of Miss Alexander Centre Hall loses one of its oldest and best loved residents. Born near the Old Fort, seventy-eight years ago, she spent her entire life in the vicinity of Centre Hall. In early life she united with the Presbyterian church, and has since been an active worker in it. She was a close student of the Bible, many portions of which she memorized and carried out its precepts in her life, choosing rather to serve than be served. Her one regret in her later years was that she could no longer minister to the comfort of others. Hospitable, generous, almost to a fault, to know her was to love her. Next to her God she loved children, and few indeed are those who have grown up in Centre Hall during her long life there but have cause to remember her loving kindness. She has gone but she leaves the influence of a life so sweet, so pure and true, that it is inspiration to others to nobler living and higher thinking.

Miss Alexander was a daughter of Francis and Lettie McElroy Alexander. Two sisters, Mrs. Mary Ross, of Centre Hall; and Mrs. W. A. Murray, of Boalsburg; and a brother, James Alexander, of Centre Hall, survives.

Interment was made in the Centre Hall cemetery on Monday, her pastor Rev. W. H. Schuyler officiating.

By our Boalsburg Correspondent.
Mrs. Hannah Woomer died at her home, at Boalsburg, on Wednesday evening, March 19th, at eleven o'clock, after an illness of less than two weeks of ailments incident to old age. Her maiden name was Miss Hannah Ande. She was born in Montour county, May 14th, 1833, and had almost reached the fourscore years. January 17, 1853, she was married to Isaac Woomer, of Northumberland. They commenced housekeeping in Boalsburg, which place has been her home ever since. Her husband died thirteen years ago. Early in life she united with the Lutheran church and remained a faithful member until her death.

Mrs. Woomer is survived by eight children, thirty grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. The children are: Mrs. P. E. Campbell, formerly of Bellefonte; C. D. Woomer, Chicago, Illinois; E. A. Woomer, Ashland, Ohio; John W. Woomer, Nevada, Ohio; Mrs. M. A. Barker, Oil City; Mrs. S. E. Schott, Sharon; Mrs. E. E. McAllister, Wilkes-Barre; H. M. Woomer, Dallas. Two sisters also survive, Mrs. Margaret Donald, and Mrs. Mary Allbeck, of Muncy.

On Saturday forenoon her remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at Boalsburg. Services were held in the Lutheran church, conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. I. Stonecypher, assisted by Rev. S. C. Stover, of the Reformed church.

Relatives who attended the funeral were two daughters, Mrs. P. E. Campbell, Mrs. E. E. McAllister, a son, Hersey M. Woomer, a grandson, Ollie C. Campbell, of Barnesboro; and a nephew, F. P. Confer, of Warriors Mark.

From our Linden Hall Correspondent.
Mrs. Catherine Coble, one of the oldest residents of this place, died at the home of her son Calvin, at Oak Hall, Saturday evening, at eight o'clock after an illness of several months. She lived alone until her health began to fail in January, when her son removed her to his home where she was tenderly cared for by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hetty Coble.

Her age was seventy-nine years; she was born in Brush Valley, her maiden name being Douty. She was united in marriage to John Coble, who survives with nine of their eleven children: William, of Mill Hall; Mrs. Chestie Miller, Brookville; Mrs. Jane Stambach, Brookville; Thomas, of Los Angeles, California; Mrs. Mary Rudy and Mrs. Alice Inhoof, of State College; Samuel, at Linden Hall; Mrs. Lizzie Page and Calvin at Oak Hall.

To her children she was a devoted and faithful mother. Left alone to raise her large family, she toiled early and late to provide the necessities of life for them, doing the hardest kind of work—anything she could find to do for them. Life for her had been very hard but, "she did what she could." What better can be said of any one? Let us hope she is at rest, and all her trials and troubles over, blotted out in that better world.

The funeral was held on Tuesday morning, the service being held in the Reformed church, at Boalsburg, and conducted by Rev. S. C. Stover. Her remains were laid to rest in the Boalsburg cemetery.

You judge a man not by what he promises to do, but by what he has done. That is the only true test. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judged by this standard has no superior. People everywhere speak of it in the highest terms of praise. For sale by all dealers. adv.

A HINDU IDOL.

Its Strange History Caused Mme. Carnot to Order it Destroyed.

When Mme. Carnot, widow of Sadi Carnot, died and her will was read a clause in it caused considerable comment. This was to the effect that a certain small Hindu idol carved from a hard stone which would be found among her property must be taken out and crushed until completely destroyed. Many marveled at this apparently singular request, for the idol seemed a harmless, ugly little thing, but her instructions were carried out to the letter.

The idol had been presented to Sadi Carnot years before he had ever thought of the presidency of France by a friend who had brought it from India. Later he learned that there was a legend attached to it which asserted that whosoever would retain it in his possession would rise to the fullest height of power in his chosen profession, but die of a stab wound when at the zenith of his career.

M. Carnot traced the history of the idol and found that for 500 years the rulers who had possessed it had all died either in battle or by assassination from stab wounds. Yet he laughed at the story, called the facts adduced by his search a mere chain of coincidences and retained the idol. He died by a dagger in the hands of an assassin; hence Mme. Carnot's strange request.

LURE OF THE MISTS.

Curious Experience in the Clouds in an Aeroplane.

It was at Manchester. Aeroplanes were sweeping the skies in the circuit of Britain race. Vedrines had landed, and impatient at the rules that made him wait ten minutes before taking up the race, went about jabbering in French. One of the officials asked him what kind of a trip he had had. Vedrine's answer was to hold up his hands expressively.

He was quiet for many seconds, then he said:

"I was blanketed in clouds so that I could not see ten meters before me. Below me was nothing but rolling mist that gradually took on all fanciful shapes and colors. I caught myself wanting to descend, to drop suddenly into it and see what it was like. To escape this feeling I flew higher and higher, until, venturing to look down again, I saw wonderful lights and shadows that never before had been revealed to me from the sky. I saw a dreamy city, a wonderful mirage, and I believe I would have forgotten everything but those exquisite colorings, released my levers, and"— (He laughed.) "But I was fortunate, for I became sick—as sick as a dog—away up in the clouds."—Edward Lyell Fox in Harper's Weekly.

Cheapest Hams Ever Sold.

Sometimes an error creeps into the published announcement of a big store, due to the negligence of the proofreader or to the compositor in the printing office of the paper. It is rarely funny in its results, although it may make humorous reading when first issued. One day a department store in New York advertised "Sugar-Cured Hams at 4c a lb." Rather cheap, you say? Well, 130 odd persons thought so too, for that was the number that asked for the ham at this ridiculously low price the morning the ad appeared. It transpired that the printed proof O. K'd by the grocery buyer and sent down to the newspaper office for insertion in the day's issue read "14c a lb." The first numeral had simply dropped out of sight; 125 sales were made at a loss of 10 cents per pound.—Woman's Home Companion.

Poetry and the Child.

Read poetry to the child. Read easy, simple verse, read nonsense verse, read real poems, read sometimes such poems as "Thanatopsis" and bits of "Paradise Lost." Of course the child will not understand the thought, but he will enjoy the sound, and he will unconsciously learn the words. Poetry was never meant to be read to oneself, but always to be read aloud or recited. It is harder than prose. The order of the words is often like our everyday speech, and the words themselves are frequently different. Here especially children need help. If they find it they learn to love poetry, and there are few things that so sweeten life as a genuine love for poetry for its beauties and for the helpful lines that come to one's mind in hard places.—Home Progress Magazine.

A Good Stove Lining.

A good stove lining, one that will last two years or more, can be made from blue clay. Brick clay or one that does not contain much sand, is good also. Clay found in salt water marshes is one of the best for stove linings. The clay must be reduced to a paste about like putty. The bed for lining should be brushed clean and moistened before the clay is applied. Put on with hands, smooth with a trowel or thin piece of board.—National Magazine.
