

Klinger-Pricklemeyer.

Thursday of last week Miss Mary Pricklemeyer, of Mill Hill, was intercepted on her way to Bellefonte by Morris Klinger, of Lemont, and after a brief conference the two decided to go to Cumberland, Maryland, to wed. This was done, and a message so announced it. The groom is a brick layer, and like his bride, is well thought of by his acquaintances.

Signs to Pitch for Johnstown.

Calvin Smith, son of Register J. Frank Smith, signed a contract this week to pitch for the Johnstown Tri-State base ball club. His effective work on the diamond while attending the Bellefonte Academy last year attracted the attention of the league scouts, and he was seen to possess the stuff out of which first-class pitchers are made.

Local baseball fans well remember how Smith's good work in the box while a member of the Centre Hall team helped to clean up every nine in Penna and Brush Valleys. He is only nineteen years of age, and has plenty of time for development.

"The District School."

A play, entitled "The District School," will be rendered by the members of the Y. P. B. in Grange Arcadia, Saturday evening, 12th instant. The managers promise to give a good entertainment.

LOCALS

Progress Grange will hold a regular meeting Saturday afternoon.

Jack Cunningham, of Renovo, was the guest of Norman Emerick for a few days.

Howard Slabig is back from Millin county, where he visited his sister, Mrs. James Durst, near Milroy.

Miss Rhoda Frankenberger, of State College, was at the B. D. Brisbin home over Sunday, the guest of Miss Sarah Horner.

H. S. Harro, who for some years lived in Boalsburg and conducted a plumbing and tinning establishment, is now located in Hellwood, Indiana county.

A new bell was placed in the tower of the Reformed church at Tylersville. Rev. A. G. Stauffer is pastor of the congregation, and the dedicatory services held by him were largely attended.

Register J. Frank Smith was in Centre Hall from Saturday until Monday, and circulated among his old friends here. He is always a welcome visitor to the south side of Centre county.

There will be no service in the Presbyterian church either at Centre Hall or Spring Mills next Sunday. The pastor will be at Snow Shoe and Moshannon conducting services for Rev. J. S. Wilkes who is sick in the Bellefonte hospital.

Mrs. Thomas Schwartz, of Tusseyville, was very much alarmed concerning her sister, Mrs. Samuel Cole, in Dayton, Ohio. Daily messages were sent to Mr. and Mrs. Cole, but no reply was received until the beginning of this week, the same stating that they were safe.

Miss Iona Tibbets, on Thursday, started for Bethel, Maine, to which place her father moved from Centre Hall about the first of this year. Miss Tibbets just closed a very successful term of public school, and there is entertained toward her the kindest feeling of every patron in the school district. She is held in high regard by all her acquaintances, and her departure from here will be generally regretted. She is a young lady of both tact and talent.

Hervey Smith, of Montgomery, was a business visitor in Centre Hall on Tuesday and Wednesday and while in town was entertained by the editor and family. Mr. Smith came here in the interest of the Penn Furniture Company, of which concern his son is general manager, and called on B. D. Brisbin, head of the Brisbin & Company lumber firm. Mr. Smith is also interested in various other business enterprises in Montgomery, one of which is the First National Bank, of which institution he has been president since its organization eight or ten years ago.

Among the Reporter's callers on Tuesday were Mrs. Foster W. Frazier and Mrs. Charles A. Miller, of Tusseyville, who had come to Centre Hall on business. Mrs. Frazier was much pleased to say that her husband had recovered from a severe attack of quincy, and Mrs. Miller said that she was not obliged to pack and move, as she had no experience in that line having moved to the Lee farm years ago. As will be observed by the transfers of real estate notices, the W. H. Lee farm passed by purchase into the hands of Mr. Miller, and this will permanently locate the Miller family there.

LOCALS

The first few days in April have been ideal days for movings.

The United Evangelical church in Millheim will be frescoed.

One of Centre Hall's needs: Light on more nights in the year.

J. W. Dashem, of the Red Mill, has recovered from a recent illness.

Miss Grace Smith, the latter part of last week, went to Williamsport to visit among friends.

Jerre Smith drove to Milroy on Saturday and Sunday returned, bringing with him his mother-in-law.

With decent streets Centre Hall will again take up its place as the prettiest, cleanest, healthiest town on earth.

Mrs. Henney's millinery opening days are Tuesday and Wednesday, April 8th and 9th. You are invited to call then or any time thereafter.

Let us all join in an effort to make Centre Hall better: Better to live in; better to do business in; better to educate our children in; better in all respects.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Schaeffer began housekeeping at State College where Mr. Schaeffer is employed. The young couple were married just a few months ago.

There were not as many flittings from farm to farm in this section as is the custom on April 1st. Most of the changes were due to sales of real estate during the past year.

A party of ladies very much surprised Mrs. T. L. Moore on Monday evening by storming her home uninvited, yet altogether welcome. It was not a birthday party, but a real surprise party. The evening was spent in a most delightful way, and refreshments in abundance were served.

Mrs. Clyde Dutrow and daughters, Miss Erma and Anna, invited a number of their neighbors and friends to their home Friday night on the occasion of Mr. Dutrow's birthday anniversary. Mr. Dutrow was entirely without knowledge concerning the preparation for the affair, and, of course, was surprised to the extreme when his friends pounced unexpectedly upon him. Needless to say, everyone present enjoyed the event to the utmost.

Albert Bradford moved from the Red Mill to Verne, in Millin county, where he has leased a mill and will operate it. He conducted the Red Mill in a very successful way for several years, being a miller of experience. The Red Mill is now under the management of John E. Noll, who moved there from near Rebersburg, and brings with him the reputation of being not only a good miller but an all round useful man in the community.

The destruction wrought by the tornado in Onsha caused anxiety among Centre Hall people for the safety of Mrs. Myra Kerr and son, William B. Kerr, who for a number of years have been living in that city. In a letter to friends in this place, however, Mr. Kerr stated that the tornado steered clear of them by two city blocks, and mailed a home edition of the Omaha Bee to this office which showed the terrible destruction done to property in the wake of the storm.

George H. Bitner, of Potters Mills, has moved to near Siglerville, from Potters Mills, where he leased the Bunnell farm of nearly two hundred acres. It is one of the best farms in that locality, and Mr. Bitner undoubtedly will be able to make good on it. He has a record of eighteen years tenantry on the Reber farm, and that speaks volumes. Mr. Bitner will be assisted in conducting farming operations by his son, Jacob Bitner, who is a young, abled bodied and energetic man. John Neff will also assist the Bitners in the farm work.

A number of purchasers at the sale of personal property by W. Gross Mingle, in Centre Hall, last week, were relieved of their goods before it was removed from the premises. A large number of small articles were sold at the stable, and later furniture was sold at the house. While the latter was being sold the long fingered gentry got in their work at the stable. There are suspicious well founded, and in one particular instance it is known who now has a part of the goods. Those who suffered the loss are inclined to await developments, as some of the youths have already made acknowledgments.

William Kerlin, the junior member of the Grand View Poultry Farm firm, at Centre Hall, made a narrow escape with his life on Saturday. A large number of incubators are at work in the Kerlin plant, and one of these machines failed to work in a satisfactory manner, when the young man removed the thermostat to closely examine it. The warmth of his hands caused the acyl nitrile and chloroform to expand and burst the dial, the whole charge entering his mouth, and, of course, was swallowed. He fell over instantly, but in a little while recovered, and managed to arise and find his way to the house and make known his condition, and then collapsed again. Dr. Foster was hurriedly summoned, and with the use of a stomach pump relieved him of the poisonous fluid before it had time to do permanent injury.

DEATHS

Mrs. Lewis Gaghan died at her home in Lewistown. She retired on Thursday night in her usual health, and the following day expected to go to Washington, D. C., to visit a daughter. She slept alone that night, and in the morning when Mr. Gaghan did not find her preparing the morning meal, he went to her room and found her dead, her head lying on one arm.

Mrs. Gaghan's maiden name was Miss Elizabeth Gregg Lawver, and was born at Potters Mills. The husband and several children survive. She was aged sixty-six years, ten months and twenty-one days.

Thomas M. Way, a native of Half Moon Valley, died a few days ago at Grampian, to which place he moved in 1896. He was aged about eighty-nine years, a member of the Friends church and a gentleman of sterling christian character. He is survived by his second wife, two sons, T. William Way, of West Chester; R. Orlando Way, of Warriorsmarks, and an adopted daughter, Miss Sarah Bloom, at home.

Mrs. Jacob Condo died at her home in Boalsburg Tuesday evening, aged about eighty years. She had no particular ailment, except that the body became worn out. Funeral services will be held at her home on Friday morning, and will be conducted by her pastor, Rev. S. C. Stover, of the Reformed church. Her maiden name was Miss Mary Wolf. A more extended notice will appear next week.

Austin Brungard died at his home at Zion on Sunday evening, aged seventy years. He is survived by his wife who was Miss Mary Auman and two daughters, Mrs. Bertie Hoy and Mrs. Alice Hoffmann, of Zion. The funeral will be held on Thursday and interment made in the cemetery at that place. He was a life long member of the Lutheran church.

The Philadelphia Record. The Philadelphia Record is promoting an attractive and valuable book proposition for six consecutive coupons clipped from the Daily and Sunday Record, and a small cash payment. It will send to any one a copy of the New Modern English Dictionary as follows:

The $4.00 Volume, for 6 coupons and $1.20, including postage. Besides the general contents, there are maps and over 600 subjects.

The $3.00 book, precisely the same as the $4 book except in the style of binding, will be mailed for the six coupons and $1.03, including postage.

The $2.00 book, in plain cloth binding, but with the color plates and charts omitted, will be sent for six coupons and 70 cents.

Those desiring these books should send coupons and remittance direct to The Philadelphia Record, Dictionary Department, 916 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

Harry Gates, of near Fillmore, a short time ago purchased a fine horse for $280, at the N. E. Hess sale, near Pennsylvania Furnace. Mr. Gates took the horse home and on the following day the animal died.

Mrs. Shem Hackenberg will open her ice cream parlor, at Spring Mills, on Saturday evening of this week. She will serve the Dewart cream. adv.

"My little son had a very severe cold. I was recommended to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and before a small bottle was finished he was as well as ever," writes Mrs. H. Silke, 29 Dowling Street, Sydney, Australia. This remedy is for sale by all dealers. adv.

Millinery Goods at Mrs. M. E. Strohm's. Mrs. L. W. S. Person, of Phillipsburg, N. J., will be at the residence of Mrs. M. E. Strohm from April 10th to April 15th with a full line of millinery goods, of the latest New York styles. adv. 21.

The Aye Aye. A very strange animal, related to the lemurs and peculiar to Madagascar, is the aye aye. It feeds on wood boring grubs that tunnel into the bark of trees. The beast cuts away the outer bark with its chisel-like teeth and as the worm retreats to the end of its hole pokes after it with a finger. This finger is a curious organ particularly adapted for this purpose, being abnormally long and armed with a hook shaped claw for dragging out the grub.

A Good Memory. Church—You say Flatbush has a good memory. Gotham—Sure thing. Church—Well, he borrowed $5 from me three months ago, and he's forgotten to pay it back. Gotham—Oh, no; he hasn't! He's never tried to borrow any more, has he?—Yonkers Statesman.
