

DEATHS

On Friday afternoon Andrew B. Glenn died at his home on "The Branch." He had been failing for some time. There was no specific disease caused his death but there seemed to be a general wearing out. The deceased was a member of the Spring Creek Presbyterian church and was born Dec. 30, 1835. He is survived by five sons—Harry, Budd, Thomas and James, at home and George, at State College.

He has two brothers living: Samuel, of The Branch, living at the Glenn homestead; William, of Pine Grove Mills; also a sister, Mrs. Scott Bailey, of State College.

The funeral was on Monday at 1:30 p. m., burial in the Branch cemetery. This makes the third death in that home during the past three years: First a daughter, then the mother, and now the father.

Mary, widow of Charles Stamm, died at her late home on the Emanuel Mueser farm at State College, on Thursday morning of pulmonary trouble. Her maiden name was Campbell and she was born at Centre Hall, July 7, 1847. Her husband died nine years ago and since then she had lived with her sons, Charles and Clair. One brother, Samuel, of Shiloh, also survives. She was a faithful member of the Evangelical church. Interment was made at Zion cemetery, near Tusseyville, on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Floray are mourning the loss of their little babe, Samuel Elias, whose death occurred Wednesday morning of last week. Interment was made on Friday, in the cemetery connected with the United Evangelical church, on Zion Hill, near Tusseyville, the officiating minister was Rev. F. H. Foss. The child's age was five months and eleven days.

Mrs. Anna Sheets, wife of Joseph Sheets, died at her home near Ashland, Ohio, after a lingering illness, aged seventy-one years, nine months and three days. She was a daughter of the late William Shreffler, and was born at Millheim, June 14, 1841. At the age of nine years she went with her parents to Ohio, where she lived up to her death.

AARONSBURG.

Miss Maggie Weaver returned home from Millinburg.

George Weaver spent a day at Feldler, at the home of his brother-in-law, Frank Guisewite.

O. P. Adams and family, of State College, were entertained at the home of E. G. Mingle over Sunday.

Arthur Weaver and family, of Klondyke, came to help Mrs. Weaver's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Eisenhauer, to move.

Mr. and Mrs. Ebon Bower, of Bellefonte, attended the surprise birthday party given in honor of merchant E. A. Bower.

Thomas Hull is paying his brother-in-law, Guss Kline, in Williamsport, a few days visit and will stop off at Lock Haven before returning home.

William Weaver, of Akron, Ohio, came to Aaronsburg last week and claimed as his bride Miss Mable Boob, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Boob, an accomplished young lady. The ceremony took place at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Weaver, on Monday evening. The officiating minister was Rev. M. D. Geesey, pastor of the Lutheran church.

Movings in Aaronsburg: John M. Stover and son Thomas, moved to his farm at Pine Creek, Charles Wolfe from the Chapel to Stiver's town house. T. C. Weaver from Ernest Stiver's property to that of his father-in-law, Dr. D. W. Bowersox. Mrs. R. Emma Hess to the home she bought for $500 from Z. D. Thomas. W. C. Mingle to Akron, Ohio; H. D. Kreamer, carpenter, to Butler; John Stephens from Pine Creek to the Kreamer home; Abner Acker from the Cyrus Bower property to the Weaver Edmunds home; C. Bower from his father's farm to the place A. Acker vacated; Harry Call from Al Keener's to State College; Welds Wert to Akron, Ohio, and Will Keister to the Wert home from Wolf's Chapel. Harry Weaver to Centre Hall; Calvin Gilbert to the Ralph Stover home. Frank Tomlinson from Illinois to the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Sara Leitzel; Gilliland Eisenhauer to his mother-in-law's home. O. P. Adams bought the old homestead of Rev. Elias Stambach and now occupies it. John Bressler from the Jonathan Harter farm to the Mowery home; Mrs. Gustia Edmunds to the home she bought from the John Yarger heirs; William Haffley from N. 2nd st. to the George King property.

MEXICAN BRIGANDS.

Pleasant Sort of People That Merely Robbed Travelers.

"I was once for some weeks at a sugar plantation, near a small provincial town in Mexico," wrote the late Mr. Labouchere in 1870. "In the town lived a brigand. He was highly esteemed by his neighbors, and I passed many a pleasant evening with him and his family. His daughter was a beauty, and this estimable parent was amassing a little fortune for her.

"His habit was to ride at night to the road between Mexico and Vera Cruz with two or three associates and to levy contributions on the diligence. When I left the town I wanted to strike this road, and I went with him and his friends. We reached it at about 6 in the morning. Having partaken of chocolate, the brigands posted themselves behind some rocks, and I looked on. Soon the diligence was seen approaching. The brigands emerged, the coachman stopped, the passengers were requested to descend and were politely eased of their money.

"The passengers then took their places again in the coach, and it drove off, while the brigands courteously bowed to them. So honest were they in their peculiar way that they wished me to take my share in the spoil, but this, of course, my standard of morality being different from theirs, I declined, and I wished them goodby.

"Riding on to Puebla I dined at a table d'hote that evening with the despoiled travelers and was greatly amused to hear them recount the valorous manner in which they had defended themselves and how they at last had to succumb to numbers."

QUEER BURIAL SERVICE.

How Adaman Islanders Protect Their Dead From Evil Spirits.

Strange is the burial service among the Adaman Islanders. It is the custom of the islanders to drop the bodies of their parents into the sea at the end of ropes and leave them there until nothing remains but the bones, which they then gather and hang from the roofs of their huts.

It is a common custom for a relative to sit by the hour and watch the bones of some relative. This is the way they have of showing their love and respect.

The bodies are treated in this fashion so that the evil spirits cannot touch and pinch them. All that is left are the dried bones, and these are placed high so that if the evil spirits wander into the huts they will have a hard time to find them. If a bone is carried away it means some bad spirit has seized it, and this means that some terrible calamity will befall the family.

In the Katanga district of central Africa when a chief and his wife dies there is great feasting and celebrating. Some of these festivals last three or four days. After the bodies are laid to rest with dancing and rejoicing because they are going to rule over a higher sphere their relatives and friends do not depart until they have one or more chairs and a supply of clothes. This is done because the souls are expected to come out and wander about their graves.—Chicago Tribune.

Whale Sharks.

While whales are the largest of marine animals, yet certain fish grow to almost as gigantic size. The largest of true fishes are found among the sharks and the largest of these formidable fishes are the whale sharks. These huge fish occur in the waters of India, Japan, South America, Panama, California and the West Indies. The nose is very broad and blunt and the mouth, although very wide, is armed only with minute teeth. It is a dark colored creature, marked with small, whitish spots and is perfectly harmless to man, feeding exclusively on small fish. Its huge bulk makes it dangerous when wounded. This great fish reaches a maximum length of seventy feet.

White Robed Blacksmiths.

Extraordinary precautions are taken by the Korean blacksmith before he attempts to shoe any Korean horse which is noted for its bad temper and likely to flourish its heels if not securely tied up first. Slight of one of the small ponies trussed up to the heavy timber framework is ludicrous, however, and in a way may be termed "horseshoeing on the safety plan." White costumes would look out of place for a blacksmith's use almost anywhere else, but in Korea all men wear white garments. Young men also wear their hair screwed up in hard knots on the top of their heads as a sign they are married.

Marrriages in Burma.

A curious idea among the Burmese is that people born on the same day of the week must not marry and that if they defy the fates their union will be marked by much ill luck. To prevent these disastrous marriages every girl carries a record of her birthday in her name, each day of the week having a letter belonging to it, and all children are called by a name which begins with that letter.

Still Worried.

"It used to worry me when the barber informed me that my hair was getting a little thin on top."
"But you got used to it, eh?"
"No. Now it worries me because he doesn't mention it. I must be getting old."—Philadelphia Press.

Just the Contrary.

"People in very cold climates need a heavy diet."
"No, they don't; they have to have light diet. Don't the Eskimos eat caribou?"—Baltimore American

Laundry will go out from this office next Wednesday.

The Weather in March.

Very little real winter weather prevailed through the month just closed, although twenty days of the winter season are allotted to it. High winds were frequent, but were nearly always accompanied by a high temperature. Snow fell on only three days, and on each occasion partook of the nature of a squall.

A summary of the weather would read as follows:

Highest temperature during month, 72 degree, on the 25th.
Lowest temperature, 2 above zero, on the 7th.

Mean maximum temperature, 53.
Mean minimum temperature, 28.
Total rain fall, 3.51 inches. Greatest in 24 hours, 1.12 inches, on the 28th.
Snow squalls on the 2nd, 6th, and 16th.

The late Edward K. Rhoads bequeathed $500 to the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A., and last week the sum was paid to the secretary of the organization.

Why he was late.

"What made you so late?"

"I met Smithson."

"Well, that is no reason why you should be an hour late getting home to supper."

"I know, but I asked him how he was feeling, and he insisted on telling me about his stomach trouble."

"Did you tell him to take Chamberlain's Tablets?"

"Sure, that is what he needs."
