

Arrangements Being Made to Accommodate 48,000 Civil War Veterans.

The great tent town which will spring up on the battlefield of Gettysburg for the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg, July 1, 2, 3 and 4, has progressed beyond the blue-print stage. Secretary Lewis E. Bettler of the Anniversary Commission, by working day and many nights has already got a force of men on the field staking out the streets, laying water mains, drilling wells and providing for the sanitary conditions of the camp which for less than a week will contain 48,000 veterans of the Civil War.

In the centre of the tented city will be a great square about which will be stationed the Federal troops detailed to the encampment. Each street will have its kitchen and three times as much hospital space will be provided for the veterans as the National Guard provides during any of its encampments.

The veterans' mushroom city will also be provided with a great auditorium for the purpose of holding reunions and meetings. This will be constructed inside the largest tent in America. This tent, if filled with circus seats would hold over 20,000 persons, but the commission has decided to provide plenty of room for the veterans and to give each a chair, so that the seating capacity of the tent will be limited to 12,500.

The State will provide all entertainment during the four days' for "honorably discharged veterans of the Civil War" and the State with the Federal Government, each of which will contribute $150,000 will maintain the camp, complete in all its provisions of camp and garrison equipment, with all quartermaster, commissary, hospital and other necessary supplies.

There will be 280 acres devoted to the camp which will be located 200 yards from the High Water Mark Monument and partly upon the spot where the first day's battle occurred.

Five thousand tents, each with a capacity of 12 men, but which will not be permitted to house more than eight, will be raised, and the meals will be served at tables adjoining the kitchen at the end of each street. The camp will be opened in complete readiness on June 29 and will close July 6.

The program for the four days' exercises and entertainment is not yet perfected in detail, but the tentative suggestions are:

July 1st—Veterans' Day: Exercises under the joint direction of the Pennsylvania Commission, and the Commanders-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Confederate Veterans.

July 2nd—Military Day: Under the direction of the Chief of Staff of the United States Army. Special detachments of each arm of the Regular Services to participate as directed.

July 3rd—Civic Day: Under the direction of the Governor of Pennsylvania, presiding, and participated in by the Governors of the several States. Orations, sermon and music.

July 4th—National Day: The Chief Justice of the United States presiding. Forenoon, Oration by the President of the United States. High noon, he to lay the cornerstone of the great Peace Memorial. Evening fireworks.

Building Boom.

Although the number of college buildings to be erected this year at State College is as yet unknown, a building boom is on in the borough. Among the structures will be a post-office building to cost at least $50,000 after the site is paid for; a faculty club house to cost $30,000; an addition to the Nittany Inn which will cost $25,000; a business block including a moving picture show costing $28,000; another for a department store and flats at a cost of $23,000; and at least 50 private dwellings, most of them for dormitory or boarding house purposes.

Surprise Party.

On attaining his twenty-fourth birthday a surprise party was given in honor of John Bitner at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bitner, of near Pottery Mills. Refreshments fit for gods were served, and these were the guests present:

Mrs. Emma Fahringer, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Neff, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Confer, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Slatterbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bower, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glasgow, Mr. and Mrs. John Fahringer, Fred Klinefelter, John Neff, Charles Slatterbeck, Ada Meese, Grace Neff, Ruth and Mary Slatterbeck, Mary Neff, Dora Klinefelter, Roy Mariz, Homer Neff, William Confer, Fred Glasgow, Ruth Bower, Jacob Bitner, Grace Wolfe, Jacob Nevel, Ethel Bitner and Dorothy Glasgow.

The Grand View Poultry Farm and the Centre Hall Poultry Yards under the management of A. E. Kerlin and Son, and Charles D. Bartholomew, respectively, are having their busy season just now. Eggs at their plants are being gathered daily by the thousands, and chicks are being hatched on the same grand scale.

WHEN A MAN'S SICK.

That's the Time a Woman Does the Boss Act to Perfection.

When a woman has charge of a sick man she feels as important as the marshal of the day at a country Fourth of July celebration, and however amiable she may be at other times she is very "bossy" when she has medicine to give a man or lotions to put on him. If he wants a drink of water she expresses the opinion that he is drinking too much and remembers that her Aunt Harriet's husband once drank a great deal when he was sick and had convulsions.

If the sick man becomes impatient and says the medicine is doing no good she reminds him curtly that "time" is necessary. She has even been known to dip into the classics and say that Rome was not built in a day. The air of wisdom with which she examines the doctor books convinces the sick man that, however intelligent his medical adviser may have been, after his recovery he will be informed that he would have been sick much longer had she not used her homemade lotions. Whatever she does at night the doctor will agree in the morning that it was very good.

The sleepiest woman in the world will stay up all night cheerfully if she can get a chance to doctor somebody, and if a man has medicine to take at an unusual hour he will get it if there is a woman around. — Ed Howe in American Magazine.

USE OF "TURKISH" WORDS.

Ottomans Themselves Don't Know the Meaning of Them.

"Sublime porte" is one of those European expressions for Turkish institutions which are never used by the Turks themselves. The Ottoman government's official title for itself is Hukumat-i-seniyeh, the glorious government.

Turks do not speak of "the sultan," but of the "padishah," a Persian term meaning the father of monarchs.

Turkey is a geographical expression used outside the land it denotes, but unknown to those who dwell in it. The Turks talk of Roumelia, Anatolia, the foreign residents may speak of Anatolia, Albania or the Lebanon. They will tell you they live at Smyrna, Saloniki or Beirut or elsewhere but the word Turkey never crosses their lips. In the realm itself there is no collective name for the territory of the sultan.

Albania, Bulgaria and Roumania, although contiguous to one another, speak three totally different languages. The Bulgarian tongue is that of an ancient Russian and Roumanian resembles that of ancient Rome more closely than modern Italian does. Albanian has no marked affinity with any other language, though philologists have discovered in it some slight traces of Basque and Hungarian influence. — New York Sun.

A "Touching" Story.

The young lady who had sat for a crayon portrait was not altogether pleased with the result. "It looks like me, of course," she said, inspecting it doubtfully, "and yet I think there are some things about it that ought to be changed."

She suggested that the eyes should have rather more of an upward look, that the right hand should be a little less prominent, that the hair should be made more wavy and that certain changes ought to be made in the drapery.

"That would require a great deal of retouching," said the artist, "and I should have to charge you about $10 additional."

"Oh, dear!" she exclaimed, with a pout. "I shall have to give it up. Papa won't stand my 'retouching' him to that extent."

The Eagle.

According to Washington Irving, the Delaware Indian had a superstitious reverence for the eagle, believing that a guardian spirit in the form of this bird watched over them, hovering in the sky far out of sight. When pleased with their actions, he sent abundant crops and made them have great success in hunting, but when displeased he would vent his rage in the thunder, which was his voice, and the lightning, which was the flashing of his eye, and strike dead the object of his displeasure. They also believed that the feathers of this bird would render the wearer invisible and invulnerable.

One Way of Putting It.

"My dear boy," said Especk, who happened to be in a confidential mood, "you will never know what real happiness is until you get married."

"You don't mean it," exclaimed Singleton, astonished at such a remark from such an unexpected source.

"It's a fact," rejoined Especk; "but then it will be too late for you to appreciate it." — London Answers.

Rapidly Aged.

Client (to matrimonial agent)—You showed me this lady's photo last year and told me she was twenty-five, but after making inquiries I find she is over thirty. Matrimonial Agent—Well, you see, her father died lately and that aged her very much.

Great Provocation.

"You say, madam, that you were under great excitement when you struck this woman."

"Yes, she had just found the family Bible with my age in it."

Probably the easiest task is for a poor man to tell what a rich man should do with his money. — Atchison Globe.
