LOCALS

There are now fifteen automobiles in Centre Hall, and every critter can run like sixty.

We are learning every day. The lesson the Centre Hall borough council learned last week was that it is a fool trick to close a street with wire.

Harvey D. Hagen, of Farmers Mills, and Frank Waite, of Rebersburg, the latter part of last week, did some carpenter work in Centre Hall for L. L. Smith.

Henry Mitterling is the owner of an Indian motorcycle, and will be used by him to go back and forth to Spring Mills where he will receive instructions under Prof. Moyer.

C. F. Lingle, of near Milesburg, a brother of L. R. Lingle, of near Centre Hall, has assumed the management of the Singer sewing machine company's business in Bellefonte.

Harry Benedict Northrup, an instructor in the metrology department in Pennsylvania State College, and Miss Eva Pearl Hughes, of Drane, Clearfield county, were married Monday evening.

Hiram Mease, of Coleville, broke jail by raising the floor and digging through the collar wall the other night and was captured while entering his home at three o'clock on Wednesday morning by deputy Sheriff Rowe. He was serving for stealing chickens.

"Allen Child," a fine Hambletonian stallion, was sold by John C. Rossman to Jerome Gephart, at Millheim. There are a number of this stallion's colts in this community and every one is a good one. Mr. Rossman purchased a general purpose horse at the Millheim market Thursday of last week.

Joseph Krumbine, who was killed at the Harrison-Walker brick works, in Clearfield county, was a son of Michael and Catharine Krumbine, who many years ago lived in Centre Hall. He was a brother of Mrs. Dora Bressler, of Cambridge, Iowa. His mother is now Mrs. James Blair and lives in Altoona.

The Sunday-school convention at Rebersburg was largely attended by delegates from various sections of the county, as well as by others. The services were highly interesting, and the addresses instructive. Centre Hall was represented by Dr. W. H. Schuyler, Rev. H. F. Foss, Rev. F. W. Barry, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Kreamer, Mrs. T. W. Simpkins, Misses Helen Bartholomew, Jennie Stahl and Freda Bailey.

The efficiency of the King road drag is not nearly enough appreciated. If the machine was not so simple and homely in construction, a gift-tongued salesman would have no trouble in making sales to almost every township board of road supervisors. The drag can be constructed for two dollars or less, and a continuous use of it on the earth roads would work miracles. Many farmers could use the drag to great advantage on their lands, and once they would become fully convinced of its efficiency it would find its way very generally on the public roads.

Bible Farm Sold.

The William Bible homestead was sold by the only surviving heir, Miss Annie Bible, to D. F. Smith, of State College; consideration, $5300. The farm is located immediately east of Centre Hall on the Brush Valley road, and contains about one hundred and fifty acres. Mr. Smith is now a tenant on the John McCormick farm, at State College, and has not fully decided whether or not he will move to his new possession next spring. The Bible farm is now tenanted by Milton Kliese.

Editor Kurtz Survives.

As was forecasted in these columns Charles R. Kurtz was appointed Surveyor of Customs at the Port of Philadelphia. Mr. Kurtz is a native of Centre Hall, was formerly connected with this paper, and for a number of years has been the proprietor and editor of the Centre Democrat, Bellefonte. His devotion to the reorganization movement in Pennsylvania resulted in his election as a delegate to the National Democratic Convention at Baltimore, where he was one of the seventy-three Pennsylvania delegates who continuously voted for Wilson; in the campaign following he was put in charge of the publicity bureau at the State Democratic headquarters, and there did effective work. The appointment carries with it an annual salary of $5000.

At a meeting of the joint consistory of the Boalsburg Reformed church, held at Boalsburg on Saturday afternoon, the annual settlement was made and elder Jacob Meyer elected to accompany the pastor Rev. S. C. Stover to the meeting of Classis at New Berlin, May 19th.

A bouquet of choice carnations for the church was contributed by Miss Beulah Fortney.

Saturday John Reed, a son-in-law of John Woods, met with an accident which was quite serious. He with some other workmen were engaged at getting some timber ready for rebuilding the Cronover barn, west of Shingletown, which was destroyed by fire last summer. Mr. Reed and a boy were cutting a limb when the axe flew out of the boy's hand and hit Mr. Reed in the foot, cutting through the bone of his forehead, and part of his nose. Hickey-Freeman Quality

You Young Fellows

If you have exalted ideals about clothes, bring them in and match them with Montgomery Quality. You will find you did not set your ideal as high as the Montgomery reality.

Our young men's models are "jam up."

And if your father should ask you—here, too, are styles worthy of the banker and of those circles "where merchants most do congregate."

Being Montgomery quality they all bear the imperishable stamp of workmanship.

Fruit Growers, Insure Your Crop

The one thing that you want from your orchard is fine, sound, unspotted fruit of good color and free from worms.

BOWKER'S PXROX IS THE ONE SPRAY THAT INSURES YOUR FRUIT CROP

It is a smooth creamy paste, mixes easily in cold water, and sticks like paint to the foliage and "won't wash off." It kills all leaf-eating insects, destroys fungous growths, scab, blight, rot etc. It is also the best spray for potatoes—kills bugs and prevents blight. By warding off the blight it gives the crop two or three weeks longer to grow at a time when every day's growth means a larger potato.

If you are going to do any Concreting don't forget the fact that I have in stock Alpha Portland Cement, the recognized Standard American Brand. If you are interested in the use of Portland Cement, and if you wish to make the strongest and best concrete work, use Alpha Portland Cement.

Trap That Made the Savage Brute Helpless.

Traps for wild animals are not necessarily of steel. The author of "The Journal of a Sporting Nomad" describes a hyena trap that is simple and effective:

"Close to the station at this place I found a novel form of hyena trap—a round piece of dried ox hide as hard as a board, three feet or so in diameter, in which a very small hole, no larger than an apple, had been cut. Radiating from this hole were cut a series of V-shaped pieces. The trap was set as follows: A hole was dug in the ground about one foot deep and six inches in diameter. Into this hole a piece of meat was placed. Then the ox hide plate was laid over the place containing the meat, the two holes being one over the other. The ox hide was then pegged down with wooden pegs in three or four places. "The hyena, on finding the bait, forced his head through the small hole in the ox hide to obtain it, the cuts in the hide giving way sufficiently for that purpose. The beast seized the meat, but on trying to withdraw his head had to use considerable force, which naturally drew the pegs that held the ox hide to the ground, the result being that the poor brute had a collar securely fastened around his neck which he was quite unable to get rid of. "He could not run or walk, and even had he been able to go any distance encumbered by such an obstacle would have been brought up short in the first patch of bush or grass he encountered. He was now at the mercy of the individual who had set the trap, and could be put out of the way quite easily."
