LOCALS.

Repairs, all kinds, for all machinery can be had through J. H. Weber, Centre Hall.
D. H. Shlegal began lathing the Bartholomew building. He is being assisted in the work by George E. Breen and John M. Coldron.
Mr. and Mrs. William Reitz, of Jarrettsville, Md., are in Centre Hall for a short stay at the home of Mrs. Reitz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Thomas.
Miss Florence Love, a compositor on the Democratic Watchman, is spending a part of her fourth of July vacation at Centre Hall, and is staying at the Presbyterian Manse.
The Reporter has no hesitancy in recommending the "Sunday Record" as ideal for home reading. No newspaper that comes to our office has more or better news—it is always clean and wholesome.
Mrs. P. B. McAlees and daughter Mary, Mrs. McLaughlin and daughter Bernadette, of Chicago, and Miss Elsie Cummings, of Aaronsburg, were guests at the J. W. Mitterling home for a few days this week.
Victor H. Jones, a graduate of Franklin and Marshall College, last week went to Denville, New Jersey, to assist in caring for children at one of a number of homes provided for by the New York Tribune. This is his third year in this kind of work.
Misses Laura Mitterling and Nina Slick, the faithful compositors on this paper, will spend the vacation period among relatives and friends in Altoona and Johnstown. At the latter place, formerly the home of Miss Slick, they will be entertained at the home of her uncle, W. B. Kries.
Mrs. John Blausser, of Potters Mills, was in Centre Hall on Saturday, and among other places called at this office. She brought with her to the Centre Hall station Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Fulz, of Reedsville, who visited at the Blausser home, and before returning to Millin county will visit friends at Boalsburg, Bellefonte and Unionville.
The weather man ushered in July in very much the same style as of two years ago, when man and beast sweltered before a torrid sun. Mercury rose to ninety-ones degrees on Tuesday, but right in the midst of the heat a hard thunder storm cooled off the atmosphere. A half inch of rain fell in less than a half hour.
Miss Mary Foreman is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Foreman, of near Centre Hall. She is a graduate of the West Chester Normal School, and for several terms has been teaching in the public schools of Montgomery county, and the last year she was at Conshohocken. Her vacation will not be spent in idleness, the school authorities employing her making it mandatory to attend Cornell during the vacation period, but when Miss Foreman mentioned Penn State as being much more convenient for her, it was at once agreed that State was good enough for any purpose, and to State she will go.

Veterans at Gettysburg

Among the fifty thousand or more old soldiers at the reunion at Gettysburg, in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of that bloody three-days battle, Centre Hall is represented by the following Union soldiers: Capt. George M. Joad, B. D. Brislin, W. H. Bartholomew, Alfred Durst, W. H. Snyder, and Daniel Rossmann.

The Weather in June

The rainfall for the month just closed totaled three and twenty-six hundredths inches. The highest point reached on the thermometer was 91, on the 16th; the coldest night was that of the 9th, when the mercury fell to six degrees within the freezing point.

The Fourth at Colyer.

The Fourth of July will be celebrated in the usual way at Colyer, at Meiss's Store. There will be ice cream, fruits, candies, and a general celebration. You are invited to be present, and bring your friends with you. Young people find Colyer a pleasant place to spend the 4th.

Marriage Licenses.

Raymond B. Poorman, Waddle
Laura L. Snook, Waddle
Raymond L. Derbique, Graham Sta.
Levass LeGrand, Allport
John R. Gross, State College
Eva R. Catherman, Linden Hall
Fred Silet, Bellefonte
Edna Gramley, Bellefonte
Geo. H. Hartahorn, Phillipsburg
Florence A. Stephens, Oaccola Mills

LOCALS.

That dirty, nasty fly!
President Wilson will be at Gettysburg on July 4th.
The week started in fine-bright and clear. Many tons of hay were ready to mow as soon as Sunday night's dew dissipated.
Hon. J. K. Thompson has changed his residence from Phillipsburg to DuBoise, where he will manage the Lauderback-Barber Company establishment.
The common field daisy won out and has by an enactment been made the State flower. The daisy is a good selection. It grows in profusion, and is quite pretty.
Miss Elizabeth Hoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Emory Hoy, of Philadelphia, is at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. W. B. Mingle, and will remain here for some time.
Mr. and Mrs. John Wierley, of Altoona, and W. D. Shoop, of Bellefonte, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shoop over Sunday. They also entertained Mrs. Mary Shoop at a dinner they gave to their guests.
Robert Riden, formerly a butcher but now a merchant in Reedsville, is a candidate for the office of sheriff, or, in other words, he is getting his papers into shape so that his name will appear on the Republican primary ballot.
Harry O. Mader was in Centre Hall for a few days beginning of this week, the guest of his friend, Roy Puff. He is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Mader, who moved from Centre Hall about seven years ago. Harry is employed in the State hospital at Danville, while his parents reside at Millinburg.
J. H. Weber, the implement dealer, advertises Johnston haying tools. Special attention is called to the Johnson side-delivery hay rake, that by turning a single lever can be converted into a hay tedder that does first-class work. The Johnston haying tools have many superior qualities. Look them over before you make a purchase.
This personal is reprinted from the Gazette: Prof. Charles H. Auman, accompanied by his wife, spent several days in Bellefonte last week. Mr. Auman was formerly an instructor in the Bellefonte high school, and now holds the important position as principal of the Danville High School—having just been elected to a third term. On the first week in July he will leave for Columbia University to take a six-weeks' special course.
Rev. G. M. Klepfer, pastor of the Carlisle Methodist church, who was suspended on charges preferred by members of a church at Milton served by him prior to going to Carlisle, was at one time pastor of the Eighth Avenue Methodist church, in Altoona. He was accused of misusing church funds. His case will be heard by the General Conference at Harrisburg in March. The Reporter hopes Rev. Klepfer will be able to clear himself of the charges, since he is a descendant of the Klepfers, who early in the history of Centre Hall, were residents here.
Messrs. Harry Kuhn and Roy Raymond, of Boalsburg, were in Centre Hall on Sunday, and were entertained at the home of the writer. The former is a violinist and assisted in rendering the musical portion of the Children's day service in the Lutheran church on Sunday morning. Mr. Raymond is home for the summer vacation from the Central State Normal School, at Lock Haven, where he not only takes an interest in "book learning", but is an athletic enthusiast. He is a full back in the institution's foot ball team, and that indicates that he is not a strip-ling.

Harris township.

Miss Susie Wagner, of Altoona, is visiting at Boalsburg.
Mrs. Catharine Heath, of Sandy Ridge, visited at Boalsburg last week.
Master John Andrew Myers, of Spring Mills, is visiting at Boalsburg.
Miss Annie Lohr spent Sunday at her home at Centre Hall.
Mrs. Maria Wagner visited at the home of her son, S. J. Wagner.
The Civic club will meet this (Thursday) evening in the Hoal hall.
Miss Rose Woods and Mrs. Margaret Stuart spent Thursday at Centre Hall.
Mrs. Byle, of Youngstown, Ohio, is a guest at the J. A. Kupp home this week.
Miss Ida Segner departed on Saturday for a visit to Lewisburg and Milton.

John Gettig, of Altoona, is visiting with relatives at Boalsburg and Oak Hall.
Mrs. C. W. Corl, and her nephew, John A. Myers, are visiting at State College.
C. D. Moore, of State College, attended to business at Boalsburg on Tuesday.
Mrs. Dr. Isenberg, of Altoona, spent a week with relatives at Boalsburg.
Misses Mary Reish and Nora Miller spent Sunday at the Daniel Houser home near Houserville.
Miss Margaretta Goheen, is attending the special course of instruction for teachers at State College.
Mrs. John Stuart, of State College, spent several days at Boalsburg with her cousin, Miss Belle Reed.

Mrs. John Wright with her bright little boy, William are visiting with relatives in Nittany Valley.
We are having fine hay weather; taking the grass fields on an average they are fairly good.
Mrs. L. Mothersbaugh and daughter, Mrs. Reuben Stuart, visited at Williamsport over Sunday.
A number of the Tussey Rebekahs visited the Crystal Spring Lodge, at Bellefonte on Friday evening.
Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hefley, of Aaronsburg, spent a week at the home of their daughter, Mrs. N. W. Meyer.
James Fry and a number of other visitors from Philadelphia, were entertained at the George Kaup home, last week.
Mrs. J. C. Bryson with her niece, Miss Helen Everett, of Derry, are visitors at the home of Mrs. M. A. Woods.

The meeting held in the Reformed church on Sunday evening, in the interest of the W. C. T. U., was well attended.
John Hook, James Poorman, George Kaup and Israel Young, veterans of Boalsburg, are attending the celebration at Gettysburg.
The boys of the Y. M. C. A. at Boalsburg, have arranged for some amusements for the 4th; peanuts, candy, etc., will be for sale.
John Meyer, of Pine Grove Mills, makes a drive to Boalsburg every Wednesday and Saturday, with fresh bread, rolls, and different kinds of cakes, for sale.
Miss Sarah Buttells and sister, Mrs. Annie Davis, with their maid, Miss Agnes Bane, and their chauffeur, arrived at the T. D. Hoal home on Saturday, coming from Washington City, in their auto car. They expect to remain for several months.
Jimmie Boal whose illness was mentioned some time ago is improving; he is able to be on the porch now. On Sunday John Leopold, of Bellefonte, an associate of his, and also a deaf mute, spent part of the day with him. They had quite a pleasant conversation.

Wm. Ross, of Kansas City, Kansas, attended services in the Reformed church on Sunday. He is visiting at the home of his brother, J. M. Ross near Linder Hall, his former home having been at the old Ross homestead. Twenty-five years have elapsed since his last visit to Centre county. Mr. Ross is one of the veterans of the civil war and came east for the fiftieth anniversary at Gettysburg.

Ptolemy's Big Boat.

Ptolemy (Philoportor) was fond of building big boats. One of these is said to have been 420 feet long, 57 feet broad and 72 feet deep from the highest point of the stern. This vessel had four rudders or what some would call steering oars, as they were not fastened, each forty-five feet long. She carried 4,000 rowers, besides 3,000 marines, a large body of servants under her decks and stores and provisions. Her oars were fifty-seven feet long, and the handles were weighted with lead. There were 2,000 rowers on a side, and it is supposed that these were divided into five banks. That this extraordinary vessel ever put to sea is doubted, but that she was launched and used at times, if only for display, several historians are agreed.

A Case in Arithmetic.

The teacher was hearing her class of small boys in mathematics.
"Edgar," she said, "if your father can do a piece of work in seven days and your Uncle William can do it in nine days, how long would it take both of them to do it?"
"They would never get it done," answered the boy earnestly. "They would sit down and tell fish stories."—New York Post.

READING THE ENVELOPES.

They Tell More Than the Name and Address to the Postman.
Envelopes often tell me more about a man's financial standing than could the best "private inquiry agency." You can't "swank" a postman. And when I deliver on a certain day every month an official envelope with the red stamp of a furniture firm on the back of it I know pretty well that the envelope contains the receipt for an installment on the furniture. When that envelope fails to turn up I keep an eye open for the other signs of impending bankruptcy.
An envelope with a crease down the middle has obviously been inclosed in another envelope. This tells me the handwriting of the householder and the kind of stationery he uses. When I deliver one of these day after day at the same house I know that the occupant is out of work and is answering advertisements. But when the envelopes stop coming I am left to wonder whether the applicant has been successful—or can afford no more stamps.
Sometimes there is tragedy in envelopes. There was a young fellow who used to stare down at me from behind the window curtain—so anxious to see what I'd got in my hand that he wouldn't wait till I'd pulled the bell. I soon tumbled to his job, for by nearly every post there would be a long envelope creased down the middle, showing it was a return. A writer he was.—Pearson's Weekly.

MAGNETIC CLEOPATRA.

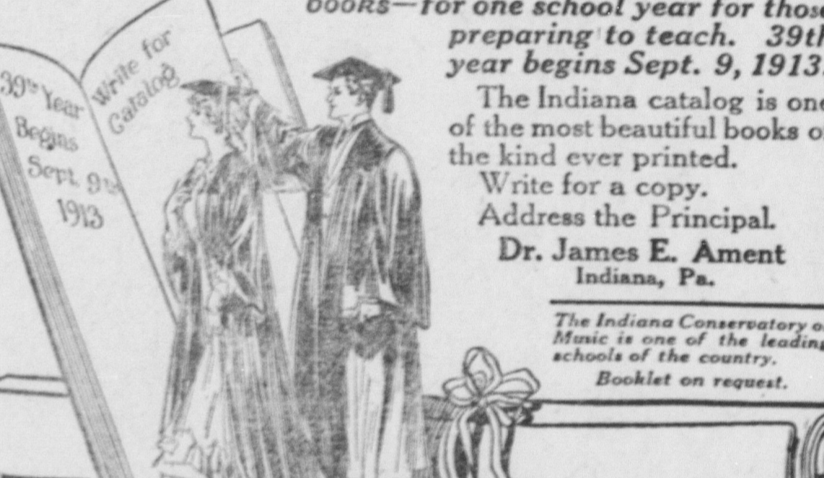

Her Manner, Rather Than Her Beauty, Was Her Chief Charm.
The only authentic portrait of Cleopatra that is known to archeologists is a bust which appears on a series of coins. It is on the reverse and bears the inscription in Greek, "Queen Cleopatra, the Divine, the Younger," while on the obverse is a portrait of "Antonius, Dictator For the Third Time, Triumvir."
The workmanship of the coin is far from good, and this accounts in some measure for the undeniably plain appearance of the queen. Yet the likeness, as far as the features go, is a true one, for the other coins of the same series, though of a different type, give her the same features, an aquiline nose, a strong chin, a long neck and narrow shoulders.
The fact is that her beauty was not so remarkable as one would think from the spell she cast over Caesar and Antony. Plutarch, for instance, tells us "that her beauty in itself was by no means incomparable nor calculated to amaze those who saw her," but adds that the magnetic charm of her manner, the gracefulness of her movements, the persuasiveness of her conversation and her figure were most attractive.

Enjoyed What He Paid For.
It is interesting to note the effect that reputation has on those who are not good critics of the efforts of public performers, as a clerk in a downtown bank was telling.
"I happen to know a celebrated concert artist," he said. "One evening she was in the city and had nothing to do, so she came up to our very humble flat in Harlem to spend a quiet, homelike hour or two. The night was warm, and the windows were open. After dinner she sat down at the piano and sang several songs for us. The next day I heard that one of our neighbors complained loudly about the 'railing' in our flat and said that such nuisances ought to be prohibited. Two nights later that same neighbor paid $2 a seat for himself, his wife and his daughter to hear our friend sing at a concert."—New York Sun.
