ORPHANS BUILD CHURCH.

Bausman Memorial at Bethany Home, costing $11,000, Free of Debt.

Headed by the Rev. William F. Moore, superintendent of Bethany Orphans' Home, at Womelsdorf, its two-hundred and eight boys and girls marched from the old chapel to the new Bausman Memorial Church, which at 4 o'clock on Sunday was dedicated by the superintendent, assisted Mary D. Stonebrake vs. Centre by other ministers of the Reformed denomination.

It is the Berks county custom for entire congregations to aid with actual physical work in the erection of a new church, and in this instance the boys and girls of the orphanage, from six to eighteen years old, did the greater part of the labor. They cleared the site in the woods, hau'el stones from the mountain, put them in position for final placing by mssons; they mixed Burdine Butler vs. John A. Nestle- mortar, helped the carpenters, and in general did the larger part of the work.

The church cost close to $11,000 and s free of debt. The cost was chiefly subscribed by friends of the Rev. Dr. Berjamin Bausman, in whose honor the church was named, and who for many years was a member of the board of trustees of the Orphans' Home and also the president the of true: board for many years.

Van Valzah Farm Sold.

The farm known as the Van Valzah farm, west of Centre Hall, now tenanted by Benner Walker and owned by Mrs. Mary Van Valzah, widow of the late Dr. Shepherd Van Valzah, of Paulsboro, New Jersey, was sold by her representative, Johnston Van Valzah, E-q, of Lewisburg, to Perry W. Breon, a resident of Centre Hall, the purchase price being $6000 Mr. Breon will occupy the place next spring.

The farm was originally a part of the Alexander tract, owned by James Alexander, and it was here where State Senator C. T. Alexander began farming operations during the latter tifties of the last century. It was later owned by John Borzer, father of D. A. Boozer, and afterwards was purchased by the late William Heckman. The farm contains about one hunired and twenty acres, eighty acres of which lie south of the Brush Valley road, and the remainder to the north of the road surrounding the buildings.

Big Eyes, Big Brain.

Professor Laugler, a French scientist, has discovered that the size of the brain in animals is in exact proportion to the size of the eyes. The big ger the eyes the bigger the brains Of course this only applies to each class of animal. A tiger may have bigger eyes than a man for instance. but it doesn't follow that it has a bigger brain. But the tiger with big eyes is more cunning and brainy than a tiger with small eyes. Professor Laugier made this remarkable discovery when studying the habits of the fish known as the dorade or gilthead. There are two kinds of dorade, one pink and the other gray. The gray fish has a much smaller eye than the pink one. The scientist cut open a large number of these sish in his experiments and was struck by the fact that the large eyed fish always had the largest brain. He promptly followed up this discovery by testing other animals. He found, for example, that the little tree frog had a much larger eye than the larger marsh frog and had also a larger brain. He asserts that the same rule applies among higher animals.

Jeaquin Miller In London. Joaquin Miller is especially felicitous in his description of mountains and sea. His phrasing is strong and, though sometimes strained, vivid and Afar the bright Sierras lie A swaying line of snowy white, A fringe of heaven hung in sight Against the blue base of the sky. And this is aptly descriptive of the ocean foaming on the shore;

The ocean's thin and hoary hair Is trailed along the silvered sands, After the late Lord Houghton climbed the attic stairs to Joaquin's room and found him sleeping under a buffalo robe the crude young westerner became a familiar figure in London social circles. He did not abandon his frontier costume, but invaded London drawing rooms wi't trousers tucked into his boots and his tawny hair and beard flowing uncut over a scarlet shirt. He afterward settled in Wash lugton as a journalist and in 1887 re moved to California.-Westminster Ga-

An amusing feud of two families in the County Mayo, the Sweeneys and the Caseys, was before the justices at Kiltimagh on summonses, Mr. McGiney, district inspector of constabulary elucidating its incidents.

One of the Caseys having been or dered to wear spectacles, Sweeney, for ridicule, paraded before their house in a pair of tin goggles. Two Caseys next appeared. One dropped a purse, which the other seized and ran away with This, said the inspector, was to indicate that a Sweeney had been sent to a reformatory for purse stealing.

The Value of Accuracy.

We strive so much to know every thing that we lose sight of the fact that accuracy is more important than knowledge since knowledge that is uisty and fragile is a poor guide. But t is not only that what we know hosld be true as that the fact that ceuracy is one of the most importan dements of character. Vague ideas end to make a weak character since haracter is only another name to truth. So that in the education of every man and child accuracy should be made a vital parts. One of the test for entrance to the Naval academy is or was, an addition of a column of fig ares to ascertain the quantity of care essness, if any, the applicant has i ils character. It should be made a important item in our education to re quire accuracy. - Ohio State Journal,

Of Course Not. Mrs. Roby, the distinguished lady traveler and explorer, told some inter esting stories of her experiences in central Africa. In one of the villages through which Mrs. Roby passed a leopard which had killed several children was ear tured and appropriated by the chief who kept it in his bed for several days. Mrs. Roby visited the chief and was shown the dead body of the leop-

"Why do you keep it?" she asked. 'Because it is a king leopard." was the reply

"What will you do with it?" was Mrs. Roby's next question. To which the chief replied tersely 'Eat it.'

"But it smells most horribly." Mrs Roby objected, "I shall not est the smell," the chief assured her
