Lutheran Missionary Society.

The thirty-fourth annual convention of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Synod of Pennsylvania was held in the Lutheran church, Belleville, last week.

The Lutheran missionary society, established in 1875, during the last biennium raised $159,561 89 for mission work. The society supports thirty-eight home and fifteen foreign missionaries and its present membership is 30,000. During its thirty-eight years of existence it has raised for foreign missions the sum of $1,074,575, its average annual contributions for the work amounting to $78,000.

The officers of last year were all re-elected as follows: President, Mrs. W. H. Dolbeer, Beaver Springs; vice presidents, Jessie Carney, Belleville, Juniata conference; Northern conference, Mrs. W. H. Reaick, Millinburg; corresponding secretary, Jennie Reifnyder, Millheim; recording secretary, Mrs. J. Cloyd Horton; treasurer, Anna E. T. Sahn, New Berlin.

Elk Attacks Farm.

The following dispatch was sent out from Milroy on Sunday, and it is safe to say conditions are not worse than stated:

Jerry Snyder of New Lancaster Valley, in the Seven Mountains, will serve legal notice on the state game commission that in future he will go to the field armed as did the Puritans, and will shoot to kill if any of the elk unloaded there for breeding purposes again attack him.

Snyder found a bull and two cows pasturing on his corn patch, which is none too prolific this season, owing to the drought, and protested by shying a stone at the bull. It became belligerent and caused him to flee to the nearest available sapling, where he was compelled to remain during a greater part of the night, enduring great suffering of mind and body.

Col. Taylor Farm Sold.

The Col. John P. Taylor farm, at Old Fort, was sold last week to Samuel Hoy of near Bellefonte for $13,000. The farm contains one hundred and forty-two acres, twelve acres of which is timbered, the tract being known as the "Fort Woods."

Mr. Hoy, the purchaser of the farm, is the father-in-law of Thomas F. Delaney, who lives on the Baird farm, south-west of Old Fort, and the latter will become the tenant on April 1st. William Bradford is the third of that generation to live on the farm, the senior William Bradford having moved there more than thirty years ago. He was succeeded by George Bradford, father of the present tenant.

Foreigners Deal in Drinks.

A bunch of foreigners at the White Rock lime kilns conceived the idea that it would be more economical to purchase their beer in quantity, and selected one of their number to act as purchasing agent. Sixteen cases of beer were ordered, and arrived in due season, but then came trouble. The agent was arrested, and by 'Equire Brown was fined $100 and costs. The beer was carted away by Deputy Sheriff Rowe.

New York Millinery Goods.

On her way to New York City Mrs. L. W. S. Person of Philadelphia, New Jersey, writes the Reporter thus:—"I will be at the residence of Mrs. Margaret Strohm, in Centre Hall, from the 17th to the 21st of October, with a complete showing of the latest New York styles in Fall and Winter millinery."

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH DEDICATED.

$55,000 Edifice at State College Most Impressive Structure South of State's Campus.

Presbyterians from all over Pennsylvania gathered at State College on Sunday for the dedication of the new State College Presbyterian church, which has been given by donations of Presbyterians throughout the state.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph Wilson Cochran, secretary of the board of education of the general assembly, preached the dedication sermon.

Three years have been devoted by the board of education to the work of building up the church and linking it to the special needs of the student body. The building cost $55,000, and was designed by Albert W. Kelsey of Philadelphia. Presbyterians of State College gave $20,000 toward the project.

There are 2000 students at the college, and from a census it has been determined that one-fourth of these are members of the Presbyterian church.

Edwin E. Sparks, president of the college, and Prof. John A. Hamilton, an old and wealthy resident of the town, have been much interested in the project. Alba B. Johnson, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia, gave the money for the big bell of the chapel. Other Philadelphia benefactors were Mrs. Charles P. Turner, who gave a $3000 organ in memory of her husband; Dr. Charles P. Turner and James L. Wilcox, who gave $1000 toward the $100,000 endowment fund being raised.

Letter from Illinois.

RED OAK, ILL. Sept. 30, 1913

Editor Reporter:
It will be 35 years January first next since I, with my parents, brothers, and sisters, arrived in Illinois from Bellefonte. I have never been back to my native town or state since removing west, and I suppose there have been numerous changes there since that time. Your paper keeps me informed in regard to the happenings at Centre Hall and vicinity, and would not like to do without it. I am hoping some time in the near future to pay a visit to my old home, and visit some of my childhood friends; also visit the spots that were so familiar to me during my younger days. I would be pleased to hear from some of my friends who would know me better by my maiden name, Mary Jordan.

I am enclosing one dollar to pay for another year, for your excellent paper, the Centre Reporter. Thanking you for same, I am,

Very Respectfully Yours,
MRS. MARY FOGEL

LOCALS.

Jacob Shawyer, brother of Isaac A. Shawyer, died at his home in Milton. He was aged fifty-seven years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Potter were among those who attended the dedication of the Presbyterian church at State College on Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Barry and H. G. Strohmeier, the latter a delegate, are attending the sessions of Central Pennsylvania Synod in Lewisport.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kent drove to Snyderstown on Saturday to visit Mr. and Mrs. George Harshberger. Mrs. Harshberger lived with the Potters for many years.

The Centre Hall Evaporating Company is operating its plant at present, and is also shipping apples to market. They are buying apples continually, and will be able to take care of the entire crop in this community.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Homan in Altoona. It is the first arrival in the family, and is a fine youngster. Mr. Homan came to Centre Hall on Tuesday in company with John Clark, and on returning took with him his mother, Mrs. Emma Homan, to see the first grandchild in the Homan family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Deibler of Berrysburg were in town on Tuesday, and before coming here were in Millheim for a few days. Mr. Deibler is giving his time to managing a farm near Berrysburg, having retired from active business life. Mrs. Deibler will be better known by her maiden name Miss Maggie Miller. Her visits to Centre Hall are not at all frequent, it being something like fifteen years since she was here last. She is looking fine, and her appearance indicates that she has spent little time worrying over temporal affairs.

On Tuesday Harry McClenahan had a warrant issued by Justice Brungart for the arrest of Jacob From, the charge being theft. McClenahan, who lives west of town, relates that on Tuesday morning he heard a chicken squawk, and on going in the direction of the noise finally discovered a rooster hidden in a stone pile. The bird had a bandanna handkerchief tied over its back and wings, and also had its legs tied. From was cutting corn nearby, and on seeing McClenahan making the discovery went to him and stated that a ground-hog was pulling the chicken into a hole, and that he rescued it with the intention of returning it to the owner. The rooster proved to be uninjured, and McClenahan swore out the warrant as related above, after having discovered witnesses who saw the transaction.

Badger Dairy Feed—Weber.

E. B. Spangler of Barnsboro visited his mother in Centre Hall. He came to tell of the good news in his home, the arrival of a son, the first in the little family of three.

Merchant H. W. Kreamer, on Friday, went to Johnstown to visit his daughter, Mrs. S. H. Heckman. Mrs. Kreamer is also in that city, having gone there a week earlier than her husband.

A covey of quail passed over the Southern section of Penns Valley, and selected a point on Main street, Millheim, for a brief rest. It was Sunday afternoon that the visit was made by the quail.

Mrs. L. W. S. Person will be at the residence of Mrs. Margaret Strohm, in Centre Hall, from the 17th to the 21st of October, with a complete showing of the latest New York styles in Fall and Winter millinery.

C. P. Long & Company advertise in this issue. This general mercantile firm carries a large and varied line of goods. Their advertisement will be interesting to prospective purchasers in almost all the lines of merchandise.

L. G. Rearick is at present located at Jersey Shore where he is taking care of an undertaking establishment. Mr. Rearick, on disposing of his undertaking and furniture business in Centre Hall, went to Florida, but came north last spring, and has been at various points since.

J. N. Heck of Renovo, accompanied by George N. Fisher, called on the Reporter last week. Mr. Heck was over the route from Bellefonte to Lewisport investigating the possibilities of operating a profitable transfer line between the points named. No definite conclusion has been reached, but the outlook is not very flattering. The gentlemen represent the Central Pennsylvania Transportation Company and it is a 42 passenger motor car that business was looked for.
