ALLEGHENY RAPS ROAD LOAN.

Urge Voters of Pennsylvania to Oppose the Measure at the Polls on Nov. 4.

The allied Boards of Trade of Allegheny county, comprising twenty-six units, has added its opposition to that of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce against the proposed $50,000,000 bond issue for roads.

At a recent meeting the allied bodies passed a resolution opposing the passage of the proposed constitutional amendment for roads. It follows: "Resolved, That although we are in favor of good roads throughout the entire Commonwealth, and realize the importance of such roads in the development of every community, we believe the proposed $50,000,000 state bond issue to be unnecessary and un-economic; that it will be used for political purposes; and we therefore urge the voters of Allegheny county to oppose the proposed bond issue at the coming election."

The organizations connected with the Allied Boards of Trade of Allegheny county are: The Pittsburgh, Bloomfield, West End, Lawrenceville, Lincoln District, South Hills, Oakland, Hazlewood, Wilkingsburg, Uptown, Millvale, Central, Larimer, Stanton Heights, Saw Mill Run Valley, Hill Top, Brookline, Sheraden, Perryville Avenue District, Beachview and Dormont Boards of Trade, the Civic Club of Allegheny County, the Allison Park Board of Public Service and the Pittsburgh Civic Commission.

Reasons For Opposition.

Before the resolution was adopted the committee on taxation of the allied boards made a report in which it was set forth that the various organizations are opposed to the amendment: Because not more than $5,000,000 annually can be well spent on the roads, and this amount can readily be taken from current funds, and as the sinking fund requirements for the $50,000,000 will amount to over $3,000,000 annually.

The enormous interest charged on the bonds, namely, $2,500,000 per year, will require more than double the amount of the principal to be paid to the bondholders during the life of these bonds. In other words, the community will have to pay about $100,000,000 or more in interest, which amount could be saved by making annual appropriations direct for this purpose.

There is no time or date as to when these bonds shall be sold, and they can all be disposed of the next day after the approval of the same by the legislature.

Allgheny has already constructed and paid for 450 miles of improved roads and will receive very little benefit from this bond issue. It is proposed that all bridges and culverts shall be paid for by the county through which the roads to be improved, and as Pennsylvania is a mountain state this means great expense to the counties.

Cost of Upkeep.

Over 8000 miles of road are included in the schedule of roads to be improved, and as these will cost about $20,000 a mile, making a total of $160,000,000, and in the course of ten or fifteen years it is estimated that the cost of upkeep on these roads will be $15,000,000 per year or more.

The act recently passed by the legislature, which goes into effect Dec. 1, 1913, takes over the control of the township roads from the township supervisors, they becoming the employees of the highway department, and all road taxes will hereafter be paid over to the highway department. If in addition he is permitted to expend this enormous bond issue he will have power, through the distribution of this patronage to control elections for governor, United States senator or any other officer or measure which may be brought before the people.

Inasmuch as the governor appoints the highway commissioner, the entire organization of his department, employing thousands of men in every county of the state, can be used for political purposes by the party in power.

The report also calls attention to the New York bond issue of $50,000,000, much of which went to favored contractors. Now in order to complete the work mapped out in New York another $50,000,000 is to be expended.

When Critics Disagreed

Professor Lounsbury tells a good story which seems to show that in the matter of poetry critics hold diverse opinions and that one man's opinion is as good as another's. According to the professor, Andrew De Vera, the Irish poet, collected on the same day the opinion of three of his brother poets on the poetical standing of Burns.

One of these poets, who was Tomnyson, said Burns' songs were perfect, but that one had to forget his serious pieces to enjoy them. The second, who was Wordsworth, said that Burns' "serious efforts" showed great genius, but that his foolish little amatory poems were worthy only of oblivion. The third was Sir Henry Taylor, who said that he found Burns' songs and his serious poems alike—delicious and disagreeable.

The Youth's Companion in 1914.

Seven college presidents and a number of college instructors, including ex-President Taft, will contribute to The Youth's Companion during 1914.

Then there is Gene Stratton Porter, whose stories of Indiana woods and swamps have made her famous, and Kate Douglas Wiggin, who never wrote a dull line in her life, and Mrs. Burton Harrison, who remembers when conversation was really an art as practised in Washington and in the manor houses of Virginia. And this is just a beginning of the list.

If you know The Companion, you have a pretty clear idea of what is in store for next year's readers. If you do not know, ask us to send you sample copies—for instance, those containing the opening chapters of Arthur Stenwood Pier's fine serial—"His father's Son." Full announcement for 1914 will be sent with the sample copies.

For the year's subscription of $2.00 there is included The Companion Practical Home Calendar for 1914, and all the issues of the paper for the remaining weeks of 1913, dating from the time the subscription is received.
