

J. MILLER GOODHART A SUICIDE

Committed Rush A Monday Morning by Shooting—Body Found in Summer House by Daughter of Five Years.

There was a sad ending of the life of John Miller Goodhart, an industrious and respected citizen of Gregg township, on Monday morning.

For some months Mr. Goodhart had been on a nervous strain on account of financial affairs, the trouble being largely imaginary.

On Monday morning, while at the barn, Mr. Goodhart discharged the revolver once or twice, and some time afterwards came to the summer house.

Dr. H. S. Braucht was summoned, and the district attorney was notified. The county is without a coroner, and after a consultation it was decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

The bullet entered the head just to the front of the temple, and took a slightly upward course, coming out on the opposite side a little to the front and above the point of entrance.

Mr. Goodhart was aged forty-two years, five months, and thirteen days, and was the son of the late Samuel Goodhart, who died a number of years ago at Hubersburg.

The bullet entered the head just to the front of the temple, and took a slightly upward course, coming out on the opposite side a little to the front and above the point of entrance.

There survive the deceased three children, two sons and one daughter. Also, a sister, Mrs. Harvey Mark, of near Centre Hall.

Interment will be made Thursday forenoon at Centre Hall. The funeral will be private.

Nearly Every County in State Reg'eters Its Protest Against Extravagance in Road Building.

The overwhelming defeat by a majority of 60,000 of the constitutional amendment to authorize the $50,000,000 loan for road building, shows that the people of Pennsylvania without regard to party want the business of the State conducted on business principles.

The defeat of the loan loan assurance of good State roads built out of current revenues. The demand for good roads throughout the State is so urgent that no Legislature will dare refuse to make suitable provision for their construction out of current revenues.

It is a most significant and interesting fact that every county in the State except six out of sixty-seven voted against the loan, and that only two counties in the State gave a majority in favor of the loan of more than 600.

The results of the recent election are most gratifying to Democrats. The election of Democratic Governors in New Jersey and Massachusetts, an additional Democratic Senator in Maryland and a progressive Democratic mayor of New York City are all that could be hoped for and is remarkable in a year following a Democratic landslide.

There are a number of counties in which the vote is very close but in most of the State there was nothing but local offices to be filled. Reports show all the counties except Philadelphia were strong in opposition to the $50,000,000 road bond amendment.

Propositions for Additional School Grounds.

Mention was made in previous issues of this paper that the Centre Hall school board had in mind enlarging the school grounds. They have had two propositions—one to lease, and the other to buy, with one condition. The lease proposition is based on the rate of $12 per acre per year; the sale offer is at the rate of $300 per acre, the heirs or assigns to have the privilege to take back the property at the same rate per acre when not needed for school purposes.

The school board has not decided whether it will take either of the offers. The board, if it so sees fit, can acquire the ground by purchase.

You have to take many a man's own word for his popularity. Of course there are salt cellars, but attic salt is never found in a cellar. Be sure to hear the Strollers quartette, next Wednesday evening.

But No Hobble Skirts Then.

Probably very few persons understand the expression "Comin' Through the Rye," as expressed by the poet. There is in Scotland a small stream called the Rye. The girls found it going to church, school and market and, as the water was a foot or two deep they had to hold their skirts up. The boys would meet them in mid-stream and kiss them without any difficulty, as the girls couldn't drop their skirts to make any resistance.
