HENRY PHILIPS DEAD.

Prominent Aar nsburg Citizen Falls Dead in Barber Shop, Tuesday Evening.

One of Aar nsburg's most prominent and well-to-do citizens, Henry Philips, died suddenly on Tuesday evening. He came to the Musser barber shop to talk to Mr. Musser, and about 8:30 o'clock arose from his chair, and was about to leave the place when he fell to the floor, and was dead. Interment will be made at Aar nsburg Saturday forenoon.

Mr. Philips was a native of Ohio, and came to Aar nsburg from Akron more than twenty-five years ago. He was in the mercantile business for many years, but six or more years ago sold his business to Edward Bower. He was twice married. His first wife was a daughter of Jacob G. Meyer, and his second wife, who survives, was Catharine Meyer of Freeburg. A daughter, in Philadelphia, also survives.

Mr. Philips' brothers and sisters live in Washington, D. C., and in Ohio.

LOCALS

You needn't ask, for if its anything it's a buck.

The doctors wouldn't be so busy if people were satisfied to let well enough alone.

There was nothing summerish or autumn-like about Monday—it was a real wintry day.

Domer Ishler was in Washington, D. C., last week, to take a civil service examination for a position in the patent office.

Progress Grange will serve the annual chicken and waffle supper, oysters, etc., on the evening of Thanksgiving Day, from four until ten o'clock, in Grange Arcadia.

On Monday evening on his way home from Masonic lodge, Prof. W. A. Kise had the misfortune to fall on an icy walk and sustained injuries that have since kept him confined to the house.

Mrs. Laura Lee and Miss Rebecca Derstine went to State College last week, and are now taking care of a fraternity house on Allen street. It is a new "frat" house, and the ladies named are the first to preside over it.

Roy Miller, of the firm of Krider, McElfresh & Miller, came up from Leesville, Virginia, on Saturday, on the hunt of a man capable of taking care of a planing mill the firm just put into operation, and made an offer so attractive to Milford Luse that he agreed to accompany him to the Virginia plant on Monday.

James Houser, a farmer in Penn township, was hit by two stray shot while hunting rabbits in company with Samuel O. Baney, a sawyer, from McAlarvys Fort. The two men were hunting in the vicinity of Green Grove church, when the latter fired twice at a rabbit. Mr. Houser was not in line between his companion hunter and the rabbit, and it is thought that the shot were deflected by some object, as they only made slight wounds. One of the shot hit the man in the neck and the other in the shoulder.

Harris township.

Miss Mary Reed of Petersburg visited with her uncle J. C. Reed, last week and was taking orders for books.

Miss Ruth Rupp who is preparing for a professional nurse at the Altoona hospital is home for a vacation.

Miss Phoebe Gettig, one of the seniors of the Altoona high school spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives and associates at Bellefonte, Boalsburg and State College.

T. D. Boal was home from Washington for the election.

Dr. and Mrs. George Woods of Pinegrove Mills, spent Sunday at Boalsburg.

Mrs. Eliza Fouse, who spent several months at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. M. Hosterman, returned to her home at Huntingdon on Saturday. The Hosterman family accompanied her, returning again on Sunday. The trip was made in an automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Heilman with their little daughter of Hellmsdale came to Centre county for Pennsylvania Day at State College, and spent several days with relatives at Boalsburg and Linden Hall.

Mrs. Annie Miller of Pine Grove Mills is staying in Boalsburg for an indefinite time.

The Moxes and the Riley hunting parties are out on their annual hunting expedition.

The teachers are attending the county institute this week.

Our mountain is clad in the mantle of white. We had rain Saturday afternoon and night and Sunday during the night we had a fall of snow.

The majority of farmers are not ready for winter, only a few are done husking corn.

Several of the men in Boalsburg were busily engaged in swatting flies; they are now out of employment.

Dr. L. E. Kidder purchased the Wm. Ishler farm at Walnut Grove. George Rowe who has been the tenant there for a number of years expects to move to Boalsburg in the spring.

Quite a number from this place enjoyed Friday at State College. It is estimated that there were about 8,000 people present.

REBERSBURG

Jonathan Spangler, who had been on the sick list for some time, has so far recovered that he is now able to take daily drives out to his farm, several miles east of town.

There is still some corn in this section to be husked. The ground on Monday morning was covered with a coat of snow, which reminds us that surely the long winter is about to begin.

Sumner Musser of Aar nsburg spent a few days this week visiting relatives in this vicinity.

Prof. Edwin Brungart and daughter of Selinsgrove spent a few days, the past week, among relatives in our town.

Bruce Moyer and son Joseph of Tamoka spent a few days at this place at the home of Mr. Moyer's mother, Mrs. J. K. Moyer.

Robert Parks of Hazleton stopped in our town for a day on returning home from a hunting trip in the narrows at the extreme end of our valley. He succeeded in bagging quite a lot of small game.

Rev. L. A. Miller of Hagerstown, Md., was shaking hands with his many friends in this vicinity during the past few days.

The schools have closed for a week and the teachers are attending institute at Bellefonte.

John Spangler attended the literary sale held at Millinburg, last week, but returned home without investing a penny.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hubler of Pittsburg are spending several weeks in town with relatives.

Spring Mills

Mrs. Thresa Gorden of Mount Union with her two children, spent two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Horner.

Mrs. Mabel Smith of Johnstown is home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Finkle, for two weeks while her husband, Loyd Smith, is hunting.

Twenty some hunters left this place on Saturday to get their camps in readiness to begin hunting on Monday.

Those who attended the funeral of John Harter, at Rebersburg, were Samuel Harter, Ezra C. Harter, Calvin Finkle wife and family, William Haney and family, David McCool and wife, John and Jacob McCool.

Main-Hurley.

Ogden Malin, of Altoona, son of W. L. Malin, of Bellefonte, and Miss Helen Hurley, daughter of Ex-Sheriff and Mrs. W. E. Hurley, of Bellefonte, formerly Phillipsburg, slipped off to Cumberland, Md., the other day and were married. Both are well known and popular young people. They will likely reside in Bellefonte, where the groom is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad company.

Centre Hall—always speak well of it.

Tusseyville

Mrs. William Fredracy of Boulton, Kansas, who has been here with her son, William Kister, and other friends, returned to her home.

Spoonerisms.

Even history has its charms. As one follows the events of the day start echoes from the past, and sometimes laughter. Example:

Here is a quaint fellow in Tay Pay's Weekly revealing marvels about the signs and names of English Inns. Creditable performance, doubtless though drowsy withal. But we have conned the pages of history, so remember Spooner—the great, great Spooner—he who got run over while "boiling his fiddle" at the side of the road, yet recovered and went home by "the town drain." To Spooner we owe a criticism—by deeds, not words—of the names they give inns. Surely you recall his agreeing to meet a friend at the Green Man, Dulwich, and with his usual aptitude, hunting all afternoon for the Bull Mart Greenwich.—New York Tribune.

Nothing Like System.

"There's nothing like system," said a New York official. "System will accomplish the impossible."

"The director of a recent art show was a fine chap for system. One day he arrived at the show without his pass and the gateman, a stranger, held him up.

"I have no pass nor ticket," said the system exponent, "but I am the director of the show."

"You'll have to produce your ticket, sir."

"But I tell you I'm the director—high mucky-muck—boss."

"I can't help it, sir; I'm forbidden to let—"

"Yes, I know," said the director impatiently, "but my good fellow, as the director, I give you permission to let me pass."—Washington Star.

Scientific Uses of the Radish.

An alcoholic solution of the skin of a red radish serves as an excellent indicator or test for acids and bases. In the presence of acids the colorless solution turns pink, while with bases-alkaline solutions—it turns yellow. It is well known that many plant extracts, such as litmus, and animal products, like cochineal, possess this property of developing marked color with acids and bases, but no other indicator is so simply made.

His Fad.

The Doctor—Every man needs a fad. It is really a mental safety valve. Better cultivate one. The Patient—I have mine—The Doctor—What is it? The Patient—Collecting unpaid bills. Perhaps you'll add one?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
