

PENNSYLVANIA DAY AT STATE.

Governor Tener, Persian Minister, Gen. Logan and Speaker After on the Platform.

Pennsylvania day was observed at Pennsylvania State College on Friday, and it is estimated that 5000 persons were present. A special train brought dignitaries from Harrisburg and Philadelphia, and locally the automobile was put into service as a means of conveyance.

Features of the day's exercises were the review of the battalion of 1,300 cadets and the open air concert by the Middle band. After this the ceremony in the chapel began. President Sparks made a few opening remarks, and then Governor Tener took the chair as presiding officer. He expressed pleasure in being able for the third time to attend these ceremonies, and that he was given an opportunity to give State a liberal appropriation.

The speaker of the day was Mrs. Ali Kuli Kuhn, Persian Minister at Washington, who spoke in the most pleasing manner, not only of educational affairs, but of the policy of peace pursued by the present administration. The Persian representative is a highly educated and cultured gentleman, and has good command of the English language.

Other speakers to follow were General Logan of Pittsburg, the reviewing officer, and Hon. Harry Alter, speaker of the house.

Another feature of amusement and instruction was a fair conducted by the students. It had the real fair ring,—the fortune wheel, the fortune teller, the freak animals, "Maude," the mule, and the babies to be hit with a ball,—were each in charge of a skilled barker. A number of horses and colts were exhibited, most of them from localities throughout the county. From the college barns were exhibited a number of registered cows and bulls, also steers, hogs and sheep making an attractive collection of first-class animals.

A booth was tastefully arranged as a nursery, and in a cot by a child, and by its side sat a nurse. Another booth was devoted to the domestic science. The forestry department was also represented, as were a number of other special departments of the institution under whose management the fair was conducted.

The day closed with a spirited game of football between State and Notre Dame, which resulted in a defeat of the former.

Those from Centre Hall and nearby points who were at State are named below:

Centre Hall: G. L. Goodhart, F. P. Geary, Daniel Daup, Mrs. F. O. Bairfoot, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Smith, Mrs. W. H. Meyer, Miss Nina Shick, Samuel Durst, Ray Durst, Charles Neff, John J. Mrs. Bradford Doing Fine.

Mrs. D. W. Bradford of Centre Hall underwent an operation at the Bellefonte hospital on Saturday morning, the operating surgeon being Dr. Ball of Lock Haven. A five pound tumor was removed. Her condition immediately after the operation and since has been very encouraging, and her friends are confident that she will fully recover. Mrs. Bradford has been in delicate health for several years. Her intention to submit to the knife was not made known except to a few intimate friends until she had entered the hospital on Thursday of last week.

Started to Build Barn.

Wednesday morning John D. Lucas and force of carpenters began the construction of a barn for D. Gels Wagner, on his farm south of Centre Hall. The barn is to take the place of the one burned by being struck by lightning. Mr. Wagner has temporary shelter for his horses, but not for his cattle, and he is anxious to get the structure so far advanced as to afford protection to the dumb animals before the weather becomes too severe.

CORN LEADS CROPS IN WORTH.

Value of Crop Estimated at One Billion Dollars—Extent of Damage from Droughts May Have Been Overestimated.

Nearly $4,000,000,000 was the value of the principal crops to the farmers of the United States on November 1, according to the agricultural department's estimate.

Greatest of all was the corn crop, estimated as worth $1,741,353,019, and exceeding in value any this or any other country has ever produced. The 1912 crop was worth $1,520,454,000. The previous most valuable crop was that of 1909, $1,652,822,000.

While the most valuable, the corn production will be more than 50,000,000 bushels less than last year's record crop, and the smallest since 1903. The figures given are 2,463,017,000 bushels, the average farm price being 70.7 cents a bushel.

The department's preliminary estimate of production increased by 91,000,000 bushels the estimate made in October and also that made in September. This was taken to indicate that the damage from the very severe drought in the middle west was somewhat overestimated. The department's final estimate of production next month may show further increase in the size of the crop.

Greatest damage from the drought is indicated in the figures for Kansas, which show the acre yield there to have been reduced to 3.2 bushels, compared with 23 bushels last year; in Missouri, where the yield was 17.5 bushels, compared with last year's 32 bushels, and in Oklahoma, where it was 11 bushels, against 18.7 last year. In Illinois the yield was 13 bushels below last year's yield; in Iowa, 9 bushels; Nebraska, 9 bushels; Missouri, 14.5 bushels; Indiana, 3.7 bushels, and Ohio, 5.2 bushels.

The yield in Pennsylvania was 56,326,000 bushels, valued at $39,822,482.

Estimates on other crops for the country are:

Wheat—Production, 753,233,000 bushels; yield, 15.2 bushels per acre; average farm price, 77 cents; value, $579,989,410.
Oats—1,122,139,000 bushels; 29.3 bushels per acre; price, 37.9 cents; value, $425,290,681.
Barley—173,301,000 bushels; 23.9 bushels per acre; price, 54.7 cents; value, $94,795,647.
Rye—34,789,000 bushels; 16.3 bushels per acre; price, 63.2 cents; value, $21,986,648.
Hay—63,460,000 tons; 1.31 tons per acre; price, $12.26; value, $778,019,900.
Buckwheat—14,455,000 bushels; price, 75.5 cents; value, $10,813,525.
Potatoes—328,550,000 bushels; price, 69.6 cents; value, $228,669,800.
Flaxseed—19,234,000 bushels; price, $118.7; value, $2,280,758.

James McNitt Assaulted.

James McNitt of Milroy had occasion to enter the house of a Polish family opposite the station at Burnham about five o'clock one evening last week, and was set upon by a drunken Poleander. He was badly beaten over the head, and when he got away from the house he found he had been robbed of $20. The police were notified, and after arresting the offender, the cash was returned, and Mr. McNitt refused to press the case farther. The officer preferred the charge of drunk and disorderly, whereupon the justice fined the Pole $15 and costs.

Mr. McNitt is a retired farmer, and is about seventy-five years of age.

LOCALS.

The Bible Concert Company, consisting of Dr. George P. Bible and daughters of Philadelphia, will give an entertainment in the Old Fellows' hall, Pine Grove Mills, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 18. The entertainment will embrace elocution and music, and will be one of the most pleasing ever given in the county.

The Hunters.

There are many hunters in the Seven Mountains, the camps being scattered in all sections. These mountains form a prolific field for the sportsmen, and probably a larger number of deer are killed to the square mile than in any field in Pennsylvania. As a rule the animals are large and in good condition, this being due, no doubt, to the numerous valleys and ravines in which there is ample pasture in the summer and forage in the winter.

The only reports of success brought to the valley from the Seven Mountain camps are that the Bradford party from Centre Hall captured a buck, which was killed by George W. Bradford, the drover, the oldest of the Bradfords whose name the camp bears.

The Slack party, on Stone Creek, also report one buck, the successful individual not being named.

The party from Altoona with Clayton McKinney, on Broad Mountain, have a buck.

The Potters Mills Regulars, two bucks; the Decker party, two bucks.

A one-day party from Colyer wounded a buck.

The following named hunting parties and their locations were reported:

The Altoona party, with Clayton McKinney at the head, on Sun-side of Broad Mountain.

Lebanon party, on Bubb farm, above Colyer.

Red Lion and Colyer party on Sand Mountain.

Lewistown party, at Old Dam, near Colyer farm.

Bradford party, on Colyer farm, also known as Sunday farm.

Flick party, on Stone Creek.

Weaver party, on Stone Creek.

Georges Valley, on Summit, in Poe Valley.

The Rileys, in Bear Meadows.

The Modocs, at old Ross place.

The Penn Hall club, near Lingle's.

The Wingard-Rote party, on their old field.

Regulars (Potters Mills) at Pat Garrity's.

Musser-Gilliland, on Stone Creek.

Decker party, at Zrby place.

W. H. Snook, residing near Livonia, shouldered his gun Monday and proceeded into the woods not far from his home, when he saw a two pronged buck which he brought down with one shot.

Captured Three Cubs.

Earl Cummings and Fred Wolf of Aaronburg chased three cubs in Fox Gap, to near where William Wolf was stationed on a crossing, and the latter managed to kill two of them and cripple the third. The crippled cub was then killed by Fred Wolf.

New Dwelling House.

John D. Lucas, the carpenter and contractor, started the foundation for a new dwelling house to the south of the one he now occupies on Heffer street. He will build with a view of occupying the property himself, and offer the home in which he now lives for rent.

Georges Valley.

Most of the men in this valley are in the Seven Mountains hunting for deer. Winter has made its appearance in earnest.

The dance held at Edward Lingle's last Thursday evening was largely attended.

Mrs. Lydia Immel, a township charge who makes her home with W. W. Jamison, Tuesday morning, fell and hurt herself so that she is unable to be around.

The S. E. Ertle home was sold last Thursday at public sale to S. C. Decker of Altoona.

A. F. Vonada purchased a cow from H. A. Haugh, last week.
P. A. Auman, Charles Auman and Mrs. R. E. Sweetwood attended the funeral of John Harter at Rebersburg last Thursday.
