

Jessie Woodrow Wilson Becomes Bride of Francis Bowes Sayre

Francis B. Sayre.

Future Home of the Sayres.
East Room of White House.

Mrs. F. B. Sayre.

Washington, Nov. 25.—In the beautiful east room of the White House at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon Jessie Woodrow Wilson, second daughter of the president, was made the wife of Francis Bowes Sayre. Rev. Sylvester Beach of Princeton, N. J., performed the ceremony.

The entire affair was very simple, as had been requested by the bride, and the number of guests was rather small—distressingly so to many persons in official and social circles of Washington who had expected to receive invitations but were disappointed.

Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, eldest of the three daughters, acted as maid of honor to her sister, and Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, the youngest, was one of the bridesmaids. The three other bridesmaids were Miss Adeline Mitchell Scott of Princeton, daughter of Prof. William B. Scott; Miss Marjorie Brown of Atlanta, Pa., daughter of Mrs. Wilson's cousin, Col. E. T. Brown, and Miss Mary G. White of Baltimore, a college friend of the bride.

Dr. Grenfell is Best Man.
Mr. Sayre was attended by his best man, Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the famous medical missionary to the fishermen of the Labrador coast. The two men have long been fast friends and Mr. Sayre spent two summers helping Dr. Grenfell with his work.

The ushers were Charles E. Hughes, Jr., son of Justice Hughes of the Supreme court and a classmate of Mr. Sayre in the Harvard law school; Dr. Gilbert Horax of Montclair, N. J., who was a classmate at Williams college in 1909 and now at Johns Hopkins university; Benjamin Burton of New York city, and Dr. Scoville Clark of Salem, Mass., who was Mr. Sayre's companion in Labrador and Newfoundland.

Wedding Gown of Ivory Satin.
The bride's gown was of satin, of a soft ivory tint, trimmed with beautiful lace, both old and rare. It was made in New York and the women connoisseurs declared that it was a masterpiece. The lingerie in the trousseau is of the most dainty material and is all hand made. The maid of honor and bridesmaids were beautifully gowned and all looked their best.

Coming right in the midst of the chrysanthemum season, this was made a chrysanthemum wedding and that flower was used most profusely in adorning the White House. As the bride's favorite color is mauve, that was made the prevailing color in the decorations. The east room, and indeed all the rooms in the president's mansion, were beautiful indeed.

Depart on Their Honeymoon.
After the ceremony was completed and the couple had received the congratulations of the guests, refreshments were served, and then Mr. and Mrs. Sayre departed for their honeymoon. Their plans include a visit to the home of Miss Nevin, Mr. Sayre's aunt, at Windsor Forge, near Churchtown, Pa., where they first met. After January 1 they will live in Williams-town, Mass., for Mr. Sayre is to sever his connection with the office of District Attorney Whitman in New York and become assistant to Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams college.

JESSIE'S WEDDING CAKE.

Jessie Wilson's wedding cake was a triumph of the pastry cook's art. It was two and a half feet tall, counting the white orchids that were placed on top of it, and weighed 135 pounds. The first layer was four inches thick and 22 inches across. The cake contained 19 ingredients and its cost was about $500. Over the body of the cake was molded a thick white icing scroll work, on its top was a design for the initials of the bride and groom, done in silver, and around the sides were lilies of the valley in white sugar. This delicious confection was distributed in 2,000 dainty white boxes tied with satin ribbon and each of the proper size to go under the pillow of the recipient to bring dreams.

There was one disappointment for those who attended the wedding, for the gifts were not put on display. It is known that these included many beautiful and valuable articles sent by relatives and personal friends of the bride and groom and of their families and by admirers of President Wilson. Handsome presents were sent by both the senate and the house, that of the latter being a diamond lavalliere which Miss Genevieve Clark, daughter of the speaker, bought for the representatives in New York.

Guests Limited to 400.
Those who were invited to witness the wedding were mostly personal friends and the number was kept down close to four hundred. The list was pared and revised several times, and as has been said, the operation resulted in many heartburnings. From the house of representatives' circle, for instance, the only guests were Speaker Champ Clark, Mrs. Clark and Miss Genevieve Clark, Marjorie Leader Underwood and Mrs. Underwood, and Minority Leader Mann and Mrs. Mann.

As might be expected, the streets outside the White House were as crowded as the police would permit with curious persons eager to watch the arrival and departure of the guests and trying to obtain through the windows a glimpse of the doings within. The police arrangements were admirable and nothing happened, in the White House or outside, to mar the happy occasion.

The wedding of Mr. Sayre and Miss Wilson was the thirteenth to be celebrated in the White House, but the bride has always considered 13 her lucky number instead of a hoodoo. There have been more than twenty weddings in which either the bride or groom resided in the White House, and the last wedding ceremony performed there was the one which united Alice Roosevelt and Nicholas Longworth. Today's event was much quieter than that one, and the guests not nearly so numerous.

Mrs. Sayre a Social Worker.
Mrs. Sayre was born in Gainsville, Pa., twenty-five years ago. She attended the Women's college at Baltimore and was an honor member of the class of 1908, being also elected a member of Phi Beta Kappa. For two years after her graduation she engaged in settlement work in Kensington, Pa., and she is a member of the executive board of the National Young Woman's Christian association. She has delivered several excellent addresses in public.

In appearance she does not resemble her father as much as do her sisters, having rather the features of her mother's family, the Axsons. She is an accomplished swimmer, rider and tennis player and also something of an actress.

Something About the Groom.
Francis Bowes Sayre is twenty-eight years old, and was born at South Bethlehem, Pa., a son of the late Robert Heysham Sayre, who built the Lehigh Valley railroad and at one time was assistant to the president of the Bethlehem iron works, since known as the Bethlehem steel works. He was also once president of the board of trustees of the Lehigh university.

Francis Bowes Sayre graduated from Lawrenceville school, Lawrenceville, N. J., in 1904, and from Williams college in 1909. He entered Harvard law school and graduated "cum laude." He was a member of the Sigma Phi fraternity, Gargyle society and the Phi Beta Kappa at Williams. For the past year he has been working in the office of District Attorney Whitman of New York. During the summer he was admitted to the bar of New York state.

Mr. Sayre's mother is Mrs. Martha Finlay Sayre, daughter of the late William Nevin, who was president of Franklin and Marshall college at Lancaster, Pa. She is a descendant of Hugh Williamson of North Carolina, one of the framers of the Constitution of the United States, and is a sister of the late Robert Nevin, head of the American church at Rome, and a cousin of Ethelbert Nevin, the composer.

Other White House Weddings.
The wedding of Jessie Wilson and Francis Sayre was the thirteenth to be solemnized in the White House. The first was that of Anna Todd, a niece of Dolly Madison's first husband, and John G. Jackson. Then Mrs. Madison's sister, Lucy, was married to Judge Todd of Kentucky. The third wedding, that of Maria Monroe, daughter of President Monroe, to Samuel Lawrence Gouverneur in 1820 marked the first social use of the east room. Eight years later John, the second son of President John Quincy Adams, married his cousin, Mary Hellen, in the blue room. While General Jackson was president there were three weddings in the White House, those of Della Lewis to Alphonse Joseph Yver Pageot of the French legation; Mary Eaton to Lucien B. Polk, and Emily Martin to Louis Randolph. Many years passed before there was another marriage ceremony in the president's mansion, the next being of Nellie, the only daughter of General Grant, and Algernon C. F. Sartoris. In 1876 Emily Platt, a niece of Mrs. Hayes, was married in the blue room to Gen. Russell Hastings. The eleventh of this series of weddings was that of President Cleveland to Frances Folsom, and the twelfth that of President Roosevelt's daughter Alice, to Nicholas Longworth.

CALLS BUTTER OUT OF STORAGE

None of the June Product To Remain After February

TIE UP 10,500,000 POUNDS

Enormous Holdings on October 1, Intended to Bring "Corner" Prices—Commissioner Foust After Speculators Holding for Scarcity.

(Special Harrisburg Correspondence.)
Harrisburg.—Having recently threatened to attack the egg corner by forcing out cold storage in December all eggs stored as early as April, Commissioner Foust is after the butter speculators—those who have butter in cold storage and are waiting for a scarcity of the article to dump their cold storage accumulations on the market at big prices and reap enormous profits from the housekeeper.

On October 1, according to reports made to the Commissioner by agents of the pure food division throughout the State, there were 10,500,000 pounds of butter in cold storage in this State, the greater part of which was stored in June. Under the new law this butter can remain nine months which means that it must be put on the market in February. Pure food agents, who have been looking after cold-storage eggs, are under instructions to keep a sharp watch on these 10,500,000 pounds of butter in cold storage, and on the day the time limit of nine months expires to tag it as unsalable for food in Pennsylvania, and if any attempt is made to sell it after that period at once to arrest the party offering it for sale.

Pure food agents in the field since the ultimatum to the egg speculators are sending telegrams to Commissioner Foust, telling him that cold storage eggs are being sent out on the market as fast as possible, especially April eggs, and that it looks as if all April eggs would be out before the time limit expires in December. Since the warning was sounded about 4,500,000 dozen of cold storage eggs have been marketed. In Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton, Harrisburg, Williamsport, DuBois—in fact, wherever eggs are in cold storage—an effort is being made to put them on the market, the result of which has been that cold storage eggs have dropped three cents a dozen. The pure food agent in Scranton writes that there are but 3,389 crates in cold storage there now, and the speculators, fearing a further drop, are getting rid of them as fast as possible, or as fast as the market will take them.

Payments Unprecedented.
Payments from the State Treasury have reached the unprecedented total of $35,444, 118.73 and the end of the fiscal year is not until the close of this month. Money has been going out of the Treasury faster than it has been coming in because of the tremendous appropriations made by the last Legislature and the current expenses of government.

At the end of the appropriation year, the first Monday of June, the payments made from the commencement of the fiscal year, which was the first of last December, aggregated $11,652,770.98. The payments since that time have been almost $24,000,000. The increase over the payments to today's corresponding day of the last fiscal year amounts to $2,566,859.31.

The payments for the month of November alone, amounts to $4,323,647.10. This is far ahead of those of last November and heavy requisitions will be made in December for cash for hospitals and various other objects.

Famine in Stogies.
A stogie famine has been raging in Harrisburg in the last few weeks and a lot of people are complaining. Of late there has been a remarkable increase in the amount of smoking of the cheroots, which have been more or less sacred to the western part of the State, but which have become popular in regions where the "twofer" used to hold forth. Stogie smokers, however, are more apt to be particular about brands than cigar or cigarette smokers and it has happened that three or four popular brands have run out. The makers have been unable to keep up with the demands and hence the wraith.

Bank Examiner Appointed.
Pierce Ferguson, assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Charleroi, of which Governor Tener has been president for several years, has been appointed a State bank examiner to succeed Willett C. Binns, of Charleroi, who resigned to enter the Farmers' Deposit Bank, of Pittsburgh.

Jacks for All Trolleys.
Preliminary steps to require trolley cars to be equipped with jacks for use in case of accidents were taken by the Public Service Commission. John P. Dohoney, investigator of accidents, called attention of the Commission to the fact that an act requiring this equipment had been vetoed because the Governor felt that the Commission had authority in such matters, and it is probable that on January 1, the Commission will issue a rule requiring such appliances on all trolley cars.

COMMERCIAL

Weekly Review of Trade and Market Reports.

Bradstreet's says:
"Current trade reports, winter wheat crop advices and consumption of steel products indicate good present conditions, but future buying is slow, conservatism is in evidence, finished steel is weaker as the result of increased competition for orders and industry is running at a slower gait, though the quieting down is not general and it is significant that numerous industries are being pushed to make deliveries. "Conservatism displayed is largely due to uncertainty over tariff readjustments, which it is thought may force lower prices. Another factor that exerts a strong deterring influence is the absence of a free market for loans. But in many quarters considerable improvement work is planned for the spring of 1914, and optimism still prevails. "Business failures for the week were 305, which compares with 260 in 1912."

"He don't pay no 'tention to questions," replied Farmer Cornstossel. "He's the man that knows what all the answers are, without botherin' 'bout the questions."

Poor Charities.
There are charity societies, as all the world knows, that only give to the poor a quarter or a half cent of every dollar they take in, most of their subscriptions going for salaries to officers and investigators, for expensive rentals, etc.
Richard March, the charity expert of Denver, Colo., was condemning these charities. He said:
"A man's wife shouted up to him the other day:
"Don't you think this blue overcoat with the strapped-in back is too new and fashionable, George, to give away?"
"It's the agent of the Alpha Incorporated Charities that's at the door, isn't it?"
"Yes, dear."
"Then let the coat go," said George. "It'll be old enough and old-fashioned enough before it gets to the poor dub that is shivering for it now."

FULLY NOURISHED Grape-Nuts a Perfectly Balanced Food.
No chemist's analysis of Grape-Nuts can begin to show the real value of the food—the practical value as shown by personal experience.
It is a food that is perfectly balanced, supplies the needed elements for both brain and body in all stages of life from the infant, through the strenuous times of active middle life, and is a comfort and support in old age.

"For two years I have used Grape-Nuts with milk and a little cream, for breakfast. I am comfortably hungry for my dinner at noon."
"I use little meat, plenty of vegetables and fruit, in season, for the noon meal, and if tired at tea time, take Grape-Nuts alone and feel perfectly nourished."
"Nerve and brain power and memory are much improved since using Grape-Nuts. I am over sixty and weigh 155 lbs. My son and husband seeing how I had improved are now using Grape-Nuts."
"My son, who is a traveling man, eats nothing for breakfast but Grape-Nuts and a glass of milk. An aunt, over 70, seems fully nourished on Grape-Nuts and cream." "There's a Reason."
