The Reporter's Choice for Governor.

As between A. Mitchell Palmer and Michael J. Ryan, the Centre Reporter selects as its choice for the Democratic candidate for Governor Congressman Palmer. The two men are not in the same class.

The Wabash Air Line Again.

A report is sent out from Pittsburg that the Wabash Air Line is to be built next summer. The road, surveyed several times, passes through the southern section of Penns Valley for entire length, touching State College, Boalsburg, Tusseyville, Centre Hill, through Georges Valley, over Paddy Mountain and eastward.

The Civic Club.

On the call of the pastors of the local churches for a meeting of citizens, on Monday night, about forty voters assembled in the town council chamber to discuss the matter of organizing a Civic club. The scope of the action of the ordinary Civic Club was spoken of by Rev. Jones, Dr. Schuyler and Rev. Barry, after Cyrus Brungart had been made temporary chairman. One or two others gave expression on the subject, when a motion prevailed that the ministers named and two others selected by them be a committee to draft a constitution, by-laws and declaration of purposes, and report the same at a time fixed by the committee.

Messrs. Cyrus Brungart and H. F. Bitner were selected as the two additional committeemen to draft the constitution.

LOCALS

Is the Centre Reporter in favor of Ryan for Governor? NO.

Robert Goodhart of Altoona is visiting his mother, Mrs. Mary Goodhart, in Centre Hall.

Former Sheriff W. E. Hurley purchased the Crawford hotel in Jersey Shore, and will conduct it beginning April 1st.

J. H. Weber has a special order for several tons of choice clover hay, and will pay the top price for it, as he advertises in this issue.

Next Wednesday is the day set for hearing the remainder of witnesses in license cases, and the arguments for and against the granting of the licenses.

You can have an opportunity to air your personal opinion on local public questions if you join the civic club. And the proceedings of the club will be open for criticism.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gregg have located in Altoona, where the former continues in the employment of the Bell telephone company. They formerly lived in Allentown.

"Under the Stars and Stripes," Garman's opera house, Friday and Saturday evening, and matinee Saturday afternoon. Proceeds for the benefit of Company L, 12th Regiment, N. G. P.

Charles M. Ross and landlady, Miss Potter, will make sale of their farm stock and implements on Wednesday, Friday 25th. Mr. Ross will move on to his father's farm, near Pine Grove Mills, and with his brother Earl Ross, will conduct farming operations there.

John D. Moore advertises sale for March 25, and will sell all his stock and implements. It was announced in these columns that he had leased the Goodling-Tomhave farm, which was true, but there was a misunderstanding between the owners of the place, and during the absence of one of them the other article with a Mr. Grove.

The Maynard Lectures.

The fourth number in the Centre Hall lecture course is a lecture by Dr. Newell C. Maynard, staff lecturer in eugenics of the National Society for Broader Education, on Monday evening, in Grange Arcadia. The subjects are: "Men and Women", "The Happy Child", "Those Who Win". The first subject will occupy the speaker's time.

This remarkable lecture while profoundly scientific in its fundamental concepts and strictly in accordance with the established rules of modern presentation is nevertheless as plain and simple in statement as they are charming in their rhetoric.

Professor Maynard realizes that his audiences are composed of men and women of eager receptiveness but as a rule without the technical preparation necessary to those who easily follow the professional presentation of uncommon subjects.

Therefore in his lectures, Professor Maynard casts aside the technical vocabulary. He offers profound truths and important theories in such language that he interests and wins all who hear him.

In the Maynard lectures there is a simplicity—we may almost say gentleness—that is most attractive and by which the speaker successfully appeals to men and women, whether educated or uneducated and whether listening through interest or gathered through curiosity.

General admission 20 cents; reserved seats, 25 cents; children, 10 cents.

Houtz Farm Sold.

Daniel Callihan, now tenant on the Henry Potter farm, purchased the Houtz farm above Linden Hall, containing some eighty acres. The price paid was about $3200. Mr. Callihan will occupy the place in a year from now.

Special Grange Meetings.

The Centre County Pomona Grange will hold two special meetings, the first at Spring Mills, Thursday, 5th instant, and the second at Pleasant Gap, Wednesday, 11th. There will be two sessions, afternoon and evening. These meetings are chiefly for the benefit of the local Granges where the meetings will be held, and Master Austin Dale, requests that there be a full attendance of all fourth degree members.

"The Tale of a Hat."

The above was the title of a musical comedy rendered in Grange Arcadia, Saturday evening, by a combination of Boalsburg young people representing the order of Knights of Malta. It was a clean-cut entertainment, devoid of everything rude and vulgar. The music was well rendered, and the acting was creditable to each of the participants. The night was an unfavorable one, yet the door receipts were almost forty dollars.

The young people who participated in the play were Misses Rose Woods, Margaretta Goheen, Marjorie Rothrock, Ruth Wieland, Rachel Rothrock, Mabel Meyers, Messrs. A. E. Gingerich, George Meyer, Wm. Tressler, John Close.

Why Don't You?

A farmer who was carrying an express package from a city mail order house, was accosted by a local merchant: "Why didn't you buy that bill of goods from me? I could have saved you the express and besides you would have been patronizing a home store, which helps pay the taxes and build up this locality. With characteristic frankness, the farmer asked: "Why don't you patronize your home paper and advertise? I read it and didn't know you had the goods I have here, nor do I ever see your name in the paper inviting me to come to your store. The house I bought from appealed to me for my trade through an advertisement."

K. G. E. Grand Chief Visits Lodge.

Ira B. Bixler of Harrisburg, Grand Chief K. G. E. of Pennsylvania, paid Centre Hall Castle, No. 365, an official visit Friday night of last week. The Grand Chief was highly pleased with the condition of the local lodge, which has grown in membership and influence, and has a most desirable home.

Visiting members were these: D. Gettig, District Grand Commander; W. H. Ott, Thomas Hazel, H. A. Rossman, D. A. Barlette, Elmer C. Long, Robert H. Woodring, H. W. Raymond, C. D. Young, H. D. Gehret, J. C. Johnston, Jesse Derstina. After the business for the evening was transacted, refreshments were served to the seventy-one persons present.

RYAN'S CANDIDACY

Has All the Ear-Marks of a Bi-Partisan Scheme to Embarrass Democratic Party.

The announcement of Michael J. Ryan, City Solicitor of Philadelphia, that he is a candidate for the Democrat nomination for Governor of Pennsylvania, with its attendant and preceding circumstances bears all the ear-marks of a Penrose bi-partisan scheme to weaken and embarrass the Democratic party in the State.

Mr. Ryan's candidacy it must not be forgotten was first announced some weeks ago by Eugene C. Bonniwell in a published statement in which he viciously attacked the party organization and its leaders.

All of Mr. Ryan's support, so far as it has developed, is confined to the old gang who put forth all their efforts to prevent the reorganization of the State Committee and the redemption of the party.

The sincere Democrats of Pennsylvania want harmony in the party and the enthusiastic support of its candidates and its policies by every man who believes in Democratic principles. But harmony will never be secured by a surrender to or compromise with the Penrose bi-partisan gang, which all the evidence shows is behind the candidacy of Michael J. Ryan.

The man who is to lead the Democratic party in its fight for the redemption of the State from the control of the Penrose machine must be a man absolutely above suspicion of any dealings, past or present, or affiliations with the bi-partisan machine, which the Democrats of Pennsylvania have overwhelmingly repudiated at the polls.

DEATHS.

Owen Gusewite, a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gusewite, of near Woodward, died after but a few days illness of acute peritonitis, aged nine years and six months.

J. Howard Lingle died at DuBois Wednesday of last week. He was stricken with paralysis while in his foundry. He was sixty-four years old. Mr. Lingle had been a resident of Bellefonte for thirty years, and the body was shipped there for interment.

Henry Seltzer died at Womelsdorf, this state, a few days ago, aged seventy-nine years. Many years ago he lived on the William Rishel farm, now occupied by John L. Runkle, at Tusseyville and from there he went to Illinois, locating in Will county. He was a farmer, and became wealthy. His first wife died some years ago, but he since married a Pennsylvania woman, and located at Womelsdorf. He is survived by four sons—Leonard and William, Joliet, Illinois; Albert and George of Coeto, Oklahoma, and a daughter, Mrs. Godell of Warren, Minnesota. Edward Mersinger of Centre Hill is a nephew.

William Yearick died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Samuel Gettig, in Madisonburg, on Friday, at the age of eighty-one years and one day. Interment was made on Monday in Madisonburg.

Mr. Yearick had lived near Madisonburg for many years, and engaged in farming. A few years ago he moved to Salona, where his second wife died. He retained his home at Salona, and had come to his sister's place on a visit when death overtook him. The only survivors are these brothers and sisters: Benjamin, Israel and Mrs. John Guiser, Nittany; Jared, Nebraska, and Mrs. Gettig, named above.

At the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Pierce, 425 East Sixth avenue, Altoona, Mrs. Matilda Musser, died Tuesday evening of last week, following an illness caused by dropsy and heart trouble of which she had been a sufferer for some time.

Mrs. Musser was the daughter of Samuel H. and Catherine Stover, both deceased of Aaronburg, where she was born August 7, 1834. On February 15, 1864, she was united in marriage to Jonathan Musser, at Rock Springs, who preceded her to the grave twenty-two years ago. The deceased woman was the mother of these children: Mrs. Alice Weaver, S. J. Musser, F. S., G. H., Mrs. Myra Krebs, Mrs. Carrie Fortney, Mrs. Cora L. Pierce, all of Altoona, L. N. Musser of Kansas City, Missouri; R. C. of Pittsburg; Mrs. Mary G. Detwiler of Verona, and J. E., deceased. Three sisters also survive—Mrs. George Kepp of Boalsburg; Mrs. Henry Gingerich of Linden Hall; and Mrs. J. J. Garbrick of Bellefonte. One brother, Frank B. Stover, died two months ago at his home in Altoona.

Mrs. Musser was a faithful and consistent member of Christ Second Lutheran church of Altoona, and was a loving and affectionate mother, who will be sadly missed by her children and a host of friends.

Dr. Platt, a man with a message, lectured in the Reedsville opera house on Saturday evening. Dr. Platt will be recalled with pleasure by those who heard him in Centre Hall a few years ago.

MONTGOMERY & CO.

Bellefonte, Pa.

This imposing array of inferior and worn-out machines were taken in trades for cream saving De Lvals in a period of a little over two months by D. W. Bradford, De Laval Agent at Centre Hall, Pa.

These thirty-eight machines were all traded in on account of new De Lvals by Mr. Bradford and his bustling wife in the space of only a few months.

A. W. Fletcher, the De Laval superintendent with headquarters at Bedford, Pa., who sent the photograph says, that the reason why Mr. Bradford makes so many "trades" is because he himself is thoroughly convinced that the De Laval will skim a good deal closer and do much better work than any other machine on the market, and when he finds the user of a competing machine who has any doubt that a De Laval machine would give him better service and more cream, Mr. Bradford never hesitates to put in a De Laval machine alongside of the competing machine and demonstrate the advantage of "trading" for the De Laval.

This serves to demonstrate the truth of the assertion we have so often made that the De Laval machine itself is its own best salesman, and in many cases will sell itself if the agent gives it half a chance.
