

DEATHS.

J. Calvin Morris, an instructor in the Reformatory at Huntingdon for a number of years, died in Huntingdon on Sunday, aged a few months over sixty years, he having been born September 11th, 1854. The body was sent to his former home in Rebersburg, from which place the funeral was held on Wednesday forenoon Rev. J. L. Metzger, pastor of the Lutheran church, being the officiating minister.

Mr Morris was a school teacher by profession before becoming an instructor in the Reformatory named. His wife whose maiden name was Miss Clara I. Wolf, died last September. There survive three children: Harry W., principal of the Bellevue High School, near Pittsburg; Robert Bruce, an instructor in physics in the Southern Manual Training School, Philadelphia; and Mrs. Sarah L. Myers, Spring Mills. There also survive these brothers and sisters: T. O., Gallon, Ohio; Mrs. Dr. Deschler, Glidden, Iowa; Mrs. Rose McCullough, Freeport, Illinois; Mrs. Thomas J. Shaffer, Dakota, Illinois; Mrs. Frank Kyler, Munson Station; Mrs. William N. Emerick, Punxsutawney.

Mrs. Eliza Houser, widow of Jacob Houser, died at Houserville where she lived for many years, on Thursday of last week. She was aged ninety-four years, and was born at Oak Hall Station. Her maiden name was Murray, having been a sister of the late J. D. Murray of Centre Hall, deceased. There survives her one son, Dr. M. L. Houser, Baileyville; and Mrs. Herbert Allman, a daughter, at Houserville. Two brothers also survive, namely, John E. Murray, Leont, and Hon. W. A. Murray, Boalsburg.

Mrs. C. N. Dubs Dies in China. A cablegram from Shanghai, China, announced the death of Mrs. Dubs, wife of Dr. C. Newton Dubs, head of the United Evangelical mission work in China, following an operation in a hospital there. Doctor Dubs is a son of Bishop Rudolph Dubs of Harrisburg.

LOCALS

Wire fencing—Weber. Mercury was down to zero on Sunday night.

No applications for liquor licenses have been filed in Millin county.

Mr. and Mrs. John Q. A. Kennedy have been ill for several weeks.

A Frances Willard social will be held in the W. C. T. U. room next Tuesday evening.

The Y. P. B. will meet Thursday evening, and the W. C. T. U. on Saturday afternoon.

Luther Musser, teacher of the Plum Grove school in Potter township, resigned his position on Monday.

After a month's delay the borough council organized on Friday night of last week. The writer was out of town that night and consequently was unable to attend the meeting to report the proceedings.

The charred body of George Smolka was found in the debris of the Budinger store, at Snow Shoe, when the burned embers were cleaned up. The man, who that night was intoxicated, in some manner must have gotten into the store building before it was on fire.

Messrs. Andrew Crotzer and D. K. Byler, both farmers in the vicinity of Belleville, were in the valley in search of blooded stock. They looked over the Shook stock of Guernseys, and were very much pleased with them, but the Shooks were short of bulls, and that is what they were after.

Owing to the very favorable comment on the entertainment given in Grange Arcadia last Thursday evening by the young people of the M. E. church they have decided to repeat it this Saturday night in Noll's Hall, Pleasant Gap. The entertainment is first class in every respect, and is worthy of the support of the people in general. Arrangements are on foot to also repeat this same entertainment in Millheim within the next ten days.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Edward E. Bailey returned from Seymour, Indiana, and will divide the time between the home of her parents at Tusseyville and that of the writer in Centre Hall until she and her husband set up housekeeping. The weather conditions in southern Indiana have been ideal, the whole of January having been like pleasant April days here, the ground having frozen but once or twice during her stay there.

The Browns came to town on Friday, but Saturday were taken into custody by the constable, and later claimed by their parents. It was Jimmie and Mark Brown, two South Brown street lads from Lewistown, who tired of the monotonous home life and decided to see the world, or at least more of it than grows at Lewistown. Four dollars in cash, and all the clothing they could put on their backs equipped them for their experience. The lads were thirteen and fourteen years old, respectively.

LOCALS.

A car load of Page woven wire fencing has just been received by J. H. Weber, Centre Hall.

It may come some day that we will all go to Tusseyville or Centre Hill to take the train west or east.

Miss Eva Moyer of Rebersburg was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Meyer in Centre Hall for a few days.

Mrs. W. E. Burkholder was taken to the Bellefonte hospital, one day last week, suffering from an attack of typhoid fever.

P. A. Lester purchased the John D. Lingle property, located near the Wagner farm also purchased by him recently, for $1600.

Prof. C. R. Neff of Centre Hall, assisted by Mrs. Julia Shuey, installed the officers of Victor Grange, at Oak Hall Station, on Saturday.

W. A. Ferree, the Oak Hall Station dealer in produce, etc., was a caller at this office on Monday. He does quite an extensive business in his line.

Messrs. F. M. Fisher and Emanuel Shook, representative citizens of Gregg township, were in Centre Hall on Tuesday, and favored the Reporter with their presence.

E. C. Wagner advertises his farm of eighty-five acres for sale. It is located three miles south of Centre Hall, and the land is in very good condition. See the adv.

John Bubb of near Red Mill is confined to bed with pneumonia. John Campbell and Frank and Harry Harshbarger son of H. K. Harshbarger of Sprucetown, are also ill.

Cleveland Brungart, the Krit man on Tuesday made a trip to Snow Shoe. He has a string of prospective buyers on hand, and as soon as the weather opens up he hopes to make a few sales.

Henry Lingle was one of the Reporter's callers on Thursday of last week. He is tenant on the Brockerhoff farm, east of Old Fort, and likes it well enough to stay another year from April 1st.

Mark L. Swab, a deputy to William M. Lloyd, treasurer of Northumberland county, was convicted of aiding the treasurer in defaulting in the sum of $19,500. Loyd was convicted last September.

L. A. Schaffer, representing the White Rock people, was in Centre Hall Thursday of last week and interviewed farmers on the lime question. The White Rock lime is of a superior quality, and it is the one thing needed on most soils in Penna. Valley.

A new steel fire escape was erected in the rear of the National hotel in Millheim. The wooden stairway was condemned by the state authorities recently, and Mr. Shawyer, in order to comply with the law, tore it away and replaced it with one of steel.

Miss May Pooler, the Madera (Clearfield county) school teacher, who was recently so brutally assaulted by John Wilkinson for keeping his boy in beyond school hours as a reprimand for swearing, has entered a civil suit against Wilkinson demanding $1,000 for injuries received growing out of the attack.

Don't worry about the cash you sent the Reporter for subscription. It got here all right, and credits have been given on the subscription blanks, but to date we have been too much overcrowded to use the Pink Label. Boxed His Royal Ears. The present kaiser in his youth was a frequent visitor at the country home of Sir Hugh and Lady Macdonell. "He was then," writes Lady Macdonell in "Reminiscences of a Diplomat's Life," "a fine young man with a strong sense of fun and fond of teasing."

"He liked our English teas and afterward used to claim me for a game of drafts. In the salon there was a big window with a deep seat that he especially favored. To this a small table was drawn up, and fine battles ensued over the board.

"I shall never forget one occasion when he accused me of cheating. He was so apparently serious that I became infuriated, and, unmindful of his high estate or my duty as hostess, I impulsively leaned across the table and boxed his ears. His sense of humor and the satisfaction of having been so successful in working upon my feelings saved the situation. I received full punishment later, for ever afterward when he met me he used to cry, 'I know a lady who cheats at drafts!'"

Without "padding." The teacher of the class in English, says the Detroit Free Press, demanded that the pupils all write for their daily exercise a brief account of a baseball game.

One boy sat through the period seemingly wrapped in thought, while the others worked hard and turned in their narratives. After school the teacher approached the desk of the laggard.

"I'll give you five minutes to write that description," he sternly said. "If it is not done by that time I shall punish you."

House of Retired Wives.

One of the most interesting houses we saw in Algiers was the "House of the Retired Wives."

It stands directly opposite the Catholic cathedral, which was once the palace of the bey; and the House of the Retired Wives is now occupied by the archbishop.

When the bey was supreme in Algiers, before the intervention of France, the palace contained several hundred wives. And as new ones were frequently added, old ones had to be retired. So as a wife became superfluous or undesired, for any reason, she was sent across the street, where she had much more freedom than in the bey's palace; for there she was supposed to keep to her own apartments and not wander about at will. In the House of the Retired Wives she could move about at will.

She left all jewels and valuable presents which the bey had bestowed upon her in the palace for her successors, but she was fed and clothed until she died in her new home.—National Magazine.

Whirlpool Suggested Silencer.

Mr. Maxim had been working on the development of automobile engine mufflers for some time before he thought of a silencer in connection with a gun. In addition to this was the inventor's desire to enjoy target practice without creating a disturbance. Experiment ensued, covering a couple of years and all kinds of valves, vents, bypasses, expansion chambers, etc., but without success. One morning after his bath the inventor noticed the small whirlpool over the drain hole, the action of which retards the egress of the water. It does not silence it (as this phenomenon is usually accompanied by a more or less pronounced sucking sound, but in a gun the noise of firing is caused by the sudden egress of the gases, and if these could in the same way be slowed down the noise would in proportion be decreased. Acting on this suggestion, a little tube was then made, constructed so as to induce a whirlpool in the escaping gases from the gun. This, when tried, was a success.—American Machinist.

An Unworthy Peer.

In "The Memoirs of William Hickey, 1749 to 1775," we read that Lord Littleton was a professed gambler and "the meanest wretch in existence." "I was attending an appeal in the house of lords," says the author, "when Lord Littleton, passing through the lobby, said to the head doorkeeper, 'Can you lend me a cambric handkerchief? My rascal has neglected to put one in my pocket.' The man abruptly refused and added, in the strong language of the day, 'I'll be — if your lordship shall rob me of any more; you have had two already.' Another time Lord Littleton grossly abused his coachman for being ten minutes late with the carriage. 'You scoundrel,' said he, after a volley of oaths, 'did I not order you to be at the Savoir Vivre a quarter before 7? Yes, my lord,' said the man, 'and I was not ten minutes after the time.' 'Blank — blank — blank — blank, you rascal. In those ten minutes I lost 2,000 guineas!'"

A Fine Flow of Speech.

A native lawyer was defending a lady client in one of the Madras courts. The lady was accused of assault, but the man of law endeavored to show that she herself had been assaulted and had suffered damage on the most conspicuous feature of her countenance.

"My learned friend," he said, "with mere wind from a teapot thinks to browbeat me from my legs. He runs amuck upon the sheet anchors of my case. My poor client has been deprived of some of her valuable leather (skin), the leather of her nose. Until we are told what became of my client's leather nose the witness cannot be believed. He cannot be allowed to raise a castle in the air by beating upon a bush."—London Mail.

Highbrows.

Will Irwin, the magazine writer, is credited with the invention of the word "highbrow." It was coined to express a blend of "snob" and "academic." He first used it when, as a reporter, he had occasion to describe the proceedings of societies who talked about the betterment of the drama. He thinks that the word will be assimilated by the dictionaries.

Cheerful.

Professor of Chemistry—If anything should go wrong in this experiment, which is a particularly dangerous one, we and the laboratory with us might be blown sky high. Come closer, gentlemen, so that you may be better able to follow me without difficulty.—London Telegraph.

Bad Oversight.

"Why those pants?" "Look at this press notice!" stormed the actress. "The critic speaks highly of your gowns." "And never mentions my gowns."—Washington Herald.

Two Ways.

"Be mine" is the proper form when proposing to a girl because you love her. "Be my mine" is all right if she's rich, but stir the pronoun carefully.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Wifely Cheer.

"I haven't a pull with any one," said the unsuccessful man. "Oh, yes, you have, dear," said his wife encouragingly. "with the fool kitchen."—Life.
