ASSEMBLE IN PASTOR'S HONOR.

Birthday Anniversary of Rev. Jones Made an Eventful Occasion.

On Friday evening March 13, the members of Trinity Reformed church of Centre Hall, planned a pleasant surprise for their pastor, Rev. R R Jones. The occasion was the minister's birthday anniversary. Rev. Jones was kept in complete ignorance than twice the number of deaths of the designs of his members. He The number of births in a month was invited to the house of Elder frequently gets close to twice the Hosterman during the early part of number of deaths and occasionally the evening; later he participated in will be 100 per cent more, or slightly the deliberations of the lecture com- better; but it is seldom that it goes so mittee. friends and well wishers were gathered together in the Sunday school room when Rev. Jones was called by telephone to come to the church. When he asked what was wanted he was told that members of his consistory were at the church and that they wished to see him. His surprise, as he entered the well filled room, can be imagined but not described. The entire audience arose as he entered. Before he was able to entirely get his bearings one of the officers of the congregation explained to him the meaning of the assemblage. He was told that his people were there to help him celebrate the anniversary of his birthday; that in grateful recognition of a kind Providence that had spared his life and had blessed his work among them, they had assembled to spend the evening in social pleasure, in congratulationto him for the love and reverence in which he is held by all the members of the congregation and to warm themselves in the sunebine of each other's friendship. The minister responded feelingly and joyously. He thanked them for this expression of their af fection and esteem and expressed the wish that he might be able to celebrate many more such birthday anniversaries. The entire audience then joined in singing the hymn " Blest be ) the tie that binds our hearts in Chris- for sale brings top-notch prices. tian love." While the meeting was in no sense a donation more than one little present found its way to the beloved pastor and the ladies who arranged for the estables were prevailed upon by some who had nothing else to give, to ac cept money. With this money s handsome rug was purchased and it now adorns the pastor's study. A delightful time, a most pleasant ce casion, a grand success, were some of the expressions heard on all sides as the evening closed.
