LOCALS.

First aid to the injured, according to the Provisionist, is lemonade.

W. L. Mallin, the insurance man, was in town the middle of last week.

Mrs. Lizzie Jacobs and son Guy Jacobs visited Mrs. John Stuart at State College.

E. M. Huyett was to Rebersburg Monday to engage a sawyer to fill a temporary vacancy at the Waddle mill.

"Hard Luck Cohen" isn't in it with Rzinski; see Mr. Springer in the role of a Jewish button-hole-maker out on a strike.

James Smith, the musical instrument dealer of Williamsport, visited his mother, Mrs. Margaret Smith, in Centre Hall.

Mrs. Walters was taken to the Bellefonte Hospital on Saturday. She is suffering from the effects of a broken limb, and for some weeks has been in a helpless condition.

Joseph Ryler, a young Amish farmer in Big Valley, got his hand in a fodder shredder, and but for the aid of a fellow workman who grasped him, death would have been almost certain. The arm was amputated just below the elbow.

W. O. Breen, who for a number of years made his home with A. F. Heckman at Tusseyville until the beginning of this month at which time he went to Stockton, Illinois, to engage on a farm, became a subscriber to the Reporter.

Union county added another mark to its good record for morals and litigation when the regular March term of court was called off owing to lack of business, and the grand and traverse jurors drawn were ordered not to appear when the court learned that the trivial matters to come up would be at a tremendous expense to the taxpayers.

W. Harry Potter came from Edmonds, Washington, beginning of this week, having been summoned home on account of the illness of his mother, Mrs. J. T. Potter in Centre Hall. Mr. Potter is engaged with a lumber company doing an extensive business, and holds a responsible position with them. He paid his parents a visit the early part of last summer.

THE LECTURE COURSE.

St. Patrick's Day Party.

Miss Helen Luse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Luse, entertained a number of her friends on the evening of St. Patrick's Day. The wearing of the green was popular. A most delightful time was realized by those present, whose names follow: Misses Hazel Emery, Verna Rowe, Laura Mitterling, Helen Luse, Ruth Smith, Nina Slick, Messrs. William Reish, William Bradford, James Lingie, Carl Autman, Ray Duret, Henry Mitterling, Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Autman, Mrs. Milford Luse and daughter Margaret.

Linden Hall

Mrs. William Reitz has been visiting her cousin Mrs. Wallace White. Mrs. John Diehl was taken quite seriously ill Monday night, but is now improving.

Charles Coble moved to Spruce-town Monday where he will be employed on a farm.

Charles Weaver of Lock Haven spent a few days recently with friends in this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ross spent Sunday at Spring Mills, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Long.

Miss Mable Wolfe of Woodward spent some time last week with her aunt Mrs. J. W. Keller.

John Reifender moved last week into the house occupied by Leonard Wilson and his mother.

A jolly sled load of people from this place were entertained last Tuesday evening at the home of George Ralston.

Francis Blizer came up from Selinsgrove to attend the funeral of Fergus Potter and will remain until after the sale.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormick of Sunbury and Harry Osman, wife and daughter of Harrisburg visited at the James Osman home last week.

John Dunn and family arrived here on Tuesday from Gloucester City, New Jersey, and will occupy the house vacated by the Reifenders.

Mrs. J. H. Ross returned last week from Altoona, where she had been for some time with her daughter, Miss Ruth, who is recovering from an operation performed in the Altoona hospital.

Fred Rockey of Zion spent a few days last week with his cousin Ralph Rockey, Saturday evening, while on their way to State College, the single-tree broke and their horse ran away, wrecking the sleigh. The young men escaped with a few bruises.

On Saturday night a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry McClenahan, west of Centre Hall.

Mrs. Lydia (Strohm) Musser, one of Millheim's oldest citizens, a few days ago celebrated her eighty-eighth birthday.

We have had continuous sledding since Christmas, but the road conditions for most of the time were such that sledding was not much of a pleasure.

Sheriff A. B. Lee, Foster W. Frazier, Elmer U. Hettlinger, George Bright, and William M. Lucas assembled in the Reporter office on Tuesday forenoon and organized Branch Company No. 15, of The Patrons Rural Telephone Company. The line will extend from Spring Mills Bell exchange to the farm of Elmer Hettlinger. In addition to the gentlemen named above the line will extend to the farms of John G. Dauberman and William M. Grog, and possibly to others.

Harris Township.

Albert Meyer of Pittsburg is visiting his parents.

Misses Amanda Mothersbaugh and Kathryn Spangler of Lemont spent Thursday at Boalsburg.

Prof. H. C. Rothrock was home for his share of the "Royal Feast" on Friday evening.

C. D. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Garner of State College attended the Malta banquet.

Mr. Austin, one of the Y. M. C. A. workers at State College, spent Wednesday evening at Boalsburg.

Mrs. N. W. Meyer with her little daughter Rosella are spending this week with relatives at Aaronburg.

G. W. Garberic of Boalsburg, who has been a patient at the Bellefonte hospital for two weeks, is reported as doing well.

Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. Pringle of Port Matilda attended the banquet on Friday evening.

W. A. Murray, Jacob Meyer and William Goheen of Boalsburg attended the funeral of Fergus Potter on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Tressler of State College spent a short time of Friday afternoon calling on relatives at Boalsburg.

Our supervisors are out every day with a band of workmen shoveling snow in order to make the roads safe for traveling.

R. B. Harrison and Miss Leona Wieland are spending this week in Philadelphia purchasing goods for the store, and also a full line of millinery goods.

Miss Gertrude Kelchline of Pine Grove Mills attended the banquet on Friday evening, and spent Saturday with relatives at Boalsburg.

We are having bright days now; the snow is disappearing. The housewives who believe in signs sowed their tomato seed on St. Patrick's Day, and they think those who failed doing this are behind the times.

A number of the best looking men and women of Boalsburg surprised Mr. and Mrs. James Poorman Thursday evening of last week, when Mrs. Poorman passed another milestone in her journey through life. "Farmer Cressy," with a coffee pot in each hand, took the lead and was followed by the others with baskets and boxes filled with good things to eat. Many best wishes were expressed, and tokens of friendship given.

The banquet given by the Knights of Malta on Friday evening was the most joyous event of the season. The guests numbered one hundred and seventy-five. The members of the order did their utmost to make the evening one of pleasure for the invited guests, and the visitors in turn expressed their appreciation of it in appropriate impromptu speeches. Choice refreshments were served in abundance. Much credit is due to the ladies who assisted in preparing and serving them.

Again the older gentlemen of Boalsburg were honored by being invited to a dinner where chicken and waffles were served. The occasion was the birthday of John Stover, who was seventy-five years old on that day, Thursday, March 12th. Mr. Stover makes his home with his son, W. H. Stover, who with his wife entertained the company. Those present are named below, and the figures following represent their ages in years:

John Stover, 75; Cyrus Duret, 86; J. H. Meyer, 84; Alexander Kuhn, 79; Joseph Hettlinger, 77; Adam Felty, 77; John Hook, 76; W. A. Murray, 75; James Poorman, 67; John Rupp, 65; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stover, Samuel Stover and family, Mrs. Grant Charles and son Eugene, Mrs. Huston Sluys and son John.

Supplement Enclosed.

This issue contains a supplement—the Centre county auditor's statement of the finances of Centre county. The statement should be carefully read by every taxpayer.
