

Titta Ruffo's Important Views. A piece of baked macaroni trying to stand upright. This is the definition of the modern American woman given to a Denver newspaper reporter by Titta Ruffo of the Chicago Grand Opera company.

"It sees like a piece of cooked macaroni making effort to stand upright," he said with an air of disgust. "In Eet-aly the women are beeg. Only beeg women are beautiful.

"The American woman is very chic and it is good for her to be a suffragette. It is nice for woman to rule man in America. In Eet-aly it is not so nice."

Of Course. "I want ten pounds of coffee." "In the bean?" "No!" "Then you'd better go down to the ground floor."

SERVICES BEYOND ALL PRICE Country Owes Much to Men Who Safeguarded the Vast Commerce of the Nation.

A lightship must keep always in one particular place. Anchored to the bottom of the sea, she has her steam always up, but she never sails unless relieved by another ship so that she may put into port for repairs. And such a boat is used because a warning must be given at a place where it is impossible to build a light-house, and where even the clamor of a gigantic bell buoy is not sufficient to warn the navigator. No matter how fiercely the storm beats or how desperate may be the boat's plight, she must stay at her moorings. The only movement she is allowed to make under the regulations is to sink when at last she can withstand the gale no longer. It would bring them deserved recognition if the government ever published a list of those who have lost their lives in the line of such perilous duty. For about $5,000,000 a year these men and their craft save from disaster the billions of dollars worth of shipping and commerce that come to American shores.—The Popular Magazine.

Plea for the Hen. I should like to see the hen on a plane, at least, with the turkey and the goose. She is their superior in every way except that of size, and yet they have long held the place of honor on the Christmas and the Thanksgiving dinner table, and they have had reams and reams of poetry written about them. But the hen, that most important of all feathered creatures, who writes poetry about her? Who even takes the trouble to know anything about her early history in America? Who owned the first hen; when and where did she land upon our shores? Why not make amends for our long years of neglect by making her the center of the feast on the Fourth of July? Hereafter let it be our Thanksgiving turkey, our Christmas goose, and our Fourth of July hen.—Atlantic.

Research. Mary, aged five, was watching her mother dust the Encyclopaedia Britannica when it stood a long phalanx of volumes on the bottom shelf of the bookcase. "What," she asked, "is an encyclopaedia?" "An encyclopaedia," replied the mother, "is a lot of books that tell you about everything you want to know." The next day Mary, whose recent studies at Sunday school had dealt with the Creation, was discovered seated upon the floor turning over the leaves of that volume of the encyclopaedia which bears the superscription Edw.—Eva.

PAINFUL ECZEMA ON HANDS. Bienville, La.—"I was troubled with eczema in my hands for several years. The skin would break and look like it had been cut with a knife and my hands were so sore I could hardly bear to put them in water and could hardly use them. When I used them the blood would run out. They would heal a little and then they would get worse than ever again. They were very painful. The eczema got to breaking out on my arms in pimples which itched and burned very badly. I used different remedies, also used all kinds of facial creams and ointments on my hands and arms and I did not get any relief until I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I cured my hands and eczema with Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Miss Fannie Mostiller, Oct. 5, 1912. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. AMERICANS TAKE ALL VERA CRUZ

PARTS OF CITY SHELLED

Bluejackets, Under Terrific Fire From Roofs, Scatter, Reform and Advance, With Five and Six Inch Shells As Protection.

Washington.—Fifteen Americans have been killed and seventy-five wounded in the occupation of Vera Cruz. This was announced in a dispatch from Rear-Admiral Badger made public by the Navy Department.

Vera Cruz.—Twelve Americans killed and about fifty wounded marked the complete investment of Vera Cruz by the United States forces.

Partial occupation had been found unsatisfactory in that it gave snipers an opportunity to take up positions beyond the zone held by marines and bluejackets and menace them with rifle fire.

The number of Mexicans killed is estimated at 150, with many wounded. The Mexican loss Wednesday is not known, but is thought to be heavy.

At no stage was there much organized resistance, practically all of the army having withdrawn fifteen or twenty miles into the interior, and the only resistance encountered was that of armed civilians intent on showing their hatred for the Americans, reinforced by some soldiers and policemen.

After more or less desultory shooting by Mexicans from housetops and other points of vantage Rear-Admiral Fletcher, at 8:30 in the morning, ordered a general movement for the occupation of all the town. A column of bluejackets advanced and passed the uncompleted market place and naval college.

When they had reached the walls of the college a terrific rifle fire was poured in all directions from the roof and the windows. The bluejackets were helpless to return the fire against the stone walls and scattered.

Walls Shattered With Shell. The Prairie, Chester and San Francisco opened with their five and six-inch guns and shattered the walls. The bluejackets re-formed and advanced against the fire, which had diminished greatly.

By 10 o'clock there was only desultory firing from the inshore side of the tower. Battalions of bluejackets had made their way along the town front to the southern end of the town and cleared several streets, but the sniping from houses continued at intervals.

The scout cruiser Chester pounded buildings on the outskirts with six-inch shells, firing over the heads of the men ashore and showing almost perfect marksmanship.

Shells Supplement Machine Guns. The two forces swung forward with a rush for a distance of three blocks. The machine gun and rifle fire was supplemented by shell fire from the smaller guns of the Prairie and Chester. The ships' guns supported the movement of clearing the roofs to the south and east, occasionally dropping a shell a few hundred yards in advance.

Buchanan's men, under direct command of Lieut. Guy W. O. Castle, moved forward to a position one block directly east of the Plaza. Other detachments occupied positions to the north and west. Both marines and bluejackets dragged light field pieces, but there was little work for them.

There was absolutely no organized resistance, but from the very beginning of the advance a smart fire came from the defenders on the housetops, which invariably drew a merciless fire from the advancing parties.

Opposition Gradually Ceases. Opposition to the occupation of the American forces ceased by degrees. Urged by Rear-Admiral Fletcher, the city began returning to its normal civil government under its own local officials.

MILITIA BILL AGREED UPON. Conference Committee To Report Vol. Army Measure.

Washington, D. C.—The so-called Volunteer bill, designed to put the volunteer forces of the United States in war time on a systematic basis, was agreed to by the Senate and House conferees. As it will be reported to both houses, the measure contains a provision giving priority to militia or organizations which express through three-fourths of their minimum enlisted strength a desire for volunteer service.

BOTH HOUSES WITH WILSON. Senate Joins in Upholding the President After Debate.

Washington, D. C.—The Senate Wednesday morning by a vote of 72 to 13, passed the administration resolution declaring that "the President is justified in the employment of the armed forces of the United States to enforce his demands for unequivocal amends for the affronts and indignities committed against the United States" in Mexico.

Animal Idiosyncracies. Many are the idiosyncracies of animals. Some horses are afraid of a dog, some of a bit of paper, some of a bear, some of a car. I have known two mules to shy at a big yellow cucumber on a fence, and a cow we formerly owned could not endure to see any man's hat removed.

The oldest trick recorded of a riding animal is that of Balaam's ass, who tried to crush his rider's foot against the wall. Biting, pawing and bolting are also described in the Scriptures. A balky team figures in Esop and Chaucer. That the horses of the Saracens used to shy is shown by the traditional inquiry, "If they thought King Richard was in that bush?" This same balking, or jibbing, in all its varieties is one of the most aggravating of vices.—From "A Farmer's Note Book," by C. E. Phelps.

Some Comfort. Friend—Eggs coming down. Actor—I don't care what they do, so long as they don't come across.
