

ELIMINATING HIGHWAY SIGNS.

The Act of 1903 to be Vigorously Enforced—Same Prohibits the Placing of Advertisements Along Any Highway.

Hail to the spirit of latter day conservation of the beauties of nature. It is permeating every nook and corner of the government as well as the public life generally.

The mere passage of this law eleven years ago brought about a slight reform in this respect, but as there was no effort made to restrict the practice, there has been but little diminution in the number of signs which disfigure the side of the roadways of the state in all portions thereof.

Commissioner Bigelow will rigidly enforce this law, together with another similar in character, providing a penalty where like advertisements are posted on private property without the consent of the owner, both of which are made a part of the notices he is just sending out.

LARGE REAL ESTATE DEAL.

The Andrew Lytle Farm at State College to be Sold as Building Lots by Leathers Bros.

Leathers Brothers, the well known real estate men of Howard, conducted one of their famous lot sales at State College in 1908, which was a great success, and brought more people into State College in one day than any day before or since.

At the present time the engineers are at work plotting and putting this attractive piece of property in selling condition. This property is located in the section where the last survey was made by the railroad company, and there are reasons to believe that there must be something officially done in this direction, as this firm has had this property under option for some time.

The property which they sold in 1909 is practically all built up, and is the most attractive part of State College. It has not been learned if the company will run a free train as they did before, but they no doubt will.

At the last sale conducted by this firm in State College, they gave away a free lot, which no doubt a great many of the readers will recall. Miss Irene McKinley, who was employed at the Shirt Factory in Bellefonte was the fortunate one to win the lot.

Harris Township.

John Patterson is the new clerk at W. H. Stuart's store. The electric light wires were put up during the past week. Miss Ida Segner is spending this month with relatives at Milton.

J. H. Weber of Centre Hall spent an afternoon at Boalsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Keller of Pleasant Gap and Misses Amanda Motherbaugh and Katharine Spangler of Lemont visited at Boalsburg last week.

Mrs. Fuzanna Ishler and daughter, Miss Della, Mr. and Mrs. Eimer Ishler, Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Ishler, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ishler were relatives who attended the funeral of Edward Ishler at State College on Saturday.

The annual meeting of the joint consistory of the Boalsburg Reformed church was held on Saturday. The yearly settlement was made, and Elder Newton Dribbellies of the Pine Hill congregation was the delegate elected to accompany the pastor, Rev. S. C. Stover, to Classis.

An old land mark in Boalsburg, the Weber property, will undergo extensive repairs this summer. It was in 1955 that Jacob Weber moved from Lebanon to Boalsburg, purchasing as his home and work shop the Weber property, then consisting of a frame dwelling house and cabinet-making shop.

Mr. Weber was himself a cabinet-maker, and made all the furniture he sold, and also made the caskets and coffins used in that period. On the retirement of the elder Weber, his sons, Peter M. and Fred W., in succession succeeded him in the same business. During the latter years the cabinet-making shop was not in use, and the present owner, Samuel E. Weber, will repair, move the dwelling house a short distance from the corner, and build an addition to it. When completed the home will be equipped with all the modern conveniences.

In Thomas A. Edison's shops at West Orange, N. J., placards have been tacked up for the notice of 6700 employees, with this inscription: 'Cigarettes not tolerated; they dull the brain.' He has joined Henry Ford in a war on cigarettes.

Aaronsburg.

We are glad to say all our sick are on a fair way, and are out and around. Mrs. Harvey Reinbaugh and daughters are spending some time in Altoona. Mrs. Lizzie McDowell went to Millheim as housekeeper for Mrs. Sallie Alexander. Thomas Hull, who is employed as boss carpenter at State College, spent Sunday with his family. Bailin Kremer and family returned to their home after spending a month near Boalsburg at the Klingler home. Miss Lizzie Yarger, who spent the winter months in Millheim with Mrs. Sallie Alexander, is now with her sister, Mrs. A. S. Stover. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Orwig and children, Harold, Bright and Ernest, and Miss Alice Bright were Sunday guests at Spring Mills at U. B. Bitner's home; also at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bright Bitner. James Wert, who a few weeks ago had the misfortune to have such a severe fall while with his son at Tusseyville, was brought home on Friday. His lower extremities are altogether helpless. He has the sympathy of all his neighbors and friends. Those who were to Washington on Sunday from our town were, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stov. r., Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Fehl and son Maurice, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Adams and daughter Marion, Harry and Charles Rousbe, Earl Cummings, John Winkelblech, William Oyster and brother, and Mrs. Calvin Mingle. Spring Mills. Preparations are being made for Decoration Day. Thirty-five tickets were sold to Washington on Sunday. Mrs. Clarence Musser of Chambersburg visited Robert D. Musser over Sunday. Mr. O. P. He is employed at the hospital and had been quite ill. He came home to regain his health. When you vote for the four candidates for Congressman-at-large, make four x's before you get to T.

Spraying for Fruit.

Owing to the excessive wet weather it is possible that the state demonstrator may not be able to reach all orchards on schedule time to spray for fruit, and if it becomes necessary for owners of demonstration orchards to spray before that time, he requests that the following be observed:

Do not spray before the petals have practically all dropped. There is an interval of seven to ten days in which to perform the work.

For all pome fruits, apple, pear, and quince, use five quarts lime and sulfur solution, concentrated, and two pounds lead arsenate paste to forty-nine gallons water.

For all stone fruit, peach, plum and cherry, use three quarts lime and sulfur solution, concentrated, and two pounds lead arsenate to forty-nine gallons of water.
