

THE CENTRE REPORTER.
THURSDAY, JUNE 18, 1914.

LOCALS

June is beginning to be a month of family reunions.

Rev. R. R. Jones purchased a Ford runabout last week from the Breon agency at Millheim.

Lewisburg is to have a new band and will be known as the Citizen's Band of Lewisburg.

The Williams family reunion, one of the notable annual gatherings in Bald Eagle Valley, will be held Saturday, June 20th.

The local order of K. G. E. recently purchased new regalia. The exhibitor of this lodge is in excellent condition, and its membership has been steadily increasing.

Do you know about the premium to be given away with a pound of excellent tea at Kreamer's store? It's only for one day. Read the ad., and also see their window display.

Mrs. W. Gross Mingle and son Phillip of Philadelphia came to Centre Hall Thursday of last week and will spend about three weeks with Mrs. Mingle's father, Capt. George M. Boal.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Boozer and son Shannon and Mr. and Mrs. W. Frank Bradford are back from their vacation trips. The former couple were in Chicago, and the latter in Charleston, West Virginia.

H. Walton Mitchell, of Pittsburg, was elected president of the board of trustees of the Pennsylvania State College at their annual meeting to succeed the late Judge Beaver who had held the place for some time.

F. A. Stiffler of East Tawas, Michigan, arrived a day too late to attend the funeral of his aunt, Mrs. Sarah Arnold Tressler, at Tusseyville last week. His lateness was due to missing railroad connections on his way east. For several days he was entertained at the home of his sister, Mrs. William Bower, at Red Mill, and returned to his home Tuesday.

Sunday, June 21, is Father's day. The virtues of daddy will be extolled from the pulpit in all the principal cities. The good things said about mother on Mother's day seemed to relegate father to the rear and it occurred to Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, of Spokane, that father was entitled to a little adulation also. The movement is spreading and is as popular as Ann's Jarvis' Mother's day. The red or white rose is the official flower for next Sunday.

From the Journal: On Tuesday afternoon, while the Rebersburg mail team was being driven on the regular route a stone crusher on the road west of Smulton caused the broncos to become frightened and run away. Several passengers on the stage jumped off, as did also the driver, C. H. Gambley. The horses tore loose from the wagon and ran to the barn of A. G. Cummings. To deliver the mail on schedule time Mr. Cummings' horses and wagon were procured to make the trip.

CENTRE OAK

Mrs. Isaac Smith is able to be around again.

The Y. P. C. A. will meet with Miss Spayd on Sunday evening.

Emanuel Eungard, our supervisor, is certainly fixing up our roads in good shape.

Mr. and Mrs. James McCool are rejoicing over the arrival of a young daughter last Tuesday.

Mrs. John M. Ream and mother spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Spayd.

Miss Romie Snyder from Centre Hall is spending some time with her grandfather, Philip Durst.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Corman from Rebersburg spent Sunday with the former's brother, Lewis Corman and family.

Harry Frankenberger built a large lime stack last week. Lime burning in this section must be catching. Who is next?

Paul Swab is hauling block tiling for a large silo to be erected on the Bitter farm at Farmers Mills. That makes a silo to last; no rotting out in that.

Edgar Feltonberger from Philadelphia spent Sunday at the home of R. P. Campbell and family. Edgar says it seems like coming home at the Penns Cave home.

Mrs. R. P. Campbell and son William P. are spending a few days with friends at Tyrone. They also went to see her grandmother, Mrs. Mary McGarvey, at Mt Union.

Rev. F. W. Barry, Lutheran pastor at the Union church, Farmers Mills, preached his farewell sermon on Sunday morning. We are surely sorry to have him leave this charge.

Linden Hall

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McFarlane spent Saturday and Sunday with friends at Martha Furnace.

Ralph Seareon came up from Lewisburg last week to help make hay. He is employed by Henry Houser.

Donald Wieland, oldest son of A. P. Wieland of Harrisburg, spent a few days with his uncle here.

Alvin Musser came down from Altoona to spend his vacation at the home of his aunt, Mrs. J. H. Ross.

Dr. and Mrs. Smith are visiting Mr. and Mrs. James M. Ross and while here the doctor is spending the time fishing.

Mrs. Blanche Erb and daughter of Baltimore arrived here Saturday to attend the funeral of her brother, George Swab, who was buried Monday afternoon.

Monday evening the calithumpians were out to serenade Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Eckenroth who have just returned from their wedding trip. Mrs. Eckenroth was Miss Grace Carper.

Miss Mary Love Campbell left last week for Philadelphia where she will enter a training school for nurses. She was accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Nannie Gilliland, who will visit her sister, Mrs. Sarah Stine, at Annville for a few weeks.

REBERSBURG

Lester Minich, who is employed at State College, spent Sunday with his family at this place.

On account of some urgent business C. L. Beck did not leave for Illinois as was mentioned in last week's items.

Mrs. Orvis Walker of Pittsburg arrived at this place and is visiting her mother, Mrs. G. B. Haines, who is on the sick list.

Rev. Wolf, a former merchant of this place, and now located at Parkside, this state, was visiting friends and relatives in town over Sunday.

H. G. Strohmeier, the marble dealer of Centre Hall, was in town on Saturday and did some work in the line of his business in the Union cemetery.

Several gardens and a hen house were robbed of their contents within the past few weeks in the vicinity of Smulton. Suspicion rests on a certain party.

One day last week Mrs. Frederick Hartman, who is keeping house for Jacob Gephart, very suddenly and mysteriously lost the sight of one of her eyes.

Herbert Smull, who resides at this place and who is employed at Howard by Meisz, the marble dealer, came home on Saturday to take part in decorating the graves of deceased Odd Fellows.

Saturday evening, just as the sun was setting on this beautiful June evening, the members of the Odd Fellows lodge decorated the graves of their departed brothers. The president of the Odd Fellows orphanage at Sunbury was present and made a strong and highly appreciated address to a very large crowd of people who had come here to witness the ceremonies. The Coburn band furnished the music for this occasion.

Last Sunday evening Children's Day service was held in the Evangelical church at this place. The house was full to overflowing with people who came to hear the little tots render the elaborate program which they did in a most successful way, to the enjoyment of all present. The pulpit and the surroundings were beautifully decorated with evergreens and flowers which made a very pretty appearance.

Tusseyville

The United Evangelical's Children's Day service, which was held Sunday evening, was well attended.

Emanuel's Union Sunday-school will hold their annual Children's Day service this Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Horner of Linden Hall were visitors at the latter's home over Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Geary and two children of Altoona are spending a few weeks at the home of Mrs. Geary's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Rossman.

John H. Horner re-constructed a reservoir of two hundred-barrel capacity near the barn of Charles Stoner, on the Henry Stoner farm, last week. A new hot air engine has been placed in operation and water will be pumped from a spring in a distant field to the reservoir, from which stock will be watered and which will supply the house for domestic purposes. A leaking reservoir and broken engine made it necessary for Mr. Stoner to return to the arduous task of hauling water for some time. All is now well again.

Rev. W. C. Charleton, of Shamokin, resigned as pastor of the Trinity Episcopal church, to become pastor of St. John's Episcopal church at Bellefonte.

Several brick houses are in course of construction in Pleasant Gap.

Card of Thanks.

The undersigned extend thanks to the neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted in caring for Mrs. Sarah Tressler in her recent illness and for help extended in her subsequent death.—Wm. Bower and family.
