

DEATHS.

Mrs. Henrietta Smith died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. G. Lieb, in Centre Hall, Tuesday morning at 10:0 o'clock, from general debility due to her advanced age. Had she lived until September she would have been ninety-three years old. Funeral services were held from her late home Wednesday afternoon, by Rev. R. R. Jones, and this (Thursday) morning the body was shipped to Camden, New Jersey, where interment will be made Friday morning. Deceased was born in the state of Kentucky and for a number of years had made her home with her daughter. Surviving her are two sons and one daughter, namely, Dr. S. Bryan Smith, Merchantville, New Jersey; Edward A., Germantown, and Mrs. A. G. Lieb, Centre Hall.

Mrs. Benjamin Hasflay died at her home in Aaronsburg Friday afternoon after an illness of six months with Bright's disease. Her age was seventy years and several months. Surviving her are her husband and the following children: Mrs. Nevin Meyer, Boalsburg; Mrs. Daniel Ream, Mrs. Lloyd Bartges and William Hasflay, Aaronsburg. The following brothers and sisters also survive: John Corman, Coburn; Adam Corman, Millheim; David Corman, Haines township; Joseph Corman, Rebersburg; Lewis Corman, Spring Mills; William Corman, Texas; Mrs. Pierce Bower and Mrs. J. George Washington Singleton, of Williamsburg, a Civil war veteran, died Saturday afternoon at the German hospital, Philadelphia, where he had gone for an operation several weeks ago. He was three times married, first to Miss Jennie Crust, on August 10, 1878, to whom six children were born.

High temperature accompanied by a depressing humidity has been the order of the week.

John D. Meyer was at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Meyer, on Sunday. He made the trip from Altoona by auto.

Homef Decker substituted a promissory note for cash in the exchequer of the Moose lodge, and to this the order took exceptions and ordered Decker's arrest.

Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Lieb accompanied the corpse of the latter's mother, Mrs. Henrietta Smith, Thursday morning, to Camden, New Jersey, where interment will be made.

Harry Herr and son have a new advertisement in each issue of the Reporter. The new clothing firm in Millheim has the right idea in advertising—fresh news each week, telling about their high-grade goods and the bargains they are offering.

Victor Jones, on Wednesday morning, went to New York to engage for the fourth season with the New York Tribune in conducting the children's country week work. The Tribune sends many hundred children to parks and into the country, but never without an attendant.

Mrs. John A. Kelley of Cowan is at the home of her nephew, David K. Keller, cashier of the Penna Valley Banking Company. She will be accompanied to Greensburg by Christ D. Keller, and while in that place they will be entertained by Mrs. Mary E. Best, a daughter of Mrs. Kelley.

Mrs. Catharine Rockey, a well known resident of Tyler'sville, died at her home in that place Thursday, of infirmities incident to advanced age, she having reached her seventy-fifth year. Deceased is survived by one brother, William Rockey, and two sisters, Mrs. William Riesel and Mrs. Anna Hubler, all of Tyler'sville.

Samuel J. Rowe, Misses Verna Rowe, Lena Emerick and Margaret Jacobs were an automobile party driven to Lock Haven on Wednesday by George H. Emerick in his Overland car. The trip there was made to attend the graduation exercises at Central State Normal School, two of the class—Misses Label Rowe and Cora Lusc—being from this place.

Sunday automobile pleasure trips are becoming more and more numerous. Last Sunday a ride to Phillipsburg, Tyrone and home was enjoyed by the following: Messrs. Richard Brooks, L. L. Smith, J. F. Lutz, George E. Heckman, P. H. Luse, Mueser Coldron, Roy Puff Charles Coldron, Orvil Weaver and Daniel Bloom. The trip was made in the cars of the first two named gentlemen.

PARTISANSHIP VERSUS STATESMANSHIP.

Pennsylvania is now witnessing the most vicious and unprincipled campaign ever directed against a National Administration. It is prompted by the forces of special privilege in the hope of destroying the progressive movement.

The hopes of political opponents of the Wilson Administration are being paraded as facts; the opinions of hirelings and beneficiaries of special privilege are published as the testimony of disinterested experts; policies are ascribed to the President and his advisers of which they have never dreamed; garbled and isolated passages from addresses by Wilson supporters are first distorted and then described as official statements of policy and motive; the innermost confidential councils of the government, which are known to nobody outside its closest circles, are reported in circumstantial falsehoods in the columns of partisan journals; a nation-wide campaign of misrepresentation about industrial conditions is in progress.

It never seems to occur to the little minds of these petty politicians that events are bound to refute their statements, and that the people will judge their public men by results and not by prophecies.

A safe rule for the voter in Pennsylvania is to withhold judgment until the actual facts are known, and until the results of the Wilson policies are determined.

What a predicament Penrose and the jingoes would find themselves in, for example, if a solution of the Mexican problem should be evolved that would prevent war, establish stable and constitutional government in Mexico, maintain the honor of the American nation, and establish the policy of peace and altruism as a vital and practical factor in the foreign affairs of the United States!

With what horror must the unscrupulous promoters of panic view the revival of business that now looms large on the horizon!

With what dismay must they see the continued fall in the cost of living, accompanied by continued activity among the producers of the country!

With what chagrin must they view the success of the Wilson policies of fair play to business, restoration of equality, abolition of privilege, and opening of opportunity to the young men of America!

Yet these results are following the enactment of the Democratic program. The wise voter will continue the policy of "Watchful Waiting" and prepare to give his endorsement to an Administration that has made more genuine progress toward the destruction of privilege and the restoration of popular government than any other since the Civil War.

WHERE YOUR MONEY GOES.

In the year 1889 the State Legislature appropriated for the maintenance of the State government and all its activities for one full year the sum of $8,182,847.24. In the year 1913 the actual expense for the same purpose was $37,401,706.85. In these twenty-five years intervening, the cost of the State government has more than quadrupled. In the same time the population of the State has about doubled. Expenses have grown twice as fast as population, and fully twice as fast as the taxable value of the property of the State. Where has the money gone?

Aside from the big grafts, such as the State Capitol, Rittersville Hospital and Highway Department scandals, one of the petty methods of the machine for getting away with the taxpayers' millions, and at the same time for postponing popular reforms, is the system of commissions. There are now nearly forty investigating commissions operating in Pennsylvania, in addition to the permanent State Commissions.

The last Legislature appropriated for salaries and expenses in connection with these commissions the sum of $1,463,900. It authorized further expenditures in the next year of $1,000,000 for the same purposes. Before that second year is completed, the Legislature doubtless will authorize the continuance of these and the creation of others that will vastly increase this expenditure.

The absurdity of this system is well shown by the fruitless labors of the late Tax Commission, which in four years expended close to $100,000. The net result of all its labors was the imposition of a tax upon coal, which ultimately raised the price of coal to the consumer and increased the value of mine holdings to the coal monopoly.

Roseman, at Spring Mills, for several weeks, and about July 1st will go to New York and enter Columbia University for a summer course of study. Among the arrivals in Centre Hall on Tuesday was J. Milton Stiffler of Freeport, Illinois, who had planned to come east in August, but on account of the death of his aunt, Mrs. Sarah Tressler, hurried on at this time. Mr. Stiffler is one of Freeport's representative citizens, and has not let go by all the good opportunities to cash in wealth. He recently built for himself a beautiful home, equipped with all modern conveniences, including a cooling system. This home is on a portion of Mr. Stiffler's farm, and is separate from the farm buildings. The place is located just outside the city limits of Freeport.

The Eternal Feminine.
The South African natives in Boerland still preserve their old customs, and one of the most curious is that of carrying off a girl for a wife. The custom is called "ukutwala," and the girl, though not indisposed to accept the man, causes every obstacle to be placed in his way.

The suitor watches his opportunity (after first placing so many head of cattle in the kraal of the girl's father) and eventually carries away the girl by main force.
The heartrending cries of the bride, as she is carried away, are something pitiful—a cry that pierces the heart of a Christian, but his pity subsides when he learns that in native language it means:
"Don't take me, but don't let any one help me, because I want to go!"

Now For the Big Hay Crop!
Just a week or two and then every farmer's attention will be centered on his hay fields. The crop will be a big one. Every farmer wants his hay in the barn in as short time as possible, and in best of condition. The better the hay the better the price.
Every machine used in the process of hay making—from mower to hay loader—is carried by us, and they are the kind that have been giving the best of service to Penna Valley farmers for years.
JOHNSTON MOWER. Make sure of a perfect cutting of grass this summer by using a Johnston Mower on your hay crop. We are well acquainted with all makes of mowers and think the Johnston the best investment. Ask us more about it.
The "Lancaster" Side Delivery Hay Rake is a true friend of the farmer with a heavy hay crop.
The "Lancaster" gathers up the hay in a continuous, loose and fluffy windrow, which allows the wind to pass through freely.
Note its simple construction, strength is one of its chief qualities. All gears are protected and long timothy is delivered clean instead of becoming wrapped in the gearing as is the case with other machines. It rakes the shortest blue grass as well as the heaviest clover and Timothy.
More farmers are purchasing the Lancaster every year, which means more satisfied farmers.
The "Gearless" Hay Loader
Cleans up the hay field in short order
Its name describes it—it is gearless and has no gears to break, clog up chains and sprockets to break, run off and cause no end of trouble. The long easy stroke delivers the hay whether heavy or light, in better shape without chewing it up, without tearing off the lever or without threshing out the seed, as other loaders do.
The GEARLESS Hay loader is not the cheapest hay loader you can buy but it is the best one. They are worth more than what is asked for them.
The GEARLESS does its own loading. It pushes the hay well up onto the wagon; it does not need a watchman to keep it from clogging. The Gearless is sold on its merits, because it never fails to perform the work it is sold to do. The Gearless will pick up and load windrows and haycock which other machines cannot handle.
Will You Need a New Binder This Year?
The Johnston is the one you should have. Let us tell you why!
We have described a few machines here, but we have on hand a great many more. Our business is to serve the farmer, and serve him well. If you are interested, see us.
