MOTHER OF SCHOOL GIRL

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Daughter's Health.

Plover, Iowa.-"From a small child my 13 year old daughter had female veakness. I spoke to three doctors about it and they did not help her any. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had been of great benefit to me, so I decided to have her give it a trial. She has taken five bottles of the Vegetable Compound according to directions on the bottle and she is cured of this trouble. She was all run down when she started taking the Compound and her periods did not come right. She was so poorly and weak that I often had to help her dress herself, but now she is regular and is growing strong and healthy."-Mrs. MARTIN HELVIG, Plover, Iowa.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

The family had gone off for their holiday in a taxi. Twenty minutes later the taxi snorted back up the road. "Forgotten the tickets?" cried a neighbor.

"No," said the irate householder, "but my wife's just remembered that she's left a kettle boiling on the gas stove."

He dived into the house, and came back the next moment with a ghastly calm on his face.

"All right now?" said the neighbor cheerily.

"Right! I'd forgotten that I'd turned the gas off at the meter-and now we've two hours and a half to wait for the next train.

CARRANZA NOW MEXICO'S RULER

Enters the Capital Amid Cheers of His Followers.

PROMISES PEOPLE NEW ERA

Hundreds Of Schoolchildren Dressed In White, Each Carrying a Mexican Flag, Sing a Hymn Written For Occasion.

Mexico City.-General Venustiano Carranza, the supreme chief of the Mexican Revolution and Provisional President of the republic, entered the capital at noon. He was given an enthusiastic reception by the crowds on the streets.

It is estimated that more than 150, 000 persons crowded the line of march of the new President and his followers, which extended from the village of Atzcapotzalco to the National Palace, a distance of six miles. There was not the slightest disorder as General Carranza and his staff passed through the cheering crowds, which showered them with flowers and confetti and from which came cries of "Long live Carranza; long live the Constitutional government."

Troops Form At Dawn.

At dawn the Constitutionalist troops began forming at close intervals in a double line along the entire distance over which the victorious Constitutional leader was to pass. Back of the troops were ranged the sightseers, and every roof and balcony also held spectators.

It was near noon when General Carranza, mounted on a superb horse and accompanied by his staff and the generals of Northwest, the Central and Northeast divisions of the Constitutionalist army, left Atzcapotzalco, escorted by a squadron of cavalry and the Fourth Sonora battalion of infantry, which acted as the guard of honor. On reaching the city limits the column was met by the Mayor and the City Council of the capital, who delivered to General Carranza the keys

After this ceremony the cavalcade proceeded to the historic Chapultepec Castle, where two batteries of artillery fired a salute in honor of the new chief executive. Here the parade turned down the beautiful Paso de la Reforma avenue, which was designed by the unfortunate Empress Carlotta and which leads from the castle to the National Palace.

Union and Liberty.

Along this section of the line of march were grouped hundreds of children dressed in white, each carrying a bouquet and a Mexican flag. As Carranza passed they sang a hymn written for the occasion, entitled, "Union and Liberty."

WILSON ASKS PEOPLE TO BE FAIR IN THEIR WAR UTTERANCES

Washington, D. C .- Addressing the American people, President Wilson issued a statement warning citizens of the United States against intemperate partisanship in the European war.

The President, according to officials close to him, was moved to issue, the proclamation by a firm determination to keep out of the dispute between Germany and Japan over the Far East, and also because he was deeply concerned over the course of naturalized Americans who came from countries now at war taking sides in public discussions in the United States of the European war. On previous occasions he has publicly spoken against what he termed "hyphenated Americans-Irish-Americans, German-Americans or other classifications of the sort. This feeling is understood to have prompted the issuance of his statement Sentiments similar to those uttered by the President were expressed in the House by Minority Leader Mann.

The President's statement is as follows:

"My Fellow-Countrymen: "I suppose that every thoughtful man in America has asked himself during the last troubled weeks what influence the European war may exert upon the United States, and I take the liberty of addressing a few words to you in order to point out that it is entirely within our own choice what its effects upon us will be and to urge very earnestly upon you the sort of speech and conduct which will best safeguard the nation against distress and disaster. "The effect of the war upon the United States will depend upon what American citizens say and do. Every man who really loves America will act and speak the true spirit of neutrality, which is the spirit of impartiality and fairness and friendliness to all concerned. The spirit of the nation in this critical matter will be determined largely by what individuals and society and those gathered in public meetings do and say, upon what newspapers and magazines contain, upon what our ministers utter in their pulpits and men proclaim as their opinions on the streets.

"The people of the United States are drawn from many nations, and chiefly from the nations now at war. It is natural and inevitable that there should be the utmost variety of sympathy and desire among them with regard to the issues and circumstances of the conflict. Some will wish one nation, others another to succeed in the momentous struggle. It will be easy to excite passion and difficult to allay it.

"Those responsible for exciting it will assume a heavy responsibility: responsibility for no less a thing than that the people of the United States, whose love of their country and whose loyalty to its Government should unite them as Americans all, bound in honor and affection to think first of her and her interests, may be divided in camps of hostile opinions, hot against each other, involved in the war itself in impulse and opinion, if not in action. Such divisions among us would be fatal to our peace of mind and might seriously stand in the way of the proper performance of our duty as the one great nation at peace, the one people holding itself ready to play a part of impartial mediation and speak the counsels of peace and accommodation, not as a partisan but as a friend.

"I venture therefore, my fellow-countrymen, to speak a solemn word of warning to you against that deepest, most subtle, most essential breach of neutrality which may spring out of partisanship, out of passionately taking sides. The United States must be neutral in fact as well as in name during these days that are to try men's souls. We must be impartial in thought as well as in action, must put a curb upon our sentiments as well as upon every transaction that might be construed as a preference of one party to the struggle before another.

"My thought is of America. I am speaking, I feel sure, the earnest wish and purpose of every thoughtful American that this great country of ours, which is, of course, the first in our thought and in our hearts, should show herself in this time of peculiar trial a nation fit beyond others to exhibit the fine poise of undisturbed judgment, the dignity of self-control, the efficiency of dispassionate action; a nation that neither sits in judgment upon others nor is disturbed in her own counsels and which keeps herself fit and free to do what is honest and disinterested and truly serviceable for the peace of the world.

"Shall we not resolve to put upon ourselves the restraint which will bring to our people the happiness and the great and lasting influence for peace we covet for them

I gave a pedestrian-an entire stranger-a lift the other day and he certainly did make the most of it. The first thing he said was: 'Why don't you use a tire that lasts? PIMPLES ITCHED AND BURNED

It itched and burned so that sleep and rest were impossible and I could not sleep any hardly for weeks. My clothes irritated my back till it got so sore I had to have a soft cloth pinned to my shirt.

"As I heard of Cuticura Soap and Ointment for years I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment and to my surprise and joy my itching and burning had disappeared. My back had been so raw and inflamed I could not lie on it and the first application brought relief. I washed my back twice a day with a strong lather of Cuticura Soap and then applied the Cuticura Ointment. In two weeks I was sound and well and have never been troubled since." (Signed) J. D.
