

A View Showing a Small Portion of the Tents at Encampment and Fair this Week.

The most enjoyable feature of the Grange Encampment and Fair is the camping during the entire week of the Fair by a thousand or more tents. This feature is becoming more popular each year and the management's greatest task is to supply sufficient tents for all the applicants. The above photograph represents a corner on Grange Park where farmers and their families are bivouacked for the week, living as comfortably as at their homes on the farm.

SUNDAY ON THE PARK.

Fine Weather Brings Large Crowd to Grange Park—Religious Service Well Attended and Enjoyed.

Sunday proved a delightful day, after several days of threatening weather. It was an ideal day for touring in automobiles, and all day long strings of cars with pennants fluttering passed through Centre Hall on their way to the Park. But not all the travel, even on a Sunday, is by car. There were many vehicles on the road all day long, and many of the occupants apparently were lovers who preferred the quiet mode of traveling to that of the more modern and conspicuous. When the throng coming by cars and vehicles joined the many hundreds permanently located in their homes of canvas, the Park had the appearance of a Wednesday or Thursday of previous years, except the vendors were lying on their oars.

The forenoon was spent in social intercourse. Every home had a group of visitors seated about the front door, and when the noon hour came many hundreds of tables, laden with the choicest products of the home larder, were surrounded and all were satisfied. Those not so fortunate as to have an invitation to a dinner under a private roof, were gratified at the boarding house on the Park where a turkey dinner was served, or at the local hotels.

When the hour for religious service came, the large auditorium was completely filled. The services were conducted by Rev. W. H. Schuyler, Ph. D., pastor of the local Presbyterian church, and who is a member of the order of Patrons of Husbandry. The music was under the direction of Prof. F. H. Meyer, who himself was one of a quartette, his associates being Mrs. T. L. Moore, Miss Helen Bartholomew and Hamill Holmes, the latter of State College. The music, of course, was sacred, and was well rendered and appreciated.

Dr. Schuyler's text was Luke 12:32; his theme, "The Church and the New Rural Life." By way of introduction he asserted that the church must heed the call of leaders in the present country life movement to come to their aid, the character of her work must be determined by the nature of the Kingdom of God which Jesus proclaimed and labored to establish on earth, and that she must always keep to the front the effort to make every man, woman and child a citizen of the Kingdom through getting right with God and fellow men, by repentance, faith and obedience. This is to be done by both direct and indirect effort. As to the part of the church in the work for a new and better rural life, for want of time, he dwelt only on some of the less familiar duties of the church.

1. The church must insist that there can be no real permanent progress except on a basis of righteousness. The principles of righteousness must guide not only in church and on Sunday, but in all activities and all through the week progress by any other means is only temporary and deceptive.

2. The church must encourage all lawful efforts to improve economic conditions. Farming must pay if the church is to be supported in a way to make her efficient and if a sufficient number of the best young people are to be retained in the country. The church cannot prosper in a non-prosperous community. This does not mean that the pastor is to teach agriculture, except in some rare exceptional cases, and then only temporarily; but the church and christian people should encourage existing organizations that do this, or form such organizations if none exist in the community.

3. In a similar way the church should inspire and aid all that makes for better intellectual life—schools, lectures, general and technical, and dramatic entertainments by local talent, not for pay but for better living. This will add to the efficiency of the church and remove a second of the three great causes of the exodus from the country to the town.

4. The church should encourage and supervise rural recreations. Play is a natural reaction from work and results in better work. Play develops many of the essential moral qualities for which the church stands and which are needed in order that co-operative and other new methods of conducting rural interests may succeed. The old forms of country recreations are disappearing; new ones are needed and who should provide these if not those who pray for the coming of the kingdom. The young will play, if not allowed to do so in the country they will go to town for play and learn to like the town better than the farm. If the church does not furnish recreation some commercial agency with no interest in character development will do so.

Other duties mentioned but not dwelt on for want of time were emphasizing brotherhood, promoting an appreciation of rural life, especially by teaching religion in terms of country life, and holding up the community ideal.

This enlargement of methods and interests, it was claimed, instead of diminishing the church's efficiency in evangelism, would increase as has been actually demonstrated; and would result along with the work of other agencies in a better rural life; hence a better community and a better church.

Big Freshman Class at State.

The first semester of Pennsylvania State College opened on Wednesday. The number of Freshmen admitted thus far is considerably over 600, but the chances are that all will not enter. It is planned to keep the number at 600. There were probably 150 rejected who might have been admitted with some slight condition. The number of students in the Two-year Agricultural Course has been limited and will not greatly exceed 100.

There is a most surprising growth in the number of women. Last year at this time there were seventeen women admitted to the Freshman class; this year there are forty-five admitted. In order to accommodate the unusual number, the residences on the campus formerly occupied by Professors Arnsby, Fehr, Hunt and Pattee will be made into temporary dormitories for women. Of the new building, only the Horticultural and Animal Husbandry buildings will be completed in time for the opening of the semester.

A Convocation That's Different.

The annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Sunday-school Association will be held in Scranton, October 6, 7, 8, 9. This meeting is to be characterized by several new features: Four days instead of three, all Pennsylvania talent program, great historical Sunday school pageant, a mammoth teen age street demonstration, three great Sunday-school socials, rural school problem conference, city-wide decoration, etc.

Centre county is entitled to thirty-three delegates. Anyone interested in Sunday-school work who wishes to go and will go should write for credentials to the county secretary, Davis Waite, Bellefonte, Pa.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION FORTELLS.

Victory for Both Palmer and McCormick—Figures Substantiate the Conclusion.

The figures marking the result of the primary election fortell the election of both Mr. Palmer for United States Senator and Mr. McCormick for Governor. Here are a few of the figures:

Palmer received more votes than Penrose in forty counties. Palmer carried thirty-three counties over all candidates of all parties; Penrose carried twenty-three counties; Pinchot carried one county.

In fifty-two counties the Democratic vote exceeded the Penrose vote. Penrose ran third in seventeen counties; fourth in five counties, including Lackawanna and Luzerne, and fifth in one county, Wayne.

In forty counties Penrose ran second or worse.

In thirty-three of these counties Taft had majorities in 1908, his total majority in them being 63,000; the Democratic primary vote exceeded the Penrose vote in the same counties by 39,000.

In thirty-four counties the Republican vote was less than the Taft vote of 1912.

In sixty-five counties Penrose, in 1914, received less votes than Taft in 1912.

McCormick received more votes than Brumbaugh in thirty-three counties.

McCormick carried thirty counties over all candidates of all parties.

In forty-four counties the Democratic vote exceeded the Republican vote.

In eleven populous counties Brumbaugh ran third.

In eighteen large counties, in each of which Taft had a majority in 1908, the Brumbaugh vote was less than that of the successful Democratic candidate, in spite of the division of the Democratic vote.

In these eighteen Republican counties, which, combined, gave Taft a majority of 35,000, the Democratic primary vote exceeded the Brumbaugh vote by 25,000.

Centre County Veteran Club Met.

The Centre County Veteran Club met in the new high school building at Bellefonte, Saturday. The morning session was called to order by the president, Capt. W. H. Fry, and after a prayer by Rev. D. Yocum, of the M. E. Church, the address of welcome was delivered by H. C. Quigley, to which comrade John Hamilton responded. Routine business occupied the time until the noon hour. At the afternoon session Bellefonte was selected as the place for holding the next meeting and the following officers were elected: President, Prof. John Hamilton; Vice presidents, Capt. W. H. Fry and Dr. James Thompson; secretary, W. H. Musser; treasurer, George M. Boal. David Fortney, Esq., delivered an eulogy on the late president, Gen. Jas. A. Beaver. Robert Cassidy of Canton, Ohio, Clement Dale, Esq., and Judge Ellis L. Orvis, were among the other speakers. Rev. Sprag, of the United Brethren Church, spoke on the topic "Saloon or No Saloon".

The association lost five members by death during the year: Gen. Jas. A. Beaver, beloved president; W. A. Isler, first vice president; and three other comrades.

The spirit of the meeting was so different from any heretofore. At the close of comrade Cassidy's address, which was largely for the better life to come, someone in the audience started singing, "Blest be the tie that binds". At the end of the first and only verse sung there were very few dry eyes in the assembly. God grant that the day may soon come, yea, even now be here, when boots will be removed from the temptation of all.

A Comrade.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS.

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST FROM ALL PARTS

G. B. Robertson of Hartford, Conn., is spending this week with his wife at the Brislin home.

Mrs. James P. Herring of Altoona was the guest of her brother C. M. Arney for a few days last week.

Eleton Snyder, son of Rev. and Mrs. S. A. Snyder of Middleburg, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Daup for the week.

Miss Verna Weaver will leave for State College next Monday where she will be employed in the home of Prof. Reed, a member of the State faculty.

David Kessler, son of Merchant Kessler of Millheim, resumed his studies at the Pennsylvania State College, commencing his sophomore year.

Farmers and laboring men generally are behind the candidacy of W. E. Tobias for Congress in this district. No corporation candidate will suit the voters of the 21st district this year.

Leathers Brothers closed out the remaining stock of hardware in the Mo-manaway store at Millheim, the last three days of last week. Goods were sold at retail during the day and at auction in the evenings.

Miss Sara Neff returned to State College Tuesday to resume her studies as a junior in Pennsylvania State College. She is the only representative of either Centre Hall or Potter township in that institution this year.

Veterans of the Civil War from Centre Hall who attended the meeting of the Centre County Veterans Club at Bellefonte, Saturday, were Messrs. B. D. Brislin, W. H. Bartholomew, W. W. Spangler, and Capt. George M. Boal.

While assisting in the work of laying the walk at the railroad station, W. F. Floray received severe lacerations of the fingers of both hands when he fell onto the crushed stones with a heavy mixing trough which he was carrying.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wallace, T. M. Keefer and Misses Gertrude and Zella Keefer, of Youngwood, spent Sunday on Grange Park as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Brungart and daughter, Miss Cora Brungart. They made the trip in the former's new Wahl car.

The Dr. J. V. Foster home, now occupied by Dr. H. H. Longwell, has undergone improvement in a number of ways, and in the near future the new doctor expects to install a hot air furnace. Last week the entire house was re-papered, the work being done by John Goldron, who, although a comparative novice in the trade, is giving entire satisfaction wherever employed.

Mrs. Laura Lee and Miss Rebecca Derstine on Friday left for State College where they will take charge of the Alpha Chi Sigma fraternity house until the close of the State school term, next June. Next Monday Miss Margaretta Tressler, who for several years has been employed by Mrs. Lucy Henney in her millinery store, will also leave for State College to assist in taking care of the above named fraternity house.

The drudgery of carrying water from a spring four hundred feet distant from the house was eliminated on the T. A. Hosterman farm near Colyer, tenanted by Howard Confer when J. S. Rowe completed the erection of a ram and the laying of a pipe line from the spring to the house, Thursday of last week. The ram is operated from the pressure of the water from the spring a hundred feet distant and from this point it is carried over a hill a distance of four hundred feet and equivalent to a vertical lift of eighty feet and six inches. The pipe is one and three-quarter inches in diameter and will supply enough water for domestic purposes and also for watering stock at the barn.

The following item is taken from the Millinburg Telegraph: Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Ocker, daughter Catherine and son John will, in the near future, move from this place to Rebersburg. It is with much regret we note the departure from our midst of such pleasing and worthy people, but trust they will like their new home and that prosperity will always attend them. Mr. Ocker, while here was first attached to the clerical force of J. D. S. Gast & Son's Store, later a partner in Kleckner & Ocker Store, two of Millinburg's leading and up-to-date department stores. At both places he not only proved very competent, but was well liked by the public. Yes, indeed, it is with regret that we have to lose such good people as Mr. Ocker and family, but our loss is Rebersburg's gain. We trust their return visits to the good old 'burg will be frequent. Mr. Ocker at present successfully represents on the road a large shoe house in Allentown.
