

NEWS OF 1880.

Notes Taken From Files of The Centre Reporter of Thirty-four Years Ago.

September 16th—George W. Hoosterman of Wolf's Store, and a graduate of a dental institute in Philadelphia, purpose making Centre Hall his home and engage in the practice of dentistry.

William Allison's fine private residence a short distance this side of Spring Mills is near completion.

William Emerick of the east end of Nittany Valley, while removing straw from a threshing machine last Friday morning, had his left hand so badly mangled that amputation above the wrist was necessary.

The new Reformed church at Middensburg is a handsome building, built of brick, with a cross section in the rear for Sabbath school and lectures; the wind waves are stained glass.

The work on the western end of our railroad is rapidly going forward and the cars are now running to Penn's Furnace, sixteen miles this side of Tyrone. The engineers are now locating the road from the Furnace to the River Hill ore bank which is about four miles back of State College. The main branch, we understand, will go to the College and through to Spring Mills, ultimately. There is great activity all along the line of the western end and many hands in employ upon the ore bank and furnace.

A very distressing accident happened at Allison's woolen mills, at Potters Bank on Monday, by which a son of James F. Palmer lost his right arm. The lad stood in front of one of the pickers, which revolves many hundred times per minute, and swung his arms to arrest the current caused by the movement of the picker, when his right arm was suddenly caught and taken off above the elbow, the flesh from the hand upward being torn to shreds by the teeth of the picker, all in a second's time. The wound was dressed by Dr. Weaver, and the lad is doing as well as can be expected.

Married—On the 28th of August, at Centre Hall, by the Rev. S. W. Roeder, Mr. Franklin J. Emerick to Miss Ella E. Zabler, both of Gregg township.

Bigelow Up to His Old Tricks.

State chairman Roland S. Morris, of the Democratic party, in a statement issued recently calls attention to the fact that the Bigelow Highway Department, which received such high praise from the Republican platform and which appears to be perfectly satisfactory to Dr. M. G. Brumbaugh, Republican candidate for governor, is still up to its old tricks in playing politics at the expense of the state.

"It is announced in Harrisburg that a contract has been let by Bigelow to the Brilliant Manufacturing Company, of Philadelphia, for supplying the auto plates for the next year, in spite of the fact that the bid of the Brilliant Company was higher than that of its competitor, the Quayle Enamel Company, of Albany, New York," said Mr. Morris. "It may be only a coincidence that the high bidder was a concern in which one of Governor Tener's close political and personal friends, Chester Ray, one of the Panama-Pacific Exposition Commissioners, is directly concerned. Of course, it is a matter of little concern to the present Highway Department that the people of the state will be compelled under that bid to pay from one to five cents more for these auto tags than they otherwise would do. A mere saving of fifteen or twenty thousand dollars does not appeal to Mr. Bigelow in comparison with the opportunity to serve a political favorite. "It is a matter of interest, however, that this is the sort of Highway Department that the Republican party and all its candidates profess to approve. If Dr. Brumbaugh is satisfied with the present management, what hope can he offer of any improvement in the roads or in the Highway Department?"

Hunters Must Wear White Tags.

Hunters who may desire to gun when the state game season opens will have to display the white 1914 hunters' license tag if they do not want to be arrested for violation of the hunters' license act according to the officials of the State Game Commission. The buff colored tags issued last year are no longer valid and new licenses must be shown.

Stover-Johnson.

At the Reformed parsonage in Bealeburg, in the presence of a few immediate friends, Ralph Stover and Miss Minnie Johnson, both of State College, were united in marriage by Rev. S. C. Stover on Wednesday, September 2nd.

Trespass Notices.

The hunting season is not far off. At this office you can secure trespass notices, printed on good heavy cardboard, at five cents each, or six for a quarter.

It is dry will go out from this office, Wednesday September 23rd.

FIFTY COUNTS AGAINST PENROSE.

Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer, Democratic nominee for United States senator, opened his campaign at Bethlehem last week with a broadside against Senator Penrose that has already sent the senator and many of his gang organs to cover. As Mr. Palmer said at Bethlehem, if it were possible for Penrose, or any other man, to make up a truthful indictment of this character against Palmer, and to prove even the half of it, the Democratic candidate would sink out of the campaign, his head bowed in shame, rather than to ask any self-respecting voter to endorse such a record.

With all the labored efforts of the machine candidates and editors to dismiss this damning indictment with a wave of the hand and a show of indifference, there is plenty of evidence that the blow hit its mark and that the Republican candidate is staggering under its effects.

It is noticeable that Congressman Palmer does not deal in glittering generalities, but in specific charges and specific facts, which he is presenting to the people of the state, night by night, with telling effect.

Since Penrose cannot and does not deny that he advocated war with Mexico; that he insulted the volunteer soldiery of the republic; that he has defended monopoly, corruption and crookedness and befriended bribe-givers and bribe-takers; that he fought against the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people; that he voted against fair child labor legislation; that he opposes publicity of campaign contributions; that he violated corrupt practices acts; that he has used the public treasury to pay his personal henchmen; that he opposed the conservation of natural resources; that he has opposed just tax legislation; that he has consistently favored the corporations as against the government; that he has spied for law-breaking trusts; that he has been repudiated by the moral forces of his own city; that he has opposed just labor legislation, both at Washington and at Harrisburg; that he created and now defends Bigelowism; that he voted for contract labor laws and peonage; that he favors subsidies to private interests; that he has opposed ballot reform; that he is the political agent of the liquor interests—if he cannot and does not deny any one of these and the score of other charges brought against him by Congressman Palmer—how can he possibly justify his appeal for the endorsement of the voters of Pennsylvania?

Many a man has been driven to private life in this state for fewer and less serious offenses against the public welfare. The people of Pennsylvania have their opportunity now to drive out of the public service the man who is directly and personally responsible for most of the evils of government and politics for which other men have often been punished.

Penrose's private opinion of the people who vote to send him to the senate would make good reading.

M'CORMICK ON LABOR.

Vance C. McCormick, Democratic candidate for governor, in his address at Kittanning on Labor Day, fully justified the boast of his friends that he is the one logical candidate entitled to the support of those who are striving, either on behalf of themselves or of others, for just labor legislation. He showed a complete sympathy with, and understanding of, the demands of the workers, and made his position so clear that there can be no doubting his sincere friendship for their cause.

The little labor platform which he incorporated in that address bears repetition:

- "I am in favor of organized labor.
- "I am in favor of the extension of the eight-hour day.
- "I am opposed to the use of the state police or militia under the control of the employers during disturbances.
- "I am in favor of a workmen's compensation and employers' liability act, which will properly compensate the injured and care for the families of men who lose their lives.
- "I favor a child labor bill that will prevent children from working under the age of fourteen, and only with proper regulations between the ages of fourteen and sixteen.
- "I favor a most rigid regulation governing the employment of men in mines and placing safeguards about them.
- "I favor the appointment of a commission to study the wage question and all conditions of employment.
- "I commend the action of President Wilson in appointing as the head of the new labor department a true representative of labor.
- "I believe that our own state government is too much of an employers' government, and that in the various state departments that have to do with the protection of life and the interests of the laboring men, those men themselves should be directly and personally represented.
- "I believe absolutely in the keeping of pledges.
- "I am opposed to any organization, whether it be labor or political, that breaks faith or violates its contracts."

Penrose wanted to send American boys to their death in Mexico. Wilson saved many an American home from sorrow and privation.

PROVED—

BY CONGRESSMAN A. MITCHELL PALMER.

1. That Senator Boies Penrose advocated war with Mexico. On August 21, 1913, he introduced a resolution in the United States senate, appropriating $25,000,000 to pay the expense of an American expedition, to police Mexico with American soldiers. That would have meant certain war.
2. That on the floor of the senate he heaped insult and ridicule on the volunteer soldiery of the republic. When Senator Shafroth read a telegram, offering the services of a company of Colorado boys to the government, if needed in Mexico, Senator Penrose first sneered at the message, then declared "it was beneath the dignity of the senate" to hear such offers presented.
3. That he has defended monopoly and been the willing attorney for corruptionists. In the special session of congress, beginning March 15, 1897, he voted against the Tillman resolution to investigate the Sugar Trust and its favors to senators, thereby helping to shield men later convicted of gross frauds.
4. That he has bitterly fought against the direct election of United States senators. He smothered the McCord bill in the state senate; supported every dilatory motion aimed against the reform in the United States senate, and finally voted against it on final passage, February 28, 1911.
5. That he has voted against child labor legislation. In 1908 he voted to reduce the age limit for the child toilers in the District of Columbia, from fourteen years to twelve, and otherwise to cripple the bill aiming to prevent the little children from being deprived of a child's life, a wholesome mind in a sound body.
