

The Human Automobile

The human body, like an automobile, changes fuel (food) into power. When the fuel is too rich, or the mixers and valves are out of order, waste products clog the machinery and reduce the power.

The kidneys, like exhaust valves, should carry off the waste (uric acid), but weak kidneys can't. Uric acid in excess causes headache, weak eyes, rheumatic pains, gravel, dropsy and fatal Bright's disease.

A Maryland Case

Mrs. Martha A. Meekins, 113 Choptank Ave., Cambridge, Md., says: "For two years I had kidney complaint and finally began to suffer from hemorrhages of the kidneys. I was sick and under the doctor's care and nothing relieved me until I got Doan's Kidney Pills. They did me of the trouble and the cure has lasted for years."

Found He Was Mistaken.

A man from the country, in charity one will say from the country, although he may have been a Bostonese, entered a New York restaurant the other evening, and while waiting to be served, gave his attention to an electric fan revolving just above his head. It was a high pressure fan, noiseless, and almost, if not quite, invisible because of its rapid motion.

"I don't believe there is anything there at all." With that he put up his hand to confirm his belief. Immediately there was a yell that almost threw the place into a panic. The man sprang into the air, rushed out of the door and, as he disappeared, was heard to say: "I'm keyed with the buzz-saw, all right."

More of it. "Juno was an ox-eyed beauty." "I guess if she lived in these days she would be a prolixite one, too."

LEMBERG BEDECKED WITH RUSSIAN FLAGS AS COSSACKS ENTER CITY

By FRANCIS McCULLAGH, International News Service.

Petrograd.—I had the good fortune to ride with a Cossack detachment throughout the Manchurian war and one of my old Cossack friends who was brought back to Petrograd, wounded, from Lemberg, has given me some account of the engagements which took place near the Galician capital. The Cossacks were often three days in the saddle and were the first Russians to enter Lemberg.

"Our turn came," said my Cossack friend, "when the Austrians began to give way to our infantry. Then we were let loose on the enemy's broken rear and soon converted the retreat into a rout. We heard them cry out in terror, 'Die Kozaken! Die Kozaken!'"

Swept Like Straw. "The Hungarian cavalry tried to stop us, but we swept them aside like straw. They had red breeches and beautiful jackets, like those worn by our Cossack women. They also had fine horses and were good riders, but did not know in the least how to use their spears. When we, the Don Cossacks, stick men with our spears, we throw into the blow not only our own weight, but the whole weight of our horses.

"The Austrians fled in panic, throwing away their rifles, abandoning their cannons and machine guns and transport wagons full of hay and provisions. The same morning the Cossacks rode into the conquered town. All the shops were closed and more than half the inhabitants had fled. Those who remained cheered the Russian vanguard.

Welcomed by People. "Triumphal arches made from the boughs of trees were erected across the streets. Russian flags floated from the windows and many of the townspeople greeted us in good Russian. Nobody fired on us. We were received as friends and brothers and everybody was very kind.

"Before noon General Ruzsky rode down the principal street, preceded by a military band and a standard bearer carrying the Russian flag. We, Don Cossacks, had our trumpeters with us when we entered, and it was as if we entered Kiev or Holy Moscow itself. The church bells rang and the Pravostavny popes came out of their churches in vestments and blessed us as we passed. Little girls dressed in white strewed flowers in the path of General Ruzsky, who rode, surrounded by his officers, and the wise men of the town met him in their robes of office and made him an address of welcome."

Campaign Is Bloody. "We have heard little of the prolonged and terrible struggle in Poland and Galicia. Nevertheless that campaign has been as bloody as that on the Meuse, and the Austrian, though beaten, has struggled gallantly.

"The Russians greet the Austrians in a friendly way when prisoners arrive. It is not easy to arrive at a correct estimate of the number of Austrian prisoners now interned in various parts of Russia. The Bourne Gazette, one of the leading evening newspapers of Petrograd, sets the figure at 500,000. Among them is the former Austrian commandant of Lemberg. The prisoners include an extraordinary number of Slavs.

Prisoners a Puzzle. "What shall we do with our Austrian prisoners?" is the cry of the moment. The best Austrian troops, those from the Tyrol, have no quarrel with the Slavs and know nothing about them, while the troops from eastern Austria are half Slav themselves, or else are easy-going and not serious.

This want of seriousness constitutes a great moral defect in the Austro-Hungarian army. It explains the readiness of the Austrians to retreat or surrender. The following communication has been received from the staff of Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian forces in the field: "Fortress Is Bombaraded. "The enemy has approached Ossowetz from the north and has begun the bombardment of the fortress.

"In Galicia we have occupied Debica, on the railway 65 miles east of Cracow, and between Bzeczow and Tarnow. "At Coloujok we defeated a detachment of the enemy and captured his artillery and many prisoners. Continuing the pursuit, we entered Hungary."

Meets Big Obstacles. "The Russian army in East Prussia under General Rennenkampf has been meeting terrible obstacles for the last three weeks. One of the greatest of these is the fortified camp in the so-called Mazurian lake district of German Poland. There are innumerable small lakes and the marshy ground between them is covered with forests.

Checked by Big German Force. "The area is occupied by a German army of from 200,000 to 300,000 men, which menaces toward the north any movement in the direction of Koenigsberg and toward the south all Russian attempts to reach Thorn and Graudenz."

For this reason General Rennenkampf's army, after its first uncheck advance, could not proceed and it even had to retire for safety until a large force could be brought up to stop the activities from the Mazurian lake camp, by which the progress of the Russians in East Prussia was checked.

Changed Times in Russia. "The case of Bourtesoff, the Russian revolutionist, is a sign of the changed times in Russia and his return indicates the state of mind of many men like him. He told me that he had returned not to make peace with the internal reactionary opposition, because he could not forget the hundreds of thousands of people who are imprisoned or exiled, but to give an impulse to the national effort in the direction of a new era in the country's foreign policy.

Until now the Russian government had supported Prussian militarism and had especially oppressed Russian Poland. Instead of protecting the Poles, who are the most civilized of the Slavs, it had persecuted them. Bourtesoff and others hope to arouse such support and enthusiasm among the Poles that the government cannot withdraw later in its promise to form a united, self-governing Poland.

AUSTRIANS IN PANIC AT FALL OF LEMBERG

By CAMILLO CIANFARRA.

Rome.—Returning after a two months' stop with the Austrian general staff, Arnoldo Fraccaroli, the Corriere de la Sera's correspondent, thus described Lemberg's fall: "Up to August 16 Lemberg lived in happy ignorance of the events on the Galician frontier.

The Austrians still believed the Russian army sadly disorganized and led by drunken, epileptic generals. "The censor had taken all precaution against the truth leaking out. One thing only was overlooked, and that is what happened one afternoon while the population promenaded in the parks and thoroughfares. Lemberg was suddenly invaded by thousands of refugees arriving from every direction by foot, rail and on horseback. They related the wildest stories of the Cossacks' doings.

"The flood of refugees continued eight days, bringing along waves of despair, fear and misery until the population had swelled from 240,000 to 350,000.

First Great Panic.

"Simultaneously the wounded began arriving. Schools, churches, offices and theaters were transformed into hospitals. On August 26 the city was housing 40,000 wounded.

"On the same day the Cossacks appeared three miles from the city, causing the first great panic. The railroad depots were besieged and a general exodus began. Now the truth was fully known, and news from the front increased the panic.

"Simultaneously the city was being treated to the wildest spectacles. Pickets passed hourly, escorting to be hanged or shot groups of men, women, children and priests whom the Austrians considered friendly to the Russians.

"Between the 26th and 28th of August the Russian artillery succeeded in taking a position without being detected. Suddenly the Russian guns opened a tempest of fire on the Eleventh army corps, which had come within range, and with the help of the Russian infantry and machine guns was annihilated.

"The Third corps, dispatched to replace them, met with the same fate. Then the Twelfth was rushed out to be shot, sustaining enormous losses. "Of 4,000 men forming the Twenty-seventh Trieste regiment only 500 survived. Of the Seventeenth Lubian regiment only 300 survived; not an officer was left.

Many Die in Panic.

"On the morning of August 31 a train of one hundred cars was made ready by the authorities to send out the first refugees, but as soon as the depot gates were opened the panic-stricken crowd rushed to the train. Wild scenes followed. Children were crushed, women were trodden down. The train left with people strapped to every support.

"On the afternoon of August 31 a 35-hour armistice was arranged, and 60,000 Austrian and Russian dead were buried. Nearly double that number of wounded were removed.

"On the morning of September 3 a general alarm was sounded. It was the end. Every Austrian soldier fled without taking his arms or ammunition."

NAME YOUR BRAND; FRENCH'LL POUR IT

Bordeaux.—In many of the famous vineyards around Bordeaux vintage has begun and women and children, aided by refugees from Belgium and northern France, are taking the places of the men fighting at the front.

The disposal of the wine is likely to be a problem, as about 20,000,000 bottles went to Germany each year, and in addition the spending power of the world will be diminished for some time to come owing to the immense cost of the war.

With a view to compensating this falling off the Bordeaux brokers intend to make a strong effort to capture the big trade in sparkling hock and moselle heretofore done in the United States by Germany. Incidentally they hope to deprive champagne of some of its vogue.

War prices on bird seed are said to have reached a prohibitive rate. Another blow at the dove of peace!

Escapes in Heat of Battle.

Reports indicate it sometimes takes a lot to kill a modern soldier, the New York World states. Sergeant Fougere of France received eight bullet wounds, a broken arm and other injuries, and although shot in the calf, thigh and ankle, escaped being captured by Germans and limped ten miles to his regiment. Another French soldier received six bullet and three bayonet wounds and is recovering. The French war office estimates only two men are killed out of every one hundred hit. The penetration is so clean one soldier did not know he had been hit for three hours, and another bullet went through two soldiers and lodged in a cavalryman's saddle.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infant deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations, Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Fashion Note. "One blessing, at least, will come to us from this dreadful war. We shan't be inundated with shocking French fashions."

The speaker was a leading club-woman. She resumed: "At a club dinner the other evening a man fashion writer—man fashion writers are the best—said to me: 'A truce to these foreign modes! They are caricatures.'"

"Caricatures?" said I. "Caricatures? Yes, perhaps. But wouldn't it be more accurate to call them take-offs?"

Light Booze. Do You Drink It? A minister's wife had quite a tussle with coffee and her experience is interesting. She says: "During the two years of my training as a nurse, while on night duty, I became addicted to coffee drinking. Between midnight and four in the morning, when the patients were asleep, there was little to do except make the rounds, and it was quite natural that I should want a hot cup of coffee about that time. I could keep awake better.

"After three of four years of coffee drinking, I became a nervous wreck and thought that I simply could not live without my coffee. All this time I was subject to frequent bilious attacks, sometimes so severe as to keep me in bed for several days. "After being married, Husband begged me to leave off coffee for he feared that it had already hurt me almost beyond repair, so I resolved to make an effort to release myself from the hurtful habit.

"I began taking Postum, and for a few days felt the languid, tired feeling from the lack of the coffee drug, but I liked the taste of Postum, and that answered for the breakfast beverage all right. "Finally I began to feel clearer-headed and had steadier nerves. After a year's use of Postum I now feel like a new woman—have not had any bilious attacks since I left off coffee."

Schoolboy a Good Deal More Thoughtful Than Most Youngsters We Ever Heard Of.

A popular member of a certain school board tells a good story of a certain schoolboy who enjoys the unique distinction of having attended one school for 11 years without being once absent or late. In evidence of this, the youth is the proud owner of 11 medals. When the eleventh medal was conferred the boy's mother was asked whether her son ever had any illness.

"Oh, yes," she replied. "Measles?" "Yes." "Whooping cough?" "Yes."

"How is it, then, that he has been able to make so remarkable a record at school?" "Well, he generally had 'em in his holidays," was the proud mother's interesting reply.

A Sound Sleeper. "My old nag has one advantage over an automobile. It doesn't require any intricate mechanism to start her."

Heavy Cost of Bad Weather. It has been figured that a day's continued frost or snow in England retards in the idleness of 1,000,000 workmen.

Strong Man's Weakness. Speaking of great feats of strength Franklin H. Lane, secretary of the Interior, recalled an incident that happened in a western state.

One afternoon an elderly woman visited the penitentiary, and on pausing before a certain cell was told that the inmate had been imprisoned for stealing a piano.

"I am very sorry to see you here," remarked the woman turning to the convict. "Is it true that you stole a piano?"

"Yes, ma'am," was the frank admission of the convict. Then he added: "I did it in a moment of weakness."

"In a moment of weakness?" gasped the elderly visitor. "Mercy me! I presume that had you had your usual strength you would have walked away with the whole house!"

R. F. D. No. 2, Johnson City, Tenn.—"Some time ago my head became covered with small sores which they said was eczema. They were red and inflamed and when I would comb my head they would break and run a yellowish matter. My hair was coming out by handfuls until I was getting almost bald. My hair was so dead and dry it seemed as if it would break off."

"I put on — and — and several other remedies without getting any help. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and some Cuticura Ointment and used them. In a short time the pimples dried up and my hair stopped falling out and is thick and glossy. I am cured." (Signed) J. W. Fisher, Jan. 1, 1914.
