C. H. Bierly, the Rebersburg lumberman, and force of workmen, on Monday began lumbering on the Bloom tract west of town. The trees along the Brush Valley road were cut.

Hammond dairy feed is a well-balanced ready ration that has twice the nutriment found in bran. It is a great milk producer and where once used is never replaced by any other feed.—Sold by Weber, Centre Hall.

The Adams Express company's office at the Bellefonte Central station at State College was robbed early Thursday morning of last week. A number of packages were stolen, but little cash. It is thought that local celebrities figured in the robbery.

Centre Hall had just a touch of the dementia that seized a million or more fans in the two big eastern cities during the playing of the world's baseball series between the Athletics and Boston. Athletic sentiment prevailed but not all were imbued with the "I am for Pennsylvania" spirit.

Today (Thursday) the season opens for the killing of squirrels, pheasants and quail. Six squirrels, five pheasants, and ten quail are the limit for a day's kill. Many local hunters will take to the mountains early in the morning, where squirrels and pheasants are reported quite numerous.

Tuesday of next week Miss Florence Rhone will leave for an extended trip through the middle west states. She will visit relatives in Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas. The greater part of the time will be spent in Wichita, Kansas, where her aunt, Mrs. I. A. Sankey, lives. Miss Rhone expects to be gone until the Christmas season, or later.

Domer S. Ishler was an arrival in Centre Hall, Tuesday, from Washington, D. C., and will return on Friday, accompanied by Mrs. Ishler and their baby son, who have been spending several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Geiss Wagner. Mr. Ishler is in the employ of the Civil Service Commission Examining Board in the National capital.

All the sons and daughters of Mrs. Catharine Bitner attended her funeral on Saturday. The six sons tenderly carried the mother to her last resting place in the cemetery connected with St. Paul's church, below Penn Hall. A grandson, Dr. J. Frank Meyer of Washington, D. C., also attended the funeral. When he received the notice of the death he was in Des Moines, Iowa, on business connected with the department of the National Government with which he is connected. A son, Daniel, whose home is in Hastings, Nebraska, was also away from home when the message of the death was received, but was located in Dakota, where he and a son-in-law were looking over land belonging to the latter.

The Jury.

The "gentlemen of the jury" are often accused of stupidity, but it is doubtful if a more pronounced case can be found than that which occurred in a remote town in Maine not long since.

The clerk of the court addressed the jury: "Well, gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon a verdict?"

"We have," replied the foreman. "What say you? Do you find the prisoner at the bar guilty, or not guilty?"

"We do." "You do? Do what?" "We find the prisoner at the bar guilty or not guilty."

"But, gentlemen, you must explain." "You see, six of us finds him guilty, and six finds him not guilty."
