Density of Population.

By density of population is meant the number of persons to each square mile of land area. Excluding the District of Columbia, Rhode Island, with 508.5 persons per square mile, is the most densely populated state in the Union, closely followed by Massachusetts, New Jersey and Connecticut, in the order named, the only states which have more than two hundred persons per square mile.

Backache Warns You

Backache is one of Nature's warnings of kidney weakness. Kidney disease kills thousands every year. Don't neglect a bad back. If your back aches—if it hurts to stoop or lift—if there is irregularity of the secretions—suspect your kidneys. If you suffer from aches, dizziness and are tired, nervous and worn-out, you have further proof.

A Virginia Case

Mrs. E. C. Hampshire, 712 Jacob St., Norfolk, Va., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills worked wonders in my case. For five years I had kidney disease and was discouraged. My system was all run down and the heavy dragging-down pains in my back were terrible. I was nervous, weak and irritable and my nerves were badly affected. I had awful headaches and my appetite was poor. Doan's Kidney Pills cured these troubles and I have had no return of them."

FARMERS' WEEK A BIG SUCCESS

Talks By Dean Watts and Other Agriculturists.

NEW COAL FREIGHT RATES

For County Unit in School System. Committee of Education Association Recommends Supervision By Small Board.

State College.—The tenth annual Farmers' Week at State College was a big success. The county farm agents, who have been working all year in the leading agricultural counties of the State, have each brought a large delegation with them.

Dean R. L. Watts, speaker for President Edwin E. Sparks, delivered an address in the auditorium, and gave the assembled delegates a hearty welcome.

"As taxpayers in this State," he said, "you are part owners of this great institution. You come each year to see how we are conducting the stewardship entrusted to us. We have here a two-million-dollar plant, which should not stand idle while the regular students are home on a vacation; so we take the opportunity to have you come and receive some of its benefits. I know in many cases your sons, who have returned home for the holidays are carrying on your work while you, for a short time, take their places as students. Everything is at your disposal. Remember you will not receive all your information in the class room, but each barn, greenhouse, laboratory, animal and plant on our thousand acres has a lesson for the man who will look for it."

Talk On Eggs Instructive.

With fresh eggs selling for five cents each, the lecture by Prof. M. C. Kilpatrick on "How To Increase the Winter Yield Of Eggs," proved the most popular at the first session this afternoon.

"If I were to answer this question in one sentence," Prof. Kilpatrick said, "I would say duplicate as nearly as possible summer conditions, if you want eggs in winter. Feed is not the only thing needed to make eggs, and the exact proportions and mixtures of feed do not solve the whole problem. Nearly every experiment station and large poultryman has a different method of feeding, but they all agree that a variety of feed is essential."

"Besides feed," continued Prof. Kilpatrick, "I consider water, grit, ground shell and charcoal essentials to be kept before the hens at all times in the winter. Eighty-five per cent. of an egg is only water and if a hen has to eat snow and ice to get this water how many eggs will she lay? Then, too, have you ever noticed how a hen always takes a drink before going to roost? This ought to show us when to provide a good drink for her. The grit takes the place of the hen's teeth, which she has no trouble in supplying in the summer time. In the same way that the bits of oyster shell provide the lime necessary for the egg shell. The charcoal acts as a regulator, which instinct teaches the hen to supply herself when on face range in the summer. These four make a combination which must be supplied if a maximum egg yield is wanted."

How to save some of the excess water which falls in the spring months, for the use of plants during the hot summer, was clearly shown by Prof. R. S. Smith in his lecture on "Soil Moisture." As the subject is one in which the owner of even a flower bed is interested, the lecture attracted a good deal of attention. The secret of the matter, declared Prof. Smith, is to have the soil in good mechanical condition and full of decayed vegetable matter, so that it acts like a sponge. Then if the surface is kept stirred, so as to break the capillary action by which the water is drawn out of the soil it will remain there for the plants when needed.

Harrisburg.—Recommendation that the State school laws be changed, so that there shall be a county unit of education with a small county board of school directors, is made in the survey of the rural schools of Pennsylvania by a special committee of the Pennsylvania State Education Association. The committee named at the meeting in Pittsburgh a year ago and charged with the duty of making a study of the needs and condition of the rural schools consists of Dr. Nathan K. Schaeffer, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Dr. Raymond W. Sies, University of Pittsburgh; Dr. Harlan Updegraff, University of Pennsylvania; Dr. Louis W. Raper, State College; Prof. G. B. Milnor, superintendent of Lycoming county schools; and Prof. Frank A. McClung, superintendent of Butler county schools.

The proposition for a county school board is one of a score of recommendations, and would empower the board to levy a county school tax; to fix boundaries of school districts regard less of township lines; furnish the supplies at expense of local boards when they fail to do so promptly; elect the county school superintendent and his assistants and have general supervision of attendance officers throughout the county.

IN THE HAND OF FATE

WASTE OF GOOD TIME TO PROMOTE FRIENDSHIP.

Best Plan is to Be a Friend and Thus One Will Attract Those Whose Helpfulness Will Be Natural and Beneficial.

One of the things impossible to know in advance is who is going to be of advantage to you. Hence the most wanton waste of time and effort in the world is to cultivate people with a thought to personal advancement.

The world is much like a Ferris wheel—the bucket that is up today is down tomorrow, while the one that was near the ground at sunrise soars to the top at the day's decline. Nothing just now recalled is stationary—except the Sphinx, and that enigmatic lady has doubtless held her place by keeping her mouth shut and trying to propitiate no one.

Friends are gifts of heaven bestowed for our joy and mental refreshment. Men and women are so constituted that the more keenly they enjoy anything the more fervently they long for some companionable person to share it with them. The most appetizing meal eaten alone induces indigestion. The man walking beneath autumnal trees, inspired by their splendor of crimson and gold, sighs for companionship. A book becomes twice vivid and glowing when read aloud to a sympathetic listener.

But people sought as associates in hours of leisure and pleasure must be really companionable or their absence is more to be desired than their company, and to wear one's life out trying to be friends when impulse is not in it is waste of good time. Do not endeavor to make friends. Be one, and you will suddenly find yourself surrounded by many bound to you with invisible cords of kind feeling.

If people seek only those to whom they are instinctively attracted, their mutual helpfulness will be natural as the response of the wireless receiver to the sympathetic seeking of its wireless affinity. It is not when people are trying the most, but when they are off guard that they are making the real impressions.

The chance word may linger in the mind when the premeditated one has fallen unheeded. Possible benefits should be indeed forgot when friendships are in process of making. The only benefit one has a right to expect of friends is loyalty and good will.

As for advantages, they crop up from such unlikely corners, such unlooked-for sources, and are often bestowed by such unframed-of people that to endeavor to foresee the channels through which they will filter into our lives is sheer impossibility. That we are benefited and blessed through outside human agencies is true indeed, but that such benefits are attracted our way is chiefly because of what we unconsciously are, instead of what we consciously endeavor to seem. And will our friends prove advantageous to us or not? We can only echo the Spanish question: "Quien sabe?" We can only seek people because we love them and leave the rest to fate.—Baltimore Sun.

Monument Shone as Ghost.

"See seed dat ghost dar ev'ry night for a week," declared Henry W. Locksmith, a local colored man, as he stood with chattering teeth on North Hanover street, with his eyes riveted on a white object in Pottstown cemetery. Henry was frightened sure, and Robert C. Hawk, a well-known printer, to whom he had told his story, saw, too, the ghostly figure. Hawk, however, ridiculed the idea of such things, and the colored man became angry, but finally agreed to accompany him into the cemetery. The "ghost" never moved, and this caused Locksmith to tote along very slowly behind. Hawk braced him up with words of encouragement, and when they came close to the "thing in white" they found that it was a highly polished granite monument upon which the reflection from a distant arc electric light had played and made it seem pure white.—Pottstown (Pa.) Dispatch to the Philadelphia Record.

Hebrew Governor.

Idaho will have the distinction next year of being the only state in the Union to have a Hebrew governor. Moses Alexander, who won by an overwhelming plurality at the November election, was born of poor parents, immigrated from Europe, and had scant schooling in childhood. As a boy he started to work his way up in the world, and despite his early handicaps, he has succeeded wonderfully. Twice chosen mayor of Boise, he enjoys the reputation of having given that city the best administration it ever had. Many Hebrews have attained positions of high honor in this land of opportunity, which they have filled with credit to themselves and to their race, but Mr. Moses Alexander, it is said, is the first one to be elected governor of an American state.

Distorted Vegetarianism.

"So long as you find the cost of living high," said the friendly adviser, "why don't you and your husband become vegetarians?" "What do you mean?" asked the worried-looking woman. "Why eat only vegetable products." "Couldn't think of it. What I'm tryin' to do now is to persuade John to take to beefsteak and quit tryin' to live on liquor and tobacco."

Many a man who permits himself to be led forth to musical entertainments he does not care for will appreciate the following:
"What made you start clapping your hands when that woman stepped on your foot in the tramcar?"
"I was dozing," answered Mr. Cumrox. "I thought mother and the girls were having a musicale at home and one of them was signaling that it was time to applaud."

ARMORED CAR IN WARFARE
European Armies Have Found it of the Greatest Value in Their Operations.

Although an engine new to warfare, the armored motor car has proved extremely useful, especially for outpost and scouting duty. Fast, silent, and mobile, it covers a vast amount of ground on the splendid roads that crisscross the field of war in western Europe. Most of the cars are incased in a light frame of tough steel plate that ranges in thickness from three-sixteenths of an inch to a quarter of an inch, and that is impervious to rifle and machine-gun fire. All the vulnerable parts of the motor, such as the radiator and steering gear, and in some of the newest cars the wheels, are protected by the steel covering. The wheels, both wood and wire, are said to withstand the roughest sort of usage. Accidents to the tires are much less common than anyone would expect. The cars carry a light armament—one or two machine guns so mounted that they can be swung through a complete circle—and a large supply of ammunition. The crew, which may number from four to eight or more men, are armed with rifles and revolvers. Some of the cars have a steel superstructure that rises from the chassis frame high enough to enable the crew to stand upright, and that is capped with a domed roof, from which bullets and shrapnel usually fly off at a sharp angle without even denting the steel.—Youth's Companion.

STICK TO IT
Until Coffee Hits You Hard.
It is about as well to advise people to stick to coffee until they get hit hard enough so that they will never forget their experience.
A woman writes and her letter is condensed to give the facts in a short space:
"I was a coffee slave and stuck to it like a toper to his 'cupe,' notwithstanding I frequently had severe attacks of sick headache; then I used more coffee to relieve the headache, and this was well enough until the coffee effect wore off.
"Finally attacks of rheumatism began to appear, and ultimately the whole nervous system began to break down and I was fast becoming a wreck.
"After a time I was induced to quit coffee and take up Postum. This was half a year ago. The result has been most satisfactory.
"The rheumatism is gone entirely, nerves practically well and steady, digestion almost perfect, never have any more sick headaches and am gaining steadily in weight and strength."
Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.
Postum comes in two forms:
Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.
Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.
The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.
