An Apt Student.

A young woman who came to Columbia to take her degree of doctor of philosophy, married her professor in the middle of her second year. When she announced her engagement one of her friends said:

"But, Edith, I thought you came up here to get your Ph. D." "So I did," replied Edith, "but I had no idea I would get him so soon."

A Philosopher.

"Week before last," said the kind lady to the paralyzed beggar, "you got a dollar from me because you were deaf and dumb. Last week I gave you a quarter because you were blind, before I realized that you were the same man. Now you ask for money because you are paralyzed."

"Yessum," said the beggar. "Them's the facts."

"Don't you think you'd do better if you chose one affliction and stuck to it?" asked the lady.

"No, ma'am," said the beggar. "They's nothin' so fatal to the full development o' all one's natural powers as narrier specialization."—Judge.

Settling Old Scores.

Our local footer team had taken on a scratch eleven of the veterans of the village. The fifteen-year-old goalkeeper of the former was observed pacing excitedly to and fro between the goalposts.

At last, during an interval in the game, he approached his captain, who was playing center forward. "I say, Jack, you might come into goal for a bit and let me have your place," he said, eagerly.

"Whatever for?" demanded the surprised center forward.

"Well," confessed the goalie reluctantly, "I want to get a kick or two in at father!"—Dundee (Scotland) Courier.

CHILDREN SHOWED IT

Effect of Their Warm Drink in the Morning.

"A year ago I was a wreck from coffee drinking and was on the point of giving up my position in the school room because of nervousness.

"I was telling a friend about it and she said, 'We drink nothing at meal time but Postum, and it is such a comfort to have something we can enjoy drinking with the children.'

"I was astonished that she would allow the children to drink any kind of coffee, but she said Postum was not coffee, but a most healthful drink for children as well as for older ones, and that the condition of both the children and adults showed that to be a fact."

"I was in despair and determined to give Postum a trial, following the directions carefully. It was a decided success and I was completely won by its rich delicious flavor.

"In a short time I noticed a decided improvement in my condition and kept growing better month after month, until now I am healthy, and do my work in the school room with ease and pleasure. I would not return to nerve-destroying coffee for any money."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages. Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious and easy to prepare. For Postum, see directions on box. Sold by Grocers.

GOVERNOR FAVORS NON-VOTERS' TAX

Bill Aiming to Compel Exercise of Franchise.

MONEY TO SCHOOL DISTRICT

Governor Brumbaugh Insists Wage Bill Stand—To Propose Single Bill For All Appropriations.

Harrisburg—Compulsory voting, in so far as an obligation of that kind can be made possible, has now become part of the program Governor Brumbaugh hopes to have passed during this session of the State Legislature. His declaration of this subject came following the introduction of a bill by Representative D. J. Snyder, of Westmoreland, in the State House of Representatives, which aims to accomplish this.

The Governor does not intend to have a measure passed which would act as a revenue producer. He says his intention is to have the tax on each elector made two dollars, with full exemption if the elector takes part in both the primary and general election. The proposal to abolish poll tax favored by the Republican organization coming at this time is an interesting feature of the proposition.

The Snyder bill lays a tax of three dollars on all electors, one dollar of which is to be paid in the spring and the remaining portion within six weeks following the general fall election. It further provides that each voter at the primaries and the fall election shall receive a certificate, each of which shall represent one dollar toward the last payment of the tax.

According to the terms of the bill, the money would revert to the school district of the county. This would give Philadelphia County approximately $400,000 each year. In speaking of the situation, the Governor said:

"I am in sympathy with the spirit of Representative Snyder's bill, but I differ with him in regard to the provisions of the measure. My thought is not to enact a revenue producer, but a pure penalty on the great body of citizens who fail to exercise their privilege of voting. My thought was that an Act should be passed by which all qualified citizens would be assessed two dollars. One-half of this should be deducted when their names are certified by the primary officers and the other half when they had been certified by the general officials as having participated in these functions of the electors."

"I am unquestionably in favor of legislation along these lines to reach the stay-at-home voters and to force them to perform their duties as citizens. I would like to see them taxed for their neglect. There are plenty of them in the suburban wards of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, and in fact throughout the entire State. They apparently show little personal interest in public affairs, but usually are the most loud and insistent in their demands, clamor and criticisms."

"Politics in our States and cities would be quite different if all of our citizens voted. Today we have the condition of a minority of our voters determining the fundamental laws of our Government. There has not been a constitutional amendment adopted in this State in eight years by a majority of the people. The minority apparently controls our affairs. And this is a condition that is a direct menace to democracy."

Governor Insists Wage Bill Stand.

Provisions eliminating the common law defenses in the employer's liability cases, incorporated in the Administration's workmen's compensation bill, and which Senator Crow requested Attorney General Brown to remove, will stand as first outlined.

The refusal of the Administration to free the employer from liability in cases where the accident is caused by the negligence of another employe or when the employe enters the employ of the plant knowing that the position in which he serves is dangerous, marks the first disagreement between the Governor and the leaders on fundamental issues.

The common law defenses as these provisions now effective are known, would be eliminated by the Governor's bill, and whether the employe or employer agrees to abide by the provisions of the bill, which are only elective, the employer will be liable for compensation.

In another provision the Senator requested that compensation for permanent injury be decreased from 50c to 400 weeks. The Governor conceded this demand by decreasing the maximum payment from ten to eight dollars a week and from $5,000 to $4,000. It has been found that out of 21,000 cases in one State only seven were total disability.

To Ask Governor to Local Banquet.

Senator Daix, Philadelphia, former president of the United Business Men's Association of Philadelphia, has been appointed chairman of a special committee of the association to invite Governor Brumbaugh to attend the seventh annual banquet of the organization in Philadelphia.

GEORGE STALLINGS FEARFUL OF NUMBER 13 RIGLER'S PRIDE HURT

Manager George Stallings of Boston Braves.

George T. Stallings, Boston's miracle man and leader of the Braves, is one of the few major league managers who take nothing for granted. In the general opinion the acquisition of Sherwood Magee by the world's champions spells repeated success in 1915. The big chief might reasonably share the popular belief were it not for his ingrown superstition. "I think," says Stallings, "that I have the best club in the league and that it should win again with an even break of luck. Magee is bound to bolster the outfield, which showed the only weakness last year, and I have a number of very promising young pitchers to share the honors with my big three—Rudolph, James and Tyler.

But, do you know, I have won just an even dozen pennants, and I naturally regard with some apprehension the approaching obstacle to a thirteenth victory.

"My chances, of course, at present appear more glowing than a year ago, for the aggregation has been molded into a competent fighting unit.

"I do not believe such a heart-breaking finish will be necessary this year. Yet McGraw, a real wizard, cannot be counted out until the flag falls. Hans Lobert will help his club greatly, and if his pitching is as good as it should be the Giants will be mighty hard to stop. I expect New York, as usual, to furnish the liveliest opposition."

WHITNEY RETURNS TO POLO

Former Captain of "Big Four" Decides to Again Take Up Game—Has Many Fine Ponies.

Admirers of polo will be glad to learn that Harry Payne Whitney, probably the greatest polo captain that ever guided a team to victory on the field, will take more personal interest in polo this year than he did last. In 1913 he was unable to play because he had injured a shoulder while hunting. He is now recovered and will take part in several games this season.

Mr. Whitney's return to the saddle does not necessarily mean that he will again be a member of the American team which will go to England after the cup. Even though he had not met with the accident early last year, he would not have played on the Big Four team. Previous to the mishap he had declared that he would not be one of the members of the team that would defend the cup.

The reason he advanced was that the training necessary to perfect his physical condition for the international polo series was too severe, and he did not care to undergo the ordeal. But with Mr. Whitney in the saddle again this year, he may round into form gradually and thus lead up to the possibility of his being one of the American four who may challenge for the cup in 1915. The date of the challenge will depend on the continuation of the war.

Mr. Whitney now has 26 polo ponies in his training quarters. This is the biggest individually owned string in the country. Mr. Whitney is keeping these fine mounts so that he will have plenty of material to call upon when he starts to play next summer.

Umpire in Big Demand as Speaker at Baseball Banquets.

Fans Cheered Wildly for Theodore Roosevelt as New Umpire Strutted Across Field—Was Fearful of Having Eyes Tested.

Charley Rigler, National league umpire, who lives in Cleveland, is chock full of good baseball stories and is in great demand as a speaker at baseball banquets. Charley knows how to tell a story, too. Here are two samples:

"The first year I broke into the National league I was assigned to umpire a game between the Army and Navy teams. The two major leagues alternated each year in supplying an umpire for this game.

"I was quite proud of my assignment, and a few minutes before game time I walked out of the dressing room to the home plate. I had to walk the full length of the field and, to my great surprise and pleasure, every step I took was marked by the loudest cheering I ever heard. My chest swelled to twice its normal size until I found Teddy Roosevelt had entered the field just as I had emerged from the dressing-room, and that all the cheering was for him.

"About five years ago the National league decreed that all its umpires must have their eyes tested. Like most of the umps, I worried a bit about this because I didn't know what kind of a test it would be.

"I borrowed one of the charts used by opticians, and learned every line of letters on it so that I could recite each, letter for letter, either backward or forward.

"One day I was passing through the Colonial arcade in Cleveland with Umpire Billy Evans. I called his attention to a chart in an optician's window as we passed. When we had walked on about ninety feet, I asked Bill if he could read the letters on the chart. Bill said he couldn't—that he could hardly see the chart.

"When I told him I could, he offered to buy the dinner that evening if I made good. I recited my little piece perfectly, and when Bill examined the chart and found I was correct, he felt pretty shaky about his eyesight. But his spirits rose again when I took him to the optician's place, turned my back to the chart and spoke my little piece again."

GOLF IS GAINING CONVERTS

Sport Now Reaches Into All Types and Ages of Men for Its Followers—John McGraw is Latest.

Without a doubt the game of golf is gaining converts, perhaps more rapidly than any other sport. Once looked upon as distinctly the sport of the men of some age and avoirdupois, it reaches now into all ages and types of men for its followers.

Wide press agenting, one golf expert declares, is responsible for the advance in golfing. Word that sturdy athletes like Christy Mathewson and other great ballplayers had turned to chasing the little white ball across the green brought many followers to the game. They even report that John J. McGraw of the Giants is about to take up the pastime of John D. Rockefeller and other notables.

The report, however, seems to be based on nothing more tangible than the fact that "Jaw" was presented with a fine assortment of golf sticks. The army of fanatics who play the game in this country was increased last year by more than 50,000, according to representatives of golf supply houses.

Harvard Bars the Tango. There will be no modern dancing for Harvard's track athletes if Coaches Donovan and Powers know of it. The Crimson coaches have no place on their teams for tango dancers, although both admit that the dances are all right in their place. Athletes, however, get enough exercise as it is in training. They hold the chances for sprains in dancing are many, and overindulgence in exercise might bring on a breakdown, the coaches aver.

Grotes Signs With Portsmouth. The Portsmouth club of the Virginia league, has signed infielder Charles Grotes of the navy yard team.

Harvard and Yale will not abandon the four-mile route for their annual race, according to announcement by Camp, and it is very probable that both colleges will oppose the reduction of the intercollegiate to three miles.

GOSSIP AMONG SPORTS

It is said golf adds 50 per cent to a ball player's efficiency.

Mike Gonzales, the Reds' Cuban catcher, won the pennant this winter in the Cuban league.

Manager Huggins, who has been so busy getting the Cardinals in line, hasn't signed a contract himself.

The bill to repeal the Frawley law and abolish the New York state boxing commission has been introduced at Albany.

Iowa is the latest state to boom boxing, and it is expected the lawmakers will dope out a scheme for a commission.

A Chattanooga man wants to pray the St. Louis Browns into the pennant. If he can do that, converting the world will be easy.

Capablanca played 64 games of chess at once; When he gets so he can play 170 at once the game may get exciting enough to get applause.

Joe Birmingham announces that his Naps are an exclusive ball team. They will either finish first or last, according to Joe, and no happy mediums are looked for.

Branch Rickey declares that he would not trade Bert Shotton for half of the White Sox team, to which Clarence Rowland replies that no one invited him to.

Vivian I. Woodward, perhaps the most noted amateur soccer player in England, has taken a commission in the footballers' battalion, now being recruited for Kitchener's army.

For the first time in a score of years no one has had the nerve to kick the Pirates as pennant winners. Which indicates that the Pirates have the best chance in years of winning.

John G. Anderson is out with a boost for the organization of a golf professionals' association. The main object seems to be to eliminate the unskilled pro who works for a small salary.

Harvard and Yale will not abandon the four-mile route for their annual race, according to announcement by Camp, and it is very probable that both colleges will oppose the reduction of the intercollegiate to three miles.

KIDNEYS CLOG UP FROM EATING TOO MUCH MEAT

Take Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers—Meat Forms Uric Acid.

We are a nation of meat-eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Adv.

The Way it Goes. "Judging from the way that man talks, he must be fairly hard up. Do you suppose he's hungry?" "Oh, no. He's been keeping six motor cars and has had to dispose of one. The man who's consoling him gets a salary of $2,000 a year."

Rheumatism

Just put a few drops of Sloan's on the painful spot and the pain stops. It is really wonderful how quickly Sloan's acts. No need to rub it in—laid on lightly it penetrates to the bone and brings relief at once. Kills rheumatic pain instantly.

Mr. James E. Alexander, of North Haverhill, Me., writes: "Many strains in my back and hip brought on rheumatism in the sciatic nerve. I had it so bad one night when sitting in my chair, that I had to jump on my feet to get relief. I at once applied your Liniment to the affected part and in less than ten minutes it was perfectly easy. I think it is the best of all Liniments I have ever used."
