Truly a Turbulent Republic.
There are nineteen volcanoes in Guatemala, the greatest having an altitude of 16,500 feet. There are fifteen in Salvador, thirteen in Nicaragua and twelve in Costa Rica. In 1925 the volcano Cosiguna, in Nicaragua (only 3,835 feet high), erupted, sending forth her ashes in a circle of 1,500 miles diameter. The republics of Nicaragua and Salvador were in darkness for three days, and the thunderings were heard as far as Oajaca, Mexico, Santa Maria, the volcano which nearly destroyed Quezaltenango on April 18, 1892, erupting on October 25 of the same year, covered villages, towns, country with an ash sand to the depth of from two to fifty feet.

The severe disturbances in Guatemala City by the recent earthquakes is alarming. The present situation of the capital was chosen because it was believed to be exempt from destruction by earthquakes.—Christian Herald.

Fear Revival of Suttiee.
A revival of suttiee is feared in India. Within the short period of three or four days no less than two cases of women who committed suicide on the death of their husbands were reported, and probably others have taken place but have not reached the newspapers. When a year or so ago, a young Bengal lady burned herself to death in Calcutta, attention was drawn to the danger arising from the defilement of the suttiee. The house where the practice of suttiee was revived became a center of pilgrimage to the people in the locality, and the relatives of the dead lady were importuned over and over again to repeat the story of the suttiee. Glowing accounts of the suttiee also appeared in the vernacular papers. Since then no less than half a dozen cases of women performing suttiee have come to light in Bengal.

Begging Off.
"Can you direct me to the best hotel in this town?" asked the stranger who, after sadly watching the train depart, had set his satchel upon the station platform.
"I can," replied the man, who was waiting for a train going the other way, "but I hate to do it."
"Why?"
"Because you will think after you've seen it that I'm a liar."
