LOCALS

Miss Nina Slick, one of the Reporter's efficient typists, was a Spring Mills visitor on Tuesday.

The newly-elected officers of the I. O. O. F. lodge will be installed this (Thursday) evening.

Saturday Mrs. D. F. Luse will make sale of personal property and real estate. For details see register and posters.

Mrs. B. F. Rickert of Farmers Mills was discharged from the Lock Haven hospital Wednesday of last week and returned to her home.

The Grange Encampment and Fair will be held this year starting September 11th and continuing to the 17th, inclusive. It will be the forty-second annual affair.

Miss Martha Boal entertained her Sunday-school class at her home last Friday evening. Besides serving refreshments she presented each of her scholars with Easter candies.

Isaak's Walton's disciples are counting the days when they may join the rod and strive to lure the wily trout from stream to fish basket. Only seven days more.

Mrs. Kate Saunders and daughter, Mrs. R. J. Miller, left on Friday morning for Philadelphia where they will make their residence. Mr. Miller is a student in the Jefferson Medical College.

While Philadelphia was pushing its way through nineteen inches of snow on Easter, Centre Hall was enjoying its first real spring day. Bright sunshine and balmy air prevailed throughout the day.

Mrs. George Zerby, who had been a patient in a Philadelphia hospital for several months where she underwent an operation for a cancerous affection, returned to her home near Tusseyville last week, much improved.

Miss Mamie Brooks attended the graduating exercises of the Hubersburg high school, Friday evening, at which place her friend, Miss Helen Hoy, received her diploma. Following this she spent a few days at Howard as the guest of Miss Glenn Thomas.

A persistent rumor has been current about State College that Dr. E. E. Sparks had tendered his resignation as president of Penn State. This is not true, although the genial doctor has been in poor health for some time and this probably was the basis for the rumored resignation.

From present indications a large number of buildings will be constructed in State College and vicinity during the summer. Some are already under way but the recent cold weather has retarded their progress. In a short time there will be ample work for artisans and things will hum all summer long.

William H. Reish, one of Centre Hall's young men who is being educated at Mercersburg Academy, has received such good grades during his senior year as to entitle him to the honor of delivering one of the orations on the morning of commencement day, June 2. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Reish.

Several new pieces of handsome furniture were added to the reception room of the local lodge, F. & A. M., in the bank building, last week, making the room one of the most elegantly appointed of any lodge in this part of the state. A 17x19 body Brussels rug covers the floor; the furniture is of mission style and is upholstered in Spanish leather; a gasoline lighting plant adds to the cheer and comfort of the room.

A Vote of Thanks.

Rev. John A. Bright, a native of Aaronsburg, but now a resident of Kansas, and recently appointed chaplain of the house of representatives in that state, was tendered a rising vote of thanks upon motion of Representative J. M. Satterthwaite. The motion: "Mr. Speaker; Among the many blessings enjoyed during the present session of the house of representatives, has been the work and services of Rev. John A. Bright, the best chaplain I ever knew. He has gotten very close to the hearts of the members, and in getting close to us, he has seemed to bring us under Divine influence, in which capacity he has been our representative. In recognition of his excellent work, I move that a rising vote of appreciation be tendered him by the members of this house."

What No-License Does in Millin Co.

The contention that no community will thrive under no-license was given the laugh in Millin county when the county commissioners retired $15,000 of the $53,000 in bonds issued in 1889 to rebuild bridges incident to the big flood, and have promised further reduction of the debt six months hence from the $16,000 retained in the treasury to avoid short term loans at 6 per cent and four mills state tax.

The docket for the burgess court shows that 142 arrests and summary convictions were made in 1908, the last year of license and the number was reduced to 59 in 1913, the first year of the no-license regime.

DIXON'S HEALTH TALKS.

Health Commissioner Says a Physician, and Not Smelling Salts, Needed for Those Troubled With Headache.

Headache is one of the most common ailments. Almost everyone, even people in comparatively good health, are subject from time to time to this malady. Because it manifests itself in more or less the same form and general locality, the majority of people are wont to believe that the source of the difficulty is located in the cranium itself. This is rarely the case.

The causes of headache are numerous and cannot be removed by the use of smelling salts, ice bags, cold towels, and headache powders. Headache may come from defective teeth or eyes, from acute digestive disturbances, from a sluggish action of the liver and intestinal canal, long continued irritation of the nasal cavities, high blood pressure or other causes as widely varied as those mentioned.

Constantly recurring headaches may also be manifestations of profound systemic disturbances of some other part of the body which demands medical attention. The cause, more serious than the headache itself, should be found and cured. Often the immediate cause of headache is the over stimulation of the heart.

Undue heart stimulation accompanies a number of organic disturbances and results in abnormally high blood pressure in the brain; the majority of the headache remedies which are offered for sale contain some powerful heart depressant which brings temporary relief.

There is always danger, however, in the use by a layman of any drug which is sufficiently strong to have this result when there is some weakness of the heart. These headache cures which are indiscriminately offered do not correct the real cause of the disturbance.

Serious or even fatal results may come from constant use and they cannot effect a cure. Anyone subject to recurring headaches should consult a physician that the cause may be determined before any treatment is given.

The many friends of Mrs. Harvey Lambert will be glad to hear that she has recovered from her recent illness sufficiently to attend to her household duties.

The county commissioners purpose establishing a park on the ground lying between the court house and the jail. An expert on landscape gardening will be secured who will offer suggestions for the best way of beautifying the ground.

GOOD EATERS AS GOOD WIVES

May Be More Than a Grain of Truth in Reasons Advanced for the Assertion Made.

"Marry a woman who is fond of her meals. If you wish to be a happy husband, see that she shows discrimination and anxious care in the choice of food and drink for herself.

"Never marry a woman who will have high tea when you are not at home to dinner. The same remark applies to the woman who looks on a dinner properly selected and carefully set up with the fitting accompaniment of glittering glass and spotless cutlery as merely a pondering to the brutal instincts of man."

This was told by an expert who has studied the question.

"If mothers would only teach their daughters," he added, "to enjoy their food and make it a joy for the husband, there would be fewer disastrous marriages.

"The majority of women who try their food and do not understand the enjoyment that a large meal well prepared and properly set out gives to a healthy man. How often does a wife profess a quiet disgust for her husband who insists on having good meals.

"I know a man whose wife will only occasionally eat a good meal with him. As a consequence, he very rarely dines at home.

"Quarrels are often the result, but the wife does not for a moment believe the cause of this is her inability to eat well in sympathy with her husband.

"Country girls generally make better wives than town girls, simply because they are good eaters. The average man feels miserable at a good dinner with nobody to eat with him."

SEE USEFULNESS OF CAMEL

Importation of Animal into This Country May Be Productive of a Great Deal of Good.

News comes from the insiders that the camel is to be imported into this country and domesticated and increased so that he may vie with the useful cow. The camel used to live on this continent several aeons ago. He was driven across Behring strait by the ice. It is hoped that he may take up the threads of life where he left off. The camel is extremely useful. He can subsist without high balls or ice water. Camel's milk makes excellent cheese, and shawls made from camel's hair are a splendid covering for old gentlemen. As a means of exercise the camel is not to be despised.

Perhaps, however, the best use of the camel will be as an example to our rich men. Most of them are likely to forget how difficult it is for a camel to go through the eye of the needle. But when camels begin to mingle with our scenery advertisements and are seen occasionally walking up and down Fifth avenue and Pennsylvania avenue, who knows but that these humble instruments of providence may serve as object lessons and thus be useful in other ways than to satisfy merely material cravings.—Life.

"Pam's" Little Joke.

Doctor Butler, the master of Trinity, who was entertained by the Harrow association recently, told an interesting story of Palmerston. He remembered, he said, one speech day when Palmerston went. It rained the whole day. Palmerston galloped down from the Cambridge house. He came and sat for two hours in his wet clothes listening to the speeches. He went out at the end not a bit abashed in spirit, and stood with the governors and a number of the boys, and began to speak.

"Doctor Butler," he was corrected, and told it was "Mr." Butler. "I beg pardon," he said, "Mr. Butler. No man should be doctored against his will."

Another story was to illustrate the fact that sometimes logic was overcome by personal feeling. He remembered many years ago meeting a little boy riding on his pony. He said to him:

"I suppose you always wish the best side to win. I believe we are going to play Eton. Do you wish them to win?"

"No, certainly not," was the answer.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Gold and Silver Coinage.

Gold and silver coins were authorized at the same time by an act of congress in 1792, but copper coins, cents and half cents, were issued before either gold or silver. The coinage of copper cents and half cents began in 1793, of silver coins in 1794 and gold in 1795. The first gold coins issued were the eagle, or ten-dollar piece, and half and quarter eagles. The double eagle, twenty-dollar gold piece, was not issued till 1849, and the only piece of that year known to be in existence is in the mint at Philadelphia. From 1849 to 1881 not a single twenty-dollar gold piece was coined, but since 1881 the coinage has been continuous.

Not a Biography.

During a lull in the dinner conversation the hostess turned to the famous traveler and author, who was the lion of the occasion, and said:

"I enjoyed reading your book so much. Now tell me honestly, did you really encounter all those wonderful adventures you narrate?"

"No, indeed," replied the traveler in a burst of confidence. "If I had I'd never have lived to write about them."

KEEP HUNTERS FROM BIRDS

One Good Thing, and About All, That Can Be Said for the Pestilent Mosquito.

In the north of Canada the mosquito reigns supreme. The swarms that rise from streams, lakes and marshes, as each comes to the surface and emerge, dry, from the skin he wore when a wiggler in the water, cannot be checked or resisted. Though weakly blown aside by the wind or driven off by smoke, they triumph by the force of numbers.

There is compensation for their virulent annoyance, and even for their transmission of the germs of malaria, compensations more important than the feeding of trout and bass fry. They protect our feathered game during the nesting season and insure immunity to the flocks of migrants that rear their broods in the northern woods. The egg collector, the skin collector and all the inquisitive, curious and destructive who would otherwise invade the woods and marshes during the nesting season, are warned off by that ominous and persistent hum. It is more effective than all the game-preserving and bird-protecting statutes. It insures safety during that helpless time when the mother bird can only flutter along the ground in paralyzed terror, drawing the invader away from her treasured but helpless offspring. While the mosquito reigns supreme the bird life that ranges the continent will nest unmolested in its varied northern retreats.

SEEK FOR THE "SUNNY SIDE"

To Look Always for the Best is One of the Main Secrets of Life's Happiness.

One who boards a train on a hot day is usually careful to choose a seat on the shady side. If we took as much care to look on the sunny side as we do to sit on the shady side this would be a far more contented and peaceful world.

The best of good habits to cultivate is that of seeing things as a radiant and glorious flood of daylight shows them, not as shapes dimly described in the gloom of a pestilential cavern. Uplurn a stone in the field—and on the under side, the side away from the sun, you will find a dam and mouldy foulness, with all manner of crawling, many-legged creatures that run away from the light because they do not love it. How different it is from the beauty of the flowers and the verdure of the greensward living in the open, and looking toward the sky! In life it is like that. We have not ascertained the secret of happiness until we have learned to look, to seek, and to live, forever on the sunny side.—Philadelphia Ledger.

To Convert Gypsies.

In a never-ending, restless tide, a million gypsies surge to and fro across Europe. From east to west they migrate at the beginning of summer, and west to east in the fall. Nowhere are they wanted, everywhere are they eyed with suspicion, but still every year they wander, and the authorities of the countries they cross dread their coming and are relieved when they go.

There is always trouble at the frontiers. Here the wanderers are stopped, questioned and often imprisoned as vagrants. But there is nothing to do but finally let them go, and they invariably return the next year.

An effort to aid and protect these gypsies is being made by a Swiss clergyman, Rev. H. Ecuquer. He has organized a society one of the purposes of which is to instruct the gypsies in the Christian religion, for these nomads are all pagans.

Who We Are.

There are many people who think that the term "American embassy" should be changed to "United States embassy" because the latter sounds more dignified and befitting this great country. They do not realize, however, that the "United States" may mean the United States of Colombia or the United States of Brazil. As a matter of fact, we are Americans because we live in the United States of America. In Spain, however "American" means a person who lives in South America. The Spaniards call the people of this country "North Americans" or "Yankees." The latter term was most popular just before the late disturbance between the United States and Spain—with the addition of "pig."—Troy Record.

He Knew the Type.

Little Bobby, who had been taken for a Sunday walk in the park, was much interested in watching the swans while a keeper was feeding them.

"Papa," he asked, "is that a papa swan or a mamma swan?"

"Which one do you mean, Bobby?"

"That third looking one over there with the feathers all pecked off the top of its head and the one the others won't let get any of the bread."

"That, my son," replied his father sadly, without even troubling to look, "is the papa swan."

What a Child Needs Most.

It is not, after all, a smattering of chemistry, or an acquaintance with the habits of bees which will carry our children through life, but a capacity for doing what they do not want to do, if it be a thing which needs to be done. They will have to do many things they do not want to do later on, if their lives are going to be worth the living, and the sooner they learn to stand to their guns the better for them, and for all those whose welfare will lie in their hands.—Agnes Repplier in Atlantic Monthly.
