SCARCITY OF PLAYERS
Growth of Big Cities Shrinks Crop of Youngsters.
 Ball Fields of Ample Size, Within Walking Distance, Decrease as Rush of Building Begins to Swallow Up Vacant Lots.
 One reason for the scarcity of classy young ball players, men good enough to shine in the major league, is the growth of the great cities. Considering the fact that baseball enthusiasm grows with the expansion of the big burghs, and that the attendance has increased with the rise in population, this statement may look fantastic or impossible. Nevertheless, it is true, and unless the colleges or the farms begin to replenish the supply there will be a serious shortage in high-grade ball players within the next few years. You cannot have ball players unless you have a place to play them. And with the great cities expanding and incessantly bulging out their lines of settlement, where do the ball yards go?
 Take Chicago for an example. A few years ago there were ball fields of ample size within walking distance for everybody. Huge vacant lots were abundant in every direction. On Saturdays and Sundays these lots were black with spectators, crowded so close that every foul tip copped some one in the countenance. The City league had several fine ball parks and did a prosperous business, even after the National league started Sunday games. Then the rush of building began to swallow up the lots. One by one the parks were seized; the lots passed out of existence by the dozen. A few more years and the amateurs could find room only by taking car rides of such length that they lost the whole day going and returning. The big leagues, even if their parks are some distance out, draw the people who have leisure to go a few miles and spend an afternoon. The young amateurs cannot take the time—many of them cannot spend the car fare. In every city the story is the same—the march of population, the spread of building operations, has killed off the amateur game by removing the available spots whereon the amateurs could caper. And what does this mean for the future supply of the players?

PLAYER-MANAGER OF BROOKLYN FED CLUB

Lee Magee, Youngest Leader in Major Leagues.

Lee Magee, whose proper name is Leopold Hoernschmeyer, manager of the Brooklyn Federal, is the youngest team leader in the major leagues. He was born in Cincinnati, O., June 4, 1880. Magee is of that type known as a smart ball player and a winning one, too. He has been in the major leagues only four years, but in that time he was one man in the Cardinal ranks, who stood out as a persevering player, no matter what the score, or the standing of that team in the National league race.
 Magee is a member of the Typographical union, and until he went around the world with the McGraw tourists, in the winter of 1913-14, he set type in the off-season.
 Last winter he was active in rounding up players to strengthen the Brooklyn Tip Tops and spreading the winning spirit to the athletes already under contract.

Magee began his professional career in 1906, when he played for two weeks with the Meridian (Miss.) team of the Cotton States league as third baseman. In 1907, Magee played with Springfield, Ill.; Burlington, Ia.; and Waterloo, Ia. The next season found Magee back on the job as second baseman for Waterloo, developing fast.
 After the 1909 season with Seattle, Magee was taken by the Cardinals and later farmed to Louisville. Returning to the Cardinals as infielder and outfielder, Magee stuck until last winter, when he took advantage of the ten days' clause and became manager of the Brooklyn Tip Tops. Magee subbed in the infield and finally convinced Roger Bresnahan that he could play the outfield. Magee built up a clientele in St. Louis, and in fact, every city of the circuit, by his splendid fighting spirit and unwillingness to quit.

Doubtful Assurances.
 "Do you think they approved of my Easter sermon?" asked one of our well-known ministers.
 "Yes, I think so," replied his wife; "they were all nodding."

Work of Torpedoes.
 Torpedoes cost over $5,000 each; consequently they are not discharged on less than a fair chance of hitting the object aimed at. So far the vessels hit by torpedoes have been stationary or only moving slowly; but it is probable that as the crews of submarines become more expert they will be able to hit a warship occasionally when she is moving at a high speed.

Satan and the Cerulean Deep.
 "I'm in a quandary."
 "What about?"
 "I have two invitations to dinner, and I can't decide—"
 "Which one to accept?"
 "No, which one to refuse. One is to a home where a young lady has just come home from a piano conservatory, and the other is where a five-year-old boy knows a lot of recitations."—Farm Life.

 "Uh-well, yo' honah," explained Brother Stimmerjohn, "de gen'lman come to muh house and 'gunter norate loud and coas' 'bout fou' dollahs, and—"
 "Oh, he had a bill, did he?"
 "Nussah! He never had no bill when he come dar—he des had a common ev'yday nose. But—uh-yaw! haw! haw! haw!—yo' ortuh seed it when he left; saasah, yo' dees ortuh seed it!"—Kansas City Star.

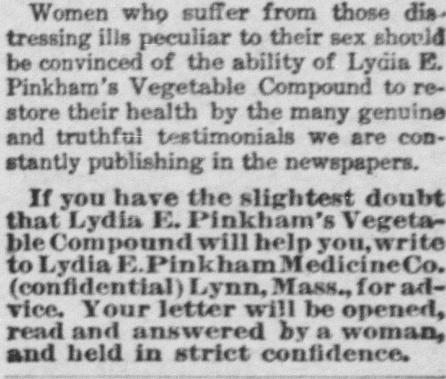

Varied Program.
 The women of a town down the state recently organized a literary club, and for a while everything was lovely.
 "Louise," asked the husband of one of the members upon her return home from one of the meetings, "what was the topic under discussion by the club this afternoon?"
 Louise couldn't just remember at first. Finally, however, she exclaimed: "Now I recollect! We discussed that brazen-looking hussy that's just moved in across the street and Nietzsche."

FARMER'S WIFE TOO ILL TO WORK

A Weak, Nervous Sufferer Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
 Kasota, Minn.—"I am glad to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than anything else, and I had the best physician here. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and suffered with pains low down in my right side for a year or more. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I feel like a different person. I believe there is nothing like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weak women and young girls, and I would be glad if I could influence anyone to try the medicine, for I know it will do all and much more than it is claimed to do."—Mrs. CLARA FRANKS, R. F. D. No. 1, Maplecrest Farm, Kasota, Minn.
 Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers.
 If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham, Medicine Co. (Confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

MANAGERS' WAYS ARE QUEER
 Leader of Cincinnati Reds Was Quick to Grab Up Tommy Leach, Released by Chicago Cubs.
 The ways of baseball managers, at times, are strange, strange ways. The case of Roger Bresnahan, who manages the Cubs, is a fair example.
 Roger, who owned a ball player named Tommy Leach, discovered a short time ago that he would have no need for the veteran's services during 1915. At the same time Charles Herzog, who manages the Cincinnati Reds, discovered that he needed a veteran ball player, and he decided that Tommy Leach was the very ball player that he wanted to get.
 "I'd like to get Leach from the Cubs and if some deal can be made Leach will wear a Cincinnati uniform in 1915," said Herzog.
 Did Bresnahan immediately arrange a trade with Herzog for Leach? Did he sell Leach to Herzog and add a few thousand shekels to the bank account of the Cubs? No, Bresnahan didn't. He just released Leach outright, whereupon Herzog signed him up.
 In other words, Herzog got Leach for nothing, although he had publicly announced that he was willing to give cash or promising players to the Cubs for Leach.
"Doc" Cook's Ambition.
 One athlete who will be sorely disappointed if his 1915 batting mark falls below the 300 mark is "Doc" Cook. "Doc" got away to the poorest kind of a start last season and the season was two months old before he had shaken the malaria out of his system. Even under this handicap he was knocking at the door of 300 when the season ended.
Pi-Pieh-Pipp Combination.
 The combination of New York names—Pius Schwert, Cy Pich and Walter Pipp—gives promise of some rare outbursts in the listing of double plays. One possibility is Pi to Pich to Pipp. Another one is Peck to Pich to Pipp, as Professor Peckinpaugh is familiarly known as Peck and often is so entered in the score.

RUDOLPH HAS ONE WEAKNESS
 Boston Pitcher is Very Sensitive About Bald Head and Imagines He's Growing Hair There.
 Dick Rudolph, who is one of those Boston pitching persons, is absolutely certain that he can do what John D. Rockefeller and millions of other fellows have failed to do; in fact (he says) he's already doing it.
 Dick, to be more explicit, says he is growing hair on a bald dome—on his own bald dome. And if you don't believe it, Dick will let you look at his head. He permitted us a look.
 When told that it didn't look any different than it did last summer, Dick got rather peevisish.
 "Don't, hey?" he snapped. "Well, lemme tell you that there's about eighty more hairs on my head than there was before I began using that treatment."
 Dick, as very few people know, is bald-headed—very, very bald-headed. That's the main reason that you rarely see pictures of Dick that are minus a head covering. He's sensitive about that lack of hair, too.
 Asked what the treatment consisted of, Dick replied:
 "Well, it's a secret prescription. But it's a lu-lu. Friend of mine—a barber up in the Bronx—mixes it up. He told me to try it, but I was sore on trying hair restorers. I told him to go to blazes with his dope, but he kept on insisting that I use it and give it a two months' trial.
 "Well, I finally took a whirl at it. I've been using the stuff for two months and darned if it ain't got a lot of new hair. See 'em?"
 Once again Dick lifted his lid, poked his dome at his friends for inspection.
 "Sorry, Dick, but—"
 "You're blind—that what's wrong with you. You're well qualified for an umpire's job."
 And then Dick wheeled on his heel and started in pursuit of some sympathetic person who would assist him in kidding himself that he is contracting a new growth of wool.

IN A SHADOW Tea Drinker Feared Paralysis.

Steady use of either tea or coffee often produces alarming symptoms, as the poison (caffeine) contained in these beverages acts with more potency in some persons than in others.
 "I was never a coffee drinker," writes an ill woman, "but a tea drinker. I was very nervous, had frequent spells of sick headache and heart trouble, and was subject at times to severe attacks of bilious colic.
 "No end of sleepless nights—would have spells at night when my right side would get numb and tingle like a thousand needles were pricking my flesh. At times I could hardly put my tongue out of my mouth and my right eye and ear were affected.
 "The doctors told me to quit using tea, but I thought I could not live without it—that it was my only stay. I had been a tea drinker for twenty-five years; was under the doctor's care for fifteen.
 "About six months ago, I finally quit tea and commenced to drink Postum.
 "I have never had one spell of sick headache since and only one light attack of bilious colic. Have quite having those numb spells at night, sleep well and my heart is getting stronger all the time."
 Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.
 Postum comes in two forms: Postum Cereal—the original form—must be well boiled, 15c and 25c packages.
 Instant Postum—a soluble powder—dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water, and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly, 30c and 50c tins.
 Both kinds are equally delicious and cost about the same per cup.
 "There's a Reason" for Postum.

Backache Is a Warning
 Thousands suffer kidney ills unaware—not knowing that the backache, headache and dull, nervous, dizzy, all tired condition are often due to kidney weakness alone. Anybody who suffers constantly from backache should suspect the kidneys. Some irregularity of the secretions may give just the needed proof. Doan's Kidney Pills have been curing backache and sick kidneys for over fifty years.
A Pennsylvania Case
 Mrs. M. S. Hart, Torrington, Conn., writes:
 "Constant work at my profession brought a strain on my kidneys and caused severe pains in my back. For six months I could hardly do anything. Doan's Kidney Pills restored me to good health and I now have no sign of kidney trouble. Many of my patients have also used Doan's Kidney Pills and been cured."
