

Alleged Police Murderer Seen in Lewisburg.

A man who is supposed to have been John Penny, for whose arrest a reward of $2000 is offered by the city of Elmira, New York, for the murder of chief of police in that city, was seen on the streets of Lewisburg, on Saturday. When Sheriff Hackenberg of Union county attempted to arrest him, the alleged murderer evaded capture by thrusting two big revolvers in the face of the sheriff.

Sheriff Hackenberg had been advised that Penny had written to a daughter of Samuel Long, near Lewisburg, and was on the lookout for him. When he recognized the man as Penny he stopped him, but the stranger pulled the revolvers, backed off and disappeared down the railroad tracks.

He was later seen to enter the house of Samuel Young, and a posse of men, led by Jackson Cornelius, Milton's police chief, surrounded the house. While Cornelius was downstairs the fugitive jumped from a second story window and escaped.

W. H. & F. M. E. to Meet Here.

The Northern Conference of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of Central Pennsylvania will be held in the Lutheran church at Centre Hall, Thursday and Friday, June 3-4. The program will be announced in due time.

Homan-Wettinger.

Leo J. Homan and Miss Alma Edna Wettinger were married at the Lutheran parsonage in Centre Hall by Rev. D. S. Kurtz, Saturday evening. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wettinger of Spring Mills and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Homan of Farmers Mills.

LOCALS

Sunday is Mother's Day. A white carnation is emblematic of the day.

Miss May Rhone of Harrisburg spent a few days at the home of her father, Hon. L. Rhone.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Krise moved from Spring Mills to Pleasant Gap, on Monday, and occupy one of the new houses erected by Leather Brothers.

Mrs. J. A. Kreamer, daughter of Christiana, and Mrs. Lillian McMillan of State College were guests of Miss Tillie Keller from Saturday until Sunday evening.

If there's a better, tidier, or more inviting a peering spot in this territorial hall than our little town, at the present time, we'll take our hat off to it. Who can name it?

Mrs. W. B. Mingle opened her home on Thursday, after having spent the winter months with her son, W. Gross Mingle and daughter, Miss Emory Hoy, in Philadelphia.

Prof. and Mrs. William A. Heckman of State College, who will become residents of this place next month, were in Centre Hall Saturday to inspect their new home.

Joseph W. Reifsnnyder of Millheim killed a weasel with a manure fork. He was engaged in digging garden when the mischievous little animal appeared close to where he was at work.

Dr. Hugh L. Fry, son of Capt. and Mrs. W. H. Fry of Pine Grove Mills, was recently married to Miss Mary Wolf of Chastanooga, Tenn. Dr. Fry is a veterinarian at Columbia, Tennessee.

Miss Ruth Krise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Krise of Johnstown, and who made numerous friends during her frequent visits here, entered the training school for nurses in the West Penn hospital, Pittsburgh.

Rev. D. S. Kurtz and H. G. Strohmeier, the latter a lay delegate, attended the sessions of the Northern Conference of the Central Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran church, at Snyderstown, from Monday until Wednesday.

Clay W. Reeman of Thorofare, New Jersey, spent a day last week in Centre Hall. He is a salesman for the Standard Ecological Works and his territory covers a number of states. He recently made a trip to the Pacific coast in the interest of his firm.

James B. Wilson of Philadelphia was in Centre Hall several days last week taking an industrial census, as required by the federal Department of Labor. This census is taken once in five years. Mr. Wilson is a brother of William B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor in the cabinet of the man bearing the same name.

An automobile accident near Lewisburg, on Sunday, resulted in Miss Lucy Patton, aged twenty-five years, sustaining a broken back when she was hurled against a tree. She was rushed to a hospital and her condition is critical. The car was driven by Frank Duncan and the accident occurred when two tires blew up.

A number of new Ford cars were delivered last week to local residents, among whom were the following: Chas. W. Slack, Daniel Daup, Wm. H. Homan, Emory Ripka, B. D. Hrislin, Booser & Fetterolf, Roy Garbrink, H. C. Campbell of Paines Cave, Arthur Grove of Farmers Mills, T. M. Gramly of Spring Mills purchased a Reo six-cylinder touring car.

Domer Ishler, after spending a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Ishler, returned to Washington, D. C., Monday. Mr. Ishler is one of Uncle Sam's mail carriers in the national capital and his duties require him to deliver mail pouches to various sub-stations throughout the city. For this purpose Mr. Ishler operates a large government automobile and he finds the outdoor work altogether to his liking.

Rev. J. Homer Kerr of Orangeville, the former pastor who preached in the Presbyterian church last Sunday, was accompanied by his wife. They remained for a few days visiting among their friends whom they had not seen for nearly twenty or more years, making their headquarters with Mrs. Mary Goodhart. They enjoyed meeting their old friends and noting the many improvements and changes in Centre Hall; but, as in all such long absences, many once familiar forms had passed on to the other world. This, of course, gave a note of sadness to their return.

Elk Slaying Recites Hunting Tales.

Out in the Seven Mountains, near the Centre-Mifflin line, lives Captain John D. Decker, one of the greatest hunters Pennsylvania has ever produced. To use his own language, he says: "I have killed more game than anyone else around here and that is saying a lot, as this was a great country for hunters. When I was a boy there were panthers on the ridges in front of and back of our home, and the wolves howled nearly every night. I have killed a great many deer, also one elk, the last one I believe that was ever killed in a wild state in Pennsylvania. I have killed thirteen bears and over two dozen wildcats, and so many foxes I can't count them. I killed the elk on September 1, 1877, when he was running through the stubble field by my house, chasing a buck deer. I don't know how he got in the country except that he was run in by forest fires further north. When I was a boy a man named Mitchell killed an elk at the head of Treaster Valley, in Mifflin county. It was a big one with wide branching horns. That was about 1857. Before that elk were numerous in the Seven Mountains. It is too bad that game is so scarce these days, but I lay it to the forest fires, which give the wild creatures no peace. I enjoy good health for a man of my age and still appreciate a trip with my dog and gun. I don't care for fishing, though when I was younger I enjoyed some grand sport in the wild streams in the Seven Mountains. I have not seen or heard of a wolf in these parts in forty years, and my opinion is that they left here when lumbering opened up on a big scale and made for the mountains of West Virginia. All of a sudden they left the Seven Mountains; that's what makes me think they were not killed off by the hunters. About the same time the wild pigeons, which used to darken the sun with their flights, left here, never to return. I don't believe they were exterminated, either. I am afraid the good old hunting days are gone, never to return."

Captain Decker is a well preserved man, past seventy years of age. He has a numerous family and occupies a commodious residence in the valley bearing his name. Many hunters and fishermen stop there, where they are cordially received by the veteran nimrod and deer-slayer.—Altoona Tribune.

THE LUSE HYDRANT SOLD.

The Hertzler & Zook Company, at Belleville, the New Owners Who Will Manufacture It on a Large Scale.

What should have made and could have made Centre Hall famous was recently sold to the Hertzler & Zook Company, at Belleville, manufacturers of agricultural implements. Reference is made to the sale of the patent right of the Luse hydrant by Mrs. Martin Luse, executrix, to the firm named.

The Luse hydrant is the product of D. F. Luse, who spent many years in perfecting it. It is today a most substantial, simple, convenient hydrant, second in all respects to none. It has many superior points to other hydrants. From the point of durability, the easy manner in which it may be removed from the main pipe, it has no equal. Some of the Luse hydrants have been doing continuous and satisfactory service for a period of thirty years.

As above intimated the Reporter's chief regret is that local capital did not seize the opportunity to put this commodity on the market on a large scale, and thus build up an industry that has long been dwarfed on account of the lack of capital and business capacity.

The Hartzler & Zook Company, at Belleville, who now own the exclusive right to manufacture the Luse IXL hydrant are prepared to manufacture on a large scale. Their plant is thoroughly equipped with modern machinery, guaranteeing that the hydrants built by them will be improved by being constructed with greater care and exactness.

The Belleville firm manufactures farm machinery extensively, among which are grain drills, feed mills, wood-saws, lime drills, stock troughs, and gasoline engines.

Their payroll now is large and their various products are shipped to all points of the compass. They will consequently almost instantly be ready to fill orders for the Luse IXL hydrant to their territory and greatly extend the territory in which the hydrant is a familiar figure in the hardware store, on the farm, and in the town home.

The manufacturers request that dealers who have been selling this hydrant write them for prices, etc. adv

The Regal Light "Four" Arrives.

The new Regal light "Four" is on the market, the first shipments having been made to this territory during last week.

The purpose of the manufacturers has been to endow it with the same qualities of attractiveness and rugged construction that has characterized Regal cars for the past eight years.

The car is not an experiment, but a dependable, staunch, attractive, light, five passenger automobile, that will "stand up" under the most severe usage.

It is practically the first car on the market selling at $650 that is fully equipped, including electric starting and lighting, one man top, demountable rims, in fact everything that one expects to find only on the higher priced cars.

S. C. Brungart, who is the distributor for this territory says "It is the hit of the season" and is preparing to handle a large volume of business.

In marketing this car the Regal Company have completed a line of cars fitting almost all the needs of the automobile buyers, making their line the "Light Four," standard "Four" and an "Eight" Cylinder car. adv.
